YOW!

Reno-S.F. Coach Skids Into Feather River Canyon

BUS PLUNGE FATAL TO 7

OROVILLE, Calif. (AP)—A Greyhound bus spun off a rain-slick mountain highway Saturday and carried more than a score of screaming passengers on a rolling 120-foot plunge to the canyon floor, killing at least seven and injuring 17.

The driver was among the dead.

The Reno-to-San Francisco bus, caught in a blinding rain squall, crashed through a metal guardrail, ripping out 50 feet, on the Feather River Canyon Highway, No. 40A, 17 miles east of Oroville. The crash scene is more than 80 miles north of Sacramento and 110 miles due west of Reno.

"Everybody was screaming," said Howard Hyatt, 52, a San Francisco seaman. He was treated and released from Oroville Medical Center Hospital.

"I was surprised to find myself still conscious when the bus hit bottom. The inside of the bus was just one mass of bodies and luggage."

Highway patrolmen and sheriff's officers pressed 50 spectators into service to form a line down the mountainside to the wrecked bus. Stretchers with the injured were shuttled hand to hand up to the roadway.

One side of the bus was ripped out. Seats hung out grotesquely. Wreckage was strewn over 100 feet of the embankment. The wrecked bus came to rest at a 45-degree angle.

Hyatt, further recounting the accident, said:

"I had just remarked to a friend that I thought the driver was going too fast for the slick pavement. Just then I felt the bus skid and the back end came around to where the front should be.

"I thought for a while it was not going to go over. But it broke through the rail and started down."

The bus, making a gradual descent from the Sierra toward Sacramento, was on a comparatively level stretch of several hundred yards at the crash scene.

Health Educators Hear Mosk in Plea for Fight on Dope

By ROBERT WILCOX

Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk appealed to the state's health educators Saturday for support in a program of narcotics education in the schools to combat a dope problem which has assumed "frightening proportions."

"Narcotics education has been in a limbo for a long time," the attorney general told his Long Beach audience.

"There has been relatively little study by educators on the proper means of classroom presentation of the dangers of narcotics. Every year we fail in this the problem becomes more complex."

Mosk addressed a joint conference of the California Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation and the Southwest District of the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation at the Lafayette Hotel.

* * * *

THE FOUR-DAY, seven state confab, which has attracted 3,000 delegates, ends Tuesday.

Mosk said the California program for narcotics education is budgeted at $95,000 for a three-year period, with the first year's effort directed toward planning.

"Work with the state's teachers will take place the second year," he said. "The third year will see the initial introduction of material into our schools."

Parents, he said, also must be "instructed in the many complexities of the narcotics problem."

He disclosed that a survey may show that there are as many as 20,000 narcotics addicts in the state—"equal to the population of such cities as Whittier, Merced, Monterey or Covina."

* * * *

"DURING 1961," he said, "California began a new and forward-looking program to cope with the narcotics problem . . . stiff penalties and a novel system of rehabilitation.

"We are now attempting to expand this program in the current session of the legislature to include persons who are victims of the 'dangerous drug' habit. Narcotics education is the necessary third part of this program."

He said that at one time a lecture on the evils of heroin was thought sufficient. "Now any serious discussion of the dangers of narcotics must give equal emphasis to drug abuse—the abuse of legal narcotics and the possi-

CLASP OF FRIENDSHIP

Indian friend, Mrs. Winnie Anders, of Lakewood, is given "clasp of friendship" by medicine man Paul Semu, tribal spiritual leader Johnny Whitecloud, and Albert Camarrillo.

SAY NEW MEXICO TRIBE PRESSURED

Indians Visit Lakewood, Apologize for Gift Snub

By ANDY PARK

Four Pueblo Indians, decked out in tribal trappings, calmly walked into the Lakewood sheriff's station Saturday afternoon.

After scaring half a dozen "white men marshals" half to death by their stoic, premeditated nonchalance, the quartet asked for, and received, directions to the home of Mrs. Winnie Anders, 5219 Bixler Ave., Lakewood.

Intertribal medicine man Paul Semu was there to explain to Mrs. Anders that he and three members of the Laguna branch of the Pueblo tribe traveled to Lakewood from Barstow to "apologize on behalf of the Pueblo nation for the insult she received" when Santo Domingo, N.M., Indians refused her charity shipment of five tons of food, clothes and equipment earlier in the week.

Mrs. Anders and her husband, George, collected the food and supplies over several months and arranged to have them delivered by Navy aircraft after the couple had observed the "starving conditions" of the Indians on the reservation in a visit there last year.

The shipment was returned with a terse note from Tribal Governor Diego Roseita:

"Give it to the starving California Indians!"

Semu, and tribal spiritual leader Johnny Whitecloud, explained to Mrs. Anders that they left Barstow, where they work for the Santa Fe railway, to visit her personally "to help ease the hurt in her heart" at being snubbed by the New Mexico Indians.

Semu pointed out that "the white man is probably behind the whole thing," however, and that the plight of the Indians on the reservation is a real one, with "no water to grow anything, and men, women and chil-

Castro Foes Arrested by U.S., British

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—United States and British forces, collaborating Saturday to rid Bahamas waters of anti-Castro raiders, nabbed 14 men in the cays southwest of Nassau.

British marines operating in the cays radioed military headquarters at Nassau that "the U. S. Coast Guard intercepted five men in a boat off Orange Cay" Saturday morning.

Lt. Col. T. J. Pine-Coffin, joint chief of staff of British forces in the Bahamas, said the five presumably were the same men who fled Williams Cay Friday night at the approach of British marines who captured nine armed men on neighboring Andros Island.

* * * *

OFFICIALS said one of five captives brought here Saturday night by a Coast Guard cutter was Maj. Eloy Gutierrez Menoyo, onetime Fidel Castro lieutenant who defected two years ago and led the Escambray organization which mobilized fighting units in Cuba as well as exile bands who supplied the Cuban underground with arms.

The area is about 70 miles southwest of Nassau.

BABY AT MEMORIAL HOSPITAL SETS RECORD

Only One Mother Lost in 40,000 Births Here

A medical milestone was reached at 2:41 p.m. last Tuesday at Memorial Hospital of Long Beach.

At that moment, Richard Warren Hyatt was born, a husky 7-pound 11-ounce boy—and Richard was the 40,000th baby born at Memorial in 18 years with the loss of only one mother from any cause.

Richard is the first child born to Maureen Annette Hyatt, 18, and Michael W. Hyatt, 20, of 214 E. 55th St. Attending physician was Carl Natter, M.D., who made news just a few months ago by attending at the birth of a child to a 52-year-old mother, a medical rarity. Richard and his mother are doing "just fine."

Statistics from The Journal of The American Medical Association show that in 1945, 20 pregnant women died per 10,000 births. In 1958, the rate had been reduced to 3.5, a remarkable decrease. But in 18 years, Memorial Hospital's rate was only one maternal death in 40,000 births.

Outside of marked advances in medicine, such as antibiotics, early ambulation and other measures which have lowered the over-all maternal mortality, the outstanding record at Memorial Hospital is attributed to three other factors:

1) Consultation from a member of the Obstetrical Consultation Committee is required in serious cases.

2) Due to the availability of blood through the cooperation of the American Red Cross, no loss of life has occurred from hemorrhage, the number-one cause of obstetrical deaths.

3) Younger obstetricians are available for the giving of obstetrical anesthetics. These young men not only give safe, excellent anesthetics, but also act as consultants when emergencies arise.

Memorial, formerly at 14th Street and Magnolia Avenue, moved to 2801 Atlantic Ave. in 1960.

DR. CARL NATTER

Five Wasted Years 40 Years Frustration

There are good reasons for young people to fear the future—unless they prepare for it. No longer can they count on a job just because they graduated from high school or college. They need a special skill to assure them of a job. After that their future depends on their ability and willingness to work—and a measure of good luck. But, above all, they need to have something definite to offer in this highly mechanized age.

It is unfortunate when a junior in high school has no real idea what he wants to specialize in. It is even more so when he enters college still confused. And yet, a very large percentage of our youngsters are in this quandary. It is understandable because few of them have had work experience to help them in such a decision. And far too many parents fail to be helpful in making a decision.

Result is, thousands of young people waste the next five years of senior high school and four years of college—as far as a definite profession or skilled trade is concerned. The college is not essential to the student who specializes in some vocation that can be learned in a vocational school or city college. The hardest problem for the young person is making a decision.

In this respect we read a statement by a very successful man. He said: "I always wanted to be somebody. If I made it, it's half because I was game enough to take a lot of punishment along the way—and half because there were a lot of people who cared enough to help me." It is probable this would apply to virtually every successful person. But to get people interested enough to help you, you have to show you are game enough to work and show willingness to learn.

Many young people look upon these formulative years as their only chance to have fun. They say, I will not be young long so I must enjoy it while I can. They refuse to look beyond these years to the 40 or more years of adult life when what they were and what they did during these five years decided the kind of life they could lead.

It is a fortunate young person who has a strong inclination for some particular vocation. They can go ahead and develop it and thereafter be assured of a job. Those who are undecided would be wise to pick out a vocation from the hundreds they could choose from—and become skilled in that one vocation. It could be teaching, nursing or office work for girls—or a plumber, doctor, mechanic or accountant for the boys. If they become efficient in any one vocation they will be certain of a job, even though they may change later on. But, unless they have one of these skills, most of them are doomed to a lifetime of frustration as unskilled workers.

Another saying is: "Do the thing you fear and the death of fear is certain." That applies to the uncertainties that cloud the minds of those soon to enter adulthood. It is making a decision that is feared. Once made, it is surprising how well the future works out. But when you are a junior in high school, time is getting short. You can follow the line of least resistance and end up with nothing—or you can decide on a course of action that will give assurance of a job to take care of a family. The future is bright for the individual with a skill. It is not very cheerful for the unskilled who missed out during these five important years.—L.A.C.

Poland Births in New Drop

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—The Central Statistics Office announced Saturday that Poland's 1962 population stood at 30,483,600. The birth rate last year was 11.7 per thousand residents or 1.6 less than in 1961. Since 1955, the birth rate has dropped 7.8 per thousand residents, according to the statistics released.

Most of the leading newspapers carried the census data but Trybuna Ludu, the official Polish Communist Party publication, omitted all reference to birth rate statistics. Stefan Cardinal Wyszynski recently loosed a strong attack from the pulpit against the government-sponsored birth control program.

Lawgivers Open Debate Tuesday on Death Penalty

By JIM McCAULEY
I.P-T Sacramento Bureau

SACRAMENTO—The first death-penalty debate of the 1963 legislative session will take place Tuesday in an Assembly hearing room. Long Beach men will play key roles.

At stake is whether the Assembly Criminal Procedures Committee will approve a Brown-administration-backed bill to suspend the death penalty for a four-year trial period.

The 10-man committee is divided, unofficial polls show. So a nip-and-tuck contest is likely—with a shift of one vote possibly determining whether the bill gets out of committee.

Assemblyman C. George Deukmejian, R-Long Beach, is leading the opposition. And prominent Long Beach attorney Joseph Ball has been invited to testify in favor of the bill.

* * * *

PANELS of blue-ribbon witnesses for both sides have been lined up. There will be more fanfare than a San Quentin Prison execution—television cameras and all.

Gov. Brown's office opened a preliminary debate last week with a battery of press releases from various state officials who oppose the death penalty.

Typical was an attempted verbal death blow to capital punishment from Richard A. McGee, State Corrections Agency administrator. McGee called the death penalty "futile and inappropriate in a modern state."

Assemblyman Lester McMillan, D-Los Angeles, author of the death-penalty-moratorium bill, will give a preview of his side of the debate on Monday. He has called a special press conference to introduce two of his witnesses: Dr. Thorsten Selling, University of Pennsylvania foe of the death penalty, and Gerald D. Marcus, chairman of Californians Against Capital Punishment.

* * * *

PREVIOUSLY, Gov. Brown said he will invite top peace officers to Sacramento for a special conference on violent crimes in California.

It won't officially be conference day on Tuesday. But you'd never know it in the Capitol corridors.

Assemblyman Deukmejian of Long Beach, a committee member, has invited some of the top lawmen in the state to address the committee.

Among the witnesses who will testify against lifting the death penalty are:

Robert Seares, Arcadia police chief and president of the California Peace Officers Association.

Sheriff Mike Caulis of San Joaquin County.

Deputy District Attorney J. Miller Leavy of Los Angeles County's Inglewood office.

Insp. Henry Herr of Los Angeles police.

Lawrence Drivon, deputy district attorney of San Joaquin County.

* * * *

DEUKMEJIAN, who has introduced bills to broaden the death penalty to kidnapers, bandits and burglars who harm victims, said he figures he needs to win over one vote to bottle up the McMillan bill. "I believe the committee now is divided 6 to 4," Deukmejian declared.

Earlier, a Sacramento newspaper said it understood the committee was split 5-5. All observers agree the vote will be close. One factor that could change the alignment is that Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk has indicated he will appear at the hearing, but he hasn't stated whether he will favor the Brown-backed McMillan bill.

The McMillan bill provides that, with certain exceptions, the death penalty won't be imposed as punishment for first-degree murder during a four-year trial period.

* * * *

ITS ASSERTED purpose is to test during the moratorium whether capital punishment is a crime deterrent. Deukmejian contends it is a strong deterrent. Gov. Brown and McMillan assert it is no deterrent.

Argentine Revolt Leader Gives Up

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Retired Adm. Isaac Rojas, considered the ranking leader of the Argentine Navy revolt, surrendered to police at his residence Saturday.

Other key leaders of the revolt were in hiding. Except for a few diehard holdouts, the latest uprising, an effort to topple President Jose Maria Guido, had collapsed before an overpowering Loyalist tank force.

Many Navy officers were reported turning themselves in for arrest. Others fled into exile in neighboring Uruguay.

* * * *

THERE WAS no word of the whereabouts of retired Army Gen. Benjamin Menendez, another top leader of the revolt aimed at barring Peronist participation in the forthcoming national elections.

Rojas' daughter told the Associated Press her father wore civilian clothes when he arrived at his apartment from the Puerto Belgrano naval base, the still restless but apparently subdued rebel strongpoint 350 miles south of the capital. He telephoned the Navy ministry, then changed into his uniform, she related.

"He wanted to surrender to the Navy," she said. But police came and took him away, reportedly to federal police headquarters. Under truce terms, he will be subject to a military court for his part in the five-day uprising.

* * * *

A CROWD gathered outside the home as police threw a cordon around the building. Spectators chanted Rojas' name as the short, swarthy admiral was led away.

The Navy secretariat issued a communique declaring, "The situation of the Navy is normal." It said conditions of the ceasefire had been satisfied, including the discharge of some 5,000 of the crack 8,000-man Marine force.

TV Tower in Quebec Periled

MONTREAL (AP) — Police removed a powerful bomb Saturday from the foot of a radio-television transmitting tower atop Mt. Royal and dismantled it minutes before its timing device indicated it was to have exploded.

Sgt. Leo Plouffe, the Montreal Police Department's bomb expert who supervised the dismantling, said the charge was big enough to have brought down the 360-foot tower, used by Montreal's four television stations.

Painted in red at the base of the tower was the word "Liberte" and the initials "FLQ" of the Front de Liberation Quebecois. This is a terrorist group that has claimed responsibility for several minor bombings in its avowed campaign to win independence for Quebec from predominantly English-speaking areas of Canada.

* * * *

THE TERRORIST group reportedly threatened retaliations this week against CFCF-TV, one of the stations using the tower, unless it stopped signing off nightly with the playing of "God Save the Queen."

The bomb was made up of 24 sticks of dynamite, a battery and a timing device. The timer was set for 4, and the bomb was dismantled shortly before 4 p.m.

Britain and U.S. Sign Polaris Pact

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States and Britain Saturday signed the formal agreement under which U.S. Polaris missiles will be sold to the United Kingdom for use in British submarines.

The agreement was signed by Secretary of State Dean Rusk and British Ambassador Sir David Ormsby Gore a few hours before Rusk flew to Europe for important political and military talks with allied leaders.

The signing was disclosed by diplomatic sources who said agreement on sale of the Polaris missiles, minus their nuclear warheads, will be presented to the British Parliament early next week.

Lunik IV Passes the Moon

MOSCOW (AP)—Lunik IV passed within 5,300 miles of the moon Saturday, Tass reported, and yielded valuable information to Soviet scientists. It was the widest miss of any of the four Russian moon shots and Lunik IV was reported doomed to become a satellite of the sun.

The Soviet news agency announced the instrument-crammed, 3,130-pound research vehicle—five times heavier than its 1959 model predecessors—passed the moon at 4:26 a.m. Moscow time (8:26 p.m. EST Friday) at a distance of 5,281 miles.

Millionaire Sportsman Slain

NASHVILLE (AP)—Millionaire sportsman John B. Wilson was stabbed to death with a Japanese souvenir sword in the hands of his attractive wife early Saturday shortly after they returned from a gay society party.

WILSON

MRS. WILSON

Mrs. Wilson, 42, claimed through her attorney the stabbing was accidental. She was charged with murder and released under $2,500 bond.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Gen. Howard Butler said the 54-year-old financier's death followed an argument between the couple over his treatment of a step-son. The stepson, William Cochrane, 20, was present but said he had his eyes shut "and didn't see what happened."

Ski Star Murder Motive Sought

RENO (UPI)—Reno police prepared Saturday to question the former husband of a onetime British Olympic skier in the hope of finding a clue to the person who killed and butchered her.

Victim of the slaying, which apparently took place sometime late Thursday or Friday, was Sonja McCaskie, 24, a native of Elgin, Scotland, and the mother of a year-old son. Her dismembered body was found late Friday night in her once pleasant apartment, which was adorned by her many skiing cups and trophies.

Fighting Rages Again in Laos

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI)—Heavy fighting raged in the Plain of Jars Saturday between Communist Pathet Lao troops and Laotian neutralist soldiers despite efforts by Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma to arrange a cease-fire, informed sources reported.

Guiana Riots Erupt Anew

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (AP)—Rioting broke out again Saturday in the market places of Georgetown and police hurled tear gas into the mobs to disperse them. Blaming "foreign meddlers," Prime Minister Cheddi Jagan said if violence continued he would declare a state of emergency—a form of martial law—and call out British troops.

Burglar Suspect Admits 14 Thefts

A 24-year-old burglary suspect who was arrested because of a watchful Anaheim Street bar caretaker confessed Saturday to breaking into a total of 14 Long Beach business places, according to police.

Officers said William James Dowell, of 1829 Junipero Ave., Ave., early Saturday morning crashed out of the locked front door of Nick & Sam's Cafe, 2913 E. Anaheim, after a wild running fight with caretaker Gustav U. Schorr, 56, of 2907½ E. Anaheim.

* * * *

DOWELL later was arrested at his home and booked on three counts of burglary and for assaulting Schorr with a deadly weapon.

Det. Lt. C. J. Novotny said the suspect was identified and arrested through a description supplied by Schorr. Dowell reportedly clubbed the watchman during a brief fracas in the cafe.

Schorr crept into the bar after he was awakened by the ringing of a homemade burglar alarm that links his apartment with the cafe.

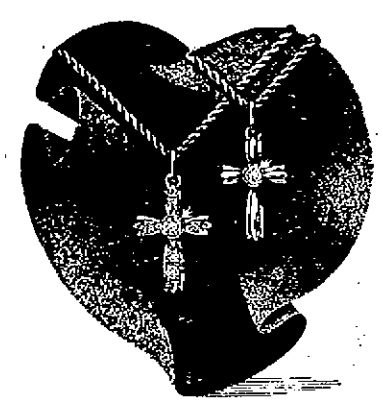

* * * *

DURING interrogation, Dowell confessed burglarizing the Clipper Cafe, 3325 E. Anaheim, of $200 in bills and coins earlier the same night, as well as 10 other Long Beach cafes and one vending machine firm, detectives reported.

Dowell has an arrest record going back to 1957, including three other Long Beach burglary bookings since December.

Formosa, South Korea Aid Cut Studied

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States arms, trains and finances two of the largest military forces in the world—those of Nationalist China and the Republic of Korea.

Chinese and Koreans fire U.S. rifles, fly U.S. planes, sail U.S. ships and drive U.S. tanks.

Through June 1962 the United States had given the Taiwan forces of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek nearly $2.4 billion in military aid for his 590,000-man armed forces. In the same period, Korea received slightly more than $2 billion for its 600,000-man military machine.

Hundreds of thousands of more dollars were given in economic aid to support economies burdened by extraordinary military expenditures.

Both Nationalist China and Korea occupy what Gen. Lucius D. Clay termed "the border of freedom" next to Communist China and Communist North Korea. And U.S. military experts believe that dollar for dollar the U.S. benefits more by giving military aid to these two nations than it would be spending a like amount on U.S. forces.

* * * *

NEVERTHELESS such aid programs are coming under the ever-increasing scrutiny of Congress and government officials.

Said the Clay committee report after an investigation of the global aid program: "We are convinced that in several of these countries indigenous forces are larger than required for their immediate mission of defense and not large enough to assume other missions. There, phased reductions of a very substantial order appear practical . . ."

There was little question that Nationalist China and Korea were among the nations the committee had in mind.

Although both nations might be affected in the not too distant future, Nationalist China stands a better chance of avoiding cuts than Korea.

Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, gave a hint of this in their February testimony before a House appropriations subcommittee.

Canadians Quiet on JFK's Note

MONTREAL (UPI) — Canada's major political parties decided Saturday to refrain from an eleventh-hour political dispute with the United States on the eve of Monday's national elections.

A political "blackout" kept secret the details of a "get-tough" document said to contain marginal notes in President Kennedy's handwriting that might possibly have caused friction between Canada and the United States.

The paper reportedly came from a 1961 U.S.-Canadian conference and is said to have been highly critical of the conservative administration of Prime Minister John Diefenbaker.

* * * *

DIEFENBAKER, predicting a victory at the polls, refused to comment on the document during a final whistle-stop tour through Ontario.

Liberal Party leader Lester B. Pearson, who according to most pollsters stands a good chance of succeeding Diefenbaker after the votes are counted, similarly refused to inject comment on the paper, or any other anti-American issue, into his final speeches.

Pearson told a crowd of 1,000 wellwishers who met his plane when he returned to Ottawa from a 27,000 mile campaign tour that he was confident Canadians would vote Liberal.

Canadians generally heard little of their political favorites' last-ditch pronouncements. A broadcast regulation forbids radio or television stations to go on the air in the 48 hours before election day with anything political that could influence the voters.

* * * *

THE EXISTENCE, or otherwise, of the controversial paper, said by the Montreal Star to have contained notes in Kennedy's handwriting, first was reported more than a week ago by a group of Canadian newspapers.

It was brought up again by the Star in a copyrighted dispatch. The dispatch said the document blasting Diefenbaker for failing to accept nuclear weapons for mutual defense, was found by Canadian officials after it was mislaid during Ottawa talks attended by Kennedy and Diefenbaker.

The Star said Kennedy's handwritten notation said: "What do we do with the (deleted) at this point?" There was no firm indication of what the "deleted" word or words were, and the White House refused comment about it.

"GLUE-SNIFFING and the inhalation of other intoxicating and habituating chemicals is another topic which must be treated. The increasing complexity of the addiction problem thus complicates any program of instruction."

Narcotics and drug abuse, Mosk said, "still remain shrouded in myth and half-truth. These trappings must be eliminated if they are to be dealt with honestly. Education is the basic element in such an endeavor."

Dutch Employment Rate Stays High

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (AP)—When it comes to steady employment, it's hard to beat the Dutch. The Social Affairs Ministry announced the number of jobless decreased in March from 38,000 to 33,000. That's 0.8 per cent of a work force estimated at four million.

WILD PARTY

Police Halt Noise, Silenced in Turn

WASHINGTON (AP)—Police Pvts. Ronald A. Clark and Victor Kuklis had no trouble quieting a loud party in the southeast Washington apartment.

In fact, by the time they got back to their scout car there was complete silence.

While they were quieting things down someone had ripped the microphone from their short wave radio set, they reported to precinct headquarters — by telephone.

Bahamas capital.

Both the United States and the Bahamas colonial government have served notice on anti-Castro bands not to use United States and Bahamas territory as a jumpoff point for raids against Communist Cuba.

Col. Pine-Coffin said the nine men captured at a creek on Andros has small arms, ammunition and a boat.

The nine, together with their martial gear, will be taken to Nassau aboard the 370-foot anti-submarine frigate HMS Londonderry, whose marines captured them.

They are not expected to reach the capital until Monday.

* * * *

THE ARREST of the nine by British forces, and the Coast Guard interception of five more, brought to 31 the number of men seized in the Bahamas last week on apparent missions against Castro. Seventeen men and their boat, seized last Sunday at Norman's Cay, were taken first to Nassau and then to Miami where they and their craft were released.

Pine-Coffin said the five men intercepted by the U.S. Coast Guard identically answered the description of the five who barreled out of Williams Cay in a light powerboat Friday night.

Orange Cay is 40 miles west of Andros Island.

The Seventh Coast Guard District, with headquarters at Miami, reinforced its air and sea units to maintain a sharp lookout for sneak departures of innocent-looking small craft loaded with anti-Castro fighters.

The 35-foot motorboat Violynn III remained in dock in Miami after a planned Cuban raid was thwarted. The 17 men aboard the Violynn III had been picked up at Norman Cay and detained by Bahamian authorities earlier in the week.

* * * *

FREED Thursday, the craft started for Miami, shadowed by a Coast Guard cutter and plane. The escort lost the Violynn III in darkness and the vessel showed up off Miami Friday afternoon, minus its weapons and without ammunition or fuel.

Two U.S. citizens in the crew were released after questioning and the 15 others, Cuban nationals, were held overnight at an immigration processing station, then released Saturday afternoon.

Capt. Evilio Duque, leader of the band of 17, said he intended to continue fighting for the Cuban cause but would respect the laws of the United States. Duque said he was "grateful to be back."

Seethaler, Artist and Teacher, Dies

Karl Seethaler, 65, internationally known artist, lecturer and teacher, died Friday at his home, 45 Hermosa Ave.

The highly talented and versatile artist was a native Austrian but had called Long Beach his home since 1945. He had been a U.S. citizen since 1931.

He founded the Long Beach Academy of Art in 1946.

Seethaler studied in Vienna, Bruenn and Budapest.

* * * *

HE WORKED in a variety of media, but oil was his favorite.

In 1956 he was honored by the Austrian Cultural Society (Oesterreichische Kulturvereinigung) which sponsored a one-man exhibition of his work in the Vienna Concert House. Seventy of Seethaler's paintings and sculptures were displayed in the foyer of the building.

Seethaler, a dedicated artist, was fond of telling his pupils:

"Skill alone is not enough. The real artist paints because he has to. If you can live without painting, don't paint!"

A partial list of group exhibitions in which he was represented included Arizona and California State Fairs, Los Angeles County Museum and Long Beach Museum of Art. He has had one-man shows in the Palos Verdes Gallery; Rougland Galleries; Lucien Labaudt Art Gallery, San Francisco; Galerie Lefort, Montreal, Canada; Innenbaukunst, Frankfurt, Germany, and the Vienna Concert House.

* * * *

SEVERAL hundred of Seethaler's paintings, drawings and wood sculptures are owned by private collectors in the United States, Europe and the Far East.

He is survived by his wife, Marguerite; sons, Karl J., John, and Eric.

Private funeral service was in Christensen-Pino Mortuary.

Insane Plea by Attacker of Deputy

SANTA ANA—A La Habra laborer has declared in Superior Court he will contest his conviction of attacking a sheriff's deputy with a food tray.

John Thomas Avitia, 29, said he was insane at the time of the incident. The defendant was found guilty by Superior Court Judge Robert Kneeland after the judge read the transcript of the preliminary hearing taken during the court proceedings at Anaheim-Fullerton Municipal Court.

Judge Kneeland will allow the insanity plea at an April 29 hearing, he said.

Avitia is accused of attacking Deputy Roneal Julian Jan. 16 in the county jail.

GETTING THERE BY VELOCIPEDE

Idea Is to Arrive Safely

Since the days of the "Draisine" and "French Velocipede" children and adults have enjoyed the mode of transportation offered by the bicycle.

While today's modern, streamlined two-wheeler is a far cry from its 1816 counterpart, many of today's riders, particularly children, fail to use 1963 safety practices.

* * * *

ALTHOUGH the California Vehicle Code was originally designed for automobiles, bicycle operators are also governed by many of these same laws.

In 1816 Baron Van Drais invented a two-wheeled contraption to help him travel about his large estate. It resembled, slightly, today's bicycle, but the rider, in a sitting position, propelled himself by pushing against the ground with his feet.

* * * *

ABOUT 1855 the French Velocipede was introduced. It had a large front wheel with pedals attached to the hub to make it go, and a small wheel in the rear.

Because of the difficulty, and danger, involved in getting aboard this bicycle, a low wheel was developed for the front and a sprocket and chain attachment was fastened to the rear wheel for mobility.

By 1889 the low wheel "safety" bicycle had undergone many improvements, until today, the bicycle offers comfort, endurance, ease and inexpensive transportation for millions.

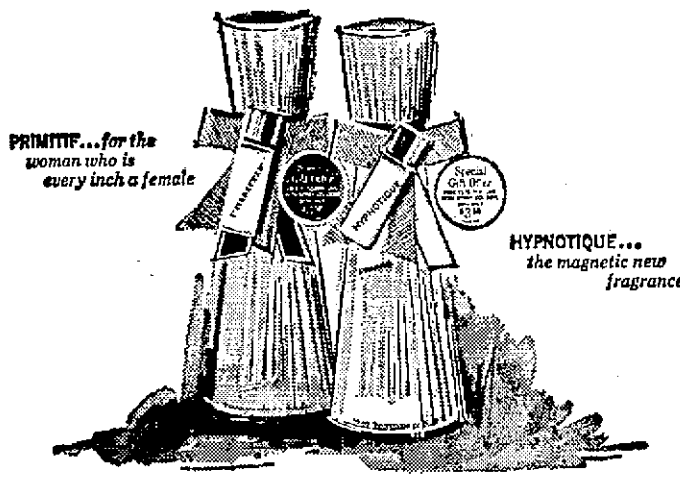

* * * *

"IF YOU wish to become a skillful and healthy rider, learn and always follow these life-preserving safeguards," the traffic experts said:

1. Keep off busy streets until you can ride well.
2. Obey all traffic signs.
3. A warning device—horn or bell— is required, plus a red reflector on the rear and a white light on the front for night driving.
4. Only one rider per seat.
5. Do not hitch a ride on other moving vehicles.
6. Use both hands when riding.
7. Do not ride against traffic. Stay on the right side of the street close to the curb, and move along with the traffic.
8. Don't be a road hog.
9. Walk your bicycle across a busy street at the intersection.

HE COMMANDED, IT HAD BEST OF EVERYTHING

Gen. Cannon Recalls L.B. Had Biggest Air Base Ever in U.S.

By GEORGE FLOWERS

Andy Cannon, a star in each eye and one on each shoulder, came back to Long Beach Saturday on Air Force business, and lingered to talk about airplanes and men.

For Brig. Gen. Cannon, the city has a special meaning. In 1943, when he commanded the Air Force installation here, it was the biggest base in Uncle Sam's military world.

* * * *

THERE were 3,000 pilots stationed in Long Beach under his command, more than any other base. There were 3,000 airplanes leaving here a month for the far corners of the world. No other Air Force base did so much business. There were 7,500 men servicing the base and the planes. The war-harried base was the biggest thing in traffic and pilot-count the Air Force ever has seen, and in the coming days of pushbuttons is not likely to see the like again.

But war is not all grease and gasoline. Among other things, Gen. Cannon recalls that Long Beach:

1—Had one of the best baseball teams ever fielded.

2 — Had one of the greatest bands ever assembled.

3 — Had one of the greatest reputations for good food known to the service.

Gen. Cannon, now stationed at Hamilton Field, San Rafael, Calif., as commander of the Sixth Air Force Reserve Region, visited the city Saturday to award the local reserve a recognition for their newspaper, "Group Scoop."

BRIG. GEN. CANNON
Remembers War Days

Perhaps it is because he knew that this will be one of his last visits to the city as an Air Force officer—he retires in September—he spent some time reminiscing.

* * * *

THE BASEBALL team, for example.

"We had Red Ruffing as our No. 1 pitcher, and three other pitchers owned by the New York Yankees and one from the Boston Red Sox. Harry Danning of the Giants was our catcher, Chuck Stevens played first base, Peanuts Lowry was on third, Max West in center and Swede Jensen in left. We had others, all major leaguers, and nobody ever beat us.

"Finally the Air Force transferred the whole team to the Pacific, to play for the men overseas."

Of the band:

"We had $5,000-a-week musicians, enlisted men, playing for us. We had Ziggy Elman on trumpet, the Teagarden brothers, and many more.

* * * *

"PEOPLE like Bing Crosby, Eddie Cantor and Kay Kyser used to come to our base for their broadcasts, and use our band.

"The band went overseas, too."

And of the food:

"At one time we had 10 chefs, all $25,000-a-year men from the finest restaurants on the West Coast. The food was fabulous. And they were all enlisted men."

Andy Cannon, with 25,000 hours of flying under his belt, recalls that he first saw Long Beach in 1941 when he was a lieutenant. After some suffling around, including a stint at Dutch Harbor, Alaska, he came back here in September 1943, a colonel, and ruled the country's biggest base until June 1944. Under his guidance, the ferry system of supplying planes to U.S. and Allied forces reached its peak.

* * * *

THE BASE complex, he recalls, included instruction for pilots and crews, and special instruction classes for overseas flying.

"When the war began, we had 57 pilots qualified for four-engined planes," he remembered. "When it ended we had something like 400,000."

For Gen. Cannon, his Air Force career has included servicing U.S. and New Zealand expeditions to antarctica, where he dropped supplies — sometimes 1,900 tractors — to the icepacks.

While there, he picked up an Antarctic husky, now grown to a 155-pound pet on Cannon's farm in Tipton, New Hampshire.

"The dog was born in minus-80 weather, and he likes it in Tipton, where it gets 30 below."

Long Beach always has been important to the Cannons. When Gen. Cannon was overseas, his wife, Mabel, lived here. Their elder son, Hughie, was stationed here and died in a plane crash in Chattanooga, Tenn. (Another son, Andrew Jr., 15, is preparing for medical studies.)

* * * *

A BROTHER, Capt. William Cannon, was stationed here. Upon retirement, the brothers plan to buy a seaplane and fly from Tipton to Canada and Newfoundland on their own fishing excursions.

Gen. Cannon, raised near Tipton, finally bought a farm there. It has 400 acres, about 80 tillable, but more important, it sits atop Bean Hill, which is something of a small mountain. The importance of this to a flying man is illustrated by the general's comments:

"I can see 150 miles from there, in a 270-degree sweep."

Farming, however, has no lure for the retiring general.

"I know there's money in it, though," he says wryly. "I put it there."

Judge Suggests Uniform Code of Punishment

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—The way juries fix punishments for law violators is "like shooting craps," a judge on Kentucky's highest court says.

"The idea of sentencing is to deter crime and it's not been working too well in this country," Judge John Palmore of the State Court of Appeals told the Kentucky Bar Association.

He said there was inequity of punishment by juries trying similar cases and also inequity from one area to another in the state. He suggested standardization of punishment.

Indians Do Need Aid, Friend Told

dren in great need."

"The White Man's government has made us give up our rule by tribal chief," the medicine man said, "and now tribal 'governors' are elected and they must avoid any embarrassment to the Indian agent."

* * * *

IN A BITTER, scathing charge, the Barstow railway worker stated that "the whole history of the white man-Indian relationship is one filled with broken promises by the white man and dire poverty for the Indian!"

Semu surmised that the refusal on the part of his tribal brothers on the New Mexico reservation to accept the Lakewood couple's gifts came about "because somebody ordered the governor not to attract publicity that would let word leak out to the people about how Indians are treated by the government.

"We had our own religion, our own honor and a history of peace until the white man stepped off the boat with his Ten Commandments," Semu relates, "'Thou Shalt Not Kill;' and he began to wipe us out . . . 'Thou Shalt Not Steal,' and they robbed us blind.

* * * *

"EVEN THE great 'national hero,' Gen. Custer, was under orders to return to Washington for court-martial charges for slaughtering Indian women and children when we got him at Little Big Horn," Semu asserted. "Now he is remembered as the 'victim' of merciless Indians!"

Asked if present Indian affairs are any better, the graying Indian acknowledged that "we have made gains," but he compares the plight of the American Indian to "that of the Southern Negro" as far as discrimination and equality are concerned.

"They say that they (the government) are appropriating hundreds of thousands for the Indian . . . but the Indian never sees it," Semu bitterly charges. "They tell of the thousands of acres set aside for reservations, but they neglect to mention that there is no water to make things grow.

* * * *

"AND NOW, when good people like the Anders try to help, our people must refuse their help so as not to embarrass the white man's government!"

Mrs. Anders told the visitors that the 10,000 pounds of foods and gifts turned down by the Indians had been distributed to a mountain mission near Rodeo, Mexico, by a local missionary group.

"It's just terrible," the woman said, "that such a thing as this can happen to our own American Indians."

Semu, Whitecloud, Albert Camarrillo and Jake Garcia informed Mrs. Anders that they would like to honor her husband with initiation into the Society of the Turtle at a future date.

* * * *

"THIS IS an honor that has been extended to only five other white men," Whitecloud said, "and it is accompanied by a ritual handed down through the centuries. It is an honor we wish to extend to show these people how much their kindness really means to the American Indian."

"We are not the poker-faced machines that the 'Hollywood Indian' would lead you to believe," Semu interposed, "we cry, we feel pain, we have emotions like all other men, and we are truly moved by the kindness these people have shown."

With these parting words, the four drew themselves up stiffly, and marched from the modern Lakewood home. As neighbors watched, dumbfounded, four American Indians, in full tribal dress, climbed into their compact station wagon and drove off, looking straight ahead.

Bulgaria Opens Crackdown on 'Sluggish' Shops

VIENNA (UPI) — Communist Bulgaria has taken steps to iron out "irregularities" in the nation's apparently sluggish retail shops, Radio Sofia announced.

The broadcast also announced new crackdowns on black-marketeering, hoarding and special treatment given to high Communist Party officials.

Political observers here said the new government decree was "obvious evidence of a serious food shortage and distribution crisis in Bulgaria."

Ghosts of Brave Airmen Hover Over Famed Base

By HAL COOPER

SNETTERTON, England (UP)—Just 20 years ago, in April 1943, the U.S. 8th Air Force launched its first big-scale assaults on Adolf Hitler's Germany.

When it was all over, 25 months later, the 8th had lost 8,902 aircraft and 41,236 flying men, most of them in their late teens and early 20s.

Today only gaunt hangars, crumbling Nissen huts and grass-grown runways remain to show where base after busy base once dotted the flat East Anglian countryside.

Most of the land is back under the ploy, producing sugar beets, potatoes and Brussels sprouts.

Many of the old buildings have fallen down. Others have been demolished. A few are in use as barns or livestock pens. Over all, the scene is desolate and saddening.

* * * *

LITTLE REMAINS familiar except the place names—East Harling, Diss, Besthorpe, Bunwell, Wymondham, Thetford, Deopham Green, Banham.

In the spirit of a gray-bearded prospector on a pilgrimage to Virginia City, I made a sentimental journey to the 96th Group's old Snetterton base.

I was stationed here for seven hectic months of 1943 as a B17 Flying Fortress gunner.

The old homestead was like a ghost town.

The perimeter track around the main runway has been turned into a seldom-used bush league car racing strip known as the Snetterton circuit.

The big hangar where so many shot-up bombers were nursed back into flying condition stands black and empty except for a few farming implements and some baled hay.

* * * *

GRASS AND weeds grow in cracks in the runway and the adjoining hardstands. A brick butt used for testing aircraft machine guns is all but hidden in a copse of fir trees.

After a considerable search I was able to find what used to be the 413th Squadron barracks area—with, amazingly, my own onetime hut still upright.

The hut has been severely beaten up by the elements of two decades. But the roof is still sound and the place contains new tenants.

Where 14 men once slept there now dwell 23 pigs of a variety known to the English as "large whites."

A second hut in the same area is home to a flock of turkeys.

Virtually no other physical vestiges of the 413th have survived. The areas once occupied by the group's other three squadrons were almost indistinguishable from the surrounding terrain.

Well—it was all a long time ago.

WHAT CAN HAVE GONE WRONG?

Fairview Hospital Model for Nation

By GEORGE C. FLOWERS

In three short years, Fairview State Hospital at Costa Mesa has run the gamut of public attention.

It has been singled out as one of the nation's most modern hospitals for care of the mentally retarded.

It has pioneered in the use of volunteers to help its patients.

It has grown as few such institutions could dare dream. It still is growing.

Its approach to care of the retarded has been studied by visiting experts, who hoped to take some of its modern methods back to their own institutions.

* * * *

AND, SUDDENLY, it is under investigation for alleged maltreatment of patients.

Fairview, a state hospital housing 2,000 patients, has embarked on a program to expand its facilities to care for 600 more. When the additions now begun are completed, Fairview will have cost the state of California $25 millions. Eventually it will cost $45 million and house 4,000.

Most of its patients are children. Eighty percent are under 20 years of age. For most, there never will be freedom. At the agonizingly slow rate of about 20 a month, advanced patients are "graduated" to outside foster homes. But they are not discharged as "cured."

* * * *

DR. JACK LEVITT, assistant superintendent of the hospital in charge of psychiatric services, recently remarked sadly:

"So far there is no cure for the mentally retarded."

Fairview was designed and built especially for the care of the mentally retarded. The more than 25 buildings are connected by walkways covered to protect against weather and intrusion. The entire complex is virtually self-sustaining, with bathing, recreation, laundry, dining and work facilities.

When Dr. Hyman Tucker took over the helm of the hospital in its planning stages, he envisioned a place where the retarded could have privacy and an "at home" feeling, and could also participate when practical in the work: for example, qualified elder patients could enjoy assisting the young.

* * * *

ROOMS WERE designed to be bright and cheerful. The jail concept of an institution for the mentally retarded—the "insane asylum" approach — was discarded.

Dr. Tucker envisioned one of the greatest institutions of its kind in the world. For example, he planned a research program.

"We know so little about the mentally retarded," he declared. "If we are to find a solution to this mounting crisis, it must be made here, where these unfortunate people exist."

He felt pleased, he said, that the public's attitude had changed toward the mentally retarded.

"Today they are considered unfortunate . . . like people who live in a world next door," he declared. The hospital's purpose, as designed and operated, was to bring these people as close home from "next door" as humanly possible.

* * * *

TO HELP bring these people into the normal world, volunteers were sought from the Orange County community. For example, a group of 150 teen-age volunteers—mostly from Orange Coast College— was organized to help with the child patients.

These volunteers visited the patients, played with them, helped the handicapped to move about, and sought to help the slow minds learn.

Orange County women's, service and social clubs organized more teams, each to fit into age groups and special cases. These teams of volunteers, numbering in the hundreds of people, provide extra care, entertainment and companionship for the patients. It is a program unique, and one many other institutions in the nation are studying.

* * * *

FAIRVIEW Hospital is also a multi-million-dollar business. When some Orange County residents protested, a few years ago, that an "insane asylum" was being built in their backyards, they were confronted with figures to show that care of the retarded is a major industry.

Fairview employs 1,000 nurses, doctors, social workers, teachers, therapists, maintenance workers and specialists. The annual payroll of over $5,250,000 comprises the greater part of the hospital's $7-million budget. By the time the hospital is completed, another 500 people will be on the payroll.

These employes operate, maintain or supervise the latest equipment for physical and psychiatric therapy.

* * * *

THE PURPOSE of all this money, all these people, all these new buildings and all this equipment is explained by Dr. Levitt:

"We know we have a long way to go in attempts to correct retardation but there has already been a revolution in the field in the last 15 years developing more and more diagnostic facilities to recognize these problems at the earliest possible age.

"In many cases, borderline patients, once sent away to institutions for the rest of their lives, now are trained to a useful life. We are doing everything possible to do the same for many once considered hopeless."

* * * *

CHARGES of patient mistreatment at Fairview, now under investigation, produced more than an ordinary reaction of shock and alarm, in view of Fairview's short but brilliant record, and high purpose.

Fairview's staff has adopted a tight-lipped "wait and see" attitude toward the accusations.

The charges were given some substance by a team of representatives from three private mental hospitals, which claimed to have found "shocking" conditions.

Cited was "one naked girl with festering wounds," described by Mrs. Stephen Waller, chairman of the California Council of Mental Retardation's mental hygiene section, as "scratched to pieces."

* * * *

THE REPORT, which cited other patients with scratches and bruises, noted that conditions in other sections of the hospital were "excellent."

And, the report continued, it is possible that the patients may have inflicted the injuries upon themselves.

There were other accusations: a man lying naked on a concrete floor, without blankets, in a ward; a girl punished by being locked in a bathroom, nude; and injured patients without proper care.

A stream of investigators has poured into Fairview Hospital since that time. The State Department of Mental Hygiene has searched and probed; the attorney general and the Orange County district attorney have launched inquiries.

* * * *

ADIMINISTRATOR Winslow Christian, of the State Health and Welfare Agency, found enough evidence in the reports to announce publicly:

"There is a possibility of mistreatment of patients at the hospital."

The final evaluation, from all investigators, may be weeks in materializing. The people who saw Fairview planned, built and operated, ask themselves:

"How could the very things it was designed to prevent take place at Fairview?"

They wait now for an answer. Could a place like Fairview belong to the Dark Ages?

Rocky Knocks JFK; Offers Remedies for U.S.

OMAHA (UPI)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York Saturday dismissed President Kennedy's fiscal program as "another massive attempt to prime the pump through deficit spending," and offered an alternative program of his own.

Rockefeller, here for a banquet honoring Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., set forth a five-point fiscal program which he said could restore confidence and provide the incentives for the kind of growth which will provide 20 million needed jobs in the next five years.

* * * *

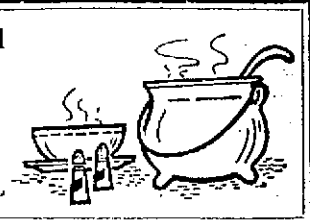

THE FIRST ITEM in the Rockefeller program was a proposed reduction of corporation taxes from 52 percent to 47 percent with the entire cut "fully effective as of July 1, 1963."

The second was a reduction of personal income taxes by $7.5 billion "across the board, in the general pattern recommended by the Secretary of the Treasury, also to be effective July 1 this year."

Rockefeller also proposed that Kennedy's "so-called 'reforms'" be abandoned, and that federal spending be held to the fiscal 1963 level. The final point was to "subscribe resolutely to the goal of a balanced cash budget by fiscal 1965."

Films Limited on Italy TV

ROME (AP) — Italy's state television network has agreed to show no more than one motion picture a week on each of its two channels. The decision was a concession to movie house owners, who threatened a nationwide shutdown.

They said they had to pay high taxes that raised the cost of tickets while the television network did not have to worry about taxes. Movies have been shown almost every night on one or the other of the two state television channels.

College YR Race Narrows

FRESNO (UPI) — A first ballot victory in Sunday's California Young Republican College Federation election was predicted Saturday by both candidates for the presidency of the 5,000 member group.

Trend Devenney of Pepperdine College and Randy Siefkin of University of California at Santa Barbara issued the statements following the official withdrawal from the race by William Dillon of University of California at Berkeley.

* * * *

DILION promptly announced his candidacy for executive vice president, opposing Walt Driver of University of San Francisco and Dennis Alexander of Santa Clara.

"I am convinced that Siefkin will serve all of the college clubs and I am endorsing his candidacy," declared Dillon. "I am urging delegates committed to me to support his candidacy."

Risky Upstaging

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Jackie Gleason stole a few scenes from 7-year-old Linda Bruhl in "Papa's Delicate Condition."

"But my heart wasn't in it," says Gleason.

"The kid's old man is an FBI agent. Try upstaging there, pal."

JAYCEES ANNUAL GRIDIRON NIGHT

L.B. Leaders to Pay $25 Each to Hear Selves Ragged Tuesday

Long Beach civic, political and business leaders Tuesday night will hear themselves lampooned, humorously ridiculed, ch humorously ridiculed, chastised and otherwise insulted—but they'll file no slander suits.

In fact, most of them will pay $25 for the "privilege," plus a dinner in the Petroleum Club, starting at 7:30 p.m.

The occasion is the 23rd annual Gridiron Night, sponsored by Long Beach Junior Chamber of Commerce and patterned somewhat after the Gridiron dinner of the senior Washington Press group.

As always, the year's decisions concerning city problems will be rehashed (and possibly exaggerated or altered) in the form of a play or musical production.

A cast of 22 Jaycees has rehearsed a month on script and songs written by the members themselves. Title of this year's production has not been announced, but past titles have included: "The $10 Million Question," "The Search for Briber Murphy," "Return to Satan Place" and "The Court of Swift and Final Justice."

The titles' similarity to TV shows, books, Broadway plays and motion pictures was purely intentional.

* * * *

THE SERIOUS part of the program will include presentation of the annual Jaycee Good Government Award and Distinguished Service Award.

Gridiron chairman Don Cameron said there are five nominations for each. The former will go to a person in civil government position deserving recognition of his efforts for the city; the latter to the outstanding young man (35 or under).

Approximately 200 persons are expected to attend. Proceeds will be used in Jaycee community betterment projects.

The Long Beach Municipal Airport, Veteran's Stadium, police training facilities and Rancho Esperanza Honor Farm are among community assets due in part to drives spearheaded by the Jaycees.

Other annual projects promoting Long Beach such as Wings Over the World Air Pageant, Christmas Lighting Contest and Operation Phone Santa, and youth activities including the All-City Sports Event, TV Dance Party and Good Citizenship awards provide Jaycees the experience necessary for leadership training, Cameron said.

Attendance at the show is by invitation only, but Cameron pointed out that bids are sent to everyone who is thought to be interested.

Those who attend automatically become members of the Gridiron Club. The group is unusual in that it meets but once a year, and many who take part expect to be insulted and criticized for most of the evening.

Kaiser Gypsum Plant Here Joins AID 100 Per Cent

Kaiser Gypsum Co. Long Beach plant employes have joined AID-United Givers 100 per cent, Jack Collins, Long Beach manager of AID announced.

The plant employs 170 persons and the average contribution will be $20. "This year employes of the plant, some of whom who have been members of AID since 1956, will establish a new record in dollars contributed and membership," said Richard Wiborn, plant industrial relations manager.

Long Beach AID will raise about $500,000 for charities during the year—its tenth of operation in the area. AID is operated by a volunteer 30-man board of directors representing the public, organized labor and business. Larry Collins Jr. is president.

Brothers Think They Have Perpetual Motion Solved

By DON MADDOCK

STANLEY G. GOLLNER

ZOLTAN GRSETIC

Inventors and scientists down through the ages have been scratching their heads over the possibilities of squaring the circle and of building a perpetual motion machine. In both cases, they've decided it can't be done. But two Westminster men believe they have the answer to the perpetual-motion problem.

Stanley G. Gollner, who changed his name for simplicity, and his brother, Zoltan Grsetic, both of 13432 Yosemite Dr., think their work will make mammoth and costly hydroelectric projects obsolete, and will furnish cheap power to both the privileged and underprivileged countries of the world.

Patents are pending for their machine, now known only as a "scientific demonstration device."

* * * *

IT'S LARGELY based on the principle of fluid mechanics that when an object is immersed in a fluid, the object is buoyed up by a force equal to the weight of the fluid displaced by the object.

Southland bathers unknowingly illustrate the principle when they push a beach ball underwater, then release it. It catapults out of the water with force.

Gollner and Grsetic say they can harness this force.

* * * *

THEIR blueprints show a completely-immersed device consisting mainly of round, air-filled balls, a conveyor belt, pulleys, tank, tube in which the balls fit precisely and a water pump.

Starting from the bottom, a ball escapes from the tube and fits behind a prong on the conveyor. It and those which follow it seek to escape upward, generating power as they do so.

Instead of flying into the air, each ball is trapped at the top in an opening into the tube. The pump draws out the water underneath it, and the ball sinks until it again is in place to begin a ride on the conveyor.

* * * *

GOLLNER says the pump operates on only a small part of the generated power. The rest can be made available for other purposes.

Once an electric motor has started the operation, the device is self-perpetuating, he adds.

Gollner has worked 11 years in developing the machine. His brother spent five years working on the project independently in Europe, and joined Gollner here nine months ago. They worked out what they believe was the last kink last Thanksgiving Day.

They say their device is scientifically and economically sound. They have not built a large working model because of the expense involved.

They estimate the model would cost $10,000 to $20,000.

* * * *

THE BROTHERS insist that their project be used to raise the standard of living of the entire world. They deny their major desire is private gain, and will not sell any of their rights to any group which wishes only to keep the device off the market and thereby curb competition.

The brothers have other inventions to their credit, some of which have European patents.

They're working now on other projects, but the underwater device is their pet.

They hope and feel they are making a major contribution to all mankind.

British Improve Rail Station, Close It Up

LONDON (UPI)—The British railways reorganization plan includes closing St. Mark's station even though a two-year improvement plan has just been completed.

"In an organization as large as the railways things like this are bound to happen now and then," a spokesman said.

Researcher Urges Study of Virus Link to Cancer

By BEN ZINSER
I.-P-T Medical-Science Editor

LA JOLLA—Failure to isolate a virus from human cancer material should not deter researchers in their efforts to find a virus link to cancer, a noted virologist said here Saturday.

Dr. Wendell M. Stanley, director of the University of California virus laboratory in Berkeley, said he still believes scientists should assume that viruses, in one form or another, are implicated in human cancer.

Dr. Stanley spoke at a science writers seminar sponsored by the American Cancer Society.

* * * *

IMPROVED and alternative procedures for finding a virus link should be sought, he said.

"It looks obvious that we are really only at the beginning in our search for human cancer viruses and that a tremendous amount of experimentation must be done before we can reasonably expect some successes," he asserted.

Dr. Stanley said viruses can no longer be thought of in terms of simple infection and multiplication.

"There are devious ways in which a virus can control the destiny of a cell," he said.

Scientists are just beginning to understand some of these processes, he added.

Another speaker, Dr. Harry Rubin, also of the University of California virus lab, disclosed that the Rous sarcoma virus, which causes cancer in chickens, sometimes gets assistance from a "helper virus."

* * * *

ALTHOUGH the Rous virus can transform normal cells into cancer cells in the chick, it is not reproduced within the cell it affects, he said.

Progeny virus appears only if the cell is infected by a helper virus, one which by itself can cause leukemia in birds. The helper virus is known as avian leukosis virus or Rous-associated virus.

Dr. Ruban said clarification of the process may improve science's understanding of how cells become malignant.

A monkey virus capable of causing tumors in hamsters has not produced malignancy in man even though thousands of humans have been unwittingly inoculated with it, two researchers reported.

* * * *

THE MONKEY virus, known as SV-40, was present in Salk polio vaccine from 1954 until May 1961. The simian virus was removed from polio vaccine when it was found to be a contaminant.

Dr. Joseph L. Melnick, professor of virology at Baylor University College of Medicine, Houston, said there has not been a single case of illness attributable to SV-40 in either monkeys or humans.

In a message telephoned to the seminar, Dr. Michael B. Shimkin of the National Cancer Institute, Bethesda, Mr., said if SV-40 were dangerous to man, that danger would have been recognized by now.

There has been no increase in leukemia or cancer which can be attributed to the monkey virus, he said.

Tibet Trade Dying; Spy Business Bad

By HENRY S. BRADSHER

KALIMPONG, India (AP) — For decades, big Himalayan mules with red plumes dancing above their heads and bells ringing from their necks ambled into Kalimpong under the shouted guidance of pigtailed Tibetan traders.

Now the trail to Lhasa is silent. Kalimpong, Indian terminus of the Tibetan trade, is slowly dying. Since the mules stopped jingling down from three-mile-high Himalayan passes, Kalimpong has lost its primary reason for existence.

Even the spying business is bad.

WHEN THE people of Lhasa revolted against Chinese Communist rule in March 1959, Peking charged that the uprising was directed from Kalimpong. Prime Minister Nehru denied this but agreed with Peking that Kalimpong was a nest of spies of all nationalities.

A visitor to Kalimpong at that time found it teeming with Chinese of both Communist and Nationalist persuasions. There were also Tibetans who had profited by working with the Communists, others who had been fighting the Communists in eastern Tibet for more than three years before the Lhasa revolt, and miscellaneous westerners of vague connections.

This town that straggles along a 3,940-foot-high ridge of the Himalayan foothills bustled with business then. There were more Chinese tea shops and shoemakers than seemed economically justified.

* * * *

TIBETAN muleteers sometimes slit open their soft leather boots to extract letters smuggled from Lhasa.

After the Chinese crushed the Lhasa revolt and began the subjugation of the Tibetan people, the air of espionage here dissipated. Talk of spying had a brief resurgence last October when the Chinese attacked India. Rumors of faithful old Chinese shopkeepers operating concealed radio transmitters were common all over this border area. Most Chinese were moved out by the Indian government.

The mule trade declined because of Chinese restrictions on Indian traders and Indian bans on sending strategic goods to Tibet. In 1962 India allowed its trade treaty covering Tibet to lapse.

* * * *

THERE HAS been some smuggling but now it is hampered by Indian army units guarding this area.

By unofficial estimate, 40 per cent of the businesses in Kalimpong have closed. Others are on the verge of bankruptcy.

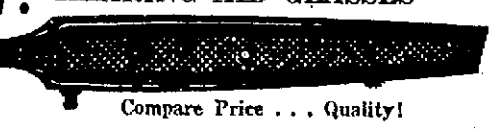

The streets are still lively with people and the birthrate does not seem to have declined in recent years. Perhaps 600 Tibetan refugees still wander about, spinning their Buddhist prayer wheels while muttering sacred words, but most of the thousands who flooded through Kalimpong have moved on elsewhere.

JUDGES HEAR ALL SORTS OF STORIES

180,000 Traffic Citations Handled in Year

By BOB SCHMIDT

The man finished his explanation and became silent. The black-robed judge he was facing didn't let his face reflect that he'd heard the story, or a variation, countless times. He said, instead, "Sir, that's a very credible story. I'd be considerably more inclined to believe it if I didn't see here that you have received four citations of one kind or another in the past three months."

And so he meted out fitting punishment: A fine, perhaps a few days in jail, perhaps the suspension of the driver's license.

Although the judges of the Long Beach Municipal Court regard each traffic violator who appears before them individually, it figures that in the course of a year they would hear just about any kind of story, fact or fiction.

* * * *

IN 1962, the Traffic Division of the Long Beach Municipal Court, located in Room 203 of the gleaming new Long Beach County Building at 415 W. Ocean Blvd., processed some 180,000 citations.

And a substantial number of the motorists to whom those 180,000 citations were issued eventually faced a judge.

Some just want to give the judge an explanation, hoping that he'll reduce the fine or perhaps not levy one at all. Others, about 2 per cent, feel they're not guilty and want a trial. And the appearance of others is mandatory.

HERE IS the traffic division "machinery" which is set in motion when a citizen is cited for violating the law:

The agency which issued the citations sends the original of the ticket to the Traffic Division. If the citation is for a moving violation, a card is typed and put in a giant rotary file, where it is kept for one year. If there has been one previous violation during the preceding year, the bail to be posted is increased by $5. If there are two or more violations, a court appearance is mandatory.

The offender must come in within 10 days to post the required bail, or he may mail the specified bail in at his own risk. If he does this, the ticket is "cleared," that is, the citizen's obligation has been met.

Unless he wishes to plead "Not Guilty," as some 2 per cent of the ticket recipients do, he need do nothing further. The bail is forfeited.

If he wishes to appear personally before a judge, he may do so. There are seven court appearance times daily between 10 a. m. and 3 p. m.

IF, AS has been indicated, the moving violation is his third within the past year, he is ordered to appear in court.

When the ticket is not cleared within the 10-day period, the violator's trouble multiplies.

First of all, a warrant for his arrest is issued. A notice that the offender has failed to appear is sent to the Department of Motor Vehicles in Sacramento, and that agency will refuse to issue or renew any operator's license if uncleared tickets involving the applicant exist anywhere in the state.

The violator will eventually be arrested, and if he wants to get out of jail he will have to post a bail considerably higher than the bail or fine on the original ticket was.

And he will have to make a court appearance on a date specified by the court. When he gets to court, he'll be punished for the original violation plus the failure to appear. It can get costly.

IN ADDITION to the local records kept for a one-year period, the Department of Motor Vehicles in Sacramento receives a notice of all citations for moving violations, and these are kept for 10 years.

Insurance companies use this information regularly, checking on the driving records of policyholders.

IN MAY of this year, the Long Beach court will join with other municipal courts in Los Angeles County in the establishment of a centralized traffic citation index.

This will enable judges and court traffic divisions to find out at once how many other moving violations a defendant has been cited for anywhere in the county during the preceding year. And this, of course, will increase the required bail and mandatory court appearances of repeat offenders.

MOVING VIOLATIONS are recorded and kept in this circular index file for one year. Deputy Ann Brown inserts index strip which helps traffic division and judge establish amount of fine imposed on repeat offenders.

On parking citations, the bail may be posted by mail. A bail schedule is printed on the back of all parking citations.

Parking tickets, too, must be taken care of within 10 days. After that, a "Notice of Intention to Issue Warrant" is sent to the registered owner of the car. The notice carries additional penalty.

If, after receiving a notice, the defendant still does not clear the citation, a warrant of arrest is issued with bail set at $10.

ROBERT HOVARD
Division Chief

ALL OF the municipal courts in Los Angeles County use the same bail schedule, so that a driver cited for going through a red light in Long Beach pays the same bail or fine here that he would in Santa Monica or Pomona. The bail schedule was adopted and approved by the judges.

In Long Beach, in 1962, the 180,000 citations issued brought in a revenue of $802,297.13. Two-thirds of the 180,000 citations were issued for parking violations, the remainder for moving violations.

The Long Beach Municipal Court Traffic Division handles traffic citations issued by the Long Beach and Signal Hill Police Departments, the California Highway Patrol, the Los Angeles County Sheriff, the Smog Control Board, and the Long Beach State College authorities (who handed out 13,000 parking tickets in 1962).

* * * *

EXCEPT FOR revenue received from citations issued by state agencies, which are split 50-50 between the state and county, 86 per cent of the Traffic Division's revenue comes back to the city where the ticket was isuued and 14 per cent is retained by the county.

The substantial sum of money the City of Long Beach receives each year goes right back into its various traffic safety programs, such as signal installation and maintenance, street markings and signs, crossing guards, and various other aspects.

Included in the $802,297.13 is $101,043.25 in penalty assessments required by the state vehicle code. This money, which comes from a $2 penalty on each $20 bail or fine on all moving citations, goes directly to the state for distribution to schools. The schools use the funds to finance driver education programs.

ROBERT HOVARD, chief clerk of the local traffic division for the past five years, says he and his staff of 12 are continually astounded by the way people make things difficult for themselves.

"Approximately 15 per cent of all violators fail to appear within the 10-day period after they have signed their written promise to do so," he says.

Municipal Court Judges Charles T. Smith and J. Merrill Lilley, before whom most dling of traffic citations," Hovard adds. "We stress courtesy and service, and make things as convenient as we can for our citizens. If the motorist wishes to plead not guilty, he can do so at the window here and the trial date will set when it's convenient to the citizen and to the court. The officer who issued the citation is subpoened, and the citizen may designate whether he wants a court or jury trial."

Hovard, the municipal court judges, and the various police agencies with whom they work, all share one attitude.

They wish the citizens who paid in $802,297.13 last year plus paid the taxes which support the officials involved in traffic safety, would drive a bit more slowly and more carefully.

They don't want as much business as they're getting. of the "non-appearance" offenders are eventually brought, usually sentence the motorists to pay a $20 fine or serve two days in jail the first time he ignores a ticket. The sentence can be stiffer, and it is considerably stiffer on second or third offense.

This is in addition to the punishment for the original violation.

"ANOTHER astounding thing," Hovard says, "is that we receive about 5 or 10 bad checks every week in payment of citations. This adds to the cost of the ticket."

"We do everything possible to expedite justice in the han-

POSTING OF BAIL on traffic citations may be made either personally, as Mary Ellen Harrell is doing here, or by mail. Nevertheless, an estimated 15 percent of persons signing citations fail to appear despite written promise to do so. Clerk is James Weaver.

THE BUSINESS WEEK

U.S. Economy Steps Up; Steel Output Mark Due

By DARDEN CHAMBLISS
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The nation's economy stepped into the spring quarter with spirits high and prospects bright.

Several weak spots remain, but the outlook as the first week of the new quarter opened was better than many believed it could be last fall.

Steel production figures were up for the ninth straight week and there were predictions the coming quarter would hit a three-year high.

Auto production continued to gain and one executive said it's very possible the industry will have a third straight banner year.

New orders received by manufacturers in February set a record, retail sales were up in February to a record and it appeared March would be even better.

The Internal Revenue Service outlined new business expense rules that most observers considered to be far less restrictive than first indicated.

* * * *

THE STOCK MARKET charged to new highs for the year, staging what looked to be a vigorous spring rally.

And New York City's newspapers reappeared in force after a three-month strike.

There were, however, other developments less cheering to the business community.

The Labor Department reported sharp rises in the level of unemployed teen-agers, saying it hit 15.6 per cent in February. That compares with the long term average for the month of about 6 per cent.

A federal grand jury in New York indicated U.S. Steel Corp., Bethlehem Steel and five other companies on charges they conspired to fix prices of rail wheels, industrial equipment and other products.

* * * *

COMMERCE SECRETARY Luther Hodges spoke of dangers to agricultural exports if European Common Market attitudes harden as they have shown some indications of doing. He said the United States may have to restrict industrial imports if American agricultural exports are impeded. Some other developments during the week are still being assessed for good or bad portents.

Among them was the release of a Security and Exchange Commission investigation report that said it found no pervasive fraudulent activity in the stock market but that grave abuses do occur. Most Wall Streeters considered it encouragingly mild.

Another development that invited varying interpretations was the announcement by the nation's railroads that they will begin putting new work rules in effect April 8. The National Mediation Board quickly certified this as an emergency, thereby empowering the President to appoint a study panel and to prevent any strike for 60 days. He did so.

* * * *

ON BALANCE, the week's business news seemed strongly favorable, especially with steels and autos perking along so merrily.

Growing steel demand has boosted the nation's steel mills to about 75 per cent of capacity, against 50 per cent during last year's doldrums. Production levels, at almost 2.4 million tons a week, were the highest in a year. The trade magazine Iron Age said April-June output appears headed for the greatest total since the first three months of 1960.

The rise reflects seasonal demand, some inventory building against a possible strike, and the strong demand of such industries as autos.

The automobile industry, meanwhile, posted its third best opening quarter on record with an output of 1,935,883 vehicles. Industry sources said the industry may turn out more than 2 million in the second quarter, something that has only been done once before.

* * * *

A FORD MOTOR CO. official told a trade group there is a real possibility total production will top 7 million cars in 1963 for the third straight year.

The Commerce Department released some figures on activity elsewhere in the economy. It said that retail sales in February hit a revised total of almost $20.5 billion for a record and that new orders received by all manufacturers hit a record $34.6 billion the same month.

In other developments during the week:

The National Association of Furniture Manufacturers said shipments rose 3 per cent in February from the previous February. . . A $550 million plan to distribute natural gas from Texas as far away as New York was shelved by Monterey Gas Transmission Co., which said adverse rulings by the Federal Power Administration dampened enthusiasm.

Sales of merchant wholesalers were estimated by the Commerce Department at $11.4 billion in February, up 6 per cent from the previous February. . . The National Aeronautics and Space Administration signed a $456.6 million contract with McDonnel Aircraft Corp. for Gemini moonflight craft.

The Kroger Co. supermarket chain began testing a new credit card system in two Alabama counties. . . United Steel Workers Union members ratified an agreement that ended an 8-month strike in Missouri against St. Joseph Lead Co.

Texan in Japan Seeks Doctor From POW Camp

TOKYO (AP)—A 48-year-old Texan said today he is looking for a Japanese doctor he met 20 years ago in a Japanese prisoner of war camp in China.

Joe Latham of Brownwood said he wants to meet the Japanese medical officer again just to say "hello, and thank you."

Latham said he was captured by the Japanese on Wake Island after it fell to the Japanese forces. At the time he was a corporal in the U.S. Marine Corps. The Texan said he spent two years, from 1942 to 1944, in a Japanese POW camp at Wosung, Shanghai, where he met the Japanese medical officer he remembered as "Shindo."

* * * *

LATHAM IS here as one of some 100 foreign crusaders for the Japan Baptist new life movement now under way in this country. The movement is a nationwide evangelistic effort of the Japan Baptist convention to present the Christian message to Japan.

Latham recalled "Shindo" as a good friend who was kind and helpful at all times in the Japanese POW camp.

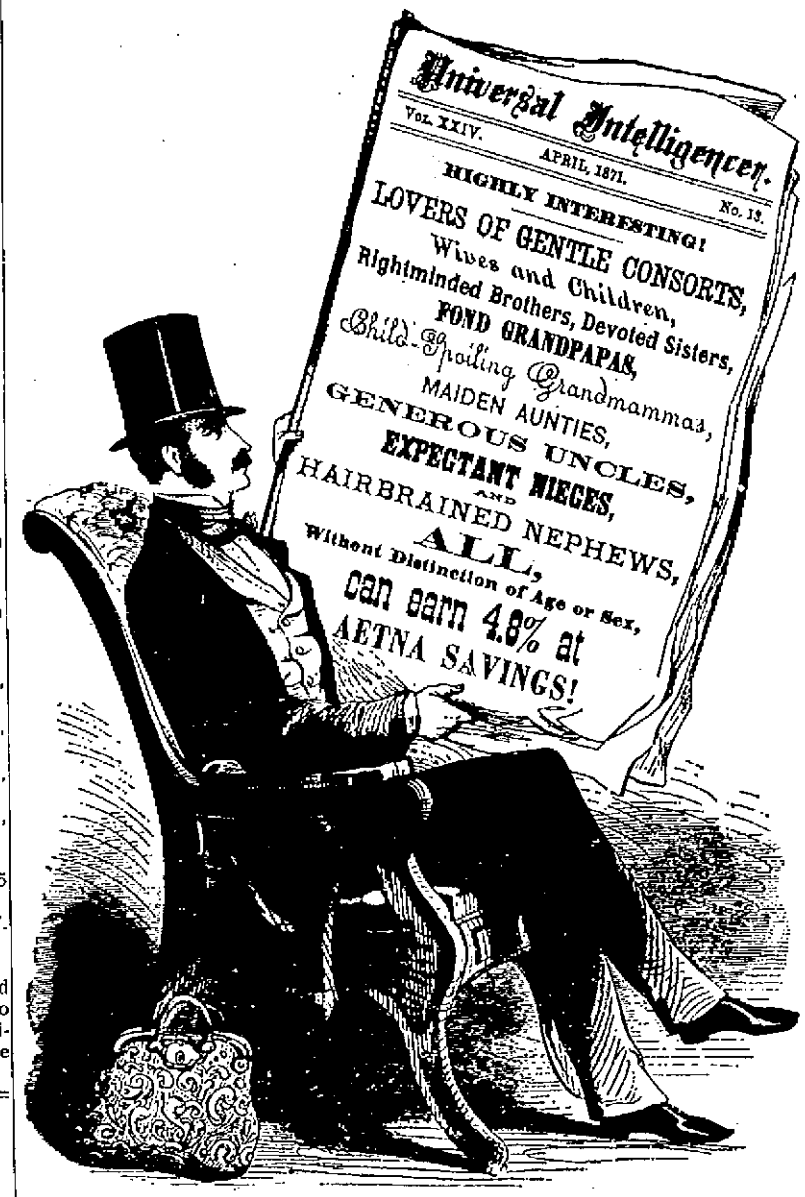

"It will be my great pleasure if I could meet him again," said the Texan.

Latham said he appealed to "Shindo" through the newspaper Yomiuri, one of Japan's three major newspapers to get in touch.

"But there's been no contact yet," he added.

THE WEEK IN REVIEW

Eisenhower's Criticism Fired JFK's Ire

By HARRY W. SHARPE
United Press International

President Kennedy normally handles former President Dwight D. Eisenhower gently, but last week he used the lash.

The general fired up Kennedy's ire with a slashing attack on his $98.8 billion spending budget and "enormous waste" in America's race to beat Russia to the moon.

This added fuel to a $15 billion budget-cutting blaze ignited by congressional Republicans. For this Democrats have tagged the GOP "American lasters" using a "snow job instead of a fact sheet" on how the budget can be trimmed.

The President entered the fray with relish and obviously with the 1964 election in mind. He told a nationally televised press conference that under Eisenhower the nation had the largest peacetime deficit in history, the largest outflow of gold, two recessions, and the highest peacetime unemployment since World War II.

"That," said Kennedy, "is not a record we plan to duplicate if we can help it."

As to the space race, and again with Eisenhower his target, he said "we are second in space today because we started late."

Even as he spoke, a 3,130-pound unmanned Soviet lunar probe was rushing toward the moon though there was doubt it would land on the surface.

The President asserted that if his budget was reduced as Eisenhower proposed, the heart would be cut out of the defense budget, domestic programs would be crippled, and the country plunged into a decline "even while we are trying to prevent one."

He reminded his audience that big bugets and expanded domestic programs are inevitable because the nation's population increases 4 million a year.

While the budget battle grew more furious, Kennedy himself proposed a $420 million cut in his $4.9 billion foreign aid budget. He also promised stricter standards and more thrift in the program.

As the Labor Department was reporting a sharp drop in unemployment in March, the House Appropriations Committee adopted a Republican motion to deny Kennedy $500 million he had requested for anti-recession emergency public works and $61.9 million for radiation fallout shelters.

The Soviet Union accepted a U. S. proposal for a "hot line" communications link between Moscow and Washington to ease the threat of war by accident.

* * * *

THE PRESIDENT conceded he and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev could have used such a line in the Cuban missile crisis last fall. In that instance, news wire services transmitted the contents of war-or-peace notes much faster than they could clear complex diplomatic channels.

Russian delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin made the acceptance at the Geneva disarmament talks and said the line could be either telegraph or teletype.

Kennedy disclosed meantime that 4,000 Soviet troops had left Cuba in the past month, with 12,000 to 13,000 remaining. He said these would be kept under observation. It was understood he was trying to make it easy for Khrushchev to withdraw the troops without losing face and one reason why he cracked down on anti-Castro hit-and-run raids on Cuba and Soviet cargo vessels.

The President said the attacks gave Khrushchev an excuse for keeping his troops in the area. The State Department curtly rejected Russian charges the U. S. had encouraged the attacks.

A British warship, acting on U. S. tips, seized a 17-man anti-Castro raiding party in the Bahamas, among them an American. A second raiding party escaped.

* * * *

IN OTHER NEWS spheres, Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara told Congress that Russia's military and economic complex will not equal America's "in our lifetime."

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy sent to Congress a proposed bill to guarantee voting rights for Negroes. The Securities & Exchange Commission asked for legislation to correct "certain grave abuses" turned up in an investigation of sales and listing of stock market securities.

Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, whose security clearance was suspended by the Atomic Energy Commission in 1953, was chosen to receive the agency's $50,000 Enrico Fermi award for his contributions to theoretical physics and scientific and administrative leadership in development of the atomic bomb.

FOREIGN PRESS VIEWS

President Draws Europe Praise

By United Press International

President John F. Kennedy came in for praise tempered with a little criticism from the European press last week for his policies generally and Cuba specifically.

In London, the Daily Telegram said Kennedy was right to take measures to prevent American soil from being used for mounting raids on Cuba or shipping using Cuban ports.

The Belgian weekly Europe Magazine said: "More than the 'isolation' of Cuba, a more generous and realistic U.S. policy toward Latin America may contribute to an effective 'sterilization' of Castroism." The outcome of Kennedy's San Jose conference with Central American leaders "is quite promising in this respect."

Il Giornale D'Italia (Ihl Jaw-nahl-ay Diht-ahl-ee-ah) of Rome spoke of a "third America," with Kennedy and his "young aides" in Washington as the protagonists.

"This third America . . . expresses a clear tendency toward a dynamic and active policy: the strengthening of a military deterrent and world-wide American competition with communism. An almost mystical conviction is spreading that American civilization can give the world . . . help and a civilization which are both superior to what communism can offer," Il Giornale D'Italia said.

The Austrian Salzburger Nachrichten (Sahls-buhr-guhr Nak-rink-tehn) said: "It is understandable that the United States wants to avoid anything which could intensify East-West tension. It is hardly convincing, however, when the United States claims the commando raids of Cuban exiles merely serve Castro's purposes. Castro's totalitarian terror can hardly be stepped up any more and the economic chaos on the island can hardly be surpassed."

* * * *

THE AUSTRIAN Die Presse (Dee-Preh-sa) questioned the purpose of the new U.S.-Soviet talks on Berlin. "Talks for talks sake?" it asked. "It is true perhaps with regard to co-existence that there will be no shooting as long as there is talking."

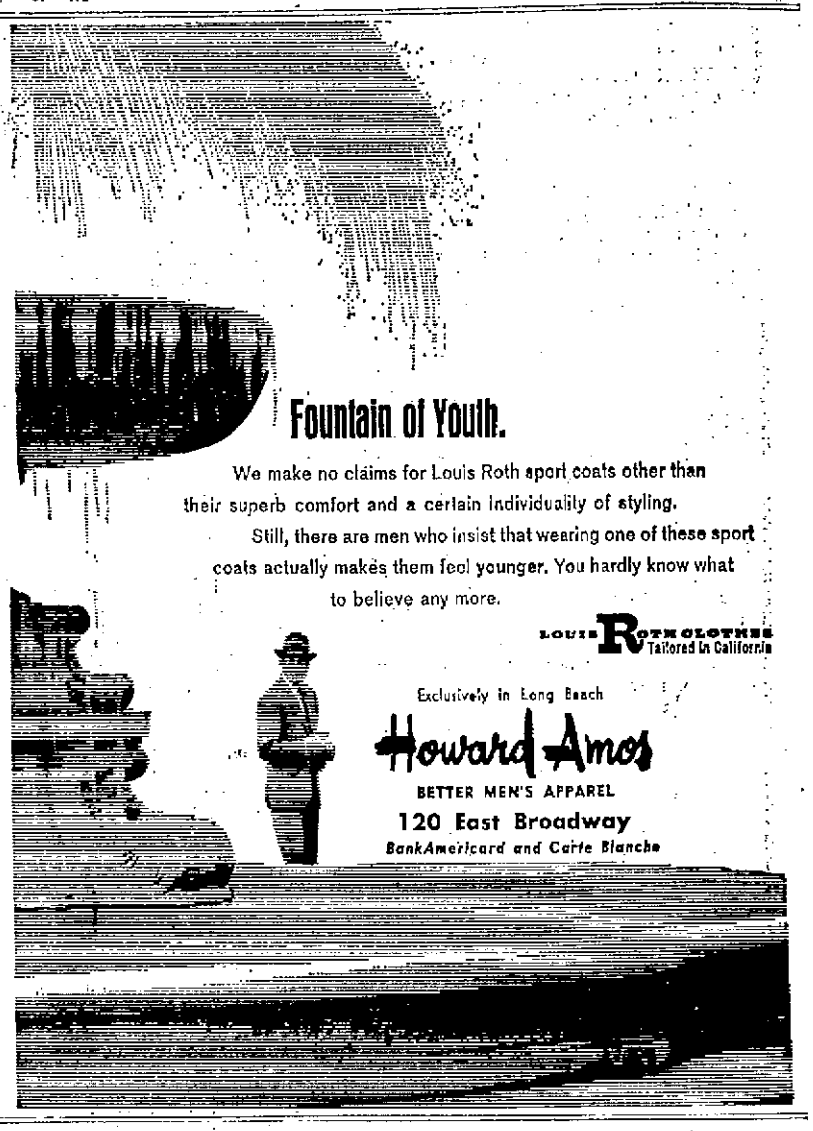

Dagens Nyheter (Dah-gehns Nee-cet-ehr) of Stockholm said the United States should use its influence to bring Britain and France together.

In Seoul, the Korean Republic warned against cutting either economic or military aid to South Korea: "Unfortunately, Korea has suffered from drastic and continued cuts in American economic aid. The aid cuts have already presented immense difficulties to the military government in its determined efforts for economic reconstruction."

* * * *

IN SINGAPORE, the Straits Times argued the possibility of U.S. help for the Malaysia project:

"Malaysia is easily the smallest beneficiary of American generosity in the south-east Asia region, having had only $23 million out of the $6,532 million dispensed in the year 1946-62. If 'fair shares' is an unsuitable slogan, it is possible to take another tack. For all the grandiose scale of American aid, the results produced have been less than sensational. Perhaps this is because the Americans have tended to wait till a ship is sinking before leaping in to bale it out. Might it not be better to help ensure that sound ships do not spring a leak at all? Such a sound ship is Malaysia. Finally, it can be argued, Malaysia meets all the tests of aid-worthiness: she is making a maximum effort to help herself, and she has a government and an administration that can be depended upon to put aid to the most effective use and not dissipate it in corruption and incompetence."

Hopes for Big-Time Tennis at Palos Verdes Booming

By PAUL WALLACE

Forest Hills and Wimbledon are synonymous with big time tennis over the world. It's just possible that Palos Verdes may be added to those two prestigious names one year soon.

For on the rolling peninsula, the gentile old game is booming.

Two new tennis clubs are underway—one operated by the game's most flambuoyant promoter and one of its top players, Jack Kramer.

* * * *

KRAMER LAST week began operating his Jack Kramer Tennis and Swim Club as a private, membership only organization.

Also last week, the second club, a semi-private set-up, got under construction on a site amid the undulating fairways of the Palos Verdes Country Club. It will be named the Palos Verdes Tennis Club.

Kramer's club, built in Rolling Hills Estates at the northeast corner of Narbonne Avenue and Palos Verdes Drive across from the reservoir, now has nine courts in operation. Soon all will be lighted for night play.

* * * *

A CLUBHOUSE and pro shop and a huge Olympic-sized, L-shaped swimming pool, should be under way by month's end.

Kramer, and his club manager, Vic Braden, hope eventually to build at least 16 courts at the site. To do this, however, would require their getting more land. Braden said they feel 16 courts are a minimum for making the club into a real world tennis center.

The Palos Verdes club, headed by Don Miloe, is building five courts and a pro shop near the golf course's present maintenance garages. Two will be lighted.

Electronic Vote Count Accurate

Economy and Speed Seen Also

By DON BRACKENBURY
I.-P-T Los Angeles Bureau

Use of Coleman electronic vote-counting machines in Los Angeles County elections would require an initial cost of $6.7 to $9 million, but would make it possible to have final election returns by 5 a.m. of the day following the election.

The annual operating cost of the machines would show a slight saving below the cost of the present manual counting system.

Engineering field tests and actual operating results of the Coleman system indicate that the accuracy of this equipment in tallying ballots is better than 99.9 per cent.

* * * *

THESE FACTS are contained in a 26-page report, with a nine-page appendix by Coleman Engineering Co., Inc., which will be submitted Tuesday to the Board of Supervisors by L. S. Hollinger, chief county administrative officer.

Supervisors are not expected to take any action on the report at this time.

The report is in answer to a request by the supervisors last Jan. 10 for Hollinger, Registrar of Voters Benjamin S. Hite, and County Counsel Harold W. Kennedy to report on how the Coleman system would work in handling election returns in Los Angeles County.

The Coleman vote tally system tallies voter marks on paper ballots at a rated speed of 600 ballots per minute.

* * * *

VOTERS AT THE polls would use the same ballots as at present. They would mark them, however, with a special fluorescent ink.

After the polls close, the ballots are brought to a central location for tallying. The vote-counting machine automatically tallies each ballot and produces punch cards containing the precinct totals for all candidates and measures on the ballot.

These precinct cards then would be processed by tabulating equipment or electronic computers to give the county-wide election returns.

Hollinger said the committee studied the use of the system on the basis of eight, 10 and 12 machines as well as with various numbers of precincts, starting with the present approximately 12,000 and working down to 10,000, 8,000 and 6,000 precincts.

* * * *

TOTAL purchase and installation costs, including site preparation, range from approximately $6.7 million for eight systems to $9 million for 12 systems, Hollinger said.

Beach Combing

With Malcolm Epley

LET YOUR spring Sunday morn be brightened by a little story that proves there are still honest people around.

As you may know, our paper, like many others, has some "honor racks" located at strategic spots in the area. Papers are left in the open on these racks and people who take them are supposed to drop a coin in a slotted box to pay for them.

This works pretty well but there are times when the money in the box doesn't equal the price of the papers that have been removed. Not everybody has paid.

That's what makes the story about J. Mestina a good one.

The other day a note was found in a coin box on one of the honor racks. It read: "I took a Sunday paper. I promise to pay you 20 cents tomorrow.—J. Mestina."

Next day there was another note in the box. On it Mr. Mestina reported he had paid up as promised, and to prove his story, he had done it by wrapping adhesive tape around two dimes. The dimes are in the box, with identifying marks inked on the tape.

This one really had our circulation men shaking their heads.

STRANGELY missing facility in our community is a walk connecting the Long Beach State College campus with the city's sidewalk network via Seventh St.

Every school day, some students and faculty members may be seen making their way gingerly along this section of Seventh, using either narrow dirt corridors on either side of the paving or, where they can, trekking along the center cement divider. This street carries extremely heavy auto traffic, but there's not a thing there to help the foot traveler.

Now Long Beach State is pretty much a commuter college. Only a smattering of students live on campus. Most of them go to the campus from various parts of Long Beach or surrounding communities. But not all of them drive, and it's time to give consideration to providing a sidewalk to the main entrance of the campus.

I've never heard of any official attention to this problem. Perhaps this is because the area has peculiar political status. The VA Hospital, whose grounds run along one side of the street, is in a county island and of course is federally owned. The other side is private property.

But certainly something can be worked out. L.B. State is proudly claimed by Long Beach, and here's a suggestion that city authorities assume some responsibility in getting the ball rolling.

IT'S NO secret that this has been a bad year for weather men. Rains have maddeningly followed dry forecasts.

This is embarrassing and somewhat amusing, but for most of us, not serious. It really doesn't make much difference.

However, it does sort of shake one's confidence in the heralded advancement of science. It seems strange that we've lately been sending instrument-bearing objects out into space and getting back information supposedly telling us about weather and other conditions on the moon and distant planets, whereas we have trouble finding out what it's going to be like right here tomorrow.

In a way, it illustrates an anomaly of the space ventures. While we're busting budgets and straining brains to get out there, we've still got all sorts of earthly problems that haven't been solved.

Personally, I'd a lot rather see cancer conquered than to know that an earth-sent space ship had hit the moon.

Film Lecture Series Winds Up

LABORATORIES AID GROWERS OF ORANGES, LEMONS

Analysis of Leaves Tells Citrus Ranchers Fertilization Needs for Next Year's Orchard

By BILL DUNCAN

Come next fall Southland citrus ranchers will gather together 50 or more leaves from orange trees, secure them tightly in plastic bags and deliver them to one of six special chemical laboratories in Southern California.

Among ranchers the September and October leaf collecting is not a hobby, but a ritual begun three years ago when University of California researchers "accidentally" discovered leaf analysis could reveal fertilization needs for the orchard.

J. A. Beutel, University of California citrus farm adviser for Los Angeles and Orange counties, said a leaf sample properly taken in September can be analyzed by an agricultural laboratory and tell the rancher exactly the amount of fertilization needed for next year's crop.

The amount of essential nutrients found in a sample from any citrus orchard is compared to the amount needed and the difference is used as a basis for determining fertilizer needs.

* * * *

ORANGE AND lemon trees this month are setting new growth which one season soon will bring forth new fruit, Beutel explains. It is a nonfruiting branch of this year's spring growth cycle from which the tender four to five-month leaves are taken.

Lab experts read the leaves as a gypsy reads tea leaves — only more scientifically. The new leaves are taken to the laboratory in sealed plastic bags to prevent any possible deterioration from the time they are picked until the time the analysis begins.

First step of the examination is a bath for the leaves where all dirt and foreign substance is removed. The leaves are then dried in a kiln-like oven and ground to powder.

* * * *

THE ESSENTIAL elements analyzed for are nitrogen, magnesium, phosphorus, and potassium. Occasionally analyses are made for zinc, manganese, copper, and boron.

The proper levels for best orange production are 2.4-2.6 per cent nitrogen, 0.3-0.6 per cent magnesium, 0.12-0.18 per cent phosphorus and 1.0-1.7 per cent potassium. Higher or lower levels can be injurious and may be changed next year by reduced or increased fertilization in the winter, Beutel explains.

Lemon leaf analysis standards are similar to those used for oranges, he said.

Generally Southland citrus ranchers have discovered that too much nitrogen is in the soil. This reduces color and fruit doesn't measure up to quality.

The test also discovered that 95 per cent of Southland citrus orchards had adequate quantities of phosphorus and potassium and this fertilization was reduced because of leaf analysis.

* * * *

RESEARCHERS at University of California at Riverside discovered the leaf analysis method about 10 years ago, Beutel said. The researchers had deliberately withheld nutrients from tree crops and noticed a change in the leaf makeup of the trees involved in experiments. Gradually examining leaves they discovered the tiny green leaf held a storehouse of information about the food supply—or lack of it—a tree was getting.

The method is so effective, the farm adviser relates, that leaves from one tree in the orchard can tell the nutrition story of a 10-acre orchard.

ANALYSIS PLUS FERTILIZATION EQUALS THIS

Arena Will Show Operating Profit

By GEORGE WEEKS

Long Beach's new Arena will show a surplus of revenues over operating costs during its first full year of operation.

This is the forecast of city officials who are preparing an application to the State Lands Commission for allotment of tideland oil funds for numerous shoreline purposes during the 1963-64 fiscal year.

The application seeks authority to spend $391,115 for maintenance of the Arena.

But the tideland trust accounts will actually profit in a net amount of more than $25,000, according to City Manager John R. Mansell's estimate. Revenues from Arena operations are anticipated at $417,000.

* * * *

IT IS A CASE of the city, as administrator, contributing to the trust funds from sources other than oil income. Mansell said he was "most gratified" by the level of activity at the building.

The final accounting for the current fiscal year, ending next June 30, will probably show a near balance between outgo and income, Arena manager Win Hanssen said.

Expenses are met from a tideland allotment of $396,650. Income probably would have exceeded that amount except that last-minute building delays kept money events out of the shoreline structure until October.

The Arena item is the largest entry in a total application of $1,148,731 for tideland fund expenditures, which compares with $1,111,925 authorized for the current year.

* * * *

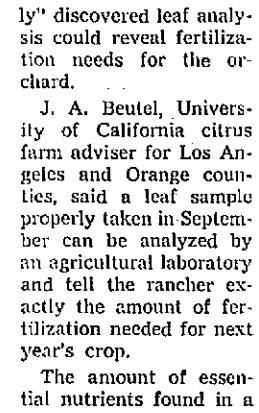

OTHER MAJOR items are Marine Department administration and lifeguard services, $325,233; Public Service Department beach cleaning and other activities on tidelands, $297,174; Park Department services, including maintenance of beach parking lots, $67,681; Police Department services, $47,048.

Cycling Worker Killed by Car

A 46-year-old man who had been riding a bicycle from his home in Compton to his job in Huntington Park for the past year, Saturday was struck and killed by a car in South Gate.

Dead was Robert Allison, 46, of 11834 Louise St., hit as he rode through the intersection of Long Beach Boulevard and Iowa Avenue. Officers said his body was hurled more than 60 feet.

The driver of the car, Harvey W. Geithman, 50, of South Gate, was arrested on suspicion of felony-drunk driving and manslaughter.

HALCYON BALL
Appointed

Halcyon Ball Named to Fair Post

Appointment of Halcyon Ball as director of finance for the California World's Fair was announced Saturday by Nelson McCook Jr., president.

Ball, 38, said the Fair "will have a tremendous economic impact on Southern California, and I'm happy to be a part of it."

A native of Long Beach, Ball is president-elect of the Lakewood Rotary Club; president of the Lakewood Plaza Citizens' Improvement Association, and past secretary of the Long Beach chapter, California Society of Certified Public Accountants. He has, in the past, worked for Price Waterhouse and Co. in their management advisory service.

2,000 YOUNG PEOPLE TO ATTEND

Easter Sunrise Rites on Boats

An estimated 2,000 young people of the Long Beach area will attend Easter sunrise services aboard boats.

The young people will be aboard Navy launches, and the service itself, starting at 6:30 a.m., will be held aboard a barge in the middle of the Navy landing area.

This unusual program of worship is being organized by the Long Beach Ministerial Union, the Long Beach Council of Churches and the council's youth group, the Christian Youth Council, in cooperation with the Navy.

The program is open to youth groups and their sponsors and to individuals from junior high school to college age, according to a spokesman for the church groups. Adults who wish to attend will worship from shore, where a battery of loudspeakers will be set up.

In addition, private boat owners will attend the services from aboard their craft inside the landing area.

Following the services, the young people will be taken to various ships in port for breakfast as guests of the Navy, and will be taken on a tour of the ships.

Rev. C. Leroy Doty Jr., president of the Ministerial Union and pastor of the First Church of the Brethren, will deliver the Easter message, and a combined choir will sing.

Wednesday is Tax Deadline

Real estate taxes in Los Angeles County will become delinquent if not paid by 5 p.m. Wednesday, Tax Collector Harold J. Ostly warned Saturday.

After the deadline, a penalty of six percent, plus an extra $3 per parcel, will be imposed, he said.

* * * *

A LIST of all properties upon which taxes were not paid by the Wednesday deadline will, according to law, be published in a community newspaper in the area, Ostly said.

If the taxes remain delinquent on June 30, the property will be sold to the state and additional penalties will accrue.

Catalina Seeking 'Privateer Queen'

The Avalon Chamber of Commerce is looking for lovely girls to compete for the title of 1963 Queen of Privateer Days, which will take place April 26-28 on Catalina Island.

The contest is open to all unmarried Southern California girls between the ages of 18 and 22. Candidates must send photos and biographies to Avalon Chamber of Commerce before April 21.

L.B. City College Should Remain in School District

SHOULD LONG BEACH City College remain under the jurisdiction of the Long Beach Unified School District, or should it operate under a separate board?

This question arises as the result of a move to elevate the junior colleges of this state into the system of higher education along with state colleges and the state university.

Three junior colleges in Los Angeles County are in unified school districts. They are located in Long Beach, Santa Monica, and Glendale. These junior colleges are the object of a study by a committee of 11 laymen elected by representatives of 99 school boards of the county. This committee has been directed by the legislature to submit a report of its findings by June 30. Although the directive is not too explicit, behind the study is the question of the feasibility of setting up separate local boards for these junior colleges.

THE ADVOCATES OF separate districts offer some persuasive arguments. They go like this:

A separate board has the independence of decision and action so necessary for efficient administration.

A separate board concentrates solely on the problems of the junior college. In a unified school district, the board makes decisions for elementary schools and high schools as well; and because of the great volume of business involving elementary and high schools, the junior college's problems often are dealt with as an afterthought.

An independent board which doesn't have to worry about other schools can develop attractive salary scales and do many other things to increase the educational quality of the junior college.

The separate identity gives teachers greater prestige and prevents the departure of good teaching talent to the state colleges and the university.

PERHAPS THESE ARGUMENTS would prove overriding in other districts. Our immediate interest, however, is Long Beach City College. We fail to see how this institution could be improved by putting it in a district by itself.

The cost of educating youngsters at Long Beach City College is less than the cost of educating them in existing separate districts.

Long Beach City College is not dealt with as an afterthought by the Board of Education. It is administered as a valuable part of a unified educational system in which the transition from high school to college receives special attention.

Finally, the product is good, as even the advocates of separate districts admit.

Why, then, should there be a change?

This state is already plagued with a multiplicity and confusion of overlapping boards, agencies, and districts. Each time one is created, the bill to the taxpayer for governmental housing, offices, and personnel climbs higher.

The cost and the confusion would only be heightened by cutting this school district, outstandingly administered under a single board, into two separate jurisdictions. We strongly recommend against any such action.

'Is This the Only Road You Know?'

John Murdy State Senate's Top Farm-Tractor Operator

By P-T Sacramento Bureau

SACRAMENTO—The Senate long has been ballyhooed as the stronghold of rural northerners. But the Senate's top farm-tractor operator is a Southern Californian—Sen. John A. Murdy of Orange County.

Murdy, born on a South Dakota farm in 1900, still operates his own tractor at planting and harvest time. Murdy, now 62, intends to wheel out his own tractor for the 1963 harvest.

Sen. Murdy has harvested a lot of successes since his father bought a ranch in Huntington Beach in 1906. His farflung farm holdings now extend into the Imperial Valley and Arizona. The Murdy farms grow lima beans, truck crops and citrus fruit.

In the Los Altos section of Long Beach, Murdy owns the commercial building occupied by Standard Shoe Stores and Hof's Hut Restaurant.

Murdy is best known as a Republican conservative and as the Senate guardian of Orange County and Southern California interests, however.

A publication of a labor lobbylist described Murdy thusly: "He has acquired a reputation for independence and sound thinking—traits for which farmers are known the world over—a belief in free enterprise, and unrelenting efforts toward holding the line on state expenditures."

MURDY was chairman of the Southern California delegation in the legislature when state lawmakers approved the state water plan to bring Feather River waters to the Southland.

As vice chairman of the Senate Water Resources Committee, Murdy battled successfully to get Senate approval of a $1.75-billion water bond program. He also authored the Orange County Water District Act, a 1953 bill that was California's first underground water management measure.

It was during Murdy's decade in the legislature that Orange County succeeded in landing a state college at Fullerton and a University of California campus at Irvine.

Murdy is senior member of the four-man Orange County delegation. The three first-year assemblymen from Orange County meet in Murdy's office every Tuesday morning to plan strategy on Orange County legislation.

Murdy plans to guide through the Senate in 1963 bills creating six additional judgeships in the county—three municipal, and three superior court. Also, he hopes to sponsor in the Senate a bill that would earmark up to 1 per cent of state tidelands oil-lease revenue for beach improvements in Huntington Beach and other tidelands-lease communities.

Orange County had less than 100,000 residents when Murdy began dairy farming 22 acres near Westminster a half century ago. Orange County's population now is near the million-person mark, and Murdy's farm holdings have grown to hundreds of acres.

SEN. JOHN MURDY
Sees Changes

Murdy foresees some dramatic changes for Orange County in the next decade or so. Already, some of the Murdy farmland has been developed into subdivisions, shopping centers and industrial enterprises.

"The day will come when Orange County is entirely residential and commercial," predicts Murdy.

* * * *

MURDY is president of Hoag Memorial Hospital in his present home town of Newport Beach. He is a member of the board of trustees of Whittier College. The Orange County senator also is a member of the State Allocations Board—an agency that has loaned millions of dollars to Orange County school districts.

The Murdy family is doing its bit to see that Orange County's population tops the million mark. Murdy has 14 grandchildren — all living in Orange County.

Kennick Finds Tough 'Jury' in Bakersfield CDC Caucus

CAUCUSING in Superior Court No. 4, Bakersfield, the Long Beach area's 32nd Congressional District delegates to the California Democratic Council were seated variously at counsel tables, visitors section and jury box.

"Ladies and gentlemen of the jury." Assemblyman Joseph M. Kennick couldn't resist the setting. "If I were my Long Beach Assembly colleague (C. George Deukmejian), I'd be asking you for the death penalty."

KENNICK

However, he continued, his one strong desire is to elect Democratic candidates in the 32nd District. He observed the complete lack of real harmony" among district Democrats. It's got to the point in the East Long Beach 39th Assembly District that Republicans have absolutely no worry from Democrats even when the Democratic registration is as high as 55 per cent.

Burden of Kennicks' preface was his nomination for the 1963 district CDC directorship of Ron Hager last weekend. Until this point it had appeared that incumbent Willard Hastings had unanimous reelection in his hands. Kennick realized this too but decided the stake was worth risking his reputation on.

Hager and Kennick lost. The caucus voted 21 to 12 for Hastings, of 7014 El Cedral, a teacher of 5th and 6th grade classes in South Gate. Insiders noted Kennick's caucus reference to Hastings as the "splendid young man now holding the job," but observed also that Kennick regarded Hastings' philosophy as too liberal to win votes for candidates running in Long Beach.

"Kennick might have had his way," some of the delegation said, "if the thing hadn't had the appearance of a power play with some delegates making a special trip up here (to Bakersfield) to vote against Hastings. Some of those people are known to be strongly opposed to CDC so how could we go along with them?"

HASTING'S acceptance speech was mainly an attack against Congressman Craig Hosmer's recent district poll revealing a lopsided antiadministration sentiment.

The poll was misleading, Hastings said, a tabulation of the conservative minority which comprises the bulk of his mailing list. Senior citizens here are not misled by Hosmer's poll figures opposing medicare, Hastings said, when the Gallup poll shows it is favored by two of three Americans and the Lou Harris poll shows a 75 per cent favorable response.

Hosmer respondents were 71 per cent against the President's tax cut proposal, Hastings noted, while Congressman George E. Brown, asking the same question, got the exact opposite response, with 70 per cent in favor.

Hastings also cited a San Francisco Chronicle poll which he said was at odds with Hosmer's findings that 65 per cent thought the U.S. is doing a poor job at handling the Cuban situation and only 9 per cent give a "good" rating.

THE CHRONICLE readings did not ask the same question but showed majority votes against invasion, against ultimatums to the Soviet, against a blockade of all Cuban shipping, against use of the Cuba matter as a partisan issue and showed 61 per cent saying they do not regard Cuba as a military threat to U.S. security.

Asked their thoughts on whether JFK had bungled the Cuban problem, the Chronicle results showed 48 per cent saying yes, 46 per cent no.

Profits, Service Can't Be Divorced

EDITOR:

Maybe the "Wage Price Spiral" can be reversed.

On Wednesday, March 27, in San Francisco, the California Public Utilities Commission resume hearings in its investigation (harassment) of Pacific Telephone's rates and practices. The PUC staff accuses Pacific Telephone of excess profits.

Personally, I don't believe that profits and service can be divorced.

If (God forbid) the will of the PUC investigating staff prevails, and my telephone bill is reduced, I, as an employe, am willing to accept a cut of the same amount in my wages. I would not be losing anything over what I now have left after paying my phone bill, and I could feel that the quality of my phone service was not in jeopardy. Indeed, I feel the telephone company, thus heartened and encouraged, would continue striving to improve service with renewed faith.

Increased wages and increased prices mean only one thing to me—increased tax bracket rates. My only real index to wages is—that per cent (not dollars) of earnings I have left after paying my bills.

Brown's Plans Will Erase Economies

EDITOR:

I see where, according to Bob Wells, our governor had asked all state employes to travel economy class when traveling by air.

At the same time, the state budget up for consideration has a $500,000 provision in it for a new plane for the governor. Yearly expense for this plane is $175,000.

The $175,000 yearly expense for operating this plane would buy the governor approximately 600 round trips (economy class) to Washington, D.C.

Thus the taxpayers of California could save $500,000 if the governor would forego this luxury of such an expensive private airplane. Then if he would further settle for a $300,000 mansion instead of the $800,000 one in the budget, an additional $500,000 could be saved.

U.S. Should Give Credit Where Due

EDITOR:

There was an item recently in the Press-Telegram telling about how the Japanese had deposited somewhere near $22 million to the account of our government as a first payment on loans we made to her since World War II.

I believe we should use every means at our disposal to give proper recognition to governments which realize their debt to the American taxpayers and thus encourage others to repay as well. Perhaps if De Gaulle would do a little inspection of the fiscal books he would realize his remarks about our constancy and concern for Europe would seem pretty silly to him as well as to us.

Nothing New About 'New Frontier'

EDITOR:

There is nothing new about the New Frontier. A rose by any name smells the same, but the real name for the Kennedy frontier is appeasement. Appeasement has been tried before, but it never works.

The President has now put a wall around Cuba. He safeguards the Communists. The New Frontier is opposed to anti-Communist patriots. It is opposed to anti-Communist nationalism whether it is in the Caribbean, the Congo or the U. S. A. This continued retreat before the Red advance will see the U. S. shortly surrounded.

With our backs to the wall, we will have to fight or surrender.

Congress' Affairs in Terrible Shape

By Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON—The hope is growing that Congress will do some serious thinking about putting its affairs in order while home for Easter vacation. The affairs are in bum shape. So much so that even the congressmen are getting worried.

The list of problems is as long as your arm.

Two former members, defeated only last year, are under conflict-of-interest indictments.

Twenty-nine present members have their wives on office payrolls, and another 20 or more have brothers, sisters, sons, daughters or in-laws employed in their offices.

The Capitol Hill construction program, directly under the supervision of Congress and a Capitol architect who is not an architect, seems totally out of hand. The third House Office Building will be opened soon at a cost of about $100 million—or $490,000 per suite per congressman.

Not one piece of major legislation has been passed so far this year.

The congressmen have been filling their news letters with dire warnings about crime on the streets in the nation's capital, but in their committees, they refuse to vote funds for schools or reform schools or children's care, and they drag their feet on harsher arrest laws the police department is demanding.

Meanwhile, Washington, the last outpost of colonialism on the North American continent, still doesn't elect its own government, and the southern-dominated House District Committee is not about to grant the vote because it would franchise some 400,000 Negroes.

Birth Control Plan in Illinois Being Watched Around World

WASHINGTON—A birth control plan which may have repercussions around the world went into effect in Illinois this week. It provides that women on relief may not only get birth control information but contraceptives paid for by the state.

Aimed at curtailing the alarming Negro and Puerto Rican birth rate of Chicago, much of it illegitimate, the Illinois birth control plan is still the subject of hot controversy among Catholics; also between Democrats and Republicans. And a bill, introduced by Democratic Sen. Morgan Finley of Chicago, would stop the plan dead in its tracks.

PEARSON

Nevertheless, despite the attempts to block it, the plan did go into effect. And it is being watched by diplomats and welfare experts in various countries as a possible pattern for the exploding population growth which in Latin America threatens to defeat all advances made by the Alliance for Progress and which in Asia is the key reason for the belligerency of Red China.

China, with a population of 700,000,000, will have increased in 1970 by as much as the present population of the United States. By 1970 China will have added 200,000,000 people and will have 900,000,000 men, women and children bulging its borders.

This was the basic reason for the Chinese push into India and the Chinese infiltration into the small Southeast Asian countries on its border.

Illinois' birth control plan was pioneered by Arnold H. Maremont, chairman of the Illinois Public Aid Commission, who in private life is an auto parts manufacturer and art collector. Maremont is a Democrat, appointed by Demo. Gov. Otto Kerner.

But his plan immediately brought heavy fire from his fellow Democrats, and support from Republicans. Reason is:

1. The backbone of the Democratic Party in Illinois is in densely populated Cook County, where most Negroes vote Democratic;

2. Most Democratic leaders in Chicago are Catholic.

This, presumably was why Mayor Richard J. Daley, running for re-election last week, came out publicly for the Finley bill which would block the birth control plan. He was under pressure from a Republican Catholic, Benjamin Adamowski, running against him for Mayor, who attacked the Maremont plan as promoting immorality.

As of today, no lay Catholic has publicly endorsed the birth control program, though many have expressed private support. Many legislators in Springfield suggest that the best way to handle the whole business is do nothing. If possible, they would like to let the Finley bill, blocking birth control gather dust and die without a vote.

THE MAN to watch when George Meany, long-time president of the AFL-CIO retires, is a tall 53-year-old labor leader with a slight Tennessee drawl who has built up the fastest growing union in the nation — James Suffridge, head of the Retail Clerks International Assn. This month it celebrates its 75th birthday.

Suffridge, a close friend of Meany's, is a man who believes strongly in industry-labor cooperation and actually has spent union money on a nationwide advertising campaign to promote the retail establishments which employ his clerks.

Nominally, the man who will replace George Meany is a Republican. Most AFL-CIO leaders in the past have been Democrats. However, Suffridge believes in the old Sam Gompers edict: "Support your friend, defeat your enemies." Following this, Suffridge supported Kennedy as against Nixon; took a round-the-world trip with Vice President Lyndon Johnson, received a boost from GOP Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine when she mentioned him as a future Republican secretary of labor.

Languages in the News

By Charles F. Berlitz and Robert Simpson-Davis

Americans traveling in Europe are often surprised to learn that American English is frequently treated as a different language from British, or standard, English, and that books by American authors are republished in the United Kingdom with changes made for British spelling and wording.

Some of the most striking differences between American and British English are in everyday household words and expressions. Here are a few:

American	British
water heater	geyser
thumb tack	drawing pin
check stub	cheque counterfoil
instalment plan	hire purchase plan
baby carriage	perambulator
transom	fanlight
cigarette butt	cigarette end
traveling salesman	commercial traveler

MIRROR OF BUSINESS AND INDUSTRY

Woman Regains Youthful Figure Without Rigid Diet Under Pat Walker's Stauffer System

Vivacious Pat Walker, who has helped thousands of Southland women to achieve their dreams of a brand new figure, is now directing this new program from her Long Beach and Lakewood Center Stauffer System salons.

Nationally known as a figure authority, Miss Walker has operated salons here and over the Southland for years and is launching a vast new program. She is the national figure authority for the world-famous Stauffer system.

NO STARVATION

Women with problems are finding Miss Walker's figure control methods offers them a new way to reduce without suffering from effects of near starvation.

There is no secret to Miss Walker's success, for across the nation some 4 to 5 million women from ages 14 to 84 have been given a new figure and no secret could be maintained by that multitude of happy women.

The key to the success—or secret if you wish to call it that—is in losing where the loss is needed and in firming and toning the tissue to retain the new figure.

DIET WON'T DO IT

"Under a rigid diet program women will lose weight," says Miss Walker. "But they won't lose it in all the places they should.

"Perhaps the waistline may shrink from hunger but the bulging hips, large thighs, thick ankles and sway back remain after dieting.

"Under our system we accept each individual as a separate figure problem. We chart the course necessary and go to work. First there is a figure analysis. Then we provide the scientific treatments to give a woman the loss where she needs to lose and to tone and firm the muscles and improve circulation where needed.

SENSIBLY

"When we speed the circulation we increase the metabolism beyond the food intake. Therefore, there is no need for a starvation diet. Naturally any woman should eat sensibly, but she doesn't have to starve."

Miss Walker invites all women, no matter their age, to come in for a free trial treatment and figure analysis. At that time you will be told where you are going to lose, how long it will take, how many treatments you will need and exactly how much it will cost. We will answer personal questions without any charge or obligation.

You will find that each treatment is relaxing and restful and even if you have no weight or figure problem, the treatments are designed to relax and soothe the nerves of any woman whether she's a tired working girl, housewife or grandmother.

The salons feature privacy and the treatments are only $2. For further information you can reach Miss Walker at HEmlock 2-2973 or MEtcalf 4-0672.

"Im losing in all the right places and I'm so enthused because I've lost over 4½ inches off of each thigh and I've lost 3 inches off my tummy. I've lost 2 inches off each arm. In fact, it is really beginning to show in my clothes and I've only been taking treatments for a few weeks." — Hazel Olshesfski, Honolulu.

Above, Mrs. Bevert with husband Norman, before she started treatments with the Pat Walker Stauffer System. She weighed 190 pounds and wanted to shut her eyes when passing full-length mirrors.

as told by CATHERINE BEVERT
728 Cherry Ave., Long Beach

"It's true! I'm over 30 and this is happening to me."

"My name is Catherine Bevert. I live in Long Beach at 728 Cherry Ave. and I'm proud to say I'm a patron of the Pat Walker Stauffer System.

"Recently I was photographed with Miss Walker and I am wearing a size 14 dress. I'm married to a wonderful man, so wonderful he was instrumental in my going to see Miss Walker.

"About eleven weeks before, I saw an ad in the Press-Telegram showing what had happened to a lady who had taken treatments at Pat Walker's Stauffer System Salon. It just sounded too good to be true but having fought figure problems for so very long I decided to talk with them. My husband was all for my going — after all he's like every man who admires a pretty figure. Well, anyway, I went to the phone and called them. The person I spoke with invited me to come for a courtesy treatment and a figure analysis. She told me at that time they would show me how pleasant it is to reduce with their method; that I did not have to disrobe and they would tell me how many treatments I would need, what it would cost and how long it would take.

"I made an appointment to go at night because I'm an office manager and work days. My husband drove me to see them. They did just what they said they would. I had a treatment and believe me it was so relaxing and pleasant that I was most impressed.

"I almost forgot to say that before going to Pat Walker's Stauffer System Salon, I weighed 190 pounds. When I was photographed with Miss Walker I weighed 142 pounds. But what's really great is that I'm losing it where I need to lose it.

"I really didn't realize that there were so many other women with the same problem as I had. I hope by seeing me some of them are helped. Miss Walker told me the next time I was photographed with her I would be down to my real dress size. That's a 12 . . . and I know I will.

"My husband says I'm looking younger and prettier by the day. I told Miss Walker I would like to tell other women how I feel about the results I'm having. She thanked me and said that would be very nice of me.

"So now you know how I feel and the best part is that I'm not even finished. It's nice when I pass a full-length mirror not to want to shut my eyes.

—Catherine Bevert.

Pat Walker Says:

(NATIONAL FIGURE AUTHORITY)

Most women are happy to know that under our figure correction program there is no starvation diet.

Not only do we remove unwanted fat where needed, but we firm and tone the tissue so the body holds the new contour.

We consider each woman as an individual case for no two women have figure problems alike. Age is no barrier if a woman decides she wants to improve her figure.

A perfect figure is every woman's most valuable asset and every woman can have it with proper guidance.

We offer all women a free trial treatment and figure analysis and we will inform them how long it will take to make their figure corrections.

Women who have no figure problem find our treatments tone their bodies, relax them and sooth the nerves without creating a false appetite.

Nearly all women have a good figure in their youth. When their figure problems start they have a tendency to slump and poor posture creates problems in the abdomen, hips, thighs and other areas. Nature did not intend it that way.

The real joy of this business is to hear a woman say, "thank you" on her last treatment of her program. We have earned a good friend and producing results is the best endorsement for our system. This you cannot buy.

There is no excuse for figure problems today. In our grandmother's day, maybe yes, but not now.

"I Hardy Believe I'm Same Person"

"I don't have any bulges now; I lost 4 inches off my waist, 5 inches off my hips, 3½ inches off each thigh and the "over-the-bra" bulges. My family and friends hardly believe I am the same person. The best part of it all is that it hasn't made me haggard and drawn looking." — Mrs. Frances Robertson, Long Beach.

What Others Say:

Here are a few quotations from the hundreds of grateful letters received from women who have taken the Pat Walker's Stauffer System treatments:

"I lost 22 pounds and 34 inches overall. I lost where I needed to lose — including four inches from my waist, three inches from each thigh and six inches from my abdomen. My family says I look 10 years younger and my new figure has put me on top of the world."—Mrs. Ruth Rundlett, Los Angeles.

"Life is so wonderful again. For years my dress size was an unattractive 40. Today it is a trim 12. I lost 67 pounds without dieting . . . without exercise. It was easy. I owe everything to Miss Walker."—Mrs. Grace Fundler, Los Angeles.

"In two months I reduced 19 pounds and trimmed 21 inches from my figure measurements. Aches and pains are gone and I feel wonderful." — Mrs. Jeanette Weinberg, Hollywood.

For many years, it seems like forever, I was hiding my figure under a boxy suit or coat, huge handbags and full skirts. My problems were all from the waist down. I had given up slacks and told everyone I didn't like the beach when the real truth was I was ashamed to wear a bathing suit.

I'm proud to say I'm finished with my treatments. Now I wear a size 10 dress. Before I wore a 16. I had to because my hips and thighs were so bulgy. I lost 7 inches in my hips and 5 inches on each thigh and my legs look decent again. — Mrs. Jackie Stevens, Long Beach.

Honolulu Woman Tells How She Is Reducing

Mother of four children, Vicki Cruz of 128 Prospect Street, Honolulu, Hawaii, discusses her analysis and program with Miss Pat Walker in the Honolulu salon.

As told by Vicki Cruz—

"My name is Mrs. Vicki Cruz. I live at 128 Prospect Street, Honolulu. I am a native of Hawaii. I was born in Honolulu—it's my home and I love it. When I told Miss Walker that I loved Honolulu she said she could easily understand it because she thought it would be a beautiful place to live. I'm a housewife, I work but at home. Four children keep me very busy, but as hard as I've worked at that, it never helped me to reduce. My husband is a heavy equipment operator here in Honolulu. I really love going to the Salon for my treatments. Long ago I began to think nothing would help to reduce me and at that time I was really worried because I weighed over 200 pounds. When I found out the Salon had opened here I thought I would go talk to somebody. I called the number I saw in the newspaper and they told me to come in and they would see what my problems were. I told them I had lots of problems. They were all over and they told me not to worry. Just come in and so we made an appointment.

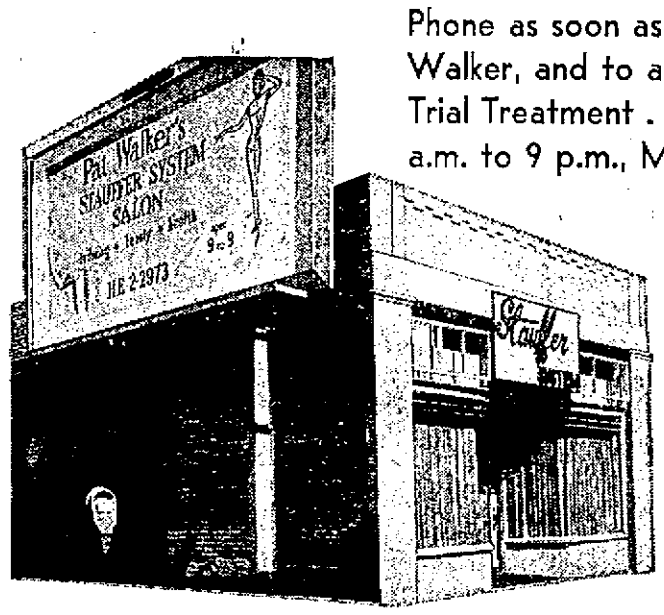

"I am taking treatments in the Salon now. I really feel wonderful I'm losing and every week shows great signs that I'm well on my way to a good figure. My clothes are needing altering, but I'm going to wait until I've lost even more. In just a short time I've lost over 17 pounds, 3½ inches in the waist, 4 inches in the tummy, 2½ inches on each thigh, 2 inches on each arm and of course I've lost other places that I needed it too.

"One of these days I'm going to wear a muu muu, not to hide my figure, but just because I feel like wearing one. Miss Walker told me that should not be too far off."—Vicki Cruz.

Movieland Stages Oscar Awards Show Monday

HOLLYWOOD — The eyes and ears of the world will turn toward Hollywood Monday night when "Oscar" steps back into the spotlight for the 35th time.

Millions will be watching and listening off-stage when the Annual Awards of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences are presented before filmdom's top personalities at the Civic Auditorium in Santa Monica.

Frank Sinatra will emcee the presentation which will disclose the results of secret balloting by the Academy's 2,000 voting members for outstanding achievements in all branches of motion picture production during 1962.

The two-hour affair will start at 7 p.m., Channel 7.

INCLUDED in the list of presenters are all four of last year's acting winners—Maximilian Schell, Sophia Loren, George Chakiris and Rita Moreno.

The other award-winning presenters are Joan Crawford, Bette Davis, Olivia de Havilland, Van Heflin, Karl Malden, Donna Reed, Ginger Rogers, Eva Marie Saint, Frank Sinatra (in addition to serving as emcee he will also present the best song award), Miyoshi Umeki, Shelley Winters and Joanne Woodward.

Lending an international note will be the presentation of the coveted Foreign Language Film Award by Academy president, Wendell Corey.

Nominees in the top six categories are:

BEST PICTURE — "Lawrence Of Arabia," "The Longest Day," "The Music Man," "Mutiny On The Bounty," "To Kill A Mockingbird."

BEST ACTOR — Burt Lancaster, "Birdman Of Alcatraz"; Jack Lemon, "Days Of Wine And Roses"; Marcello Mastroianni, "Divorce, Italian Style"; Peter O'Toole, "Lawrence of Arabia"; Gregory Peck, "To Kill A Mockingbird."

Looker from Texas

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Charlene Holt is a looker from Texas who used to go to the movies and drool over Rock Hudson.

"I admit it," says the statuesque model. "I loved him."

Anyone as good looking as Charlene was bound to leave Abilene, Tex., for either New York or Hollywood. Charlene went to New York first and before long made good as a model.

* * * *

ONE night director Howard Hawks saw her on a television commercial. Then he picked up a magazine the same night and saw her again.

His scouts got busy, located her, and in a matter of hours she was on a jet for Hollywood, headed for a sound stage to make torrid love with Rock.

"I couldn't believe it," she recalls. "Here I was looking right into those beautiful, soft brown eyes. I haven't landed on earth since."

* * * *

ALTHOUGH she had never acted before—except in commercials—Charlene is now Rock's leading lady in "Man's Favorite Sport."

Her ravishing good looks somehow make it unbelievable that the movie title refers to fishing.

Hawks has signed her for three more movies. Hudson personally has signed her as the first contract player in his own company.

* * * *

SHE HAD studied acting in New York while modeling.

"Mostly, I worked with voice teachers to lose my Texas accent. I did."

But, with typical Hollywood irony, her name in the movie is Tex—and she's got her accent back.

CHARLOTTE HOLT—Under Contract

Talman and Porter Score at Magnolia

By DAVE TAYLOR

Motion picture and TV star William Talman teams up with a strong supporting cast to have a field day in an outstanding current Magnolia Theatre production of Garson Kanin's comedy, "Born Yesterday."

In Hollywood he's just plain old stuffy TV District Attorney Ham. Burger—the brunt of Perry Mason's courtroom brilliance. But in Long Beach he gets to be an actor.

As hard-headed, loud mouth, junk yard tycoon Harry Brock, Talman demonstrates how lightly the "tube" has tapped his talent for characterization—and for comedy in particular.

* * * *

BUT HE'S crowded into his own half of the spotlight by Dorene Porter who creates as densely delightful a Billie Dawn as ever uttered a double negative.

Under the skilful direction of Pat Brown, "Born Yesterday" has three acts of fun at the expense of millionaire-bully Brock who pushes the world around until it falls on him when he makes the mistake of trying to educate his "dumb broad," Billie.

* * * *

THE TWO stars get solid support from Ronan Hogue, Carl Yates, and Frank Keith in the respective roles of Paul Verrall, Billie's intellectual prince charming; Ed Devery, Brock's wiley attorney; and bewildered, corrupt Senator Hedges.

DANCE FOR COMMUNITY CHEST

Bobby Burgess and Barbara Boylan, featured Lawrence Welk dancers and State College students, will be among the 250 star-studded entertainers to appear at the 11th Annual Festival of Fun and Fashion for the Community Chest April 24 in Long Beach's new $8 million arena. After the show dancing will continue until midnight.

Ann-Margaret Dates Fisher and Couple of Other Guys

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Ann-Margret is coming to another milestone in a few days—another birthday.

"And how old are you going to be?" I naively asked her a few afternoons ago at the Four Seasons.

"I'm going to be a year older," the young lady replied.

Actually, she's going to be 22, which she seems to regard as elderly. Convinced as I am that she'll be one of the great talents of the screen by the time she's 25, and therefore much headlined, I pelted her with impertinent questions about her personal life, such as:

* * * *

"WHAT ABOUT you and Eddie Fisher getting married?"

"Im dating three boys." She looked at me somewhat sourly from under her wide-brimmed hat. "A singer, an agent and a publisher."

The singer was Eddie, the agent was Jack Gilardi, and the music publisher was Lou Adler, who seemed to have a corner on the market when she was here telling the world about "Bye Bye Birdie."

"I did hear, though," I remarked, "that Jack Gilardi was No. 1."

"Oh, really?" She smiled—tightly and gave me a Swedish stare.

ANN-MARGARET

BORN IN Sweden, brought here by her parents when she was six, "discovered" by George Burns and Jack Benny in Las Vegas when she was a teenaged singer, Ann-Margret was rushed into "Pocketful of Miracles," then "State Fair" and now "Bye Bye Birdie."

"Why did you decide to call yourself just Ann-Margret instead of Ann-Margret Olson?" I asked.

"I wanted to keep my parents out of any bad publicity."

"You feel sure you're going to get some?"

"Oh, sure! Not everybody is going to like you. And I think everybody gets in the headlines at some point in a career."

* * * *

BUT IT seemed that Ann-Margret was least likely to get into print outside the amusement pages. For her hobbies are fairly simple ones, like riding a motorcycle.

"A gentleman gave me a motorcycle," she said. "I live in a canyon. When I get bored or moody, I get on the motorcycle and ride the curves."

"With this fellow who gave you the motorcycle?"

"I'm not going to talk about personal things!" she announced.

DO WE DARE place national defense on a percentage basis?

The future workload of all naval shipyards is threatened because of proposed legislation pending before Congress. The Long Beach Naval Shipyard Employees Association requests that YOU — each individual — protest the passage of Section 541 of the Budget of the United States Government for Fiscal Year ending June 30, 1964. Use facts set forth on this page if you wish, but WRITE YOUR OWN LETTER. Address it to any one, or several, of the Members of Congress listed below.

Long Beach Naval Shipyard Employees' Association, Inc.

1423 WALNUT AVENUE
LONG BEACH 13, CALIFORNIA

March 22, 1963

Honorable George H. Mahon
Chairman, Defense Appropriations Subcommittee
House Office Building
Washington, D. C.

My dear Mr. Mahon:

We are seriously concerned with the provisions of the Appropriation Act of last year which provided a split of funds for repair and overhaul of naval vessels, making at least 35% available for private shipyards, and the possibility of a similar provision being included in the 1964 Appropriation Act.

We are alarmed that the language of the existing and proposed legislation does not require that this work will be accomplished by American workmen in an American shipyard. The Puget Sound Bridge and Dry Dock Company has set a dangerous precedent by subcontracting a major part of conversion of two fleet oilers to a Japanese shipyard.

Preferential treatment for private shipyards has caused reduction in force at Long Beach Naval Shipyard and other naval shipyards around the country. We would like to prevent further trends in this direction.

In fiscal 1962, private shipyards were given approximately one and three quarter billion dollars of Navy work. In fiscal 1963, private shipyards were allocated two and one quarter billion dollars of Navy repair, conversion, and new construction work.

This clearly indicates a trend that is decreasing the amount of work available to Long Beach Naval Shipyard and other Navy shipyards.

The Navy needs flexibility in its conversion and overhaul work and must have it to retain a balance of skilled craftsmen available at all times. The proposed legislation would deny this all-important element in our defense program.

Let's not put National Defense on a percentage basis.

We solicit your efforts to delete from the Appropriations Bill any split of overhaul and repair money.

Yours very truly,
Frank Fisher

Here are salient reasons why we should NOT . . .

1. Readiness—For efficiency's sake alone, a diversion of 35% of the work performed in Naval Shipyards to private shipyards is not justifiable. It is vital that Naval shipyards be kept in readiness for emergencies (such as the Berlin and Cuban crises in recent memory). This factor is not to be found in private shipyards.

2. Economy—Although private shipyards claim ability to accomplish for less the repair, conversion and construction jobs Naval shipyards have been doing for many years, this is not the fact. No economy to the taxpayer has been proven, although economy was claimed as one of the reasons for the requirement.

3. Flexibility—A split of the work takes away one of the Navy's important tools—flexibility. The Navy maintains thousands of highly skilled craftsmen and it must continue their employment in the interest of defense. Private shipyards have no rosters of similarly capable men.

4. Balance—Naval shipyards need a bigger share of new construction. This volume, added to repair and conversion jobs, makes it possible for the Navy to retain skills of its craftsmen in the defense program at the smallest possible cost to the taxpayer.

5. Crew Morale—Naval shipyards have facilities to take care of crews while ships are being worked on. Many times the crew must eat and sleep off the ship during the progress of a job. Recreation facilities also are provided.

6. Work Control—Naval ships have operating schedules which have to be met. Our Navy has to be ready to fight. Strikes that can slow or halt work at private yards are not a consideration at Naval shipyards.

7. Modifications—Changes in the work, accomplished routinely at Naval shipyards, invariably result in extra charges at private yards. Fear of these extra charges has, in some cases, resulted in a ship emerging with obsolete equipment or lacking needed alterations. Inefficiency. Loss of time. "Extra charges" for taxpayers.

8. Speed—Not only does the Naval Shipyard do its work faster, it does it better. A recent collision between the USS Collette and the USS Amen was speedily repaired by men thoroughly familiar with such repairs and those ships were back in service in short order, fit to fight.

9. Inspection—Naval inspection teams (at heavy cost to taxpayers) must be maintained near private shipyards for regular inspection of work in progress. Inspection teams are "built in" at Naval shipyards, without causing an additional tax burden.

10. Necessity—Naval shipyards are a part of the Navy. They are a military necessity. They represent an enormous taxpayer investment in facilities vital to the Navy's operation. To significantly reduce the employment level of these establishments would increase the ratio of overhead cost to productive labor cost to the disadvantage of the taxpayer.

Parks Plan Fun for Vacationers

A fun-filled week awaits spring-vacationing Long Beach young people.

Activities locally include planned projects for kids of all ages in Long Beach parks, according to Bob Van Antwerp, assistant director of the recreation department.

Day-by-day schedules will be posted at each park, with the big Easter Egg Hunt set for every park on Saturday at 1 p.m.

Easter Sunrise services atop Mt. Ada on Catalina Island will climax a week of activities and organized parties for the teen-agers spending school vacation in Avalon, the chamber of commerce there advises.

And a gala dinner-dance in the Casino Ballroom Saturday night will provide entertainment for adults visiting the island.

Easter programs will be presented throughout the week at 42 Los Angeles County parks and playgrounds — including nine in the Long Beach area.

For young children, Easter-egg hunts will be held in almost all parks. First of the local programs will be Thursday at 2 p.m. in Bloomfield Park, 21420 Pioneer Blvd., Artesia.

Campanella Park, 14812 Stanford Ave., Compton, will hold a "tiny tots" program Friday at 10 a.m. and an Easter program Saturday at 2 p.m.

Others programs Saturday include: Artesia Park, 11931 E. South St., at 2 p.m.; Alondra Park, 3612 W. Manhattan Beach Blvd., Lawndale, 10 a.m.; Enterprise Park, 13055 Clovis Ave., Compton, 11 a.m.

Mona Park, 2291 E. 121st St., Compton, 11 a.m.; Scott Park, 23410 Catskill Ave., Wilmington, 9:30 a.m.; Victoria Park, 19101 Towne Ave., Gardena, 10 a.m.

On Sunday, Lomita Park, 24428 Eshelman Ave., Lomita, will hold an Easter-egg hunt at 10 a.m.

L.A. County Crops Bring $79-Millions

I, P-T, Los Angeles Bureau

Agricultural crops in Los Angeles County in 1962 showed a gain in valuation of more than $5 million over the preceding year, Kenneth L. Wolff, county agricultural commissioner reported.

Harvest from 130,390 acres resulted in gross returns of $79,243,600, with nursery stock and cut flowers the major item, accounting for $38,232,000 of the total, Wolff said.

Citrus products ranked second with a total of $9,550,000 returned from 10,384 acres. Although Valencia oranges and grapefruit declined slightly, this was offset by higher yields in navel oranges and a gain in lemon production.

'Exercise Illiteracy' Scathed

"The invention of the soft-top beer can was very timely," a space physician who takes a dim view of the strength of Americans told 2,000 delegates to a conference here on physical education.

Dr. Toby Freedman warned the joint Southwest District and the California Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation that the average American is in a dangerous state of flabbiness.

* * * *

"MOST OF our population is made up of physical-education illiterates," he said. "The popular current is against exercise. This is evidenced by the overwhelming commercial field selling luxury.

"A realistic reason for maintaining physical fitness is to have a better, more realistic life." He suggested that hiking and bicycle riding are good exercises to start with.

* * * *

HE SAID that the notion that exercise does not reduce weight is a fallacy.

Dr. Freedman urged parents to inculcate exercise habits in their children from the beginning. He praised those sports which carry over, from youth to all ages, such as tennis.

Dr. Freedman is director of life science, medical director and flight surgeon at North American Aviation, Downey.

New Frigate Down Ways in New Jersey

CAMDEN, N. J. (AP) — The USS Richmond K. Turner, a guided-missile frigate, was launched Saturday at the New York Shipbuilding Corp. yard.

The vessel is the second of its type launched at this big shipyard, measuring 533 by 53 feet and displacing about 7,500 tons.

Besides carrying surface-to-air Terrier missile-launchers fore and aft, she will be armed with an anti-submarine rocket system and two triple torpedo tubes. The engineering plant is conventional.

Cadillac

NO TICKET—JUST ANOTHER ADMIRER!

It's nothing new to this Cadillac owner.

In fact, anyone who spends much time in a 1963 Cadillac grows happily accustomed to admiring glances and comments from the people around him.

For this is the best-liked, most looked-at, most talked-about Cadillac ever built. And the reasons are easy to see.

The car's lively, youthful beauty is refreshingly new in a car of such majesty and stature. This outward beauty, of course, tempts many a passer-by to glance inside—into the luxury of Cadillac's meticulous new Fleetwood coachcrafting.

And when the conversation starts—well, what owner could resist describing the effortless response of the car's new engine. Or the remarkable quiet and smoothness afforded by its new true-center drive line. Or the extraordinary confidence he feels in Cadillac's exclusive triple braking system.

In fact, the list of Cadillac virtues—and Cadillac talking points—is longer and more varied this year than it has ever been.

Why not visit your dealer soon and see for yourself? He has a beautiful 1963 Cadillac ready for your inspection . . . demonstration . . . pricing . . . and ownership.

Take the wheel—and get ready to be admired!

27 Entered in Race for City Council

With two filing days remaining, 27 have entered the May 14 Long Beach primary for nine council seats and the offices of attorney, auditor and prosecutor.

No opposition has appeared for Vice Mayor Bert B. Bond, 2nd District, Attorney Gerald Desmond, Auditor Murray T. (Ted) Courson or Prosecutor James T. Starr.

* * * *

ROBERT F. CROW, 7th District incumbent, has not yet filed but says he will by Tuesday's deadline. Virgil H. Spongberg, 9th District, will not seek re-election.

Voter registration for the May 14 primary closed last month. Registration for the final will close Thursday.

Except for uncontested council races, the primary voting is to decide the two top vote-getters in each council district, and voting on them is limited to the candidates within the district. In the June 4 final, however, voters may ballot on all nine council seats.

* * * *

THE VOTE for attorney, auditor and prosecutor is citywide in the primary and the winner is determined by majority vote.

Another deadline for candidates is Friday when all declared candidates must submit nominating petitions signed by not fewer than 50 nor more than 75 qualified electors.

Beaches Use Fee Opposed

I. P-T Los Angeles Bureau

All public beaches should be open and free to all persons without limitation or restriction — in the opinion of the county recreation officials.

This reaffirmation of long-standing policy will be reported Tuesday to the Board of Supervisors by Milton B. Arthur, chairman of the county Parks and Recreation Commission.

County supervisors, in February, asked the commission for a review and recommendation on free use of public beaches. The action stemmed from reports that the City of Laguna Beach in Orange County, was considering a fee for beach use by non-residents of that city.

* * * *

"THE CALIFORNIA shoreline—especially in Southern California—is one of the most attractive and valuable regional recreational assets offered to the local residents as well as the tourists, and should be reserved to public ownership for the enjoyment and welfare of the populace," Arthur wrote.

"The Parks and Recreation Commission stands ready to support any effort that will guarantee the preservation and free use of our public beaches," he concluded.

Testimonial to R. F. Crow

Councilman Robert F. Crow, 7th District, will be honored at an invitational testimonial dinner at 7 p.m. Monday in Veterans Park Clubhouse, 101 E. 28th St.

A former Crow campaign manager, John D. Downing, said the dinner committee includes Maurice Johnson, president of the West Side Improvement Association, Mrs. Nelda Wentworth and Mrs. Carol Gracio.

Collector of Customs D. Patrick Ahern, a former council colleague, will be master of ceremonies. Some 300 persons are expected to attend.

Dodgers Still Erring; Bo, Sandy Duel Today

By GEORGE LEDERER

Angels 4, Dodgers 3.

What does it prove? Well, for one, there is no doubt that the Dodgers are not in the same league. Warren Giles would be the first to agree.

There are some doubts about these Dodgers, however. Saturday's opener of what has become an uncivilized war was ever so reminiscent of the Dodgers' final home appearance of 1962.

The Dodgers were two outs away from victory and then blew the whole shooting match, just as they did to the Giants last Oct. 3. This one wasn't quite as expensive, but it was highly embarrassing.

Four Dodger errors contributed to three unearned Angel runs. Nate Oliver's bobble in the ninth inning produced the winning margin and a boot by Bill Skowron in the sixth accounted for two gift scores.

Bill Rigney, the Angels' master psychologist and manager, was in mid-season form on this, a sunny and pleasant afternoon for approximately one-third of the assembled 32,982. Rigney wore a path, from dugout to mound, into the fresh sod as he plotted strategy in the ninth inning.

Actually, Rigney set his thinking wheels in motion the previous evening at the baseball writers' annual dinner. He said he was happy to see Skowron out of the American League. And that goes double today.

"Moose is a real pain in the neck," was Rigney's praise Friday night, albeit slightly edited. Skowron blushed at the time, little realizing that he was to turn crimson again so soon.

Don Drysdale and Johnny Podres blanked the Angels on two singles until the sixth inning and the Dodgers still held a 3-2 edge going into the ninth. Dodger fans were on their way to the exits when Ron Perranoski retired George Thomas for the first out.

Angel partisans knew better, though. They sat tight and were rewarded with their seventh final-inning victory of the spring. Last year the Angels won 18 such contests.

Felix Torres began the winning rally with a single to right and Bob Sadowski ran for him. Jim Fregosi followed with a triple in the same direction and scored the winning run while Oliver juggled the relay.

Fregosi's line drive took a wicked hop in front of Ron Fairly, who slipped and thus allowed the ball to roll to the bullpen fence. Fregosi was turning the corner at third when Oliver muffed the throw for the Dodgers' 46th error in 26 exhibitions.

It wasn't Oliver's fault that the Dodgers didn't duplicate the Angels' last-at-bat magic. The rookie second baseman led off with a double against winner Danny Osinski, but third base was to be his last stop.

Willie Davis advanced Oliver by grounding to the right side. The Dodgers were in good shape, needing only a fly ball from the heart of the batting order to at least prolong the issue. This possibility was erased when batting champion Tommy Davis went down swinging for the second time.

Skowron was able to coax a walk that finished Osinski, but Jack Spring needed only one pitch to retire pinch-hitter Lee Walls for the game-ending out.

While the Angels (17-10) broke a three-game losing streak, the Dodgers (12-14) extended theirs to the same number.

The Dodgers did all their scoring in the first two innings, picking on Dean Chance, who was still out of gas after giving such an excuse for missing the baseball writers' dinner Friday.

Maury Wills, who had four

Furgol 2nd; Scores Soar as Storm Hits

By WILL GRIMSLEY

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Heavyweight Jack Nicklaus bulled through a harassing rain storm in 74 for a one-stroke lead at 214 and the comeback magic failed to work for defending champion Arnold Palmer Saturday in the third round of the Masters golf tournament.

Palmer, the man who performs fairways miracles, surged and then faded for a 73 and 220, which placed him

six shots off the pace. The other member of golf's renowned "big three," Gary Player of South Africa, had a 74 for 219.

The nearest man to the 23-year-old Nicklaus, the game's sensational sophomore, going into today's climactic round was a crippled old pro with a barrel of nerve, Ed Furgol, 46, who shot a 74 for 215.

* * * *

FURGOL'S LEFT arm is crooked and 8 inches shorter than his right, which also was damaged a few years ago in an automobile accident.

The drenching rain and cascading bogeys drowned the once bright hopes of big Mike Souchak, the 36-hole leader, and others who had been clustered near the top starting this wet, miserable day.

Souchak, hard luck man in three recent U.S. Opens, missed eight greens and failed to salvage his par at any one of them in shooting a nightmarish 79 for 218.

* * * *

HE WAS TIED at this spot with an implausible little Oriental—smiling, bashful Chen Ching-po, the king of the Far East, who chipped in on two greens and sank a 20-foot putt on another for a 71.

Jay Hebert, the handsome Louisiana Cajun who had been tied with Nicklaus at 140 just a shot back of Souchak at the halfway point, took a horrendous 81 for 221. After leading the field at the 45-hole mark, he took two double bogeys and four bogeys on the nine finishing

Lakers Lose, Try Tonight

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Veteran Cliff Hagan scored 19 points in the third period to spark a St. Louis rally and lead the Hawks to a 124-114 victory over the Lakers Saturday, evening their best of seven National Basketball Assn. playoff series at two games apiece.

The Lakers, who led 28-18 at the first quarter and 59-46 at the half, were held to five field goals and 12 free throws in St. Louis' 45-point third quarter.

Los Angeles closed to within three points in the final quarter but Bob Pettit and Lenny Wilkens, who got 8 of his 17 points in the final five minutes, combined for 18 points to turn back the threat.

The teams return to the L.A. Sports Arena tonight for an 8:30 p.m. game. Few tickets remain, the Lakers announced Saturday night.

The capacity crowd, irate at five offensive foul calls on the Hawks in the first half, showered the court with trash. As referee Earl Strom was leaving the court after the game he was struck by a fan but was unhurt. Police rushed the fan from the arena.

The Hawks' Zelmo Beaty suffered an eye injury early in the second period when hit by the elbow of the Lakers' Jim Krebs. Beaty had three scratches but returned to action in the second half.

Beaty was taken to a hospital after the game. Beaty said "there was a scramble; he (Krebs) didn't mean it."

Hagan tallied 33 points before fouling out in the final period. Jerry West had 33 for the Lakers.

Angel Is Sorry for Rigney-- 'We Can Only Win in Ninth'

By ROSS NEWHAN

"Well, nothing has changed much," shouted Joe Koppe, a hero of last year's 6-5 Angel victory over the Dodgers and a dugout spectator at Saturday's 4-3 conquest. "I hope Rig has a silver lining on his stomach. We'll never learn how to win in any inning except the ninth."

The scene was the Angels' clubhouse moments after Southern California's American League representative had scored its seventh final-frame victory of the spring to retain the Mayor's Trophy, emblematic of city supremacy.

They had done it with typical cardiac precision. Down 3-2 going into the ninth, Felix Torres singled and Jim Fregosi laced a drive down the rightfield line which bounced past Ron Fairly. Fregosi was around third when Pee Wee Oliver received the relay, and he was home free when the Dodger rookie dropped the ball for his team's fourth error.

* * * *

"THIS HAS got to be my biggest thrill," warbled Fregosi, who turned 21 last Thursday. "I hit a sinker (off Ron Peranoski) and had no idea where the ball was when Rocky gave me the go-ahead at third. Normally I would have scored easy, but the new infield is soft and the ground gave way with each step."

"It was a risk sending him home with one out," said third base coach Rocky Bridges, "but the pitcher is up next and we've at least got the game tied."

The bottom of the ninth produced yet more tension.

Oliver redeemed his error with a leadoff double off Danny Osinski, who began his stint in the seventh. Willie Davis was then nailed on an infield grounder, Oliver moving to third.

Now National League batting king Tommy Davis was at the plate and Rigney at the mound.

"Bill told me that Davis was the best hitter on their

CELTICS CLIP CINCY

BOSTON (UPI) — Boston, scoring in torrid spurts on their home court for the first time in the playoffs, won 125-120 Saturday night for a 3-2 game lead over the Cincinnati Royals.

With Tom Heinsohn setting a big, 34-point pace, the Celtics trailed, 34-32, at the quarter but roared back for leads of 6 and 16 points at the periods in gaining the victory.

It was the first home-court win for either team in the NBA's best-of-seven Eastern Division final playoffs. The Celtics, seeking a fifth consecutive playoff crown, had lost twice here but won both games at Cincinnati.

Boston held Cincinnati shooting star Oscar Robertson to 11 points in the first half but the Royal ace shook loose to finish with 36 points.

The 162-Game Handicap

Today is the day when all good handicappers reveal their predictions on the forthcoming major league baseball races. Even the bad handicappers like us get into the act.

So, away we go!

National League

Entry	Jockey	Comments	Odds*
Dodgers (Alston)		Unlucky to lose last	7-5
Giants (Dark)		Just beat the top one	9-5
Reds (Hutchinson)		Hard to separate top three	3-1
Cardinals (Keane)		Will make them hustle	6-1
Braves (Bragan)		Best chance bet of day	15-1
Pirates (Murtaugh)		Youngster may need a race	8-1
Phillies (Mauch)		Served notice last start	20-1
Cubs (Kennedy, etc)		Figures to be among stragglers	50-1
Colts (Craft)		Not with this company	150-1
Mets (Stengel)		Should stay in the barn	1,000-1

American League

Yankees (Houk)	Should have no excuses	1-5
Angels (Rigney)	Excellent early workouts	10-1
Tigers (Scheffing)	Best a bold threat	5-1
Orioles (Hitchcock)	Ignore last, coming up to best	8-1
Twins (Mele)	Coming off excellent effort	10-1
Red Sox (Pesky)	Usualy sluggish in stretch	15-1
Indians (Tebbetts)	Good early speed, never lasts	20-1
White Sox (Lopez)	Driver best recommendation	20-1
Athletics (Lopat)	Out only for exercise	150-1
Senators (Vernon)	Will trail all the way	1,000-1

*Odds not from Las Vegas, Minneapolis nor New York. Strictly those of the handicapper.

THE ABOVE HANDICAP was concluded in this manner:

Dodgers—I'm afraid to bet on them or against them. They have the best talent, so I have to give them a shaky vote of confidence.

Giants—Their hitting is outstanding. Yet their pitching makes me nervous and they still have too many primadonnas.

Reds—Perhaps the best balanced club of all. But, beware of Bob Purkey's bad arm. They need him.

Cardinals—Pitching BIG question mark. But glance at this infield and outfield . . . and you have to give them a good chance.

Braves—Little to recommend over mediocre '62 campaign. But strictly a hunch bet that Bragan may do something with these oldtimers.

Pirates—Infield questionable because of youth. No power, either. Tab for future.

Phillies—An up-and-coming club. A first division possibility, but hardly likely to bother the top three.

Cubs—Too many chiefs and not enough Indians. Pitching is key to any success because hitting looks hopelessly puny.

Colts—They're building for future with some excellent rookies. They'll be spoilers all season, but little else.

Mets—Absolutely hopeless. Their "building" process consists entirely of castoffs. But—they'll be good for laughs again.

YANKEES—As solid as Rock of Gibraltar. Only chip in granite might be pitching, but don't take out a second mortgage against it.

Angels—Fine longshot stab. They seem steady all-around and pitching corps capable of being outstanding.

Tigers—Same as Reds in other leagues. Well-balanced and should be season-long contender UNLESS Frank Lary doesn't respond again.

Orioles—Could be the big surprise. Winter trades make them appear far superior to last year's dismal seventh place finish.

Twins—Pitching still question mark. But power and defense big assets.

Red Sox—They'll hit a lot of home runs, but so will the opponents. Too many question marks.

Indians—Sole hope is pitching, which could be very good. If not, woe is woe.

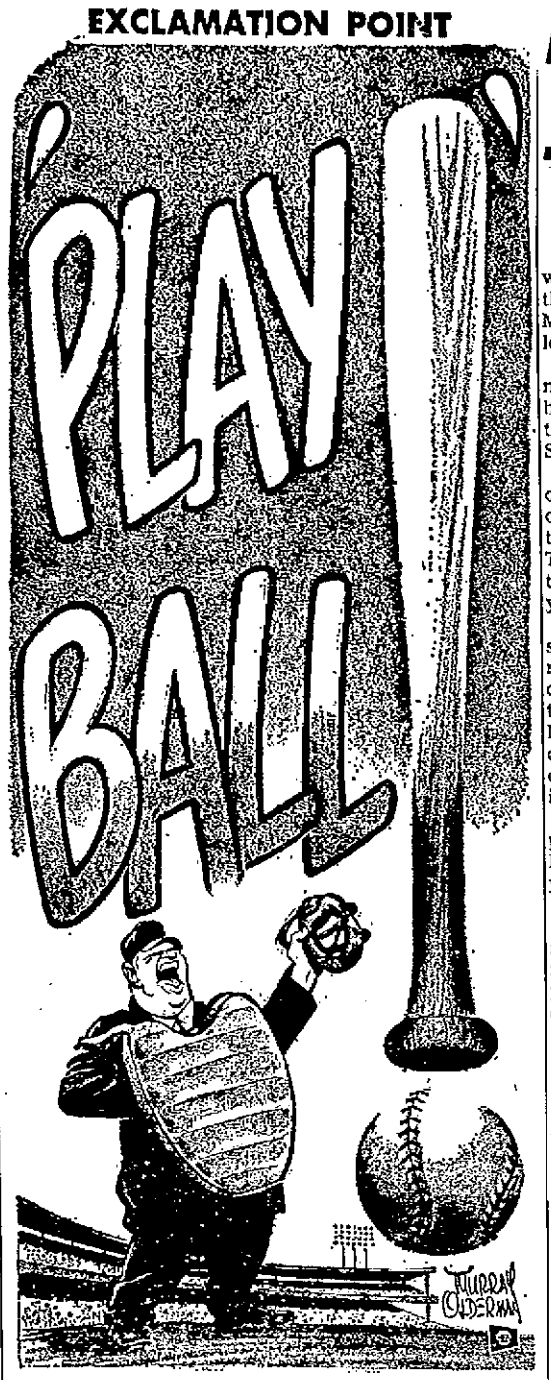

White Sox—Their old men are getting older. Only recommendation is wily Al Lopez. Otherwise they boast nothing.

Athletics—Another castoff organization. New green-and-gold uniforms their only bright outlook.

Senators—Future appears as dismal as Mets. Only hope is to beat out A's.

P.S. Please don't clip this piece and return it on October 1st!

NL Race Is Wide Open —but Dodgers Will Win

By GEORGE LEDERER

This is the time of year when I wish I were covering the American League. Our Mr. Newhan and his colleagues have it made.

What I mean is, they don't need a slide rule, a ouija board or a crystal ball to pick the Yankees first and the Senators last.

There are, of course, a few oddballs who will risk the chance of becoming heroes at the expense of being fools. These gents have had opportunities twice in the last 14 years.

In the National League such opportunity arises annually. Because the league is dedicated to the proposition that all teams—save the Mets, Colts and Cubs—are created equal, the prognosticators' race to the dunce cap is wide open.

(And before there are any pointed remarks, I will admit I have worn mine for five years running.)

* * * *

TO ATTAIN an expert's rating in the National League is as difficult as getting a parking ticket in your own driveway. There are, for instance, such fickle factors as the wind currents of Candlestick Park, the candlestick lighting in Houston, the Blue Law of Philadelphia and the Vern Law of Pittsburgh.

Form charts in the National League serve a useful purpose only at a fashion show. Only four clubs have won consecutive pennants in the last 21 years, Milwaukee being the last to do so in 1957 and 1958.

Since then, the Dodgers rose from seventh to the top in 1959, the Pirates from fourth to first in 1960, the Reds from sixth to first in 1961 and the Giants from third to a victory in the final inning of the playoffs last year.

So much for the background which, in this case, is as good a synonym as any for alibi. Now, the breathlessly awaited pennant prognosis for 1963:

Toss the Dodgers, Giants, Reds and Cardinals into a tall hat, shake well and your chances of picking a winner should be about 4-1, provided you don't peek.

My pick is the Dodgers, who came within two outs of taking all the marbles last year. Should they take the gas pipe again, I can always find solace in the immortal words of the man who made the tall hat popular:

LEDERER

"The world will little note, nor long remember what we say here . . ."

The Dodgers' table of contents features strong pitching, speed unmatched, power more than adequate, but a defense that has been and still is on the shaky side. Every bit as important as the table of contents is the index, in this case the index finger of strikeout king Sandy Koufax.

* * * *

FROM ALL indications, Koufax is 100 per cent healthy, an outstanding prospect to become a 20-game winner and to regain his league strikeout title from teammate Don Drysdale.

Without the crippling injury to Koufax, or, for that matter, to Pete Richert, the Dodgers would not have been forced into a playoff last year. That they turned the race into a dead heat with the loss of two key pitchers and a year-long problem at third base is to their credit.

The third base problem remains to be solved, but it can't be worse than last year when five men ran a shuttle relay to that station.

Another question may be the inexperience of Nate Oliver at second base, but the youngster performed well enough in the spring to erase most of the doubt. As long as Jim Gilliam, Don Zimmer and Dick Tracewski lurk as shadows, the situation appears well in hand.

* * * *

A SUMMARY of National League clubs in order of selection:

1—DODGERS: Pitching should be even better than last year with Koufax and Richert available all the way and Bob Miller offsetting the trade of Stan Williams. Outstanding bullpen headed by Ron Perranoski and Ed Roebuck. Four of the league's top stars in MVP Maury Wills, batting and RBI champion Tommy Davis, ERA leader Koufax and Cy Young Award winner Drysdale. Defense could be better.

2—GIANTS: Pitching excellent with starters Jack Sanford, Juan Marichal, Billy Pierce, Billy O'Dell and Jack Fisher. Bullpen not in class with Dodgers. Power galore from Willie Mays, Orlando Cepeda, Willie McCovey and Felipe Alou. Bench still a question mark, although improved with versatile Joe Amalfitano.

3—REDS: Even without George Crowe, an important member of 1961 champions, Cincy finished only 3½ games behind Giants last year. Similar finish possible this year only if Bob Purkey recovers from spring arm trouble. With Purkey, pitching ranks with best in league. Bench strong with Wally Post and Jerry Lynch as pinchhitters. May have outstanding rookie in centerfielder Tommy Harper. Vada Pinson, injured much of spring, isn't the Pinson of old.

4—CARDINALS: Could be the league's darkhorse club. Important changes made with Dick Groat at shortstop and George Altman in right field. May have given up too much pitching by trading 15-game winner Larry Jackson. Return of Ray Sadecki to winning form a must if club is to make serious pennant challenge.

5—PHILLIES: Most improved team in league should be good enough to move up at least two notches from last fall. Except for Roy Sievers at first base and Don Hoak at third, club is young and hungry. Outfield of Don Demeter, Tony Gonzalez and John Callison needn't take back seat to any. Outside of starter Art Mahaffey and reliever Jack Baldschun, pitching remains unpredictable.

6—BRAVES: Too many problems to rate higher, despite standouts Hank Aaron, Ed Mathews, Del Crandall and Warren Spahn. Pitching is young behind Spahn and Lew Burdette, while rest of club is aging. Must depend on AL acquisitions Don Dillard and Ty Cline to help Aaron in outfield.

7—PIRATES: Another unpredictable club. Has deepest pitching staff, by odds, in name Vern Law and Joe Gibbon have sore arms. Don Cardwell had arm trouble last year. Three-fourths of infield (Dick Stuart, Dick Schofield and Bob Bailey, 3b) is unsettled. Don Schwall should help front line pitching, but Roy Face again must carry terrific load in bullpen.

8—CUBS: Pitching improved with addition of Larry Jackson. Bob Buhl available from the start and Glen Hobbie apparently back to form. But it will take more than an athletic director and a dozen coaches to perform miracles at Wrigley Field.

9—COLTS: Not much change from last year. Obtained AL batting champion Pete Runnels (.326), but sacrificed power in trading Roman Mejias.

10—METS: Defense appears much better than last year and Duke Snider will add power. Some of the young pitchers can throw hard but lack the necessary aim. The Mets are still the Mets.

BASEBALL NOT 'DYING GAME' --FORD FRICK

By FORD C. FRICK
Commissioner of Baseball

NEW YORK (UPI)—Those of us who are devoted to baseball must laugh at the unwarranted claims that this is a "dying" game.

As a matter of fact, baseball is healthier and more popular than ever.

More than 25-million persons watched major league baseball during 1962.

We are looking forward to another boom season, but even if attendance fell by 1-million, it would not be any reason for alarm.

The old game never was in better shape.

Diathermy Treatment

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The Chicago White Sox sent Floyd Robinson, their leading batter last year, back to Chicago Saturday for diathermy treatments for a pain in his hip.

ANGELS TO CARRY AL BANNER!

Yes, Virginia, Yankees CAN Lose

By ROSS NEWHAN

Yes, Virginia, the Yankees CAN lose the pennant.

Why, child, it has happened twice in the last 14 years. On both occasions the teams that found themselves representing the American League in the World Series, Chicago and Cleveland, were so stunned at what they had accomplished that they promptly blew the October classic to the other league.

Again this year Las Vegas has informed one and all that the Yankees are the next best bet to death and taxes for those who like sure things.

* * * *

LAS VEGAS contends that Mickey Mantle's two sore legs, Roger Maris' severely sprained one, Marshall Bridges' wounded one, Luis Arroyo's sore arm, Whitey Ford's 34-years and the lack of a veteran first baseman will not affect the American League's outcome, only keep it interesting a few weeks longer than usual.

Encouraged by what Chicago and Cleveland once did to the Yankees, and the beating Las Vegas took when it made Wally Butts an 8-5 choice over the lie detector, it is this writer's (that's another word for expert) opinion that the New York nine will spend the first week of October watching its super stars shave.

In between commercials, the Los Angeles Angels will be carrying the banner of the American League against the other league's champ (for the winner of the National League race see George Lederer's story).

Please, Virginia, before you write Santa Claus requesting that he bring me a straightjacket, hear me out.

Inasmuch as we have been recording the activities of the Angels since Feb. 11, we will only briefly repeat a few of this spring's findings involving the manager of the year's team:

1. The best pitching in the league. 2. Greater esprit de corps than ever. 3. Depth that wasn't there last season when the Angels finished third, only 10 games behind the Yankees. 4. A healthy Ken McBride. 5. A healthy Art Fowler. 6. The blossoming into a major leaguer of 21-year-old Jim Fregosi. 7. The continued improvement at the plate and in the field of Albie Pearson (and, Virginia, he just may be the best centerfielder in the league). 8. The return to 1961 form of George Thomas. 9. Bobby Rodgers, Lee Thomas and Leon Wagner. 10. Bill Rigney.

NEWHAN

With fiery new managers at Boston (Johnny Pesky), Cleveland (Birdie Tebbetts) and Kansas City (Eddie Lopat), and with Baltimore and Detroit strengthened through trades, the American League race should be a good one.

* * * *

HERE'S HOW IT SHAPES UP—after the Angels.

2—NEW YORK — Mantle played 123 games last season. He must play at least that many again. Without the "switcher" in the lineup, the Yankees are the Yankees in name only. The biggest question mark is the bullpen. Can Bridges bounce back from the gunshot wound? Can Arroyo bounce back from the sore arm? Will Ford still be the slipper among the starters? "If it's not," said ex-Yankee Lee Thomas, "the Yankees are in big trouble." With Bill Skowron gone, Joe Pepitone will play first base. He's a left-handed swinger which leaves only Elston Howard to supply the power from the right side. "With the abundance of southpaw swingers, the Yankees are that much easier to pitch to, especially in the big parks. Mantle, of course, will be switch-hitting, but in Yankee Stadium his power a righthander is nullified by the dimensions.

3—BALTIMORE—Lee MacPhail's shrewd winter deals have made the Orioles a serious pennant contender. The holes have been filled and the Birds are one big happy family. Gus Triandos finally got his way and was traded. Ex-Giant John Orsino will hand'e Baltimore's brilliant pitching staff. In return for Jack Fisher, Baltimore got only lauded Orsino, but Mike McCormick and Stu Miller as well. It will be impossible to get a ground ball through the leftside of the Orioles' infield. Luis Aparicio, an unhappy ballplayer in Chicago, is all smiles now and he'll unite with Brooks Robinson to present a wall of leather on the left side. Al Smith, snatched in the Aparicio swindle, is the RBI-type outfielder the Birds have sorely missed.

4—DETROIT—The Tigers just have to be better. Al Kaline will be available all year, and he's the best. Frank Lary won two games last season—he could win 22 this year. Trades brought the Tigers third baseman Bubba Phillips, a .300 percent competitor, and Triandos—both home run threats in cozy Tiger Stadium. The big problem is around second base where Chico Fernandez and Jake Wood cavort. Last season Wood was infoleerable. Until the keystone situation is improved the Tigers will not win the pennant, more frequently.

5—MINNESOTA—The Twins, naturally, present a double "?." If sophomores Bernie Allen and Rich Rollins can repeat their rookie performances then the Twins will again be in the thick of it.

Harmon Killebrew drove in 126 runs and hit 48 homers. Bob Allison drove in 102 runs. They achieved these power marks while hitting only .243 and .256 respectively. Both should improve.

But the Twins' pitching once past Camilo Pascual and Jim Kaat is weak. Too many "ifs" will leave the spirited Twin City fans disappointed.

And the second division situation.

CHICAGO—A year older but no better. Floyd Robinson will hit over .300 again but not hurt anyone in the process. The Sox will count heavily on rookie third baseman Pete Ward and rookie pitcher Dave DeBusschere. If they fail, the Sox could go the way of the Cubs.

CLEVELAND — Rookies Vic Davalillo, an outfielder, and Tony Martinez, a shortstop, carry the hopes of Lake Erie fans. Both were brilliant in the minors—oh, but that too step is a big one. Pitching is average. Cleveland will start fast and start descending around June 1.

BOSTON—Dick Radatz is the best relief pitcher in the league, but Boston has no one to match him on the mound. To pepper the leftfield monster in Fenway Park, the Red Sox acquired Dick Stuart and Roman Mejias. Both will hit a few balls over the fence, but strikeouts will be more frequent.

KANSAS CITY—The A's are blessed with a fine infield and solid hitting. The outfield and pitching are giant question marks. Only Ted Bowsfield throws from the leftside. The pkys should outweigh the minus, however, and the A's might finish as high as seventh.

WASHINGTON—With Dave Stenhouse, Dan Rudolph, Tom Cheney and Claude Osteen, the Senators' pitching is in fair shape. Nothing else is, however, and capital fans will look to Jack and Jackie for their summer excitement.

Opening Day Lineup

S.F., CINCY PILOTS ARE OPTIMISTIC

NEW YORK (AP)—A poll of National League managers showed Saturday San Francisco's Al Dark and Cincinnati's Fred Hutchinson as the most optimistic.

Said Dark: "I expect our team to be better than last year because our youngsters have more experience." Said 'Hutch': "This is the best club I've ever managed." The Giants won the pennant last year and the Reds won it in 1961.

Comets Sparkle in Girls Track Meet

Martha Watson led the Long Beach Comets Track Club in the all-school, all-club SPAAAU meet at Mt. San Antonio College Saturday. She won the broad jump (18-7½) and took second in the 50-yard dash finals (6.2).

Other good performers included Sonia Guss with a first in the 75 (9.7) and second in the broad jump (17-4½); Dee Mosley, first in the baseball throw (203-8½); and Shirley Maynard, third in the 75 (8.9).

CUBANS ASK FIDEL OK TO PLAY IN U.S.

HAVANA (UPI)—Cuba's professional baseball players with 1963 U.S. contracts sent a petition to prime minister Fidel Castro Saturday asking for permission to leave the country.

Castro was handed the petition as he watched the Cuban amateur baseball championship in Havana Stadium. Professional baseball and boxing has been discounted by the Communist regime.

The Communist newspaper Hoy wrote Saturday that Castro said the players should be allowed to fulfill their contracts.

186-Foot Discus Toss by Humphreys

Bob Humphreys threw the discus 186 feet, 4½ inches and the shotput 56-2½ Saturday in an all-comers track meet at Long Beach State College.

Marine Dave Davis got off his longest shot push of the season, 61-8¾.

PRESSURES VARY, BUT NOT HER HUSBAND

Rig Always an Angel—Mrs. Manager of Year

By ROSS NEWHAN

Mrs. Paula Rigney has lived with a sailor, a minor league ball player, major league player, a manager in Minneapolis, a manager in New York, a manager in San Francisco and a manager in Los Angeles.

Bill Rigney has been all these things. He's also been fired as a manager and he's also the reigning manager of the year.

The Rigneys celebrate their 19th wedding anniversary this year, and we went to Paula Rigney to ask if her husband had changed a great deal under the different pressures of the past 19 seasons. A dynamic, fiery figure on the field, does he draw the line between Ed Hurley and Paula Rigney?

"He's always left his fire on the field," revealed Paula. "The night after a tough loss he may brood a bit, but the next day he's himself again."

The Rigneys met while he was in the Navy and she was working at St. Mary's Pre-Flight School. "That was '44 and I wasn't much of a fan then," Paula relates. "I had seen the Oaks play a few times before the war, but as far as I knew a diamond was something you wore on your finger."

A year later, her last name now Rigney, Paula found herself in New York—which would be her summer address for the next 10 years.

"I remember the day we saw New York for the first time," Rigney told this writer over lunch in the big city one day last summer. "After checking into the hotel we went for a walk. Our eyes never saw the pavement. We were awed by the skyscrapers. People must have thought we were bird-watching. I don't think I've ever recovered from the stiff neck.

"From that day I've had the feeling that if you're going to make it big, do it in New York. Success just doesn't seem to mean as much anywhere as in New York."

Rig made it big in New York. Not big, of course, when you measured his talents against a Rizzuto, but big as a fan's player, a 100 per cent player. All the while he was keeping an eye on Leo Durocher and filing notes in a book and in his mind.

"If Bill made up his mind early to be a manager he didn't talk much about it," said Paula. "We didn't live just baseball, of course. I didn't attend a great many games those first few years. I was interested, but I didn't understand the game. I'm not sure I do yet."

In 1954 Rigney was tapped by Horace Stoneham to manage the Giants' triple A farm club at Minneapolis.

"There was no great change in Bill when he became a manager," revealed Mrs. manager of the year. "The job took more time, of course. There were more responsibilities and more problems. All of a sudden he was the father of 25 children instead of just the three he had at home. But to those three (Bill, Tom, Lynn) he was and always has been a wonderful father."

After two years at the Minneapolis Preparatory School of Managing, Rigney graduated to New York, where secret explorations to the West Coast were already being launched.

After two sixth-place finishes under Rigney, the Giants packed up and moved to San Francisco.

"It was marvelous for us," said Paula. "We had set up winter housekeeping in Walnut Creek about nine years earlier so we could now live at home all year."

Once again, however, the baseball was to take a funny bounce. The Giants finished third in the pressure-packed 1959 season and when they slipped four games out of the lead in June of 1960, Chub Feeney called Rigney out of the batting cage where he was giving tips to Eddie Bressoud and informed his best friend he was no longer manager of the Giants.

"We had expected that day for quite awhile," said Paula. "I remember calling Paula only minutes after it happened," said Rig. "Her only words were 'that's good, come on home, honey.'"

Mrs. Rigney disagrees that criticism in the press led to her husband's firing at San Francisco.

"Isn't it the job of the press to pick everything to pieces?" she asked pointedly. "I don't think they were especially hard on Bill."

After a pleasant summer on the golf course, Rigney became the manager of the foundling Angels and became a new man on the field.

"He was still the same guy I had married when around the house, but if he changed on the field it was only because he no longer had the intense pressure that weighed him down in San Francisco. He no longer had a team of stars but something he could build, which is always more fun."

Rigney built it so well that he was named manager of the year this past winter. "It was a thrill for the whole family," said the happy Mrs. Rigney. "I can't tell you how delighted we were."

Does the manager of the home ever second guess the manager of the year?

"No, but I occasionally voice an opinion."

And what is her opinion of the '63 Angels?

"I'm no judge, but they look great to me. I want Bill to paint the kitchen when the season is over but I'll gladly wait until the SECOND week of October."

Once Over Lightly

Baseball Season Follows Pattern

As a former player who performed on pennant winners and as manager of the National League's defending champion San Francisco Giants, Alvin Dark can speak with some authority on title races.

And he has an interesting viewpoint about them. He maintains, for instance, that the regular season usually follows a three-part pattern that you also find in spring training.

"Everything falls into distinct patterns," Dark pointed out recently. "The first few days of spring are more or less carefree as the players shake themselves out of any complacencies acquired over the winter. Through the first nine or 10 exhibitions they work at full speed. They're back in the groove.

ALVIN DARK
Sag After All-Star Break

"Then the drag sets in and training becomes punishment. Then about four or five days before the season starts you can feel the lift. They get an edge, they want to get with it . . . get to winning the games that count.

"The regular season has its segments and patterns, too. Whereas the players point toward opening day during spring training, and some of it they begin to sag from monotony during think in terms of the All-Star game after settling into the daily routine during the first few weeks. And I know what the All-Star games means because I've been in some of them.

"Every player wants to make it and those who have the best distance bear down harder than ever to win a berth.

"After the All-Star game, a natural sag sets in. It's harder to keep winning. The end of the season seems so far off. This affects many teams. We had a sag after the All-Star breaks last season and it almost did us in," Dark points out.

"THEN COMES THE final segment of the three-part pattern," Alvin said. "Suddenly, the players wake up one morning and see the season is coming to an end. They begin to play with renewed vigor, particularly those on the clubs still in the race.

"They no longer have to push themselves as they did in July and August. The momentum is regained. The stackup of doubleheaders and the psychological drain of playing them has reached a peak and disappeared. It's downhill then and the club that more acutely feels the thrill of the stretch run usually wins.

"I think if you go back over the past several seasons you'll find this pattern cropping up quite often. We certainly followed it to some extent last season," Alvin said.

And that the Giants did. In the first phase, they won 40 of their first 55 games. The second phase found them slowing down in June and then almost getting knocked clear out of it shortly after the All-Star game, but they came on strong at the end to win seven of their last 10 games while the Dodgers were blowing 9 of their last 13.

Incidentally, if you'll look back, the Yankees also followed the pattern outline by Dark in winning last season.

FAST STARTS ARE becoming more and more important in the major league races. In fact, baseball men for some time now have been using the standings on May 1 as the key to the pennants rather than waiting for the traditional July 4 figures.

Actually, the May 1 standings have been more indicative of the outcome of the races for the past several seasons. For instance, in the last 12 years, seven National League winners and six in the American were in front on the first of May.

The best time to throw the defending champions off balance, according to those in the game, is in the first three weeks. Throw everything at 'em and try to keep them from settling into a winning pattern.

However, that may be a bit hard to do this year, especially in the National League. Both the Dodgers and Giants, who finished the '62 season in a tie, should get off winging. The Dodgers' first 13 games are with Chicago and Houston, who are picked for 8th and 9th place. The Giants open up with 12 games against the same clubs.

Over in the American League, the Yankees have a tougher opening slate, but one that could help them bust things open in a hurry if they get off to a blazing start. In 17 games scheduled in April, they meet all the leading contenders except Minnesota.

SPEAKING OF PATTERNS and fast getaways, the swift quarter horses break from the starting gate at Los Alamitos Tuesday and if the trend set at the track in recent spring meetings is followed, Jet Deck appears to be a cinch to set a new world record . . . mostly likely at 440 yards.

In the spring of 1960, Vandy's Flash was clocked in 18 seconds flat for 350 yards in the track's mandatory qualifying program before the meeting opened. A few days later he set the current world standard for that distance of 17.5 seconds.

Last spring, Pokey Bar, the all-time top money-winning quarter horse, qualified in 18.1 seconds . . . and two weeks later set a new world standard of 21.6 seconds for 440 yards.

The 3-year-old Jet Deck, who won the $207,750 Futurity at Los Alamitos last December—richest race per yard in the world—qualified the past week in 17.9 seconds . . . fastest "work" ever turned in for the 350-yard distance!

NEW ZONE—AND THE OLD
Broken lines indicate the former strike zone, extending from player's (Frank Robinson) armpits to just above his kneecaps. Solid lines indicate new area, from shoulders to just below kneecaps.

New Strike Zone 'Rubbish'--Experts

NEW YORK (UPI)—The new strike zone—baseball's most publicized rule change in years—will have about as much effect as a rule against bikinis on the Riviera, according to the United Press International's 1963 board of baseball experts.

It was solemnly announced during the winter that the pitchers would get their first real break in many seasons this year. The umpires, it was said, have been instructed to enlarge the strike zone from the armpits to the top of the knees to the shoulders to the bottom of the knees.

Rubbish, say the experts.

The UPI polled its 1963 board of baseball experts, 24 writers who have seen the teams in training in the South and West, to give their sober (sic) opinions on the effects the new rule will have.

Here's how the experts responded:

Regis McAuley, Cleveland Press: "None. Umps won't enforce it."

Scott Baillie, UPI: "Around the cactus belt, pitchers say the idea is to keep the ball low and the high pitch is a mistake. So, new rule seems negligible."

Bob Wolfe, Milwaukee Journal: "Little or no effect."

Ross Newhan, Long Beach (Calif.) Press-Telegram: "None, except for such speed pitchers as Dick Farrell, Ryne Duren, etc., who might use the new rule to great advantage."

Oscar Fraley, UPI: "Very slight whiff of smelling salts for home run punchy pitchers."

Bob Addie, Washington Post: "More hitters will swing on high 3-2 pitches so pitchers should get some advantage. But good hitters won't be troubled."

Allen Lewis, Philadelphia Inquirer: "Very little because it won't be enforced as written. It will be raised only an inch or two."

George Lederer, Long Beach Press-Telegram: "Speed games to the extent that hitters must commit themselves sooner."

Les Biederman, Pittsburgh Press: "None."

Long, Long Run to Series —or Cellar—Starts Monday

By Associated Press

The race to the World Series — or the cellar — starts Monday and Tuesday for 20 major league baseball clubs with the Yankees and Dodgers favored as usual.

Despite spring training aches and pains, the world champion Yankees are odds-on to do it again in the American League just as they have done 12 times in the last 14 years.

In the wide open National League where they have had five different winners in the last five years, the frustrated Dodgers are given an edge over the defending champs from San Francisco and the Cincinnati Reds.

The new strike zone, new gold and green uniforms in Kansas City, new faces and old names in new places add spice to the staggered series of opening days that run from Monday through April 16.

Washington and Cincinnati jump the gun with their customary special openers Monday. Nine more games will be played Tuesday. However, it will be eight days before everybody has played a home game.

With a break from the weather man, who provided some dazzling pre-season sunshine, crowds totalling 350,000 are expected to watch the games Monday and Tuesday.

Three new managers will make their bows in the American League—Johnny Pesky at Boston, Birdie Tebbetts at Cleveland and Eddie Lopat at Kansas City. The National League will have two new bosses, if you count Bob Kennedy, head coach of the Chicago Cubs' brain trust, as a full-fledged manager. The other is Bobby Bragan of Milwaukee.

* * * *

MOOSE SKOWRON with the Dodgers, Luis Aparicio with the Orioles, Don Hoak with the Phillies, Dick Groat with the Cardinals, Dick Stuart with the Red Sox, Duke Snider with the Mets, Minnie Minoso with the Senators — those are some of the strange sights that will greet fans who have not kept up on their baseball during the off-season. An unusual number of deals really scrambled the line-ups.

For the first time since 1960 there will be no new problem children, born of expansion. To be sure, the old problems still remain with the New York Mets, Washington Senators and youthful Houston Colts.

President Kennedy is expected to throw out the first ball at Washington where 47,000 fans are due to watch the Senators take on the revamped Baltimore Orioles, who are regarded as an outside pennant threat to the Yankees.

* * * *

THE CUSTOMARY sellout of 30,000-plus in Cincinnati will watch Jim O'Toole (16-13), a spring whiz, pitch for the Reds against Pittsburgh's Earl Francis (9-8).

The Pirates have a rebuilt infield with third baseman Bob Bailey, a $175,000 bonus player, the most publicized newcomer.

One of the most interesting facets of the Tuesday program will be the home debut of the Kansas City A's in their new Kelly green and Tulane yellow uniforms against the Yankees.

club," related Osinski. "He told me to give my best stuff, but not too much to hit. If he walked it didn't matter."

Osinski obeyed orders to a T, feeding Davis nothing but wide breaking stuff which finally struck out the Dodger slugger.

"I threw him a slow, slow and slower curve," laughed Osinski. "I struck him out on a change-up curve. It was the first time I've ever thrown the pitch and I didn't think it was going to reach the plate. In fact, it didn't."

After Bill Skowron had walked, Rigney went to the mound as Fairly strode to the plate. The manager of the year decided to let Osinski face the ex-Jordan High phenom and returned to the dugout. But moments later he was back on the mound. He called in lefty Jack Spring and Walt Alston countered with Lee Walls.

Walls hit Spring's first pitch to Tom Satriano and the Alstons had extended their Dodger Stadium losing streak to two.

Giambra Upset by Unranked Foe

BOSTON (UPI)—Unranked middleweight Joe DeNucci scored a startling upset Saturday night by jabbing his way to a 10-round split decision over eighth-ranked Joey Giambra in a nationally-televised bout.

hits in his last appearance at Dodger Stadium, led off with the first of his three singles. Oliver's hit-and-run single sent Wills to third, whence he scored and Oliver advanced to third on a wild pitch. W. Davis' sacrifice fly made it 2-0.

* * * *

THE DODGERS sent only one more runner to third after John Roseboro blooped a double between Leon Wagner and Fergosi in the second inning and scored on rookie Ken McMullen's single to center.

T. Davis prevented first-inning trouble for Drysdale by going to the wall for Billy Moran's drive and making a shoe-top grab of Bob Rodgers' bloop after Albie Pearson singled and Wagner walked. Thereafter, Drysdale retired seven in a row and Podres allowed only one more hit through the fifth.

Podres helped create the jam in the sixth by walking the pint-sized Pearson. The bases were filled moments later on a force, Lee Thomas' single and Skowron's muff of Wagner's grounder.

* * * *

RODGERS PUT the Angels on the scoreboard with a sacrifice fly, the third out were it not for Skowron's error. Podres was directly responsible for the second run when his pickoff throwing error allowed Thomas to score from second base. Podres' high pickoff pitch to Skowron was clearly his worst of the afternoon.

Sandy Koufax and Bo Belinsky will match lefthanded serves in the exhibition finale at 1 o'clock this afternoon. From all scouting reports, Belinsky is said to have an edge in curves.

Through a ruling that may be appealed by the Dodgers, the Angels retain their city championship trophy even via a split. Contrary to the Dodgers, they aren't about to forget last year.

* * * *

DIS AND DATA—Dodgers reached the opening day limit of 27 players by announcing purchase of pitcher Ken Rowe from Spokane and trimming catcher Mike Brumley and pitchers Phil Ortega, Joe Moeller and Dick Scott. . . . The latter four will remain in Los Angeles awaiting assignment, probably to Spokane. . . . In another transaction, the Dodgers optioned pitcher Bill Larkin to Santa Barbara (California League) and sold pitcher Steve Anderson outright to the same club.

The 29-year-old Rowe was the Dodgers' most impressive relief pitcher in spring training. He appeared in seven games, pitched 15 innings and had an earned run average of 1.20. . . . Rowe had a 9-9 record and 3.44 ERA at Spokane last year. . . . He tied two Pacific Coast League records by appearing in 79 games, all in relief. Both records were established by Bob Anderson of the 1956 Angels.

Winning pitchers Saturday and today are to receive complete fishing outfits. . . . Dodger Stadium infield is softer and the grass is higher than last year.

Snyder's 5-Hitter Checks Mustangs as LBSC Divides

Phil Snyder checked Cal Poly (SLO) on five hits in the second game as Long Beach State corralled the Mustangs 3-1 after dropping the opener 9-4 in a CCAA doubleheader Saturday at Blair Field.

The victory snapped a four-game losing streak and pushed the 49ers' season record to 4-10-1 and 1-2 in conference play. Cal Poly now boasts a 3-6 league mark.

Snyder pitched his finest game of the year, walking only one and fanning six. He made only one mistake. That came in the seventh inning when he served up a triple to lead-off batter Wayne West. Lyman Ashley was safe on Warren Riley's boot to ruin the shutout. Snyder then choked off the threat by getting the next three batters.

Long Beach did all its scoring in the second. With one out, Gary Brown and Rich Ramirez singled. Doug Meyer walked to load the bags. Jim Herrick cleared the bases when he hit a liner to centerfield which rolled through Mike Williams' legs for a devastating error.

LBSC managed only six hits in the nightcap with Roger Rhoades collecting two.

In the first game, Cal Poly pushed across solo runs in the second, third and fifth innings, then cracked the contest open with a three-run burst in the sixth. L. B. countered with two-run uprisings in the sixth and seventh.

The Mustangs outhit the 49ers 13-12.

Jim Ramos cracked the day's only home run in the first contest. The Mustangs' shortstop also had two doubles.

Palmer Six Shots Back in Masters

holes—a collapse that utterly defied belief.

So, when they tee it up today in what promises to be a bright, sunshiny day, it will be Nicklaus at 214 and Furgol at 215, followed by Julius (Big Moose) Boros, former U.S. open champion, 216, Sam Snead and Tony Lema, at 217; Chen Ching-po, Wininger and Souchak, at 218; Player, Stan Leonard of Canada and Mason Rudolph at 219, and Palmer clustered with Australian Bruce Crampton, Don January and Dow Finsterwald at 220.

Any one of them is in a position to win it in the final 18 holes because of the fickleness of the tough 6,850-yard, par 72 Augusta National course but most observers felt that Nicklaus might be too stolid a man to shake.

Nicklaus started slowly but he pulled his big, sagging game together and reeled off 11 straight pars in a tremendous driving and putting exhibition.

* * * *

TWO OF HIS bogeys—on No. 2 and No. 7—came from trap trouble and the other at the short sixth was the result of a bad chip. His lone bird came on a fine pitch 2-foot putt at the 450-yard fifth.

A frigid putter spoiled a more rousing rally by Palmer and broke the hearts of his vast gallery—known as "Arnie's Army."

He missed only one green during his creditable round and rimmed the cup—by his own count—a dozen times with putts for birdies and pars.

Two of his bogeys resulted from three-putt greens — at the fourth and the 15th. He had only two one-putt greens and they were birdies—a 10-footer at the seventh and 4-footer at the eighth.

* * * *

"I WISH I could have come in with a 71," Palmer said afterward. "I think I would have had a good chance."

Furgol, winner of the U.S. Open in 1954, birdied the 15th from 10 feet and the short 16th from 80 to 100 feet, stroking the ball from off the green with his putter. He parred the rest of the way but on the final hole his approach was 20 yards short of the green and he chipped up to within 15 inches.

Boros, playing with Furgol, matched the best score of the day—a 71—getting birdies at the 13th and 16th holes.

THEY'RE NOT DOING THE BOSSA NOVA

With a trip to Brazil and the Pan-American Games only a couple of weeks away, Mexico's water polo ists played their final tuneup against the Nu-Pike and Inland teams Saturday night at the L.B. Plunge. The Mexican team leaves today for Mexico City. Next stop after that is the land of the Bossa Nova.

Hansen Hits 16-1 at Texas Relays

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Rice's Fred Hansen vaulted 16-1, unheralded John Camien of Emporia, Kan., State upset famed miler Dyrol Burleson and Texas Southern scored a six-relays sweep in the chill, windy Texas Relays Saturday.

Hansen tried for the world's record after soaring higher than any Texan ever did before but missed at 16-4 three times.

His 16-1 was one of only three records set in the big track and field carnival—the first time there have been so few in a quarter of a century.

A 6 to 8 miles per hour wind and heavy track held down the runners, who were forced to go into the teeth of the wind.

Camien's victory over Burleson and Bill Dotson, another 4-minute miler, was a sensation. The little man from Kansas had to run his fastest mile to do it. He ripped off a 4:02.6, catching Burleson 40 yards from the tape. Burleson, the ex-Oregon star who had done 3:57.6, wound up second with 4:02.9. Dotson was third at 4:04.8. The meet record is 4:00.5 set by Wes Santee in 1955.

Texas Southern, which won five relays and set records in all of them here last year, then later won six at the Kansas Relays, was able to equal the latter feat Saturday because a relay had been added.

Texas Southern set only one record and that was an automatic one. It came in the distance medley — the relay that had been added to give six in the college class. The time was 10:13.9.

Texas Southern ran its streak to 21 out of 23 relay triumphs. The Houston Negro school once had a 36-straight skein but had it broken last year at the Drake Relays.

AT MASTERS

Flagstick Stuck, Greens Inundated

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UP)—Man, it was wet. The third round of the Masters golf tournament Saturday was hit by a series of April showers that had several greens and fairways under water.

South African Gary Player reported officials sponging water off the 10th green when he played it.

But the prize incident involved Ed Furgol, who said he and Julius Boros had to wait about one-half hour after their 10th hole drives before hitting to the green.

* * * *

FURGOL RELATED, "the flagstick was stuck in the hole and it couldn't be dislodged. I guess all that rain warped it. When officials finally removed it and play resumed, I topped my second shot and finally hit a wedge about 35 feet from the pin.

"The green was so badly under water that I walked around for several minutes trying to find a dry spot for relief. I gained more yardage than Notre Dame did last year."

"I kept losing my grip on the club all day, but maybe it was my driver not just the rain. I hit about five bad drives, more than I did in the entire two first rounds.

"I think that if it had rained a bit longer as hard as it did when we were on the 10th hole tournament officials might have begun to think about calling off play."

Nicklaus, pointing out that he had played in worse weather, agreed that it was bad and "not the kind of conditions you like for a major championship."

He said that three back nine fairways were covered with casual water—the 10th, 11th and 13th. On the 11th hole he said, "my glove was so wet that my driver turned around in my hand and I hit into the trees." But he saved his par with a wedge shot and a 7-foot putt, his longest.

Masters and Richter Defend No. 2 Spot

The Masters and Richter dragster from San Francisco successfully defended their No. 2 spot in the national dragster ratings by defeating Hank Clark of Bakersfield in a two-of-three match race before 5,399 fans Saturday night at Lions Drag Strip in Long Beach.

Masters and Richter then faced Don Prudhomme of Van Nuys for the fuel eliminator title, losing by a matter of inches with both cars bettering the 191 mph.

LATINS GAIN POLO SPLIT; BITTICK HERO

Chuck Bittick fired in two goals in the second period to rally the Nu-Pike water polo ists to a 2-1 victory over Mexico in the first half of an exhibition game Saturday night at the L.B. Plunge.

Luis Guzman's goal had given Mexico a first-period lead.

Then with Inland's team taking over the final two periods, Mexico registered a 2-1 victory on the strength of Manuel Queijeiro's two goals. Russ Webb scored for the losers.

Poly, Muir Duel Seen in National Record Relays

Twenty-eight high schools will be represented, but it looks like a two-team battle between Poly and Muir in the Bellflower National Record Relays Saturday night.

Three national records and 13 meet marks are in danger of falling, with Poly expected to come close to the nation's standard of :41.5 in the 440 relay.

Crescenta Valley, in the four-man four mile, and Redlands, in the distance medley, are others given an excellent chance of setting national marks.

The triple jump opens the show at 5 o'clock, followed by the first trial races at 5:30 and the rest of the field events at 6:30.

Perhaps the best event will be the pole vault where four participants have cleared 13-8.

Weill Sets NCAA Discus Record

Dave Weill of Stanford broke the national collegiate record in the discus Saturday as the Indians edged Occidental and UCLA in a hot-mark track meet at Westwood.

Weill, 6-7 and 270, hurled the discus 194 feet, 6 inches, breaking his old NCAA mark of 191-7½, established last season.

It was also a big day for C. K. Yang, UCLA's all-around star from Formosa.

Yang won the high hurdles in 14.3, javelin at 217-0, broad jump at 24-1¾, pole vault at 15-6 and ran a leg on the victorious 440-yard relay team.

For the second successive week, Yang narrowly missed setting a world vault record.

Yang was well over the bar at 16-4, but his timing was slightly awry and he landed atop it.

Other stars were Steve Cortright and Harry McCalla of Stanford.

Cortright, who prepped at Poly High, was second in the high hurdles (14.5), won the triple jump at 47-5½ and won the 330-yard hurdles in a blistering 37.0.

McCalla won a tight mile in 4:08.1 and added an easy two-mile in 9:06.6.

Stanford won the triangular meet with 67 points to 58 for Occidental and 56 for UCLA. In dual competition, it was Stanford 72½ to Oxy's 71½ and Stanford 80 to UCLA's 65.

First Duck Home Loss in 15 Years

EUGENE, Ore. (UPI) — Southern California's determined Trojans handed Oregon its first home dual track meet loss in 15 years Saturday, 92-53, and gained a token of revenge for last year's defeat at Los Angeles.

Oregon coach Bill Bowerman hadn't lost a dual meet in 36 tries since he came here in 1949, but he threw in the towel when the meet was only an hour old by pulling Dave Steen out of the discus.

By that time the Trojans were ahead of the defending NCAA champions 35-24 and there was little doubt of the outcome. Bowerman decided not to take a chance on Steen's sore elbow in further competition.

The meet erupted in a chorus of boos by 7,500 fans late in the afternoon when the 880-yard run turned into a shoving match. Two runners were knocked into the infield grass before Oregon sophomore Ray Van Asten lunged past USC's Kevin Hogan at the tape. Hogan was disqualified and the Ducks scored the only sweep in the meet.

The Trojans generally liv up to their advance billi and the Ducks didn't h enough talent. Four meet r ords were set and e equalled, all but one by U

'NOTHING TO DO WITH FOOTBALL BETTING'

Butts' Calls 'Business'--Gambler

ATLANTA (AP)—A Chicago businessman says his telephone conversations with Wallace Butts, former University of Georgia athletic director, "had nothing whatsoever to do with betting on football or any other type of betting."

Frank Scoby, president of an Illinois beer distributing firm, told the Associated Press in Chicago that he had talked with Butts by long distance telephone on various occasions, but that all the calls were "strictly business."

Scoby was a government witness in a gambling case in 1959.

Butts, accused in a Saturday Evening Post article of conspiring with coach Paul Bryant of Alabama to rig the Georgia-Alabama football game last fall, was questioned by state investigators about the calls to Scoby.

A transcript revealed that Butts told interrogators he borrowed $6,000 from Scoby for business purposes. But he said there never was any discussion of betting or gambling.

Records of calls from Butts to Scoby were included in numerous toll tickets examined by Georgia Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook in his investigation of the Post charges.

Butts and Bryant have denied rigging the game which Alabama won 35-0, and both save said they never gambled. Butts has a $10 million libel suit pending against the Post.

Cook said in a report of his findings that there was no evidence that Butts or Bryant had gambled. He said earlier, however, that Butts had placed calls to persons who had been involved in gambling.

Scoby testified that he had bet substantial sums on football games and horse races, and that he had made wagers up to $50,000 with a Terre Haute gambling syndicate.

Two-Minute Pace Victory to Irvin Paul

By ERNIE MASON

Classy Irvin Paul, owned by the Ohio Valley Stable and Abe Wilsker of Yonkers (N.Y.) flashed to victory in the $20,000 California Pace at Santa Anita Saturday, registering the nation's third two-minute mile of 1963.

A crowd of 18,047 watched Irvin Paul take the lead from Meadow Battles as the field went by the quarter pole, and Charlie King kept his mount in front the rest of the way.

* * * *

IRVIN PAUL finished a length in front of Meadow Battles, who was another length and a half ahead of Star Gem. The rest of the field included Mr. Budlong, April Goose, Shadydale Monitor and Bar Time.

Mr. Budlong, who flashed to a 1:58 3/5 victory in winning the Alpha Delta Pi Pace a week ago, made his move too late and was only able to get up for fourth place.

The victory was worth $10,000 to the winner, who has taken both of his starts this year—his other triumph came in the $10,000 San Diego Pace on March 23.

* * * *

BET DOWN heavily to 1-2 favoritism, Irvin Paul rewarded his backers with payoffs of $3, $2.60, $2.20, while Meadow Battles returned $4.20 and $3. The show price on Star Gem was $3.

Jimmy Cruise and Jacques Grenier each garnered a win during the day, keeping Cruise two ahead of his rival. With only one more day to go—the meeting ends Monday—Grenier will have an uphill battle if he is to overtake Cruise, who tied with Jim Dennis for the driving championship last fall at Hollywood Park.

Cruise scored his 18th winner of the season with Joseph Masiello's Greentree Joey in the seventh race.

LOS ALAMITOS SPRING MEET OPENS TUESDAY

The fastest horses in the world return to action Tuesday when Los Alamitos Race Course launches its 25-day quarter horse spring meeting.

The opening day card has twin features—the $5,000 Shue Fly and the $2,000 Inaugural for 3-year-olds. Both events will bring out the top horses on the grounds including Jet Deck, who probably will face older horses in the Shue Fly.

Los Alamitos will stage racing six days a week, Monday through Saturday, with nine races each day. First post throughout the meeting is 1:15 p.m., with daily double wagering closing at 1:10.

Coming off its best fall season in history, Los Alamitos will present a record spring stakes and purse program, distributing $384,400 among the horsemen.

Cerritos Sweeps Pair From San Diego

Cerritos College made it 10-2 in Metropolitan Conference play with a double win over San Diego at Cerritos Saturday. The Falcons won the first game 4-2 behind the fine pitching of Phil Rankin and a clutch single by Fred Yanaz with the bases loaded to break a 2-2 tie and drive in two runs. The Falcons made it a clean sweep with a 7-5 win in the nightcap.

HARTACK MISSES FLIGHT

Rich Stakes to Debbysman, Valentine Scores Easy Win

Compiled From Wire Services

NEW YORK — Gustave Ring's Debbysman finally lived up to the hopes of his owner Saturday when he won the $57,500 Gotham Stakes at Aqueduct and upset the 1963 debut of Crewman.

Crewman, one of the top 2-year-olds last season, was a 3 to 5 favorite with the crowd of 55,061, but he failed to survive a blistering early pace and finished third behind Debbysman and Bonjour in the mile race.

Ridden by Larry Adams Debbysman scored his initial stakes triumph and paid $15.50, $6.40 and $2.70. Bonjour returned $5.80 and $2.60 and Crewman paid $2.10.

MIAMI—Valentine, leading all the way, romped to a seven-length victory in the $15,000 Fort Lauderdale Handicap at Gulfstream Park before a crowd of 13,728.

In a three-horse photo for second, Tin God edged Toledo 2nd, with heavily-favored El Loco fourth.

Valentine, ridden by Larry Gilligan, ran the mile and a sixteenth in 1:43 1/5 and paid $21.80, $10.40 and $5.30. Tin God paid $15.40 and $7.40, and Toledo 2nd $3.70 to show.

SAN MATEO — Olympiad King and Vetirok splashed to victories in the split California Derby Trials at Bay Meadows before a rain-splattered crowd of 16,298.

Both winners turned the sloppy mile in 1:38 4/5, but Olympiad King won by nearly three lengths while Vetirok won by a neck over favored Beekeeper.

Olympiad King was the public choice and paid $6 to win. Vetirok, making his initial stakes victory, had to hold off the favored Beekeeper to win in a stretch duel. He paid $15.

Jockey Bill Hartack, who had been scheduled to ride both races, missed plane connections from Florida and did not ride.

LAUREL, Md. — Bronze Babu turned back a scorching stretch drive by stablemate Polarity to capture the $28,275 Wilyn Handicap for the second consecutive year at Laurel.

A $2 wager on the winning entry was worth $5.80, $5.20 and $3.40 across the board.

Ruff Weather, who was coupled with Tamerlo, finished third in the field of 10 and Gushing Wind, the early pacesetter, faded to fourth.

LEXINGTON, Ky.—Editorialist led all the way to win the 6-furlong Phoenix Handicap in track record time of 1:08 3/5 as Keeneland ushered in the Kentucky racing season.

Donnell Culpepper is on special assignment with the Southern California Tuna Club at Lake Mead. His column will be resumed later this week.

Franklin Dominates Jr. High Track Meet

Franklin Junior High, a perennial track and field power, won the Jr. High track and field title in a meet held at Wilson High Saturday.

Franklin finished first in the eighth grade division and second in the ninth. The combined score gave it the win, beating second-place Hill, 85-53. Marshall, Stanford and Bancroft tied for third with 46.

Rockets Battle Old Rival Today

The Long Beach Rockets will have a battle on their hands today when they meet their old rivals, the L.A. Angels, at 2 p.m. at Blair Field.

The Angels defeated the Rockets in the opening game of the Winter League, and then, after a rocky few weeks, came storming back to take the championship in the traveling division from the L.A. Eagles.

Al Preston and Mike Linck will pitch for the Rockets.

Nitehawks Take on Navy Nine Friday

The Long Beach Nitehawks will host the Naval Ordinance Depot of China Lake Friday at Park Avenue Field at 8:15 p.m.

The Navy, with Ace Valenzuela on the mound, is the same team that upset the Hawks in 1960 in the world tournament.

The Nitehawks received a shot in the arm last week which may mean the difference between a championship and an also-ran team. Manager Joe Rodgers announced the return of pitcher Jack Randall to the Hawks. 'This will be the Randall of old,' said the smiling Rodgers as he watched the Hawks take batting and fielding drills.

Two, Four-Wheelers Share Ascot Spotlight

The nation's fastest drivers on two and four wheels share the racing spotlight this afternoon and evening at Ascot Park, Gardena, in J. C. Agajanian's first double-header of the year.

Parnelli Jones, holder of the Indianapolis one-lap record of 150.727 mph, leads more than 50 drivers in a United States Auto Club national championship 110 Offy midget car speedfest under the lights on the new Ascot quarter-mile oval.

First race is at 8:30 o'clock one-lap qualifying at 7 p.m.

Ralph White of San Diego, winner of last Sunday's 200-mile American Motorcycle Assn. championship road race at Daytona Beach, is expected to join such two-wheeling stars as Jack O'Brien, Skip Van Leewuen, Dick Hammer, Dick Dorresteyn and Clark White in the matinee steeplechase events over the jumps.

First race is at 2:30 o'clock with practice laps over the treacherous twist and turn course starting at noon.

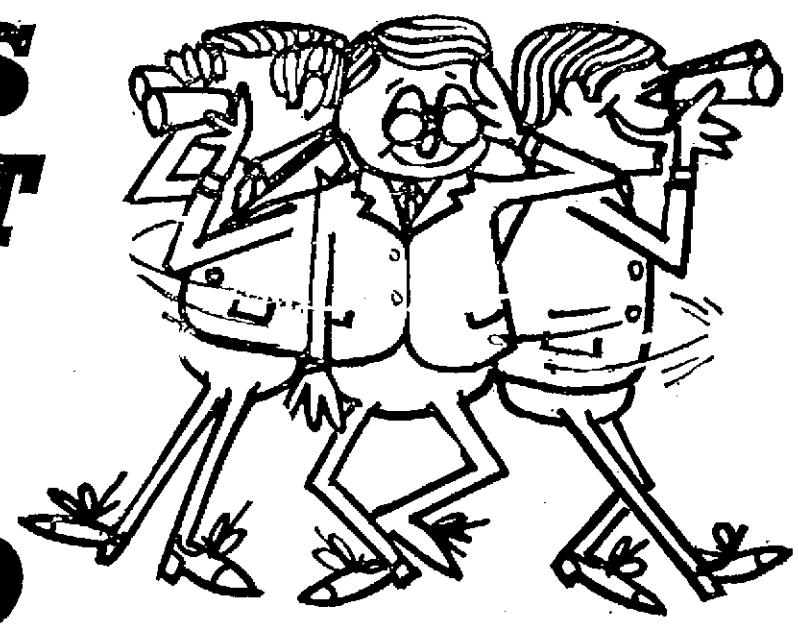

A field of 112 riders is entered and separate heats and main events will be held in the three AMA divisions—expert, amateur and novice.

SILVER GREY BROWNING OLDS

Leaves Las Vegas Green

By BILL EMERY

"The long look of luxury" is Oldsmobile's description of the 1963 Ninety-Eight.

"The number one taxpaying hotel on the strip" is PR manager Al Freeman's description of the Sands in Las Vegas, Nevada.

Put the two together and you have the most fabulous week-end Motorlog you could want.

Our sleek sculptured elegant Ninety-Eight Oldsmobile sports sedan was provided for us by Dick Browning Oldsmobile at 1227 Long Beach Blvd. in Long Beach.

Equipped with power steering, brakes, windows and seats, this prestige car reflects the discriminating taste and master craftsmanship for which Oldsmobile is so highly regarded.

The sculptured fender lines makes this full-size luxury car easier to drive from the first minute because you can judge within inches in narrow traffic lanes the car's clearance.

The extra - thick foam-padded seat raises and lowers, tilts forward and backward to fit each individual driver. This is a feature more appreciated on a long trip. It's like being fitted to a plush living room sofa!

And while you're being fitted, the new tilt-away steering wheel adjusts to seven positions depending on whether you have a leg problem or a stomach problem getting in and out of the car.

But the greatest accessory of all is Oldsmobile's factory air conditioning. No matter what the temperature, these units give you climate control that keeps you dry and purifies the circulating air.

Stays at Sands

Probably the most heavily trafficked resort hotel in the world, the Sands in Las Vegas has seen 21,400,000 people with an average of 5,615 visitors a day. The heaviest count was 32,000 on a Tuesday during the famous "Summit" Copa Room show in January of 1961.

Sands president and dinner show producer Jack Entratter has spent some $18,210,000 on entertainers' salaries alone in the ten years the hotel has been on the strip. A "summit" production is a fleet of stars (regulars every three or four weeks) at one time: Sinatra, Jerry Lewis, Sammy Davis Jr., Dean Martin, Nat King Cole . . . to mention a few.

$Million Addition

The star system is one of the reasons this hotel does more business than any other on the strip. The success of the Sands is further magnified by the opening of the Aqueduct, an 83-unit $1 million addition with suites lavishly furnished in the $25 to $125 per night category.

Lloyd Cope, resident manager, took us on a personal tour through the three-story unit last weekend before they opened. The smallest unit is like a Hollywood set, elaborate even to the paper on the walls. Each room has a built-in bar with compact refrigerator.

An eight-story rise over the present casino will start construction in September. The $4 million construction will have 328 additional suites, two additional dining rooms with a starlight roof for dancing and dining and four music rooms, each with a separate lounge show attraction. This will give the Sands a total of 902 suites.

The Sands has several units for their hotel accomodations, each named after a famous turf club. Our "Petite Suite" in the Hialeah was very impressive. Looking in through the door, the king-size bed was on the other side of the Persian-modern parlor and raised a few inches above the parlor floor. Draw drapes separate the two rooms.

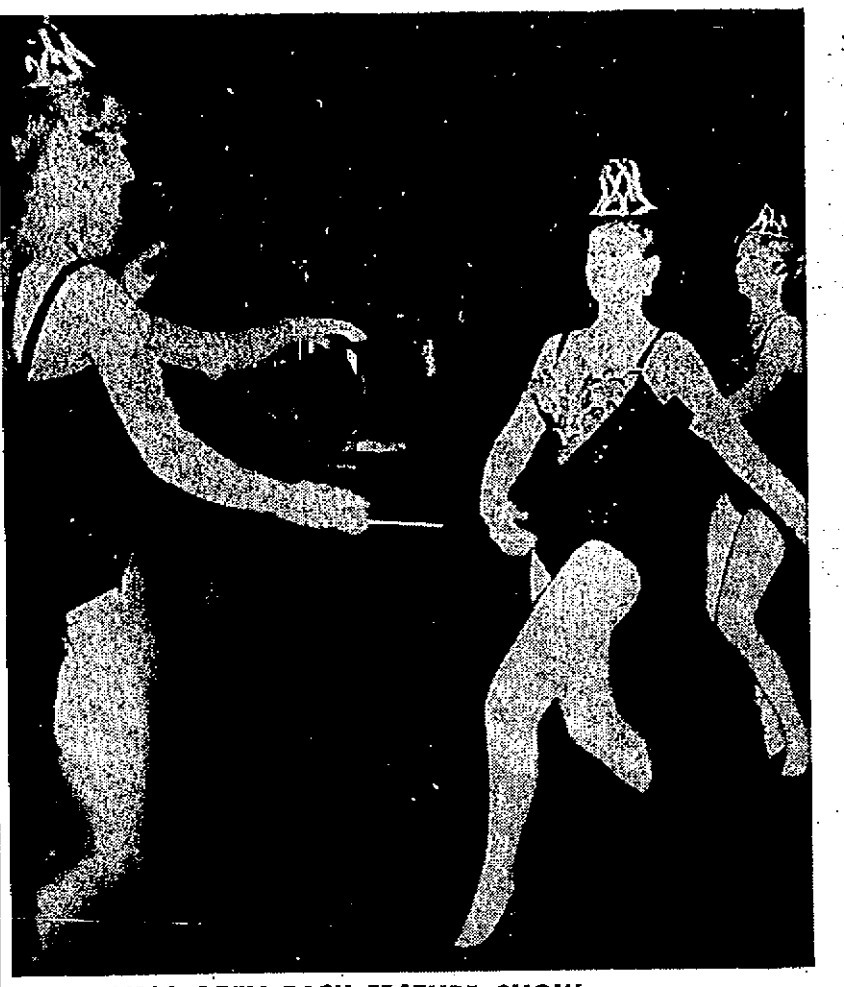

Cuisine Excellent

It's amazing to us the perfection of every segment in the operation. The cuisine is as fine as the finest restaurant. The service and attention to the guests is anticipated to the detail. No expense is spared in making the guest feel he's entered the Pearly Gates. Kind of makes you feel like you owe it to 'em to lose a little at the games.

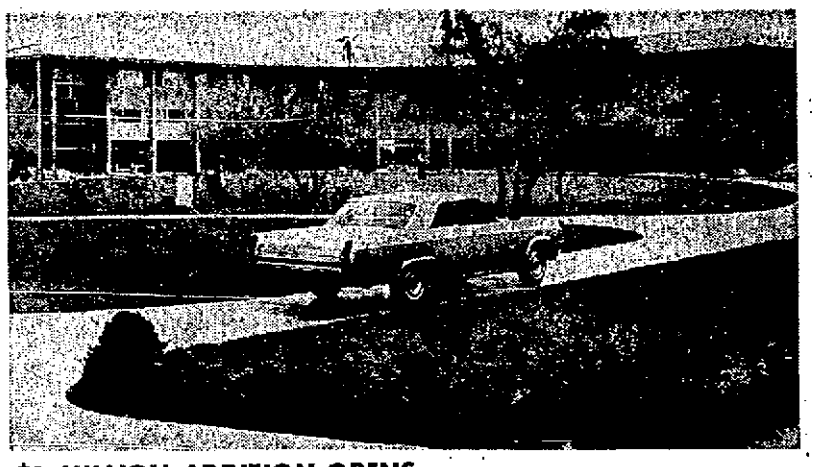

Back in Long Beach with 571 miles on the Olds, a mileage check showed we had used 38 gallons of gasoline with an average of 15 miles per gallon. Bill Blankenship, sales manager at Dick Browning Olds, said we would have done better if we'd crossed the desert with our air conditioning turned off. I wonder about him!

LUXURIOUS OLDS 98 WEEKENDS AT SANDS
A common sight at Las Vegas' famed Sands Hotel and Casino on "The Strip" these days are 1963 Ninety-Eight Oldsmobiles. Our Motorlog car shared the guest parking lot with many similar models.

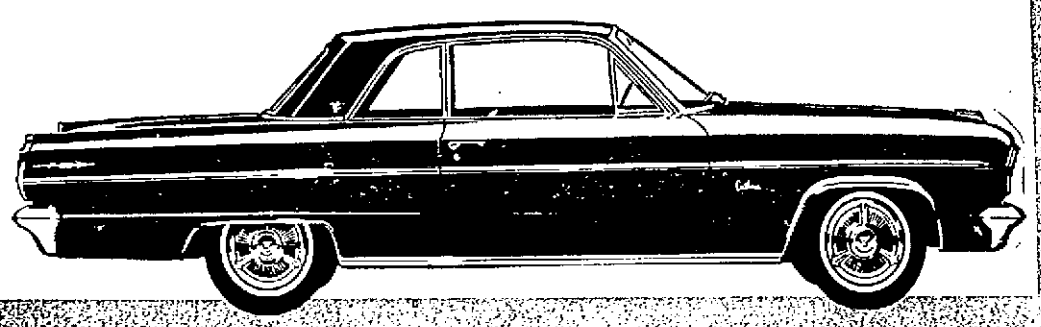

COPA GIRLS OPEN EACH FEATURE SHOW
The Sands double-star system of entertainment in the Copa Room with a top comedian and vocalist sharing the billing are prefaced by an attention-getting dance routine with a bevy of beauties.

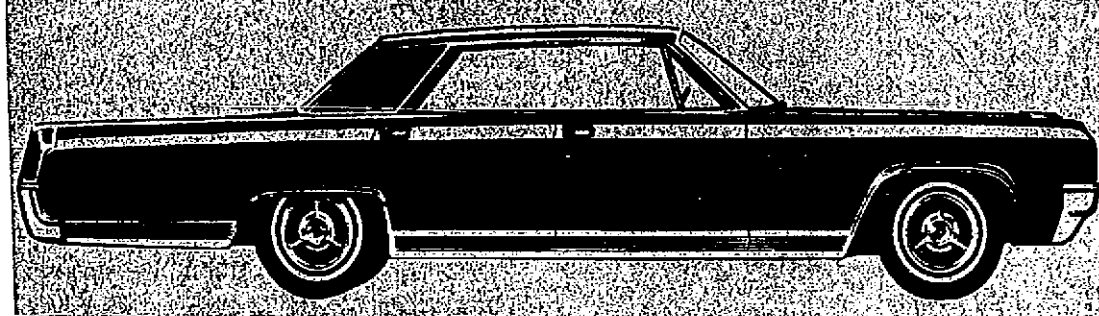

$1 MILLION ADDITION OPENS
The Aqueduct with 83 rooms and suites, just opened, is the most expensive hotel building of its kind in the world. Olds 98 is on sidewalk for numerous units around oval.

INEXPERIENCED YOUNG MEN
Have you got what it takes?
If so, we will train you to make more money that you ever thought possible. But, only aggressive, self reliant men can succeed with us. Are you such a man? It takes a man who is not afraid of people: A man who is not afraid to meet and overcome their objections, to make the grade with us. Can you do this? We employ men who don't need the security of a mediocre, weekly salary: Men who can, by their own efforts, write their own paychecks. Are you capable of doing this? If you think you meet the standards required by our company, report to either 15700 Pioneer # 7, Norwalk or to 1809 Willard St., Long Beach (off Santa Fe — 2 blocks north of Pacific Coast Highway) between 5 p.m. and 7 p.m. only. Before reporting though, ask yourself, have I got what it takes?

OF HOMES

The ONE To See Is From WALKER & LEE
6 OFFICES TO SERVE YOU— AS SHOWN IN THE SELECTED LISTINGS HERE BELOW

SEAL BEACH
HIGH ON A HILL A BEAUTIFUL CUSTOM MODERN home for the young in heart. Simplicity & elegance with a view of the world below. It features 3 bedrooms for privacy, 3 baths for convenience & a huge living rm, sunken den & a dining room for entertaining. It's a "Gold Medallion" all electric home from the kitchen to the separately controlled heat in each room. Price? It's ridiculously low. Just listed & shown by appt. only. Call GE 4-7426 — Key at 5201 E. Pac. Coast Hwy.

ROSSMOOR
EVERYTHING ROSSMOOR HAS BUT THE PRICE TAG — just across the road in the "Highlands". Completely improved 3 bedroom, 2 bath home with family rm, breakfast bar, deluxe built-in kitchen, carpeting, drapes, big patio & an immense GI loan anyone can assume. Just listed so be first to call HA 9-5924 — Key at 3010 Woodruff Ave.
THE MOST ALLURING FAMILY ROOM that we've seen in ages. Imagine the warmth of paneled walls & raised hearth fireplace plus the convenience of a wet bar, 3 bedrooms, 2 baths of course & one of those stunning kitchens. Big patio & choice landscaping. For a treat call GE 3-7493 — Key at 2060 Bellflower Blvd.

STATE COLLEGE
TO TELL THE TRUTH — the price is right on this attractive 3 bedroom, 2 bath beauty with handsome birch cabinets & colorful ceramic tile drainboards. Sliding glass doors lead to covered lanai, Carpeting, drapes & curtains thruout — all this at $27,900 makes it a best buy in College Park Estates. Call HA 5-1214 — Key at 4100 Bellflower Blvd.
ANOTHER OF THOSE 2 BATH HOMES FOR JUST $16,750 — Only ½ mile to State College & the last two we had like it lasted less than a week. Carpets? Yes. Drapes? Yes. Better call now? Yes, GE 3-7493 — Key at 2060 Bellflower Blvd.

LAKEWOOD
COUNTRY SIZE LOT & 40 FT. PATIO with fruit trees galore creates real country atmosphere. An unusually clean & neat 2 bedroom home that fits the newlyweds or senior citizen equally well. Price? A ridiculous $13,900. Call HA 1-1211 — Key at 5549 Woodruff Ave.
WE GUARANTEE IT'S THE BIGGEST MESS YOU'LL EVER SEE — A dirty 3 bedroom home with absolutely no appeal. But we also guarantee it as a money maker for those who are short on cash but long on ambition. We won't even emphasize that it is only $13,950. Be first to call GE 4-7426 — Key at 5201 E. Pac. Coast Hwy.

LOS ALTOS
ONE OF THOSE BEAUTIFUL CORNERS WITH THE ADDITIONS COMPLETE — Huge paneled family rm with big stone fireplace, enlarged kitchen with full size eating area, 20 feet of service porch & storage area & oh yes, 3 bedrooms & 2 baths. Just 1 blk from elementary & Jr. High too. Call HA 9-5924 — Key at 3010 Woodruff Ave.

CITY COLLEGE
TROPICAL INFLUENCE! — 3 bedroom & 12x20 den with huge fireplace — 2 baths — forced heat — the liberal use of glass, natural hard woods & stone adds just the right touch to 1700 sq. ft. of family living. Just $21,950 & all terms available. Call HA 5-1214 — Key at 4100 Bellflower Blvd.

PLAZA AREA
EL DORADO PARK & GOLF COURSE are neighbors of this 3 bedroom, 2 bath home that's only a five minute walk to Millikan Hi & large shopping center too. With its location, price tag & appointments it will sell today. Don't miss this one too. Call HA 1-1211 — Key at 5549 Woodruff Ave.

NOTE May We Remind You
. . . that, if the home you are seeking is not found in the above list, please feel free to call on any office to show you others from our showcase of over 400 fine, exclusively listed homes.

REALTOR OF THE WEEK

DONALD L. SCHWENN was born in Inglewood, California, 1931, moved to Long Beach in 1940. Married to Barbara June. Three children, James 10, Randy 6, and Chris 1 yr. Self-employed for the past 13 years. Has been a Real Estate Broker for the past two years at 1730 E. Anaheim, HE 5-2411.

Mr. Schwenn and his 10 Salesmen are extremely active in income property and construction in the Long Beach area to the extent they find they must build a new and much larger office which will be located at 915 Redondo Ave.

Don is chairman of the PILOT HOUSE COMMITTEE, a realtor week project to remodel the Salvation Army Lodge at 216 Redondo Ave. All of the Realtors and associates have donated their time and money to remodel this lodge for the benefit of needy families. Chairman of the ATTENDANCE AND RECEPTION COMMITTEE, and active member of several other committees. Member of the CHAMBER OF COMMERCE, ELKS 888.

Don says his proudest moment was when he became a REALTOR.

We Have the Finest Used Cars in Southern California
We Say This Without Fear of Contradiction

HERE IS OUR PROCEDURE FOR OUR SAFE-BUY USED CARS

1. Wash motor and chassis
2. Inspection by foreman.
3. Motor compression test for rings and valves.
4. Transmission and rear end tested and checked.
5. New rings, bearings, piston pins, clutches, replaced as needed.
6. Carburetor, distributor checked and tested.
7. The car is road tested.
8. Oil changed and parts lubricated to factory specifications.
9. Wheels pulled — check the brake lining.
10. Front end examined and necessary correction made.
11. Upholstery completely renovated.
12. Tires checked, made to meet our specifications, which should be good for approximately 10,000 miles.

Outside

SOME TIME IN 1964, a flight-size chunk of outer space will come to earth in Huntington Beach. It will resemble the earth's atmosphere at an altitude of 475 miles; its temperature will be minus 320 degrees Farenheit. And it will be contained in a 39-foot steel ball mounted on a 10-foot-thick concrete foundation. The steel ball will be the principal research tool at the $8 million Douglas Missile and Space Systems Division, now under construction on a 245-acre site at Bolsa Chica Road and Bolsa Avenue. Known as the Earth-Orbit Simulator, it will enable engineers to test life-size prototype equipment under actual operating conditions. It will include a centrifuge and vibration bed for torture testing, and heating equipment capable of raising the temperature to 350 degrees F. The entire top of the chamber will lift off to permit installation of equipment as big as 30 feet in diameter. The space chamber has begun to take shape. Above, viewed through a porthole in one of the chamber sections, a workman welds part of the outer hull. At right, workmen supervise pouring of foundation amid a forest of steel reinforcing.

New Battery Plant Has Open House for Fullerton Leaders

By VERN ANTHONY
Southland Progress Editor

FULLERTON — Newcomer on the Fullerton industrial scene, Globe-Union, Inc., now has its new battery plant in full-dress operation at 1550 E. Kimberly Ave.

Globe moved from Vernon earlier this year and occupies the six-acre facilities formerly used by Standard Products.

Company management was host to press and civic representatives at an open house tour and luncheon the past week.

* * * *

"WE ARE PLEASED to have such a fine organization add to our industrial growth," commented Mayor Burton Herbst.

Plant Manager T. M. Croxton observed that the plant is one of the most modern battery manufacturing operations in the nation.

Other company officials present included W. T. Warrender, president of the battery division of Globe-Union, which has headquarters in Milwaukee; R. G. Hottenson, vice president of manufacturing; and W. E. Anderson, sales executive.

WARRENDER commented on the desirable location of the Fullerton plant and expressed the company's pleasure with having been able to

'IMPACT' Newsletter Started by C of C

First issue of "IMPACT," a monthly newsletter summarizing vital legislative issues, was published the past week by the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce Public Affairs Department.

"IMPACT," which stands for "Important Measures Pending Action — Communicate Today," was distributed to the entire membership.

Purpose of the newsletter, according to President Orville W. Cole, is to inform members on such issues as tax reduction, compulsory health care, federal subsidies for education, welfare benefits, federal wage fixing, transportation problems, capital punishment and the 35-hour work week.

"Of the many thousands of bills dropped in legislative hoppers each year, some have placed our business in an adverse position," stated Cole. "Many could have been introduced and promoted that would augment better climates for business and industry.

"Many bad bills get through and many good bills get defeated because we did not take the initiative to inform ourselves and then voice our opinions through our elected representatives. Purpose of this newsletter is to remedy the situation."

Motel, Restaurant Sold for $500,000

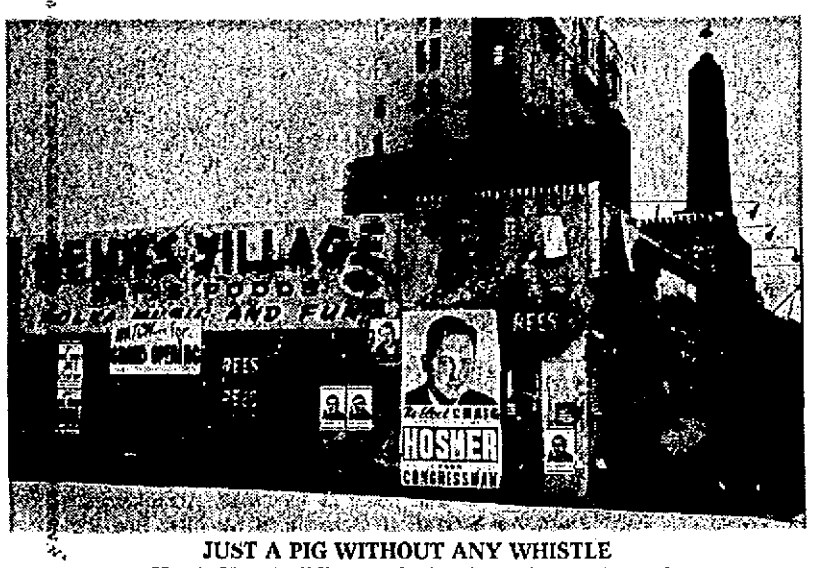

Sale of the Royal Lancer Motel and adjacent Century Room, bar and restaurant, at Broadway and Magnolia Ave. is announced by Attorney Patrick Phelan, one of the owners. He reported the sales price was $500,000.

Opened last June, the motel and restaurant drew big patronage. There are 35 units in the motel. C. Robert Langslet, a contractor, was co-owner.

The new owners are Herbert and Dorothy Schauer who have been operators of the Viking Motel near Disneyland, Phelan said.

A LITTLE PAINT SURE MAKES A BIG DIFFERENCE

Former Ocean Blvd. Eyesore Becomes Sparkling Improvement

JUST A PIG WITHOUT ANY WHISTLE
Here's How Building Looked Before Cleanup Started

There's really a new look on Ocean Blvd., thanks to the cleanup program of the Downtown Long Beach Associates.

The old Pig 'n Whistle building just east of the Breakers International has undergone a transformation that seems to sparkle the entire area.

Once the home of the most popular cafeteria in Long Beach, the building of late has been unoccupied and the exterior walls had been a mass of old political posters and signs.

Gene Shidler of Laguna Beach, the owner, Fred Miller, owner of the Breakers and the Downtown Long Beach Associates, cooperated in sharing the cost of sandblasting, removing fake palm trees and repainting the structure.

* * * *

JOE SHUFF, DLBA president, explained that it has been difficult to lease the structure since it was vacated by Heidi's Village bacause a much-needed roadway to the Arena may result in condemnation of the property. No potential lessee would assume that kind of a risk, he added.

Contract for the work was awarded to Joe Scott on his lowest of bids received. The structure is being painted to blend with the attractive new look of the Breakers.

The sandblasting uncovered varied signs showing the structure had been occupied by Heidi's Village, Pig n' Whistle, Ericson's Cafe and Restaurant.

Huntington Beach Sets New Building Marks

New construction in Huntington Beach is running almost 70 per cent ahead of 1962, a year that set an all-time Orange County record for the oil city.

Building permit valuation for the first three months of 1963 stood at $16,306,422, compared to $9,610,991 for the comparable period last year. The 1962 year-end total was $66.5 million, a higher figure than ever recorded in any city in the county.

* * * *

LAST MONTH accounted for $3,624,175 of this year's total to date. Residential construction still is responsible for more than half of all construction valuation.

During March alone, 221 permits valued at $2,693,306 were issued for single-family dwellings.

Other major items were a car agency, $87,780; a 137-space trailer park, $246,600; stores and shops, $78,700; a heating and refrigeration plant, $75,000; an 8-unit apartment, $72,520; and a warehouse, $70,000.

* * * *

THE LATTER permit was issued during the past week to Freeway Industrial Park. The 24,000-square-foot structure will be built at 16072 Gothard St.

Other major developments during the week:

Permits to Frank Capocci-ama, for 3,520 square feet of stores at 19202-06 Beach Blvd., $19,360; Thomas Pickard, residence at 3291 Faulkland Circle, $28,457; and Glenn Grandstaff, swimming pool at 10181 Halawa St., $2,300.

Irvine Exec to Address Appraisers

Details of the planning for a large branch of the University of California on Irvine Company property in Orange County will be told at the Society of Real Estate Appraisers dinner meeting Wednesday.

Speaker will be William H. Spurgeon III, Irvine vice president in charge of university development.

The dinner and program will be in the Red Velvet Room of the Lafayette Hotel, at 6:30 p.m.

Spurgeon, a resident of Newport Beach, is grandson of the founder of Santa Ana and is active in civic affairs. He is internationally known in Boy Scout work.

HERE'S HOW ARCHITECT'S NEW OFFICE BUILDING WILL LOOK

Architect to Build New L.B. Offices

Plans for construction of a new office building at 3575 Long Beach Blvd. have been announced by Hugh Gibbs, prominent Southland architect.

HUGH GIBBS

The one-story structure will set back 57 feet from the boulevard, making possible a landscaped forecourt with trees and flower beds.

Exterior walls will be entirely of glass, Gibbs said, and will be surrounded by a roof-high stucco wall. The area between will contain lush tropical plantings.

There will be a new-type electronic telephone and communications system, and air conditioning. The layout will include drafting rooms, offices, conference rooms, display quarters and a library.

* * * *

GIBBS HAS been a Long Beach architect for 32 years. His son Donald is now with him.

In announcing his expansion plans, Gibbs expressed confidence in the future growth of this area.

His office presently is occupied in planning for the proposed new Long Beach Naval Hospital and the 33-story Taper Tower apartment building; and is working on the 14-story John Brown apartment structure and the seven-story Toledo Tower apartment, both under construction.

Contractors for the new office building are Millie and Severson.

Incomes Increase

According to Business Week's Measure of Personal Income, the year opened with a handsome 6.1 per cent increase in personal income over January, 1962. Individuals' income from all sources posted advances over the previous January in every state and the District of Columbia.

Arkansas ran off with top honors among the states. Partly, this increase results from the better weather Arkansas had this January. But it's also due to a tremendous increase in public works.

Several of Arkansas' depressed regions qualify under the Public Works Acceleration Act passed last year by Congress. So there's a substantial upsurge in work on schools, hospitals, roads, sewerage, and other government backed programs.

* * * *

MISSISSIPPI and Montana tied for second place, with 14.2 per cent gains scored in each state.

Montana boasted sizable expansion in lumber, in industries that have grown up around the state's Minuteman missile installations, and among special trade construction workers.

In California, personal income in January totaled $4,206.7 million. This was an increase of 7.8 per cent over January, 1962. California was second to New York's $4,301.7 million.

222 Acre Sale Made

Laguna Niguel officials have announced sale of 222 acres of choice view property to Douglass Construction Co., a prominent San Clemente builder. The selling price was reported as approximately $2 million.

The land, located on two plateaus above Niguel Terrace, provides views of the coastline and overlooks the El Niguel Country Club golf course.

It will be accessible from Crown Valley Parkway, now being constructed diagonally across the 7½ mile length of Laguna Niguel to connect Pacific Coast Highway (101A) with the Santa Ana-San Diego Freeway.

Douglass Construction Co., currently is constructing and selling some 200 homes in San Clemente.

Santa Fe Drilling Gains in Revenues

Both gross revenue and net income of Santa Fe Drilling Comp. and subsidiary companies for 1962 were the highest in the company's history, Ed L. Shannon, Jr., president, has reported.

Net income for 1962 amounted to $2,196,000 or $1.46 per share as compared to $1,484,000 equal to $.99 per share for the previous year. Gross revenue for 1962 totaled $24,276,000.

Shannon stated that the increase in gross revenue and net income is attributable to the commencement of gas sales in May 1962 from the Sutter-Buttes field and to increased contract drilling revenues.

Anaheim School Additions Start

ANAHEIM — Construction has begun here at the Cornelia Connelly School on addition including a multi-purpose building, and a library-administration building.

The new structures will cover an area of 15,500 square feet and cost is estimated at $230,000. Balch-Hutchason-Perkins are architects for the project.

The existing school, which was opened in the fall of 1961, features a 10-classroom unit built around an open patio, a science laboratory, a convent for the sisters which contains a student chapel, a large parking lot and athletic fields.

The new school addditions are scheduled for completion in July.

CHARLES KARSTE
Assistant Manager

2 Named to Bank Posts

Donald S. Darling recently was appointed manager and Charles S. Karste assistant manager of First Western Bank's Pacific office in Long Beach, according to Darwin A. Holway, president of this statewide bank with 67 offices throughout California.

Darling succeeds Harold T. Lacey who has been named vice president and manager of the 17th and Main Street office in Santa Ana.

Formerly assistant manager of First Western's Long Beach main office, Darling had 25 years of banking experience in Canada prior to joining First Western.

Karste came to First Western in 1957, and until his appointment as assistant manager of the Pacific office, he was assistant manager of the Lakewood branch.

Wins Promotion

Promotion of Arthur D. Holley to assistant cashier of the Pasadena main office of United California Bank has been announced by Frank L. King, board chairman. Mr. and Mrs. Holley live at 204 Ximeno Ave., Long Beach.

Alpha Beta Exec Retires

LA HABRA—W. C. Cheverton, senior vice president corporate secretary, retired from Alpha Beta Acme Markets, Inc., effective April 1, Claude W. Edwards, president has announced.

Cheverton had more than 20 years of service with the company.

Lyle V. Boyd, vice president, was elected by the Board of Directors as new corporate secretary. Boyd will add this responsibility to his other vice presidential duties.

Edwards also announced appointment of Arthur J. Lucey, director of Public and Community Relations, as assistant to the president in addition to his present duties.

Finishes Course In Management

James H. Hubbard, manager, Long Beach Branch of Jefferson Standard Life Insurance Co., received his diploma the past week from an extensive course in the 218th LIAMA (Life Insurance Agency Management Association) School of Agency Management.

The school was held at Pasadena March 18-29, with an attendance of 80 managers from all life insurance companies of the United States and Canada.

LIAMA is owned and operated by over 350 United States and Canadian life insurance companies.

Hawthorne Firm Adds to Holdings

HAWTHORNE — Teledyne, Inc., Hawthorne, has acquired privately-owned Aerial Control Geotronics of Monterey Park through an exchange of stock, it has been announced jointly by Dr. Henry E. Singleton, president of Teledyne, and Albert V. Cocking, president of Aerial Control Geotronics.

Dr. Singleton said Aerial Control Geotronics, specializing in precision geodetic surveying, has developed a comprehensive mapping system which employs advanced electronic, photogrammetric and digital computer techniques.

* * * *

MAJOR CUSTOMERS include the oil, electric utility and communications industries as well as various government agencies.

Aerial Control Geotronics, currently doing business at the rate of $1 million a year, will be operated as a division of Teledyne with Cocking as president of the division. Present personnel will be retained.

Teledyne, founded in 1960, develops and manufactures communications and control equipment, computer systems and electronic components, maintaining production facilities in Hawthorne, Los Angeles, Inglewood, Bellflower and Mountain View.

ENTRANCE-TO-CITY SIGN

President Dick Casterline of Garden Grove Board of Realtors presents Mayor George Honold with sign to be installed at entrance to city along with other service club signs denoting time and place of meetings. Arrangements for presentation were made by Mrs. Bea Rusche, public relations director for board, and Myron Russell, committee member.

IN FRIENDLY VALLEY
Jerome Snyder (left), president of the Signature Development Co., who has built and sold more than $100 million worth of homes, and Vern Anthony, Southland Progress editor, hold artist's rendering of Friendly Valley senior citizens development being built a few miles northeast of Newhall.

New Senior Citizens Project Under Way

Construction is under way just off Highway 6 northeast of Newhall on a $40 million senior citizens community dedicated as Friendly Valley.

The project is on part of 500 acres acquired from comedian Bob Hope by the Signature Development Co., subsidiary of Pacific Coast Properties, Inc., which is headed by Harry L. Pierson.

At a recent dedication gathering, Supervisor Warren Dorn saluted Jerome Snyder, Signature president, and in response Snyder praised his "management team"—Russell O. Kubovec, David Zaid and Albert Markoff — "for painstaking research, weighing, measuring, planning and creating a master plan for retirement living before we launched Friendly Valley, which we are confident will become a new standard of excellence."

* * * *

FRIENDLY VALLEY is being built in an oak-dotted hilly area just 15 minutes north of San Fernando. There will be a senior citizen community of one and two-bedroom garden apartments, with more than 3,000 units.

Snyder said that "along with the 105-foot swimming pool, therapeutic pool, golf course, all facilities at Friendly Valley have been tailormade for the senior citizen. The nine-hole golf course, designed by a famous course architect, will be ready for play this fall."

There will be an auditorium accommodating 600 persons, various buildings for arts and crafts, bowling greens, shuffleboard courts, library, lounge, community kitchen and game rooms as well as a complete eight-acre shopping center with free hourly transportation to and from dwellings.

Snyder said Signature plans to sell apartments on a condominium basis and each buyer will have a deed to his particular apartment as well as a share of community facilities.

* * * *

HAROLD D. WINN, 65, former production manager of the Hollywood Citizen-News, will serve as administrator.

"We are not encumbering our Friendly Village Association at this time with a medical plan. This is not a home for the aged," Snyder said.

Snyder has been building homes in Southern California for 14 years, and has built and sold more than $100 million worth of homes to date.

For the first six years Signature Development Co. concentrated its home building activity in Orange County. Then it moved to the San Fernando Valley, from there into Santa Barbara County and finally into Los Angeles County.

Bankers Named to Committee Tasks

Committee appointments for 1963 of the Independent Bankers Association of Southern California have been announced by the association's president, Robert C. Yeary, president of the Pacific State Bank of Hawthorne.

Donald P. Walker, assistant vice president of the Farmers and Merchants Bank, has been chairman of the Industrial Committee; Dwight Robbins, president of the Coast Bank, has been named a member of the Reception Committee; and Dick Dickinson, vice president of Farmers and Merchants Bank, and Ken McLaren, assistant vice president of Farmers and Merchants Bank, both were named members of the Workshop Committee.

Trees for Tomorrow

To help conserve the nation's reserves of white oak timber, Schenley Industries, Inc., recently planted 10,000 white oak seedlings on its plantation in northern Louisiana. The planting is believed to be the largest in history.

New Lakewood Office Planned by Savings Firm

Announcement of a new Lakewood office for Great Western Savings and Loan Association was made at the recent anniversary luncheon marking the savings institution's fifth year in the community.

Ground was broken for the project the past week.

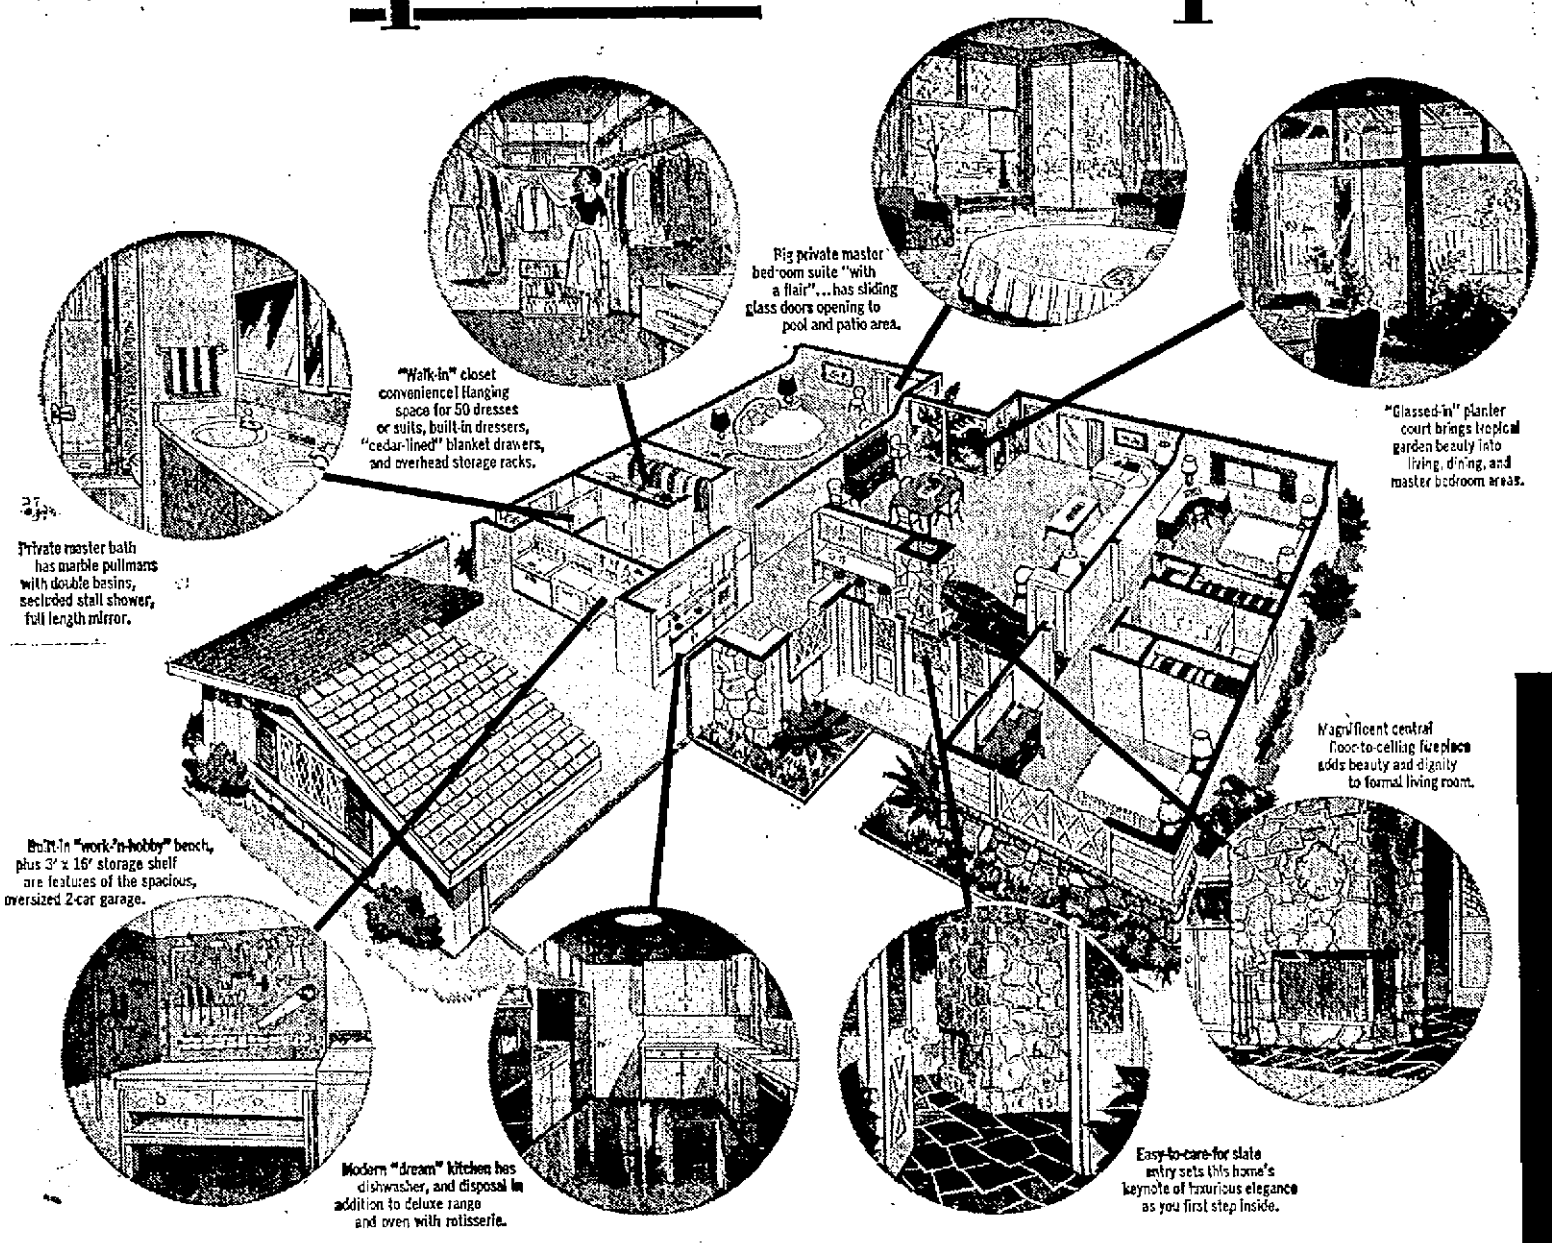

Arthur Gilbert & Associates Beverly Hills developer, will build the new 7,000 square foot office building for Great Western Savings at the corner of Lakewood Boulevard and Candlewood Street.

John H. Martin, executive vice president of the association, told the luncheon guests that the new building would be a "see-through" office structure with 5,866 square feet of glass wall.

There will be no vertical supports inside the building, which is to be surrounded by a terrazo concourse. The Lakewood office will have a special drivein teller window.

MACHINE DESIGNED BY GLOBE ENGINEERS

This battery manufacturing equipment, being operated by Mike Garcia in new Globe-Union plant at Fullerton, is known as the "cast-on-strap" machine. It was designed and built by Globe engineers and automatically forms the posts and connecting lead straps directly onto battery plates, a much faster operation than previously possible.

Sales Gain by 39%

Ellis-Schrader Real Estate Inc., continued its record-setting last month when March sales brought the first quarter 1963 total up 39% higher than the first three months of 1962.

Eighty-six pieces of property were sold last month making it the greatest March sales total in the company's 12-year history.

J. Tyson Ellis, president of the company, attributed the increase largely to the company's sales policy which is keyed to a seven weeks school for all new employes.

"There are a few real estate firms on the West Coast which conduct licensing schools but we feel that it is more important to teach our personnel the real real estate work which comes after the licensing," Ellis said.

Jerry Reeds teaches the new E-S people three mornings a week. She has been with the company eight years and concentrates the instruction on financing, escrow, title and appraisal work.

Long Beach Firm Winner of Award

Equipment Service Company of Long Beach, headed by Vincent M. Cortes, president, has been named winner of a Gold Sales Award by the Onan division of Studebaker Corporation.

The award from Onan, world's largest manufacturer of gas, gasoline and Diesel-driven electric generators, is in recognition of outstanding distributor marketing activities during 1962.

It is made on the basis of intensive sales promotion, excellence of service to customers and sales volume performance.

March Busy Month for Penney Company

March proved one of the busiest months in more than a year for J. C. Penney Company, which moved into high gear in its store modernization and expansion program, the firm has disclosed.

The department store chain of nearly 1,700 stores opened two large, full-line department stores, expanded five others and moved two established stores to new buildings.

March 21 marked the opening of two of the company's largest operations — the 97,500 square foot Anchorage, Alaska, store, the largest retail establishment in the 49th state, and the new 114,000 square foot department store in Price's Corner Shopping Center in suburban Wilmington, Del.

* * * *

PENNEY'S MOVED its Boulder, Colo., store from the downtown business district to the Crossroads Shopping Center. The new Boulder store, three-and-a-half times the area of the former downtown store, totals 56,000 square feet.

The company's Williamsport, Pa., store also was moved to a new location. It increased its total area by some 6,000 square feet or 27 per cent.

During the company's past fiscal year (ended Jan. 31) Penney's opened 15 stores, moved 15 established stores to new buildings and expanded 25 other stores.

Plans also call for opening Penney's first tires, batteries and automobile accessories operations in 1963, many of them "free-standing" units adjacent to or near existing stores.

The number of Penney stores in operation at the end of March was 1,685.

Officers of the association are: Richard A. Willits, Long Beach, president; Lloyd Hudson, National City, vice president; Henry Berger, San Jose, secretary-treasurer; and J. D. Mack, San Francisco, executive secretary.

Research Concern Names Weller to Planning Post

LeRoy A. Weller of Whittier, vice president and manager of the Long-Range Planning and Research Division of Pacific Finance Corp., has been named director of the Long-Range Planning Division for Economics Research Associates.

L. A. WELLER

Harrison A. Price, president of E.R.A., said Weller will be responsible for the promulgation of applied research in long-range planning for financial institutions retaining E.R.A.

Economic Research Associates is one of the leading research firms in the United States in the field of recreational economics, having been responsible for the economic planning of such projects as Disneyland, Century "21," Busch Gardens, several 1964 New York World's Fair exhibits, the proposed new California State Fair, the California World's Fair at Long Beach and many others.

Economic planning for development of real property has been done for The Irvine Company's 93,000 acre holdings in Orange County, Macco Corporation's Porter Ranch Development, and holdings of other companies.

Sugden Takes Post With Alco-Pacific

Alco-Pacific Construction Co., Inc., a pioneer Westminster firm that has built and subdivided over $30,000,000 worth of homes in Southern California, has named Ed Sugden to the post of loan coordinator.

SUGDEN

Sugden, 51, was a loan representative for Belmont Saving & Loan in Long Beach and a vice-president of Security Title Co. in Orange County prior to his new appointment.

He is a native son, and resides in Laguna Beach with his wife and daughter.

Alco-Pacific, which builds homes bearing its Sol Vista name, is presently engaged in developing a 160-acre site at the corner of Westminster Blvd. and Bolsa Chica in Westminster. This International Home Fair master planned community will contain 565 homes, a school, a park site and be adjacent to a proposed giant shopping center.

U.P. Orders Dozen New Locomotives

The General Electric Company has announced that the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railroad Company has ordered 12 of General Electric's 2,500 hp U25B diesel-electric locomotives.

The 14-state system plans to use these new, powerful locomotives for high speed, main line freight service.

Delivery of the locomotives will begin in May.

Emrich Opens New Office in Wrigley Area

Realtor Bob Emrich, 4166 Norse Way in Lakewood Village, has announced opening of a second office at 495 W. Willow St. in the Wrigley district.

Emrich said his new office would be fully staffed and that he would divide his time between the two locations.

Explaining his expansion, he said gross sales for the firm had doubled for the first three months of 1963 as compared to the similar period in '62.

Emrich is a member of the Long Beach District Board of Realtors and has been operating in this area about 5½ years. He specializes in home and income property resales.

Industrial Safety Eyed by Builders' Exchange

Industrial accident "Loss Control" as related to the construction industry will be the subject of the general membership meeting of the Builders' Exchange of Long Beach Monday at 6:30 p.m. in the Lafayette Hotel, with officials of the State Compensation Insurance Fund as speakers.

Palmer W. Power, A.I.A., architect and president of the Builders' Exchange, has extended an invitation to all contractors in the harbor area to attend the dinner meeting and the program.

"E. L. Reyes, district manager, and Paul Becker, Jr., safety engineer, of the Long Beach District office of the State Fund will discuss such subjects as "management's responsibility, accident prevention at work, the State Fund safety service, and economic costs to the contractor," Power stated.

The local program is an implementation of the mandatory rules laid down for all affiliated local Exchanges whose members are participants in the State Compensation Group Insurance policy, which is under the supervision of the California State Builders Exchange.

Japanese Girls to Give Program for L.B. Realtors

Two Japanese girls, in this country getting an education and attending Long Beach State College, will present the breakfast program Tuesday at the Long Beach District Board of Realtors regular meeting, according to Verne Morrill, April program chairman.

Honored guests at the breakfast, in the Crown cafeteria at 7:15 a.m., will be Dr. and Mrs. E. M. Duvall, who are sponsoring the girls in America.

Eiko Kitajima was graduated from the Kumamoto Women's University in Kumamoto City and was teaching in a church orphanage. She has been in the United States since June, 1961, and has completed three semesters work toward a master's degree in education. She will speak on the way she wishes to use her education received in America to help her country.

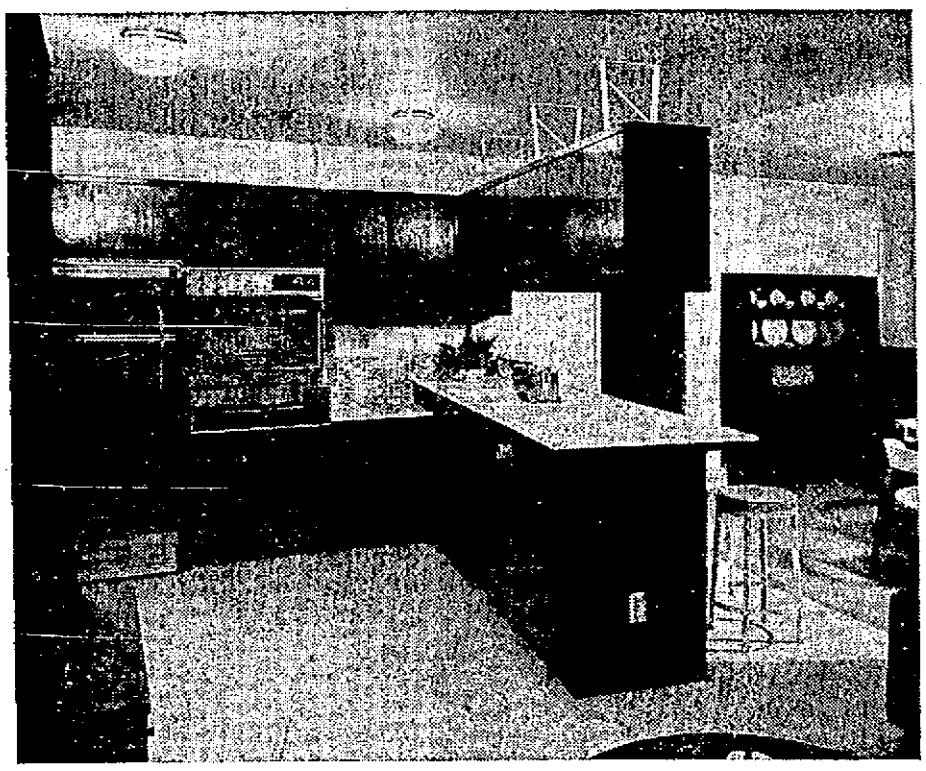

FEATURED ON PROGRAM

These Japanese girls, Eiko Kitajima and Keiko Ito, will be featured on Long Beach realty breakfast program Tuesday.

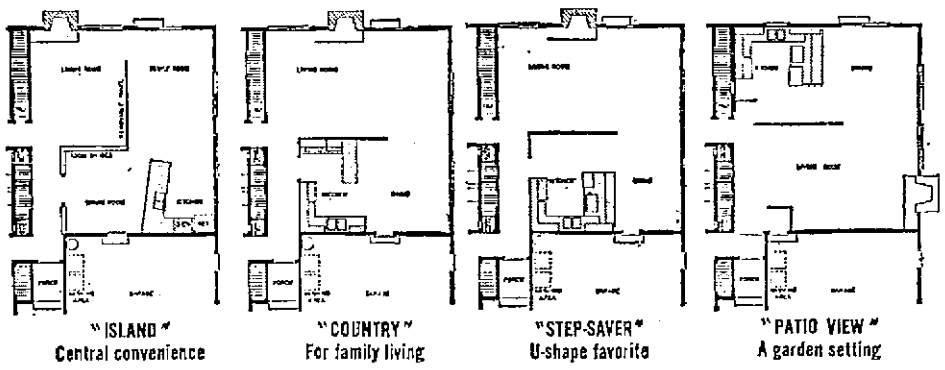

Keiko Ito was graduated from Gakushuin University, Tokyo, and also is taking graduate work at Long Beach State since arriving in the United States last September. She will present a few Japanese dances.

New Addition Open at Newporter Inn

A colorful ribbon-cutting ceremony marked the opening of the new 103-room addition to the multi-million dollar Newporter Inn resort hotel. Local dignitaries and civic officials were in attendance with Mayor Charles Hart of Newport Beach officiating along with Costa Mesa Mayor A. L. Pinkley, Newporter Inn president George D. Buccola, Mrs. Buccola, and the hotel's vice president, William Munce.

* * * *

WITH THE HOTEL operating all winter at full capacity, the new wing was pushed to completion more than two months ahead of schedule for Easter week occupancy. In addition to the 103 rooms, there are 9 suites plus two conference rooms with a capacity of 50 persons each. The rooms are decorated in alternating color schemes of red, olive green, and gold, and include air conditioning, radio, television, and "message light" telephones.

With a total now of 225 rooms, the Newporter Inn facilities are more than adequate for conventions and other large functions. Private villas are available on the hotel grounds, plus several restaurants and cocktail lounges, and nine-hole lighted golf course. The Newporter Inn is at Jamboree Road and Hwy. 101, overlooking Newport Bay, in Newport Beach.

Values of Marketing Research Pointed Up by Ex-L.B. Man

By VERN ANTHONY
Southland Progress Editor

A former Long Beach resident, Don Wells, a graduate of Wilson High School in 1947, is playing a major role in modern business techniques.

In many businesses, flow of information usually is from the front office to the consumer. But marketing research, which is Wells' field, provides information for industry and is becoming a more important tool of American business.

Wells heads a task force to gather such knowledge at Sparkletts Drinking Water Corp.

* * * *

FROM information learned and interpreted by Wells and his staff—and by similar marketing research departments in many progressive companies — management is able to make decisions which save cost, mistakes and wasted effort and ultimately provide products and services more efficiently and at lower cost.

Wells, who now lives in Covina, has been manager of Marketing Research at Sparklets, world's largest bottled water company, since April, 1961.

He and his wife, Mary Elizabeth, have two sons, Jerry Allen, 15, and Robert Michael, 7.

Mrs. Well's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Tietsort, 5418 Rosebay Street, Long Beach; and Wells has a sister, Mrs. John Newbrough, living at 609 Malabar Drive, Corona Del Mar.

* * * *

IN HIS WORK, Wells says, research often must go far afield; but the knowledge gained directly affects the service received by the customer.

By the learning the times its drivers were most apt to get hurt on the job, for example, Sparkletts was able to plan exactly how to cool off the accident "hot spots."

Aside from the humanitarian considerations, prevention of accidents results in uninterrupted service to consumers and saves money for both the employe and the company. Wells pointed out. This is reflected in lower prices and better service to the public.

* * * *

VIRTUALLY ALL decisions of Sparklets management — like those in many modern firms—are based upon information gathered and interpreted by Wells' Research Department.

Much of the fact-finding is done with an eye to the future.

A prime example is plant or warehouse location, usually determined eight to ten years in advance, Wells said.

This research involves learning where the population is now and where it will be in the future so the company can be waiting with proper facilities to say "welcome" when the people arrive.

* * * *

BUT, he added, that isn't enough. The company also must know the type of people that will arrive. A warehouse filled with distilled water, preferred primarily by persons over 50 years of age, would not be feasible to service an area in which most of the residents are young married couples with small children. They prefer a water containing fluoride because of its benefits in reducing tooth decay among children.

From time studies, too, comes knowledge of work loads, vital in the planning of service routes.

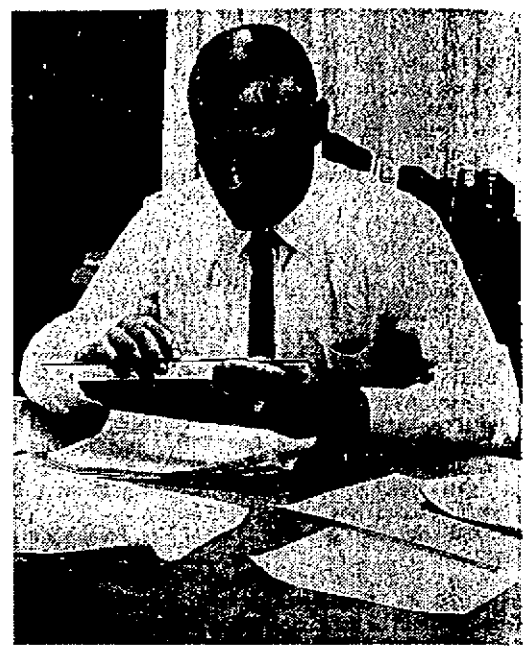

* * * *

RESEARCH specialists must figure the time to walk upstairs when a delivery man must do so . . . or to ride up an elevator.

A residential neighborhood where one or two bottles of water are delivered to each home means more stops can be scheduled during a workday than in a business section, where a dozen bottles may be left at one stop.

Wells said many areas of research are common to many businesses; others are specific.

His company has different problems to solve than firms like General Motors or AT&T, but all use basically the same research methods to learn the needs and desires of their customers and potential customers.

HE GATHERS INFORMATION
Long Beach native Don Wells uses slide rule to analyze statistics gathered by Research Department he heads at Sparkletts Drinking Water Corporation to guide management in decisions.

BELLFLOWER REALTY EVENT

C of C Heads to Help Judge Essay Contest

Cliff Arkell, chairman of the Bellflower District Board of Realtors essay contest has announced selection of the judges for the essay contest now being conducted by the board in the high schools within its jurisdictional boundaries.

The subject of the essay, as in the past two years, is, "The Home Is the Heart and Hope of the Nation" and students in the 9th, 10th, 11th and 12th grades at Artesia High, Valley Christian High, Mayfair High, Bellflower and Mayfair High, St. John Bosco High and Paramount Junior and Paramount High schools are eligible to enter.

The essays are limited to a maximum of 300 words, Arkell said, with a deadline of April 19th for delivery to the board office, but students are requested to enter through their school where the essays will be collected for delivery to the board.

Students entering have an opportunity to win from $25 to $100 in U. S. Savings Bonds.

* * * *

THE PRESIDENTS of the Chambers of Commerce of Artesia, Bellflower and Paramount have a greed to act as judges, the panel of judges being President Paul Smith, Artesia Chamber; John Corcoran, president, Bellflower Chamber; Richard Zamboni, president, Paramount Chamber; Oscar Littleton, chairman, Humanities Division, Cerritos College and Al Sykes, past president of the Bellflower District Board, who will act as chairman of the judges.

Littleton has served as a judge in this contest for several years.

Awards will be made at the breakfast meeting of the Bellflower board May 2 at Cerritos College.

Rosan Company Has New Exec

NEWPORT BEACH — Appointment of William B. Sketch, 53, as director of quality control at Rosan, Inc., 2901 W. Coast Highway, has been announced by Jose Rosan, president and founder of the company.

WM. SKETCH

Rosan manufactures precision fasteners for missiles, aircraft and spacecraft and for commercial applications.

Sketch succeeded Frank Kargl, one of Rosan's long time employes who retired Dec. 31.

Sketch was chief engineer and technical assistant to the general manager at Rosan's from 1956 to 1960. He was self-employed from 1960 to 1962, when he returned to the Rosan firm. The family home is at 243 Robinhood, Costa Mesa.

Orange County Builders to Meet

This month's Orange County Home Builders Association will feature an overall discussion of the "Tectonics Program," described as a positive method to produce good citizenship, free enterprise and an ethical man for the construction business.

The team presenting this program will be William "Bill" Spurgeon, vice president of the Irvine Co., Warren Sturdevant, vice president, Sturdevant Corp., and Edward Conway, drafting department of the Newport Beach High School, together with Robert Kellogg, Tectronic adviser of the Sturdevant Corp.

The meeting will be held at the Revere House, Santa Ana, at 6:30 p.m. Monday, with dinner being at 7:30.

It Is Easy to Own Garden Park Home

Garden Park Estates "1963 unit" of one and two-story luxury homes, in spite of its new values, new appointments and fresh new colors, still retains the very convenient and flexible financing that makes the homes "easy to own", officials emphasized.

Veterans have choice of VA loans with terms of nothing down except impounds and closing costs or Cal-Vet loans. Terms "for everyone", the spokesman said, offer good conventional loans as well as choice of 30 or 35-year FHA. Full prices for the luxuriously appointed, quality-built dwelling in this walled "city-within-a-city" are from $18,250 to $25,600.

SITUATED in one of Orange County's finest and fastest growing areas, Knott Ave. and Garden Grove Freeway, Garden Park Estates is a completely planned community.

POSSIBLY one of the most impressive facets of this community, is the range of floor plans that have been designed to meet the spatial requirements of families of virtually every size. In the one-story elevations there are plans with two bedrooms and a convertible den, and three and four bedrooms with family rooms and dining rooms, all with two baths.

In the Award-winning two-story models (actually encompassing two full floors), there are five spacious bedrooms and, a major attraction for buyers of these homes, two fireplaces.

Wood burning fireplaces are also hospitable focal points in the spacious living rooms in the one-story dwellings.

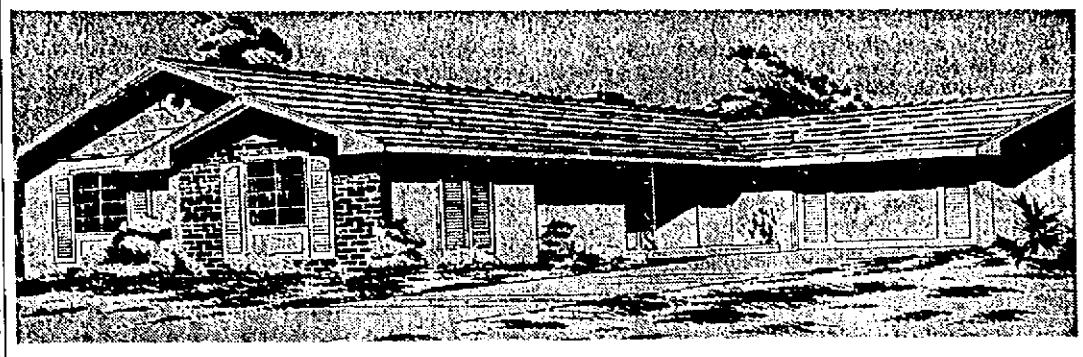

Garden Park Estates and the model homes with their handsome furnishings are reached from Long Beach by driving east on Seventh St. past Long Beach State College straight to Knott Ave.

A GARDEN PARK ESTATE

In spite of the newness everywhere in Garden Park Estates "1963 unit" of luxurious one and two-story residences, the spacious, architect-designed homes are still available on a wide range of convenient financing plans. Living room pictured is in the award-winning, two-story model.

4-Bedroom Parliament Homes Offered

BIG WESTMINSTER HOME

Shown is one of several four-bedroom homes now on display in Unit 4 of Parliament Homes, a Westminster residential development by William Krueger and William Rousey, builders.

William Krueger and William Rousey, builders of Parliament Homes, announced there still are a select number of four-bedroom homes available in the new fourth unit located on Edinger and Cannery Roads in Westminster.

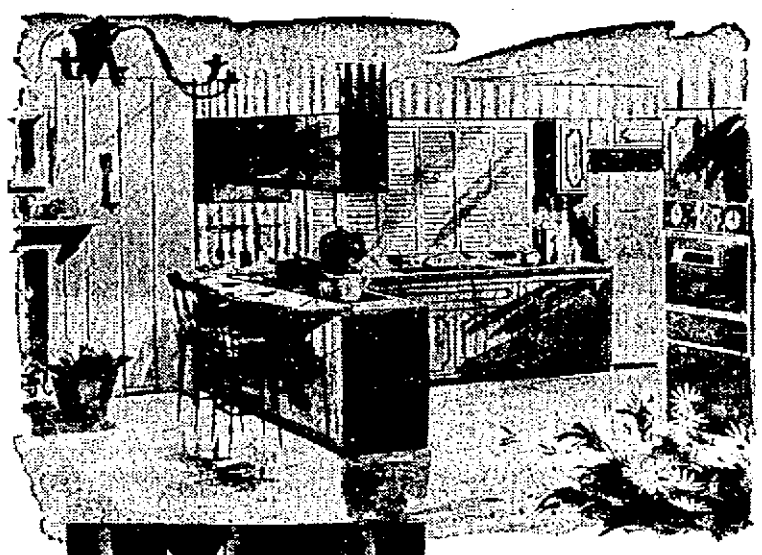

Priced from $16,650, vets may purchase one of these quality homes with only $90 down including costs. Lowest FHA down payment and conventional financing is also available. The rear yard is completely fenced and the front yard landscaped.

* * * *

POPULAR FEATURES in Parliament Homes include large entry hall, used brick or slumpstone fireplace, glass sliding patio door, oversize linen closet, generous closet space and ceramic tile in kitchen and baths. The Hotpoint all-electric kitchen has built-in push button range, wide oven, automatic dishwasher, and garbage disposer.

These four-bedroom homes have family room, dining room, two full baths, and oversize two-car garage. The homes are rapidly accessible to industrial areas and close to schools and shopping centers. Furnished model homes are open daily.

Appealing Kitchens Provided Santa Ana Park Estates

Unusually complete and attractive kitchens are cited by Park Estates home buyers as the feature which most appealed to them when selecting their homes.

The Santa Ana homes have exceptionally spacious kitchens with Frigidaire Flair built-in electric range and oven, garbage disposal and snack bars topped by latest pattern mosaic tile, plus separate breakfast area. The roomy lustrous ash cabinets feature rolling drawers and magnetic catches. Floors are of premium Gold Series vinyl tile.

The privacy of this walled-in community has also proved popular with families at Park Estates. The homes are available in one or two-story models with three, four or five bedrooms, all with two baths and family rooms. Proximity to schools at every grade level, both parochial and public, has also proved to be a chief reason for brisk sales recently at the development, according to Lifetime Sales Corp., agents for the property.

* * * *

PARK ESTATES is another series by the Henry C. Cox Co., the firm's 69th Orange County homes development for a total of more than 7000 homes in the area. Excellent financing is offered on these homes, priced from $19,950, including no down, GI; Cal Vet loans; FHA 5¼% — 35 year, and 5¾% conventional loans.

Among the many luxury extras included in the homes are hardwood floors with aromatic cedar closet flooring; stone floor-to-ceiling fireplaces and special convertible wall panels, patented by Cox, to make possible individual room designs. Also offered are built-in color TV antenna, thermostatically controlled forced air heating with aluminum air conditioning ducts, oversized 2½ car garages and heavy cedar shingle roofs.

Five decorator furnished models are open daily for inspection at Park Estates, centrally located in one of Santa Ana's finest residential areas at Warner Ave. and Raitt St.

Sales in 8th Unit Soar

"Buy now for summer occupancy."

That is the theme at the new eighth unit of George M. Holstein and Sons' Westmont development in the Huntington Beach area where over one-fourth of the new group sold in less than two weeks, the builders said.

The big three and four-bedroom homes feature the oversize 440 square foot "Bonus Room" and are priced as low as $20,250 on both FHA and VA terms. The price includes the big Bonus Room that can be used by buyers for play room, rumpus area, den, giant master bedroom, or as many as three extra bedrooms, the pioneer building firm stressed.

* * * *

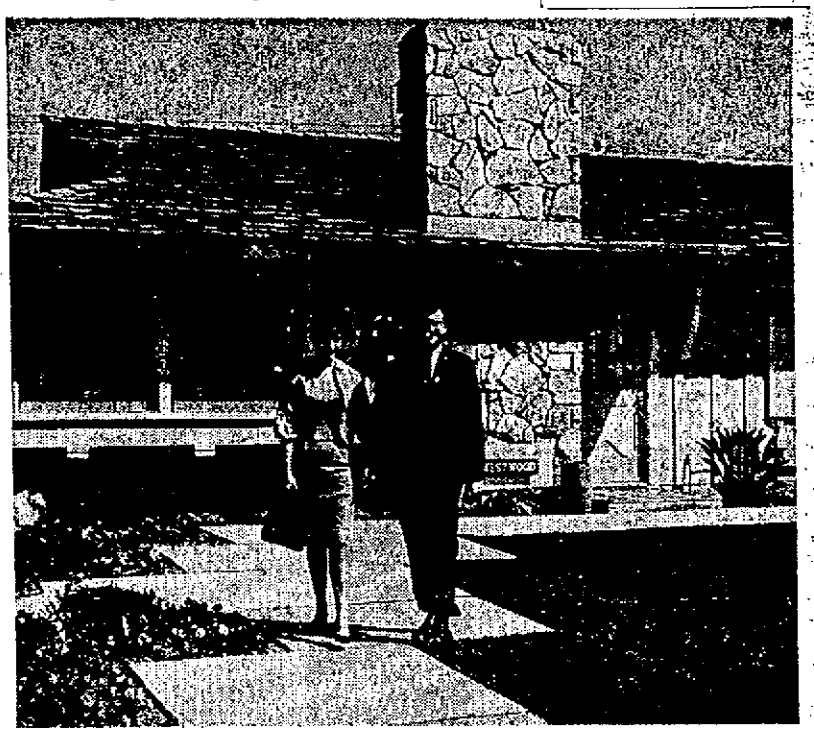

ALONG WITH the "Bonus Room" feature, the Westmont homes include fireplaces, built-in range and oven in color, title eating bars, silent light switches, paneling, ornamental light fixtures, and are offered in a wide range of exterior designs. Wood shake roofs, 7,200 square foot lots and cement driveways have also been hailed by record eighth unit buyers.

The Westmont community will include shopping, luxury garden apartments, schools, and parks in a unique and complete plan in the new city of Fountain Valley. The site is also within five minutes from Huntington Beach State Park.

To reach Westmont from Long Beach, take Seventh St. east to Hwy. 39, turn right just three miles to Warner. Go across the highway (left) on Warner about one mile to the tree-lined Westmont entry way.

Contract Awarded to Torrance Firm

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The State Department of Public Works has awarded a $144,709 contract for installation of air condition equipment in two ward buildings at Patton State Hospital to Air Comfort Co., Inc., of Torrance.

VIEW BONUS ROOM HOME

Young home shoppers take stroll through the Westmont model homes in the Huntington Beach area. The big homes off Highway 39 on Warner are priced from $20,250 and feature the big 440-square-foot "Bonus Room." Both VA and FHA terms are available.

Seahaven Location Ideal

CHARM IN HOME
Warmth and charm is keynoted in this gracious living room at Seahaven Homes in Huntington Beach. The used brick fireplace is accented by a natural panelled wall background and the sliding glass doors invite indoor-outdoor living and give an added depth to the living room area.

More and more families are turning to a more relaxed way of living year around, according to Bob Hardesty who is marketing director for Deane Brothers, builders and developers of Seahaven Homes in Huntington Beach.

Driving a little further to work doesn't seem to matter at all, he added, for at Seahaven, they are located at the 'hub' of Orange County's existing and proposed freeway system, which makes commuting easy to areas such as Long Beach, Anaheim and Civic Center.

Seahaven Homes are also in the 'hub' of many recreational facilities including the beaches — three minutes away, two championship golf courses—five minutes away, the two outstanding yachting harbors, Long Beach and Newport Beach, only 15 minutes away. Nearby are freeways to resort areas such as the mountains and desert. Complete shopping centers and an excellent school system with bus service also add to the ideal location of Seahaven.

* * * *

THE COMMUNITY, according to Hardesty, is among the 'last of the low-priced beach properties' available, and the terms include FHA or VA financing with monthly payments commencing as low as $79 including principal and interest. Each home includes an all-electric Westinghouse built-in kitchen with luxury appointments such as genuine ceramic tile and furniture-finish natural wood cabinets. A spacious four-bedroom home can be purchased for only $95 per month.

To visit Seahaven's furnished model homes . . . from the Santa Ana Freeway, take Beach Blvd. (Hwy. 39) South to Adams in Huntington Beach, then left and follow the Seahaven signs. From Pacific Coast Hwy. (101) in Huntington Beach, turn North on Beach Blvd. (Hwy. 39) to Adams, then right to Seahaven.

NLB Club to Hear of 'Opportunities'

"Real Estate Opportunities" will be described by Robert Westmyer, president of the Rex L. Hodges Co., as guest speaker at the North Long Beach Realty Club breakfast Thursday.

Club spokesmen say visitors are welcome at the meetings, which are held at 8 a.m. at Mayo's restaurant, 5925 Cherry Ave.

L.B. Firm Selling Desert Area Homes

The firm of Steele & Moss Enterprise has been selected as exclusive agent to handle the College Estate homes tract in Palm Desert-Palm Springs area.

Barbara Moss and Harold Steele have been working in the desert area for the past five years and have watched its phenomenal growth, beginning with the area of La Quinta; later into Salton City and Desert Shores, where this area has developed into a tremendous recreational and resort playland.

* * * *

CUSTOM-DESIGNED, 65 homes are being built just six blocks from the famous $5 million College of the Desert and next door to the soon-to-be-developed $20-million shopping and bowling lanes center owned by Bill Cody of Palm Springs architect.

A new way of life is exemplified in the College Estate Homes. These three and four-bedroom homes are designed interior-wise and exterior-wise to please the eye and best serve convenience and comfort, equipped with unique fireplaces, wide-view sliding glass walls in living room and family room.

* * * *

THE CUSTOM-LOOK in the desert in a tract area is novel. Luxury features include: Forced air heat, refrigerated air conditioning, Hardwick built-in range and ovens, oversized two-car garages, custom cabinets in ash, dining bars, king-sized master bedrooms with dressing room and ¾ baths. Service and storage room off of enclosed garages.

Terms of $995 down and monthly payments of $143 are offered on these homes in the $19,750 price. Terms for rent, or lease-option to buy are available. Only six homes remaining in the first unit. Just 10 minutes and 10 miles from Palm Springs down Highway 111, turning at Caseys Cafe on Parkview to 72-445 Parkview to view the furnished model homes and where your realtor friends will greet you on week-ends. Call Long Beach office for brochure and further information HE 7-0541.

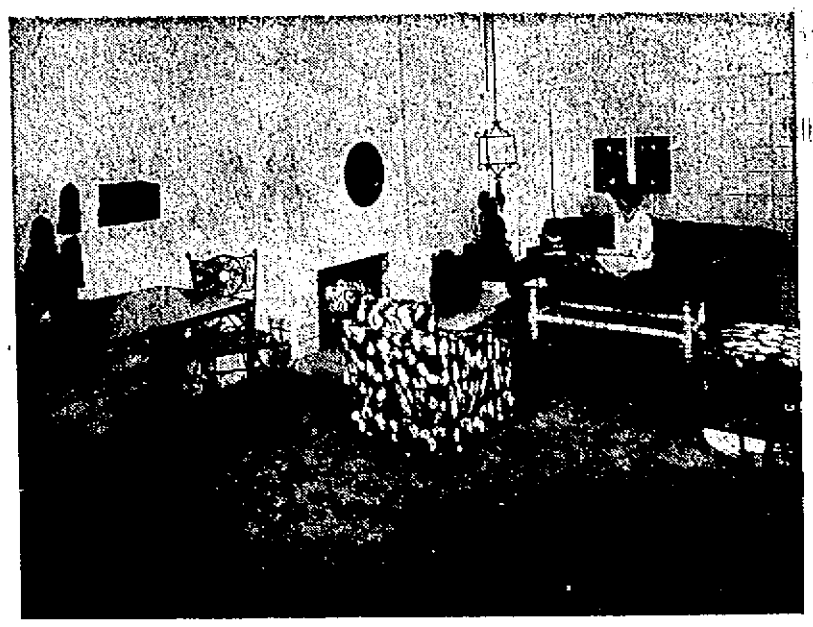

Arabian Styling in Los Alamitos Units

Two young men, Paul Lumley and Larry McCombs, new to the building field but long time partners in the construction business have just completed the first of two apartment houses they now have under construction in Los Alamitos.

The new apartment complex at 4352 Green St. is called the Mecca, named for the very unusual style of architecture. It is completely designed in the Arabian style with graceful arches surrounding intricate patterns of metal grill-work. Each of the arches, the spiral staircase and central courtyard (with appropriately shaped swimming pool) are decorated and lighted by elaborately ornate hanging lanterns.

Their second project, The Greenbrier Apartments, at 4312 Green St. is 30 days from completion. Modern conveniences, and luxurious accommodations are to be featured in these one, two, three-bedroom apartments, complete with swimming pool and recreation facilities.

New Living Concept in Park Lido Homes

OFFERED IN NEWPORT BEACH
Now available in Newport Beach are the Park Lido "Town House" homes where exteriors of homes, driveways, pools, gardens and lawns are fully maintained. This is an interior view of one model.

Tremendous crowds visited Park Lido homes in Newport Beach during the preview opening of the new "Town House" homes last weekend, according to the builder, Carl M. Buck Jr.

"Introducing a new way to live without 'homework,'" Buck said, "Park Lido is an example of the new-way of life: full-size luxurious family home with swimming pools and landscaped gardens."

Buck said the "town house" concept allows home owners worry-free living as the exteriors of homes, driveways, pools, gardens and lawns are fully maintained. Utilities, including television antennae, are underground.

The two and three bedroom, two bath, one-story, split-level and two-story homes are presented by Buck in conjunction with the John B. Kilroy Co.

* * * *

A PRIVATE PATIO with electrically-operated gate, hardwood floors, forced-air heating, aluminum sash and screens are among the highlights.

Baths have luminous ceilings, heaters, exhaust fans, tile floors and mosaic-lined tub and showers.

Buck said the bedrooms are extra-large with full-length mirrors and wardrobes. The master bedrooms have dressing room, attached bathroom and built-in dressers, in addition to the mirrored wardrobe.

All-electric kitchens with built-in double oven, range, roll-out dishwasher and disposer will please the discriminating homemaker.

Modern fireplaces dominate the living with sliding glass doors to the patio area.

"Prices range from $25,500 with 10% down and low monthly payments," Buck continued, "with buyers receiving fee simple deeds to their property."

The decorated model homes are open daily. From the Long Beach area: take Hwy. 101 to Superior St. in Newport Beach, turn left to the corner of Superior and Placentia to Park Lido.

Money that stands up to be counted

A lot of Communist eyes are watching the financial strength of our government and of our people like hawks. That's because their leaders have said they would "bury us" economically—and they're waiting for it to happen.

It must be a continuing disappointment to them that, year after year, U.S. savers put so much of their savings in the hands of our government, in U.S. Savings Bonds. This stake that Savings Bond owners now have in the strength of our country is more than $45 billion—an all-time high.

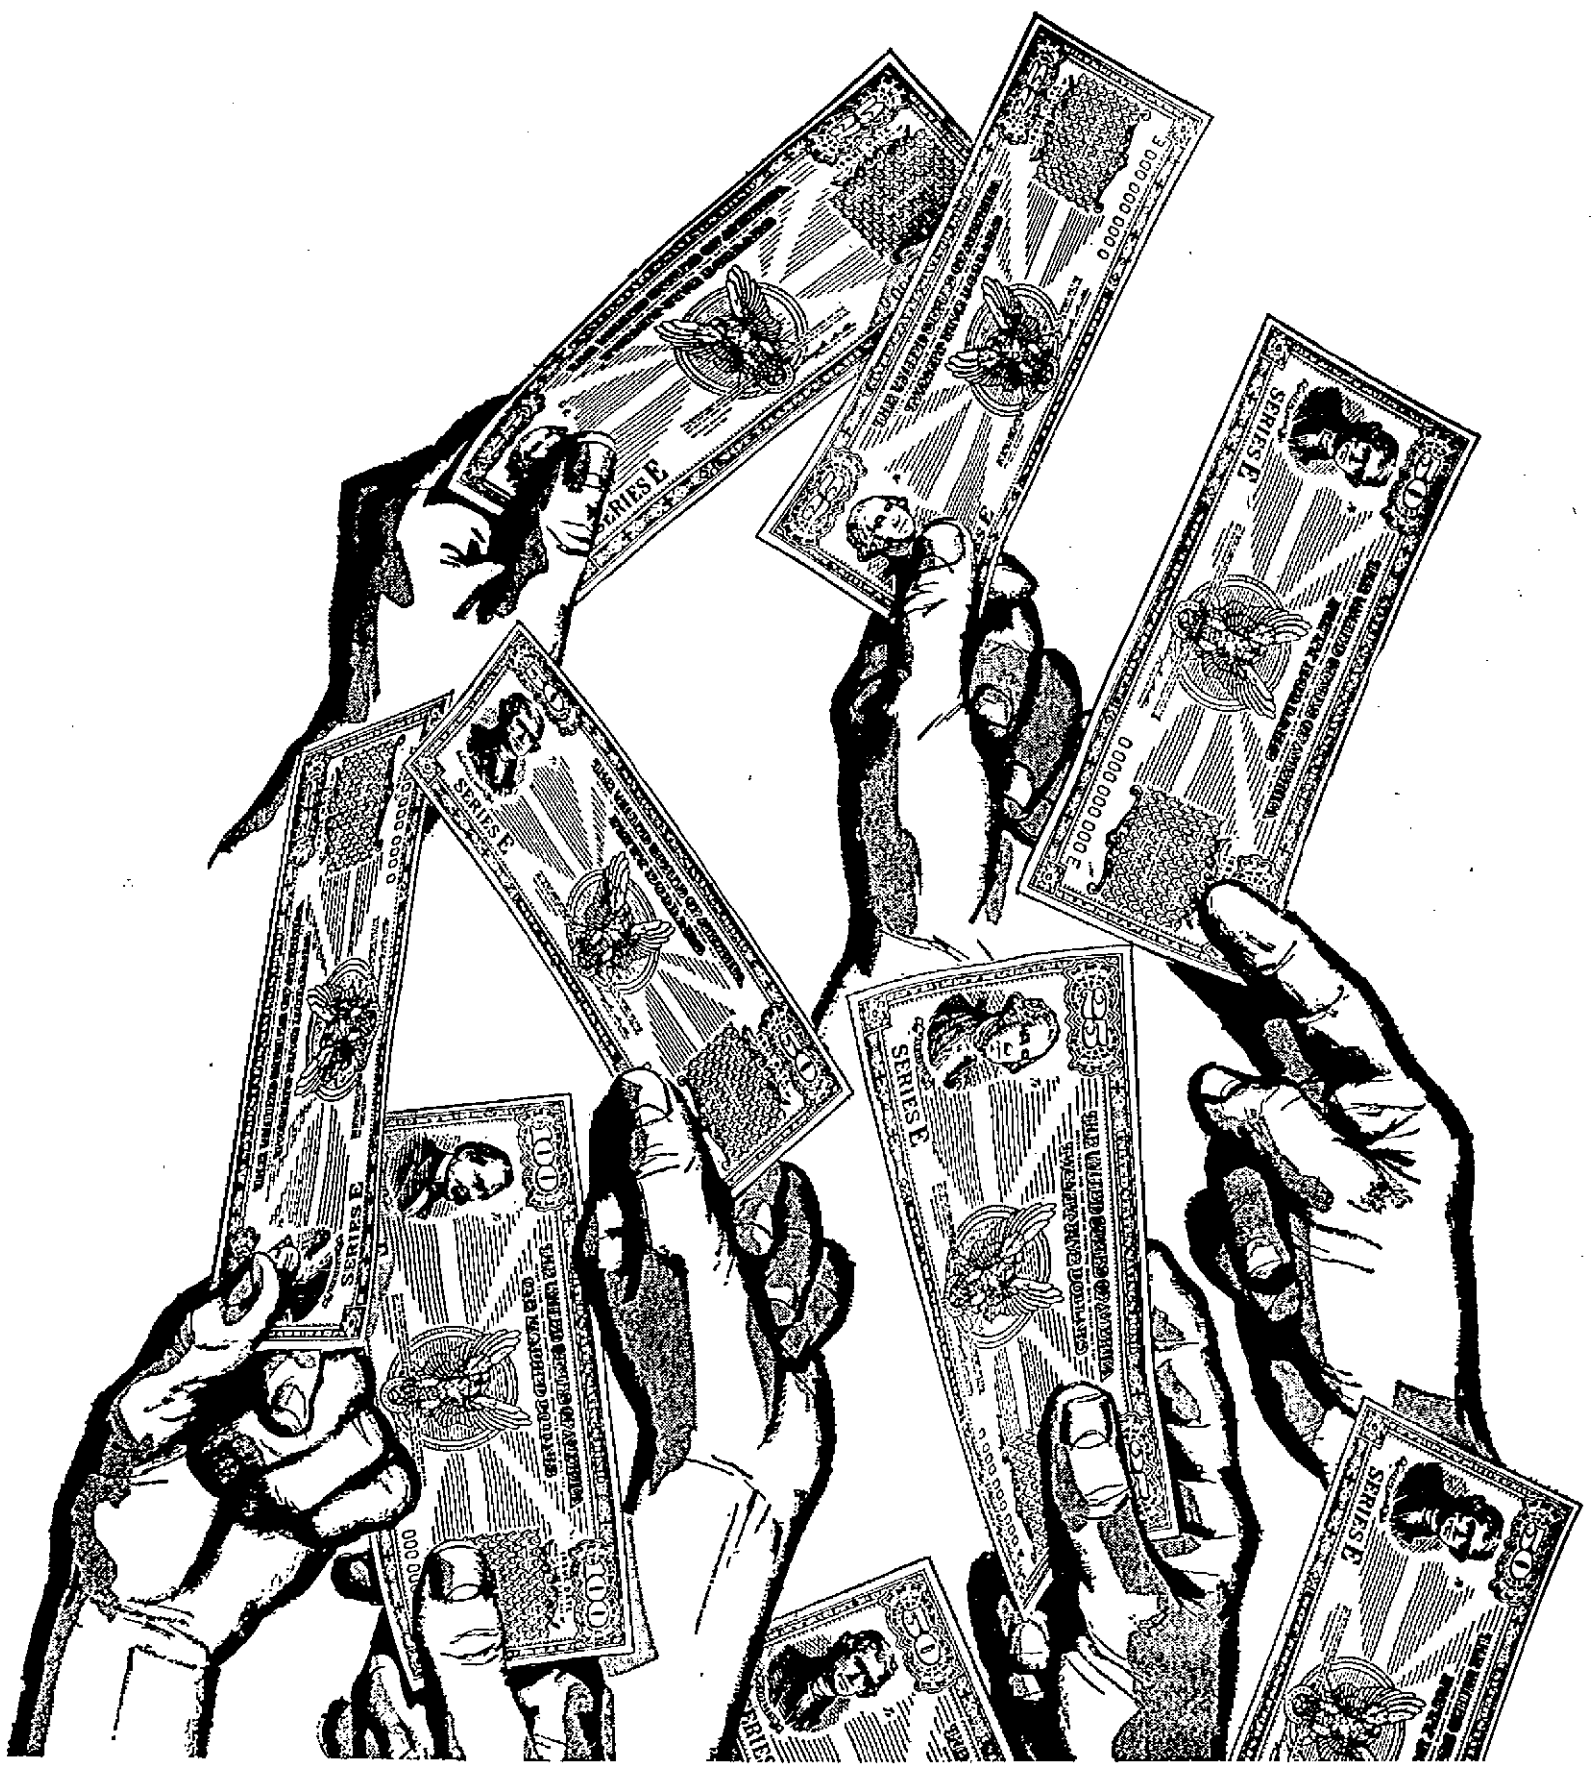

And because savers can get their money back, with accumulated interest, when they need it, that's financial strength for millions of U.S. savers and their families.

Your dollars in U.S. Savings Bonds do stand up to be counted — by freedom's friends and foes alike — as a measure of the strength of our country and our people. Help keep yourself and your country strong by regular buying of U.S. Savings Bonds, through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work, or from your bank.

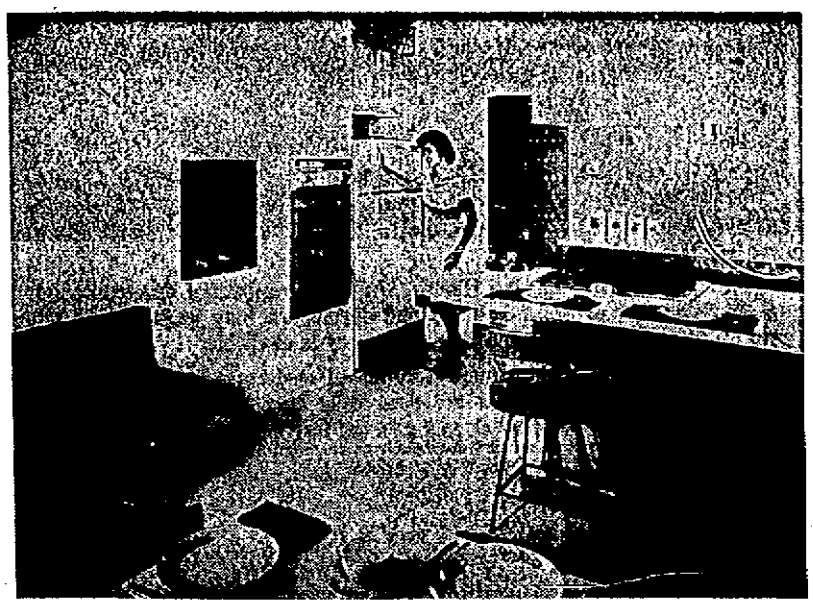

Quick facts about U.S. SAVINGS BONDS

- You get $4 back for every $3 when your Bond matures
- Your Bonds are replaced free if lost, or destroyed
- You can get your money anytime
- You can save automatically on Payroll Savings.

Keep freedom in your future with U.S. SAVINGS BONDS

FEATURE CONVENIENT KITCHEN
Huntington Village's new Unit 11 continues to sell rapidly. The bright, convenient kitchens, with indoor barbecue, are one of the many attractions. The three and four-bedroom homes are priced from $17,925 with down payments starting from $495.

New Huntington Village Unit Homes Priced for Any Budget

"One of the 'fastest-selling' home developments in the fastest-growing city in California is the 1,000 home community of Huntington Village in Huntington Beach," according to Dan Mytinger, sales manager for the Doyle & Shields Development Co., Inc.

"Huntington Village's three and four-bedroom, two-bath, family-room homes are priced within the reach of almost every family in Southern California," Mytinger pointed out, "from $495 down, plus costs, for non-vets, including deed and title insurance. Full prices start at $17,925. There are no due dates or balloon payments. We also can customize our down payment to fit anyone's pocketbook.

"THIS IS Huntington Village's 11th unit," the executive went on, "and this unit has proved to be our most popular with many new features such as modern slate entrys, interior planters, RCA Whirlpool dishwashers, new exteriors. All of these in addition to color-coordinated wall-to-wall carpeting in living room, hallways, and master bedroom, RCA Whirlpool built-in range and oven, central forced-air heating and woodburning fireplace with gas log lighter."

Huntington Village is ideally located: five minutes from the Southland's finest small boat harbors and beaches, across the street from the Meadowlark Country Club, a mile from the site of Douglas' $78 million Space and Missile plant, one mile from the soon-to-be-started Broadway-Hale shopping center, and less than a mile from the San Diego Freeway, now under construction.

Grade and high schools are near as are several neighborhood shopping centers.

* * * *

MYTINGER POINTED out that several custom-homes, priced from $23,950, are available directly adjacent to the Meadowlark Country Club, affording "country-club" living at a price not much more than a typical Huntington Village home.

Huntington Village's beautifully furnished models are open daily from 9 a.m. to dark. From the Long Beach area: drive east on Seventh Street to Golden West St. Turn south to Edinger, then right to Springdale, then left a short distance to Huntington Village.

Master Bedroom Suite of Home Is Appealing

TROY HILLS OFFERS THIS
The master bedroom suite of one model of Troy Hills Homes occupies one entire wing to assure adult privacy. The large bedroom, shown here, has huge glass doors leading to the rear patio.

Proving to be a sales favorite at Troy Hills, the new Fullerton community, is the "700 Plan," which offers complete adult privacy and quiet by devoting one entire wing of the home to the master bedroom suite.

"With private bath, dressing room, huge walk-in closet, and sliding glass doors leading to the rear patio, we believe this is the nicest and biggest master bedroom suite for the price in this area," says Jim McCarthy, vice-president of the McCarthy Co. co-builders with Sant Construction.

To make the master suite fully private, children's bedrooms and bath have been placed on the other side of the home, separated by dining and living rooms.

* * * *

SEVERAL RECENT additions have been made at Troy Hills, reports McCarthy. These additions provide buyers more complete use of space, with built-in cabinets and work areas. Among them are: Work benches and 3-foot deep storage shelves in all garages, cabinets above washer-dryer areas, special kitchen shelves, built-in clothesline over bathtubs, and built-in planning desks in some kitchens.

Other features are fireplaces; gas forced-air heating; built-in Tappan range and oven; ash kitchen cabinets; breakfast bars, and garbage disposals. Buyers may elect to include refrigerated air-conditioning.

TROY HILLS three- and four-bedroom, two-bath homes, with full dining rooms, are set on a choice of level or rolling hillside lots up to ⅓ acre in size.

Priced from $20,950, the homes may be purchased on veterans no-down-payment terms, FHA financing from $1200 down, conventional, or Cal-Vet financing. Buyers may trade their present home, or may reserve their favorite plan with a $100 deposit.

Red Hill Ridge Is Opening

The premiere and official opening of exclusive Red Hill Ridge in North Tustin Heights was celebrated Friday by more than 150 persons, including civic and professional leaders and their wives, and members of the press, as guests of the Samuel Kritt Co., developers of the community. The event was a festive dinner dance at the Red Hill Tennis Club, adjacent to the ridge property.

Completion of roadways, underground utilities installation, and terracing of the 117 viewsites at Red Hill Ridge is the culmination of many months of carefully engineered construction work and the expenditure of more than half a million dollars on land improvements alone, according to Samuel Kritt, one of the co-developers. Ground breaking has already taken place for the first homes to be constructed on the ridge by purchasers of the half-acre sites. Four custom model homes priced from $70,000 to $150,000 will also be built.

Located on the old Simon Ranch, a famous Orange County landmark, Red Hill Ridge overlooks the citrus orchards of Irvine Ranch with a view to the ocean. A few minutes' drive from Santa Ana, the Red Hill Ridge sales pavillion is at Browning and Beverly Glen in North Tustin.

Stanton Permits Drop to $9,400

Only six building permits for construction totaling $9,400 were issued by the Stanton Building Department during the past week.

Walker & Lee Sales Shattering Records

Shattering of sales records by Walker & Lee Real Estate, Inc. as first quarter sales of homes, continues unabated at Walker acreage, industrial-commercial, and income properties were placed at $33,500,000 gross volume. Company spokesman Frank R. Hart stated, "This figure indicates we are moving at a pace 20 percent better than last year at this same time, and last year was the best ever for the firm. Not one week has fallen below a two million dollar gross.

"Walker & Lee's 15 branch and 28 subdivision offices have accounted for a whopping 1260 homes sold in the first quarter with an average selling price of $20,500. Altogether, every department has posted a healthy increase. With the best selling months ahead, a reasonable marketing projection should place sales above $130,000,000 for the year."

In summarizing first quarter results, Hart credited an intensified professional training program and an expanded advertising budget in excess of a quarter of a million dollars.

Future plans for the firm include enlarged administrative facilities, new branch locations, and all expense paid vacations for top producers.

Seminar Set for Home Builders

Advanced concepts in research, marketing, land planning and financing large home developments will be presented at a one-day seminar for home builders and subdividers April 19 at the Beverly Hilton Hotel, Beverly Hills.

The concentrated program will open at 9 a.m. and close at 3:30 p.m., with a break at noon for lunch.

Home Builders in Southern California and nearby areas in Nevada have been invited to the seminar. They have been asked to submit queries which will be featured in the question-and-answer sessions following each talk.

The program is under sponsorship of the Formica Corporation, Walter A. Smith president.

MOBILE Home buyers are reading the Classified Ads right now. Be sure your offer is there. Just dial HE 2-5959 today.

There's a Lot of Action at St. Mary's Guild...

'DAY AT THE RACES'

They'll be off and running at Los Alamitos Race Course April 17 at a post time of 1:15 p.m. for St. Mary's Hospital Guild ninth annual Day at the Races.

Proceeds from tickets sales for the day, which includes a buffet and dancing at a party following the races, will go to a fund pledged by the guild to furnish the maternity and nursery floor of the new wing of St. Mary's Hospital.

EARLY BIRDS will see the "Milk Run"—the baby colts are turned loose to run to their mothers at the end of the stretch—preceding the start of the day's regular races.

The eighth race will be the annual St. Mary's Hospital Guild Handicap, with the winning owner receiving a trophy presented by the guild.

Day at the Races is the principal fund raising event of St. Mary's Hospital Guild, a non-sectarian organization. The amount of $56,000 has been presented to the hospital of the total pledge of $100,000 by the guild for the furnishing fund.

PROCEEDS FROM a hospitality cart and a gift shop at the hospital staffed by members also go to the fund.

Chairman for the day is Mrs. William Voorhees. Among those assisting are Mmes. Lester DeNoyelles, ticket chairman; A. V. Morgan, entertainment; Ray Stricklin, buffet; Harold Guiver, gate; William Jellick, hostesses; Howard Jones, promotion; Jack P. Merrick, kick-off luncheon; Edwin P. Parr and E. R. Cullen, secretaries.

Roger Bacon's orchestra will play for dancing at the party following the races.

I-PT Offers Glamour Clinic for Readers

...We'll Re-do YOU--So Write Us!

By MARY ELLIS
I, P-T Fashion Editor

Is your coif last year's bird's nest, your wardrobe outdated? Does your makeup need a tone-up, your chassis a tune-up?

Are you losing a boyfriend, a husband, a job? Or are you still looking—unsuccessfully?

Maybe you're just in the fashion doldrums; don't know what goes well with what; can't figure out what type of clothes makes your torso more-so.

IF SO, WRITE to our glamour clinic. Tell us your fashion and beauty problems, send us a snap shot.

Most important, tell us your age (almost, anyway) and your figure type—also why you'd like to be selected for the I, P-T's "New Model You" fashion series.

From letters and photos received, eight or more of our readers will be selected for head-to-toe remodeling in our unique beauty-fashion workshop.

With the help of local beauty authorities—who'll donate time, advice and products— we'll restyle hair, pamper with beauty treatments, correct makeup faults.

Fashion coordinators of local smart shops will give counsel on wardrobe and accessory problems and show each how to select the right kind of clothes for her figure type.

And if the figure isn't right, we'll give some help on that weighty problem, too.

REMEMBER, you're never too old to look young, never to tall to look chic, never too short to be high style.

So write today—and don't forget to send a snap shot. Address your letters to "New Model You," Women's Department, Long Beach Independent, Press-Telegram, Long Beach, Calif.

All women are eligible—whether 16 or 60, whether 4-feet-6 or 6-feet-4; whether coed or career gal, housewife or mother.

Each woman selected will be featured in our "New Model You" picture and story series, slated to start in June.

This is your chance to be a "New Model You."

HANK HOLLINGWORTH

Turf Expert Reveals Secrets of Racy Set

For those attending St. Mary's Guild Day at the Races who are not habitues of the track, our girl reporter sought out Executive Sports Editor Hank Hollingworth for the answers to some nagging questions.

By CURTYNE DRISCOLL

Girl Reporter: What is a quarter horse?

Hank: It is not, as Bob Wells and some of his beach cronies maintain, one-fourth of a normal horse. It is a horse bred for speed over a short distance—about a quarter-mile. Originally, quarter horses were used as cow ponies. Most of the horses on which I wager at Los Alamitos still react as though they were chasing cows.

Girl Reporter: How long does a quarter horse race last?

Hank: Let me put it this way: Don't sneeze, bend over to pick up a discarded mutuel ticket or sneak a quick glance at a blonde. If you do any of these things, you've missed the race.

Girl Reporter: What does "H.W." and "T.W." in the program mean?

Hank: They mean head wind and tail wind. In other words, it's not "heads you win, tails you lose." In my case, it's heads you lose, tails you lose.

Girl Reporter: What does "declared" mean?

Hank: It means a particular horse was scratched from the race. Now I suppose you want to know what "scratched" means? Scratched means the horse was withdrawn from the race. In effect, the horse wasn't ready for the race because his trainer was suffering from a gosh-awful hangover. In polite society, therefore, the man "declared" his horse for the day.

Girl Reporter: What does "stretch call" mean?

Hank: Ordinarily, it is the announcer's last report of the horses' positions in a race before they hit the finish line. Because a quarter horse race is so short (and swift), a stretch call is as useless as a man working in the society department.

Girl Reporter: Does St. Mary's Guild get the money bet on the St. Mary's Guild Handicap?

Hank: Unfortunately, no. State Racing Commission rules prohibit any such action. You see, the state gets a percentage of all monies wagered on each race, the rest goes to the track. The best way for the St. Mary's Guild to remain solvent for many years to come is to wager in this manner on St. Mary's Guild Handicap: Find out which horse I favor, determine upon which horse Frank Vessels will wager, note all the "tips" whispered before the race, then bet the whole treasury on the beast that hasn't yet been mentioned. It's a guaranteed, sure-fire winner.

Girl Reporter: How do owners choose names? Oink Brown, for instance.

Hank: I have spent years in research of this answer. As a result, I have concluded that quarter horse owners deliberately think of the most horrible things in the world, then subsequently name their poor animals. In the case of Oink, his owner realized his horse actually was a pig. (A look at Oink's record and you'll see that the owner was correct.)

Girl Reporter: Why are so many of the horses named something "Bar"?

Hank: Because that's where most of the quarter horse owners hang out.

Girl Reporter: Considering your record for predicting Santa Anita winners, would you care to name a few prospective quarter horse winners?

Hank: I smell a not-too-subtle inference, here, but I'll go along with the gag. My favorite is a cute little thing called Speedy Googer (and I dare any of you girls to top THAT beautiful name). Watch out also for No Butt and Wet Back Pedro, two other horses with romantic overtones. For the St. Mary's Guild girls, I'd suggest Cocktail Suzy and Lady Jag. Also I'd like to recommend Tonto Bars Hank and Hank H. Bars. Guess why?

Girl reporter: One St. Mary's Guild member last year bet on No. 3 in every race and won a bundle. (Much to her surprise!) What do you think of this as a system?

Hank: Any "system" that makes money is great. Unfortunately, few hold up. However, if the woman who won a bundle betting on No. 3 last year, wins another bundle (and I don't mean of wet-wash) this year, please give me her name, address and telephone number. I need her assistance immediately. And not St. Mary's Guild, either. It's the bankrupt Hollingworth Guild I'm worried about.

Prepare the Fatted Calf, They're 'Home'!

By Iola Masterson
I, P-T Women's Editor

IF ALL systems were "go" with airline schedules, Ed DeMack flew into town yesterday from Manila, P.I., to join wife, "Midge," who came earlier by plane, plus Matsonia, with sons Gary, 11, and Phil, 9. They're currently staying with her sister and brother-in-law, Mildred and Glen Hall, in their Naples home.

Dirty trick—the picture accompanying this, (or is it a good one?). This was their farewell pix taken when they first left for the Philippines in 1957. Ever since, Ed has been head man there for the Yellow Pages Directory. They'll be here until April 21 (on one of their every three years visits), then hie to Chicago, Washington, New York, Europe and finally back to Manila by July, for another three year stint.

As they were—1957.

* * * *

THE MERRY month of May will be the merriest May ever, and no mayBE about it, for Marjorie and Dr. Bill Scott and his dad, William J. Scott of Seal Beach. While members of the family tend to all at home, they'll fly off for an entire month of touring Europe.

* * * *

EASTER vacation will not be exactly that for Dot (Mrs. "Bunnie") O'Hare. When she heads over there to Canoga Park it will be to baby sit for son and daughter-in-law, Chuck and Carol O'Hare, while they go to San Francisco on telephone co. business. "Bunnie," spared from sitting duties, will hold down the fort in peaceful grandfatherly grandeur.

THE JUNE who is expecting in June was the unsuspecting June Cox, decorations chairman for the Salvation Army Auxiliary, when she went to a board meeting at Willa Gilmore's. She went simply to help provide ideas, with other board members, for the auxiliary's Bonnet Party May 29th, discovered she was center stage honoree at a baby shower.

Wild Waves Say...

On hand for the fun of the party; the planning for the big May benefit, were Gladee Jewitt, Jean Hodge, Bea Scott, Marian Freese, Evelyn Grundy, Hilma Greenberg, Betty Dykstra, Jonny Salter, Esther Gilmore and Bette Stillwell.

NEWS ALONG the stork line—Ellen (Schumacher) and Dan Baker are expecting their first, in September. Bosses have pleaded with her to continue her work at Memorial Hospital until August 15. You couldn't ask for a handier place to be, under the circumstances, right up to the 11th hour.

. . . returns from all over

It's a fine how-de-do, language wise, when an American lives so long abroad that she has to relearn Americanese idiom on return. That's about the size of things for Lorraine (Lundberg) Murray, here from her home in Rome.

Lorraine, once a member of the Press-Telegram society staff, is the wife of Scott A. Murray, formerly of Pasadena, director of an international oil well drilling concern. Because she travels with Scott so much (last year, as far north as Norway; far south as Nigeria for varying periods) she has had to learn expressions as used over there.

When she arrived at Breakers' International, where she is staying until joining Scott on his arrival, she said what comes naturally in Rome or Paris, "Please put my clothes in the cupboard." The nonplussed bellhop gulped; Lorraine began the struggle to return to her native tongue. In Europe a closet means just one thing—a water closet, so anything going into a closet there is promptly stashed into the bathroom.

With that in mind, imagine the carpenter's confusion when they were remodeling their Rome apartment and Scott told the carpenter—"Put closets all along that one wall." The poor worker thought him plumb daft. Even the "crazy Americanos" don't need that many.

Here on her first real visit to Long Beach (for ten days) after a ten year absence living abroad, Lorraine sees terrific changes for the first time in her old hometown—the high rise buildings, the marina, the Long Beach Yacht Club . . .

The wonder of returning every time, she says, is the sudden sense of do-it-yourself freedom here—the friendliness of people. That's nice to know.

GREATER LOVE hath no wife (in this case Maxine Lyman) than the one who cheerfully lets her huz (in this case, Howard) fly off to Hawaii without her. But it's OK with her because she was there last year without him and this is a business trip for him.

Then she had to turn around and wave goodbye to son, Steven, and his friend, Bob Darrow, who flew over to the islands on a trip (not together, but concurrent with Howard's) for surfing—a graduation gift to the boys.

* * * *

ONE YEAR and eight new babies later, 41 Rick Rackers (they boast a total of 96 children between them) had annual meeting at League House Tuesday.

The swellest, prettiest hats and beamiest, prettiest faces were par for the course. As an example, note a sampling pictured below in the smiles of Susie (Mrs. Vernon) Lewis, member, with provisionals Karen (Mrs. David) Ward and Carole (Mrs. Richard) Sukman.

Big to-do over Louise Neuner, who received award for highest number of volunteer hours in auxiliary's community work for 125 spent in labors of love. Busiest provisional award went to Karen Dumm for 145 hours.

Sad, but true, 11 members reached the age of no return (to Rick Rackers) and, as time flies, they're still children. Saying goodbye to R. R. were Gloria Wallace, Margaret Whittemore, Beverly Johnstone, Rosemary Leedom, Jerry Phelan, Barbara Evan, Jackie Welty, Betty Ann Rauch, Elizabeth Barmeyer, Bev McCormick and Harriet Williams, the latter producing, writing and directing an hilarious swan song to tune of Easter Parade and warbled by out-goes. It ended with a smug reminder—"and pretty soon you'll ALL be 35!"

Pretty hats, beamiest smiles

Shrine Patrol Sponsors Trip

Patrol of El Tanya Court 61, Ladies Oriental Shrine, will sponsor a charter bus trip visit to "Queen For A Day" for members and friends April 15. The bus will leave the Scottish Rite Temple, Ninth Street and Elm Avenue, at 9:45 a.m.

Reservations, which close Wednesday, may be made with Mrs. Myrle Eilers, 1125 Amelia Drive.

Nuptials for College Students

Frances Gray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Gray, married Daniel E. Brown, son of Mrs. Albert F. Brown, Ramona, and the late Dr. Brown, at an evening ceremony at Truett Memorial Baptist Church.

The bride wore a ballet length gown of Chantilly lace with a diamond pendant necklace, a gift from the bridegroom. Joyce Gray attended her sister as maid of honor. Robert L. Brown served his brother as best man.

Ushers were William D. Ashcraft and Robert G. Cooley.

The new Mrs. Brown graduated from Polytechnic High School and is now a junior at Long Beach State College. Her husband graduated from Cal Poly, San Luis Obispo.

The couple will live in Long Beach on their return from a honeymoon.

Who can keep their mind on the cards when a vision in spring finery strolls by? Mmes. Dan Bonar, Lowell Weiner and Donald Brinker (from left) are distracted by Mrs. Don Brock, polishing her modeling style for the Sote Club spring benefit card party and fashion show to be held April 17 at 8 p.m. at the Elks Club. Fashions from Vinson's will be modeled by members Mmes. Brock, Paul Krenwinkle, Joe Jackson, Ralph Sudik and Glenn Miller. Door prizes will be awarded. Mrs. Brinker is chairman of the event. She will be assisted by Mmes. Willard Franssen, Dave Becker, Thomas E. Kustura and Jack Irby. The public is invited to attend. Tickets may be obtained from Mrs. Becker, 3032 Greenbrier Road. Proceeds will go to the Exceptional Children's Foundation.

Fun, Fashion Festival Facts

Festival of Fun and Fashion theater parties are being planned by board members of several Community Chest agencies, according to Howard Conrad, ticket chairman.

The variety show, plus style event, will take place in Long Beach Arena April 24. It is being presented by Downtown Long Beach Associates and Long Beach Naval Shipyard Employes Association.

Among the agencies to reserve blocks of tickets for the event are the Community Volunteer Office, Mrs. Francis Lowry, president, and Long Beach Day Nurseries, headed by Mrs. William Artman.

Other local Chest groups planning to attend in official bodies are the Girl Scout Council, YWCA, Travelers Aid, Boys Clubs, Visiting Nurses Service and Jewish Community Centers.

* * * *

TICKETS for the event are being handled by Chest headquarters and agency offices as well as by Buffums', J. C. Penney's, Sears, Walkers, Downtown Long Beach Associates and Long Beach Naval Shipyard.

Four-year-old James Bradley Jr., a famed drummer who recently was given a contract by Paramount Television, is the latest entertainer to be added to the growing list of stars for festival event.

She Should Be Worried

DEAR ABBY: You are the only person I can turn to with this problem and when you read it you'll know why. My husband likes a bottle of beer after dinner. I don't object to that because he never has more than one. But he likes to drink it out of the baby's bottle and nipple! I thought he was clowning when he fixed it that way once, but now that's the only way he'll drink it. He never does it when anyone else is around, but it makes me sick. The baby is only 7 months old, but he looks so puzzled when he sees his father with a bottle, too. Is this serious or not? My husband is 26 and I am 23.—WORRIED WIFE

ABBY

DEAR WORRIED WIFE: Your husband is either competing with the baby, or expressing a desire to go back to his baby days. I am not a psychiatrist, and your husband needs one. Ask your family doctor to recommend one. And soon! It's serious.

* * * *

DEAR ABBY: I am a high school sophomore and my mother still wants me in the house at 12 o'clock every time I go out on a date. How can I let her know I am not a baby anymore?—NOT A BABY

DEAR NOT: She knows. That's why she wants you in the house at 12 o'clock sharp.

DEAR ABBY: I am 22, single, respectable and lonesome. I am a small town guy who recently moved to a big city to take a daytime job and study law at night. Every evening I pass a certain bakery and see a girl working there. I can't get her out of my mind. She is tall and slim and looks about 20. She has beautiful dark eyes and hair. My problem is how to meet her. I don't know if she's married or going with someone or available. I'm afraid if I walk into the bakery and start a conversation with her she'll think I'm fresh and that will be the end of it. Have you any suggestions?—HONORABLE INTENTIONS

DEAR HONORABLE: Go into the bakery and buy a half dozen cookies. See if she has an engagement or wedding ring. If she's ringless, be just a very pleasant customer on first contact. A few days later, go back again and buy six more cookies. (This is to let her know you live alone: no family man buys six cookies.) Repeat this routine for about two weeks, and if she has any interest in you, she'll engage YOU in conversation. Otherwise, I hope you like cookies.

* * * *

Stop worrying. Write to Abby. For a personal reply enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

India Shares Its Treasures

By MARY NETH

Nothing will raise the eyebrows and ire of a woman from India quicker than the mention of curry powder.

"It's — how would you say? — just vulgar," explains local restauranteur, Sita.

"Personally food cooked with it makes me quite ill. It's not Indian at all."

According to this dark-eyed authority from Bangalore, true Indian cooking is an art that calls for complete training in "marriage of spices."

"The mixture the West calls curry bares no resemblance to the subtle seasonings used by Indian epicures. Each of our dishes calls for a different combination of spices," she says.

The daughter of an Indian diplomat, Sita is eager East and West should meet; is doing her best to replace misinformation about her homeland with true facts; has dedicated her restaurant to being an authentic picture of India from food to festivals.

Counter Action

Besides homecooked Eastern cuisine, the intimate dining rooms ffer interesting, changing collection of Indian imports.

The following are now on display.

Under $3

Radash beads, in natural burnt sienna color, make interesting addition to Hawaiian muumuu costume. In India these prized seed pod necklaces are worn by the Sadhu or holy men.

Under $10

Always attractive Madras cloth comes in stunning color combinations. Intermixed stripes of green on blue, brown on beige, hot pink and red. Wonderful for covering day bed in den or can be used as striking fabric for summer dress. Different sizes priced from $6.95 to $11.95.

For summer — gay colored Indian leather sandals are treat for feet. Each pair is completely different. Handmade, they come in unusual, flattering shapes.

* * * *

Far from brassy — Indian hand worked brass ashtrays make dignified and stunning addition to any room where smokers congregate. Priced from $2 to $10.

* * * *

Serve in silver. Tumblers, champagne, wine and liqueur glasses, all in silver, make any occassion an elegant one. Tumblers are $9.95 each. Other glasses, to match, vary in price.

Under $20

Pure silk sari stoles with decorative gold threads are elegant addition for any wardrobe. Especially lovely for evening wear — as are cashmere stoles. The latter are edged in attractive hand embroidery.

Complete sari costumes also may be ordered. In silk they're priced at about $80; in a printed fabric at $35.

In India, according to Sita, the sari is never thrown away—"It's passed from mother to daughter; sometimes lasts for more than 80 years.

"When a sari finally does wear out, the gold threads are removed and garment is burned."

Practical, saris need no ironing, are worn with half slip and blouses for every occassion.

"I even wore one for the hi-jumping and relay races at school," says Sita. "Different weights of material vary the costume's use."

* * * *

Most unusual, Lotus lamps of hand carved Shisham wood, feature wooden petals that can be opened or closed over inner bulb. No two are alike but each is perfect reproduction of India's national flower. Shisham wood (exceptionally hard) comes from trees especially cultivated for this purpose.

Oswald Jacoby

Spade Slam Is Safer

One of the many advantages of the Jacoby Transfer Bid is that it keeps the play in the no-trump hand. This is particularly important after a two no-trump opening.

Playing at six spades, South simply won the diamond lead, drew trumps, discarded one of his clubs on a heart and made his slam. If North had been declarer East would have opened the queen of clubs and South would have lost the first two tricks.

When this hand was actually played in a Texas duplicate game a few pairs arrived at six no-trump instead of six spades and one South managed to bring the contract home.

West opened the jack of diamonds and South decided that the ace of clubs was going to be in the West hand together with at least four diamonds.

* * * *

THEREFORE, South won the diamond lead in his own hand, ran off three heart tricks in order to discard one of dummy's clubs and then cashed all five spades. He let his last heart go on the fifth spade and West who had discarded two clubs on the first four spades had run out of discards.

He did the best he could and let a club go whereupon South simply led dummy's last club and played low from his own hand. West had to play the ace and South had his twelfth trick.

Grays Note 65th Year

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey A. Gray will mark their 65th marriage milestone Thursday with a quiet dinner at their home, 1250 E. Fourth St.

Resident of Long Beach since 1925 (they owned the Evelyn Court on Orange Avenue for many years), their early married life was a nomadic one.

* * * *

THE COUPLE married April 11, 1898 in Walla, Walla, Wash., and resided for several years in Pálouse, Wash., where he was in the flour mill business. Following was a milling and undertaking career in Oaksdale, Wash., until 1910, seven years of homesteading in Carter, Montana; and thence to Arizona where they were in cotton and alfalfa growing prior to their move to Long Beach.

Recite Vows in So. Pasadena

In the presence of 500 wedding guests, Dr. Richard V. Johnson claimed Carol Lynn Ermshar as his bride in Oneonta Congregational Church, South Pasadena.

The marriage was solemnized by Dr. Wilber Alexander of White Memorial Seventh-day Adventist Church, Los Angeles.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Harold S. Johnson of Long Beach and the late Dr. Johnson. His bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Lloyd Ermshar, Pasadena.

For her marriage she wore a full-length gown of white silk organza and Alencon lace. Lace applique adorned the bouffant skirt which swept to the floor in a chapel train. Her veil of illusion was held by a tiny princess crown.

* * * *

SHE WAS ATTENDED by Sondra Deacon, maid of honor; her sister, Cindy Ermshar, and Marsha Grant, Donna Stebner, Susan Schulze and Diane Foulkenberg, bridesmaids.

Harold S. Johnson, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Another brother, Burton Johnson, ushered with Jerry Schull and Drs. Homer Goulard, Thomas Thompson and Richard Jensen.

* * * *

BEFORE LEAVING on a honeymoon trip to Northern California, the bridal pair greeted guests at a reception in the Ermshar home.

Dr. Johnson is a graduate of Lynwood Academy, Walla Walla College and Loma Linda University school of medicine. His bride completed her education at La Sierra College.

The couple will reside in Glendale.

Smallfry Go High Fashion for Easter

STRICT, STRAIGHT and un-bouncy, new pleated skimmy has sophisticated naivete. Neck-to-hem buttoned back reinstates Puritan look; button-on belt ties side front. No fuss, no overtrim: instead, sculptured, almost carved impression. By Bill Blass for Joseph Love collection.

ENTER EASTER, white sleeveless bodice; jaunty navy pleated skirt, belted in back, buttoned twice. To wear or not to wear: bolero jacket of daffodil yellow. By Bill Blass.

...Paris, Caroline Influence New Look

By MARY ELLIS
I, P-T Fashion Editor

Understated . . . spare silhouette . . . lack of frills.

Sound familiar? It's not only the Jackie Look—it's the Caroline Look, too.

And children's wear designers are hitting it strong in their spring-summer collections because, after all, Caroline is the most famous little girl going.

Yes, it's definitely a like-mother, like-daughter year. Smallfry are going haute couture for the Easter parade this spring.

One manufacturer, Joseph Love, is offering French copies and originals by award-winning New York designer Bill Blass.

THE LOVE STYLES echo the relaxed lines now so much in favor with on-the-go mothers, while still recognizing Paris as fashion's most influential center.

Emerging from this fundamental simplicity are such touches as tailored bows, peripatetic pockets, cutaway collars, important sleeves. In his designs for Love, Blass remains true to his high-fashion credo for women: simple, natural, restrained in spirit.

Some of the dividends: the built-in petticoat, the jaunty pleats (inverted or back-to-back), the belt (this year wider and rising ever so slightly, buttoned in back), sleeves cut short enough to show narrow trim, fly-front closings, the "linen look" in an uninterrupted silhouette.

PEERING BETWEEN the iron railings of the fence around the White House lawn, designers have decided Caroline's style is a "gay, throw-away elegance."

Result: the collarless coatdress . . . deep inverted pleats falling from a high seam (a flattering look for a little girl's figure) . . . side-tied poppvers in gay floral prints to top dresses . . . shirt-shifts, grown down to just above the knee . . . the "A" line in tiny tent dresses, often high-waisted.

It's a whole new world of fashion for young elegants.

After a Fashion

THE "A" LINE flares out in triple tiers in three shades of rose. Newest shape for fashionable little ladies, designer Mary Jane pops pretty bow on this one, lets streamers fall where they may. High round neckline, tiny sleeves complete simplicity of line. Of nylon and cotton, designed to whiz through wash with little-or-no ironing.

(For information where styles can be purchased, call I, P-T, HE 5-1161, Ext. 350.)

Gals in White Earn His Undying Praise

Dear Molly Mayfield

I got out of the hospital yesterday and though I have not much strength yet, I think I've enough to sound off some complaints for some saints. Tell me, how do those angels in white keep their balance?

I was in orbit getting powdered and rubbed and waited on, but some of the fellows had those nurses exhausted answering their calls.

I think I had my light on twice the whole time. Once we won't mention, and the other time I had waited an hour for my dinner. Seems they had forgotten me.

I know I won't dread a return engagement if one is in the cards, because being nursed is divine and I'm not. Bless their nightingale hearts!—MR. D. Z.

DEAR MR. D. Z.:

Bless you for your fine commentary on one of my favorite groups of gals.

From time to time I have letters crabbing about these angelic (certainly for the most part) critters, and I'm always pretty sure the writer is close kin to a species of crab himself!—M. M.

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

I believe I'll be the first teen-ager to have a nervous breakdown before I'm 16. If you have any answers besides the obvious running away or doing away with myself, please throw them fast. I have seven sisters and brothers.

I get privileges, sure, but I have to baby-sit. I finally talked myself into the fact that it would only be a few more years and the baby I now sit for would be a sitter. Then the shocking realization hit me. My mother's pregnant again!

My parents love each other. But they ought to know when to stop! This is the last straw!—BLUE ME.

DEAR BLUE ME:

I hope the baby doesn't arrive until you get that bottle out of your mouth. For shame! How many children parents have is up to them. You don't have to bear them!

But really, I like you, and think you'll beat the breakdown. You talked yourself into good sense once, you'll do a repeat. That's what makes teens neat. So settle down and give the baby back its bottle.—M. M.

* * * *

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

I met a fellow at a bar. At the time he seemed nice enough and after a few evenings we began dating. Then he left town but told me if ever I got to his home town to call him or his brother.

About a month later I got the chance, mainly to see him again. When I called his number a woman answered. To my surprise she was his wife and he had four children.

She proceeded to tell me she didn't think I was a very nice girl for calling a family man to arrange a rendezvous. And, to add insult to injury, told me in a smart way that I had no business calling his brother, either, because he was married, too.

Please tell me how I can apologize. — MIXED - UP MARILYN.

DEAR MIXED-UP:

This is one time an apology would be wasted. The man didn't treat you fairly but the fairest thing you can do is to resolve to check your bar facts better.—M. M.

Bills, Not Blondes, Cause Runaway Hubbies

As a cause for wandering husbands, blondes are highly overrated.

So, for that matter, are brunettes and redheads.

Dan Eisenberg, who has been tracking and bagging wayward spouses for years, is pretty sure on this point.

This ace New York sleuth, who founded and directs Tracers Company of America, says it doesn't pay to look for the other woman because, in most cases, she just doesn't exist.

Husbands, he has discovered, leave home to avoid responsibility — not because they have been trapped by another, more alluring female.

Where do the errant breadwinners head?

According to Eisenberg, they most often gallop off in search of an idyllic Huck Finn land of adventure and play.

He has found them aboard ships; on desert isles; deep in the jungle; along the banks of quiet trout streams.

WHILE UNCOVERING the trails of these wandering males, Eisenberg has uncovered some choice bits about human nature, too.

For instance, he has come to the conclusion that men are heels—and women don't care.

"Women are steadier. They bring home the bacon, cook it, take care of the kids, and welcome home the wandering daddies with love and kisses."

The men? "There is no doubt about it," says Eisenberg, "husbands are a pretty sorry lot. They are the ones who'll skip out on mortgage and TV payments. Women have a lot more stick-to-itiveness and a larger sense of obligation."

IN TRACKING down more than 2,000 straying husbands each year, Eisenberg has come up with a composite picture of the vagabonds.

Take a close look at your hubby gals, here's the detective's eye view of the wanderer:

He is between 40 and 50, about 5 feet 7 inches, weighs about 162 pounds, is rather dark complexioned and good looking, was married at 26, lives in a city of 50,000 or more, has no children and likes to go to the movies.

He was popular with the girls before marriage, hasn't played around since, and oddly enough, he made better than average marks in school.

IF IT ISN'T the lure of an alluring female that takes the men away from their little nests, what is it?

According to Eisenberg, it's one, or a combination, of the following: financial problems, unhappy home life, in-law trouble, pure escapism.

"If there is a blonde, she's only incidental," continues the sharp sleuth.

"The troubles always come first, the consoling female is an afterthought."

But, Eisenberg does grant that there are exceptions. Seems the other woman IS an important factor where younger men are concerned.

"Married in their 20s, they begin to get itchy feet in their 30s," Eisenberg explains. "They feel they've missed something in life, they want their freedom or at least a brief fling."

However, since this group makes up only 15 percent of all missing males, the other woman problem is still pretty negligible, as he sees it.

IN GENERAL Eisenberg thinks the lucky woman is one whose husband earns an average income, "Arguments seem to begin because of too much or too little money," he says, "and most divorces occur among people in the higher income bracket."

The lunch pail carrying, average John Doe, can't afford the extravagence of a fling.

"But," adds detective Dan hastily, "don't get too smug if your husband falls into this category. This is just the type of easy-going fellow who may get tired of the grind and take off. . . especially if he is behind in bills."

Anyway you look at it, girls, seems you just can't win.

There is a bit of consoling news, though. Eisenberg has found, believe it or not, that most roaming Romeos are happy to be found.

The little lost lambies are tickled pink to get back to the fold. Why? Well, often enough the far away isle turns out to be a grind, too.

TAKE THE case of the well-known surgeon who after performing his quota of operations for the day — didn't return home that evening.

In fact, he didn't return home at all.

His frantic wife finally hired Eisenberg to head the hunt. Seems the police could find no clues. An esteemed pillar of the community with no questionable habits, the surgeon left a slim trail.

But, Eisenberg did find him.

During the detective's initial interviews with the family, he happened to notice some replicas of old boats in the doctor's study and asked about them.

"He loved the sea," said his wife, "That's why we live near the ocean. But, we've never owned a boat. He doesn't sail."

THAT WAS enough for detective Dan. On a hunch he sent a Tracer's operative to the waterfront. After hanging around the docks and asking questions for a few weeks, the tracer overheard some interesting conversation.

A couple of sailors were talking about a marvelous operation that had taken place at sea.

Seems one sailor had removed another's appendix with a butcher knife and saved his life.

YOU GUESSED it. When the ship docked two months later, the sea-going surgeon came waltzing down the gang plank.

And, was she ever happy to see his wife!

"Dear," said he, "I always wanted to go to sea — now I've done it and my, its wonderful to be back on dry land again.

"Let's go home — I can hardly wait for one of your homecooked dinners."

So, gals don't despair, keep cooking the bacon. The man who used to bring it home will probably be home himself someday.

Sea chanties and jungle safaris can't compare to a good home cooked meal. And, if there is a blonde, it's a good bet she can't boil water.

Musicians Criticize Critics

By RACHEL MORTON
I. P-T Music Critic

The editors of a magazine called "Bravo" conceived the unique idea recently of asking some notable musicians to criticize music critics.

A questionnaire was submitted to them and although such a golden opportunity for retaliation was offered, only a few accepted the challenge, and only upon the stipulation that their names would not be revealed.

Some of the questions and answers I found very interesting and illuminating:

QUESTION: "In your opinion, is the quality of music criticism in the United States excellent — good—mediocre or poor?"

Answers: "Generally speaking, the largest cities have completely informed music critics; in most smaller cities the paper sends a reporter without specific musical knowledge to review concerts."

"Many conservatory graduates are moving to smaller cities; their knowledge is an improvement over the past."

* * * *

QUESTION: "If you had a most gifted child or student whose career could be determined by a performance before one or two American critics, whom would you choose?"

Answers: "The very fact that the situation described exists is a sad commentary on what determines careers in the U. S."

"I would choose none of the critics; I prefer the judgment of the public."

* * * *

QUESTION: "Is there any critic whose writings so intrigue you that you would like to know him socially?"

Answers: "I would like to meet Claudia Cassidy; I don't think much of her judgments and she makes errors with great regularity, but her writing makes me think she must be fascinating."

* * * *

QUESTION: "Do you believe that old adage that most critics are really frustrated performers?"

There were eight answers in the affirmative; and 17 answered No.

A music critic of the Columbus Dispatch, Samuel Wilson, was once attacked for writing negatively about a certain violinist.

"How dare you say such things, when you can't even play a violin?" he was challenged.

Wilson replied:

"I can't lay an egg either, but I can tell a good one from a bad one."

* * * *

QUESTION: "Do you think a critic should follow a performance with a score?

Answers: "It's absurd—he would miss the whole point of the performance — the thing that the artist gives to the music. If it is pedantic perfection he wants, I suggest he stay home with his record player."

"I don't know why a critic should follow a performance with a score—since almost all of them cannot read scores."

"He should do his homework BEFORE class."

* * * *

THE ARTICLE closes with these pertinent remarks by the critic who asked the questions:

"A critic must take a firm stand on controversial matters if he is a man of integrity. This is not the easy course; on the contrary, one can live more peaceably by avoiding the touchy issues. After all, criticism is not a popularity contest."

Major and Minor Notes

Orchestra Lists New Schedule

The music director of the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra, Zubin Mehta, will be back for a longer period with the orchestra during the 1963-64 season, and five guest conductors will be on hand when Mehta fills other commitments.

Guest conductors for the 45th season opening Nov. 14 will be: Bernard Haitink, co-conductor of the Concertgebouw Orchestra of Amsterdam; Rafael Kubelik, Czech musician, former music director of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra; Charles Munch, former music head of the Boston Symphony Orchestra; Fritz Reiner, former music director of the Chicago Symphony; and Andre Vandernoot, young Belgian. All have conducted the Philharmonic previously except Kubelik and Vandernoot.

* * * *

SOLOISTS next season will be: pianists: Paul Badura-Skoda, Malcolm Frager, Eugene Istomin, Rudolf Serkin, and Ralph Votapek (who won the recent Cliburn competition in Fort Worth, Tex.); violinists: David Frisina, Ivry Gitlis, Yehudi Menuhin and Henryk Szeryng.

Rossmoor Festival May 7-12

By ELISE EMERY
Arts Page Editor

Club women and businessmen are designing a festival, complete with juried art show and scheduled performances of drama, dance puppetry and folk-singing.

The first annual Rossmoor Center Festival of the Arts will take place May 7 through 12, announce Mrs. Richard Cornish, president of Rossmoor Woman's Club, and Jack W. Pullen, president of Rossmoor Center Businessmen's Association, co-sponsors of the event.

"The festival is planned to bring the best of the arts to the area and adjacent community," said Pullen.

The art exhibit, open to all residents of Southern California, will be juried by Kenneth Ross, director of Los Angeles Municipal Art Department; Gerald Nordland, dean of faculty at Chouinard Art Institute; and June Wayne, director of Tamarind Lithography Workshop.

Purchase awards totaling $1,050 will be given and other cash prizes will be announced.

Further information may be had by writing Rossmoor Center Festival of the Arts, P.O. Box 246, Los Alamitos.

THREE NEW EXHIBITS open today at Long Beach Museum of Art, 2300 E. Ocean Blvd., and will continue through April 28.

In the downstairs galleries are paintings by Helen Lundeberg and "Varieties of Wedgwood" from the Buten Museum in Merion, Pa.

"Six Spanish Painters" is the show in the upstairs gallery. It is made up of 30 works by contemporary artists Jose Made Sucre, Santi Suros, Ricardo Fradera, Zarraluqui, Pablo Olle and Marta Estrada.

Traveling under auspices of the Western Association of Art Museums, the exhibit is sponsored by the American-European Cultural Exchange Program.

An opening reception will be held today from 2 to 4 p.m.

* * * *

DOROTHY PRIESMEIER will conduct a critique session for Norwalk Art Association Tuesday at 8 p.m. in Elmcroft School cafetorium, 14716 Elmcroft Ave., Norwalk. The public is invited.

Miss Priesmeier has had many one-woman and group shows. She has taught art in the Los Angeles County school system for the past 10 years.

CATHERINE M. Richter's watercolor and lithographs of a colonial Mexican town, San Miguel de Allende, are being shown in Padua Hills Theater, Claremont, through April. The exhibition was shown earlier in Pacific Coast Club here.

Mrs. Richter, a member of Long Beach Branch of the National League of American Pen Women, resides in Laguna Beach.

"SHADOW OF THE BRIDGE" is one of 20 paintings by Helen Lundeberg on view at Long Beach Museum of Art. Done in 1962, the work was exhibited in the "50 California Artists" show at Whitney Museum, New York, and is on loan from Ankrum Gallery.

AT OFF-BROADWAY

The Princess (Galen McClure), waking in a strange hotel, says "I don't know who you are," to Chance (Will Zuck) in Tennessee Williams' "Sweet Bird of Youth" at Off-Broadway Theater, 211 Lime Ave. Play begins Friday, Saturday at 8:30 p. m.; Sunday at 8 o'clock.

Many Films Are Yours to Borrow

April is the big month for planning family trips, vacations, and all-out warfare against garden pests, and according to Miss Nina Boyle, head of Film Service at the Main Library, many of the offerings on the current film circuit list are suited to those needs.

One of three films which may be borrowed during April without a service charge is "Family Outings," about a camping trip to Baniff National Park. Another, "The Cape Islander," is the story of boats in Nova Scotian waters.

"Balance in Nature," a study in natural conservation, explains the life cycles of the villain aphid and his natural enemies which are found in the insect world.

The other circuit films require a service charge. They are: "Black and White in South Africa;" "Daughter of Changing Japan;" "An Impression of London;" "Mars and Beyond;" "Mohammedan World;" "Quelico;" "Return to the River;" "Safety in the Water;" "Shoebox Full of Dreams;" and "Time of Wonder."

Recent film additions to the library's permanent collection are: "Atoms for Peace;" "Atomic Power and the U.S.A.;" "Introducing the Atom;" "Scientific Advancement;" "Working Together;" and "Bear Country."

'Positive Approach' in Schmerler Paintings

By VIRGINIA LADDEY

The one-woman show of oil paintings by Edna Schmerler opens today with a reception from 2 to 4 p.m. at the Pacific Coast Club, 850 E. Ocean Blvd., and will continue through April 30.

Mrs. Schmerler, a young, dynamic grandmother, wife of a professional man, and proficient in a wide variety of crafts (including that of a licensed contractor), brings to her work a positive approach. She has complete control of her pigment and composition. One could almost wish she could let go with more freedom as in "Safad," the buildings and trees of an Israeli village.

* * * *

THERE ARE TWO current series in the show with a sprinkling of earlier works. The first is a baker's dozen in which an almost monochromatic color scheme is employed. In each, the background is laid on with a palette knife in a pleasing texture while to lower center floats a complex of black-lined, cubistic planes in complete balance. The most successful, to me, are "The Carnival," with its powerful solid movement, and "Old Greenwich Village."

* * * *

THE SECOND SERIES, of which five are shown, is a more recent pre-occupation. The entire canvas is covered with amphorphous forms developed into charming and pleasing relattionships. The effect could be small sprightly waterbabies, dancing leaves, busy amoebae, or whatever relates to the viewer's "inner eye." As she progresses with this interesting phase, Mrs. Schmerler might be interested in more subtle color.

The show reflects serious dedication and a real feeling for the medium. It will be a pleasure to look forward to Mrs. Schmerler's progress.

Bowl Season Opens July 9

Elisabeth Schwarzkopf, celebrated opera soprano, will be featured on the opening of Hollywood Bowl's 42nd season of Symphonies Under the Stars, July 9, in a gay Viennese program.

Opening night in the Bowl will be the 1,280th season event since the first starlit symphonies in 1922. The 1963 season will consist of nine weeks of symphonies by the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra conducted by noted conductors with famous soloists, and the Saturday night "Pops" series.

Special events for other nights are being planned for the summer Bowl schedule.

Shapiros to Play for Arts Club

Constantine Shapiro, cellist, and Lydia Shapiro, pianist, will play a concert for Musical Arts Club members and guests Thursday at 8 p.m. in Westminster Presbyterian Church, Third Street and Molino Avenue.

Both artists were born in Russia. Shapiro studied with teachers in Moscow and Leipsig and appeared in concerts in Germany, Palestine, Japan and the United States. Mrs. Shapiro studied at Berlin Academy of Music and concertized in China, Japan, Palestine and this country.

The program will include works by Faure, Popper, Rachminoff, Chopin and Liszt.

'Aparajito' at Center Saturday

"Aparajito," second film of the Satyajit Ray Indian Trilogy, will be shown Saturday evening at Jewish Community Center, 2601 Grand Ave.

The story concerns young Apu, poor but proud Brahmin boy who gradually realizes that a better life awaits the educated man. With teen-age indifference, he allows his mother to sacrifice herself to his ambition. Although mood, setting and characters are Indian, the film serves to prove that relationships between parent and child are universal.

* * * *

ALSO ON the program are the Polish short, "Ragamuffin," about a small boy's desires, dreams and disappointments, and "The Sea Horse," fantasy in which a young girl's dream of a horse rising from the sea comes true.

Admission is free to subscribers to the center's Foreign Film Festival, nominal to others, half price to students. Doors open at 8:15; film begins at 8:30 p.m.

'Tomorrow,' 'Moonbird' on Series

Long Beach Film Society will show the French film, "Tomorrow Is My Turn," today at 5 and 7:30 p.m. in Long Beach State College Little Theater.

* * * *

THERE IS ALMOST no shooting in the story of two French soldiers, a lowly baker and an ambitious journalist.

Captured early, the two soldiers take different roads to freedom. It is in the interplay of emotions of those concerned — friends, acquaintances and enemies — that the story comes to life.

"Moonbird," a color cartoon which won first prize at the 1958 Venice Film Festival, completes the bill.

On Stage---

They Say Finance Is Fun

By CURTYNE DRISCOLL

"I love it. I wouldn't do anything else," says Mrs. Mary Snider.

"Every department is interesting," enthuses Mrs. Bettie Kiernan.

"Never a dull minute," claims Mrs. Veda Randolph.

What is it that these women find so exciting? The banking business!

Today seven out of 10 people in banking are women, according to a recent California Bankers Association survey. Some 48,000 women hold bank jobs in the state.

The positions they hold cover the full gamut of bank operations, from teller to president to board chairman—or is it chairwoman?

Women find bankers' hours (usually 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.) convenient if they have a family, they enjoy meeting the public and the pay is commensurate with men in the same jobs.

MRS SNIDER is an officer of the Bank of America, Fourth Street and Pine Avenue, and supervisor of the note department. She will celebrate her 20th year with the bank in October.

She deals primarily with foreign exchange and travelers' checks and enjoys every minute of it.

Mrs. Snyder says that many new careers are now opening to women in banking and that machine operation training is very helpful.

MRS. KIERNAN is an escrow officer at the bank. She started her banking career when she was just out of high school in Blair, Neb., where she was the only female employe in a small bank.

"Of all the departments that I have worked in, escrow is the most interesting . . . and the most difficult," Mrs. Kiernan said.

She finds the problems of customers in escrow fascinating. The men involved usually stick pretty much to the big issues. It is the women who nail down whether the draperies and the dishwasher are included.

Mrs. Kiernan feels that there are excellent opportunities for young women in banking. She suggests typing and shorthand as basic skills in preparation for a banking career. She has found shorthand an invaluable asset.

SAFE DEPOSIT BOXES are the very special province of Mrs. Randolph. Some of her older customers drop in every day for a peek in their box and a little chit-chat. She has some very merry tales to tell.

After seven years of non-payment of rent, the boxes are opened and the contents sent to a state agency. Some of the contents of these boxes are pretty astounding.

One of the boxes opened recently contained a piece of bark, two feathers and a blown egg!

The state agency must have been exceptionally impressed with the arrival of those treasures.

SPECIAL TRAINING is offered to all women bank employes. Some banks now have special women's divisions. Others have women representatives that call on women customers.

Banking has changed.

It's the women now who handle the change.

THEY ARE IN the banking business and love it! Veda Randolph, Mary Snider and Bettie Kiernan (from left) reflect the new look in California banking, where 48,000 women are now employed in responsible positions.

Soroptimist Club Plans Annual Easter Breakfast

Long Beach Soroptimists' annual Easter breakfast will be held Friday at 7:30 a.m. in the Red Velvet Room of the Lafayette Hotel. This will be the 30th anniversary of the event, originated by former president Lillian Newman Komaroff in 1933.

Helen Fuller, chairman for the day, will introduce Capt. Betty Stillwell, Rev. David C. Le Shana and Joseph R. Bjorndahl.

Reservations may be made with Edith Holton.

For their final informational program of March, Long Beach Soroptimists were given a tour of the U.S. Federal Correctional Institution, Department of Justice, on Terminal Island. Associate Warden Eleanor Holleran was hostess for the luncheon which followed the tour.

Organizing your ironing can help you speed this weekly job. Iron the same types of clothing together, such as handerchiefs and flat pieces, all shirts, all dresses, etc. You will find that you develop a rhythm for each set that cuts down on time.

WHY GROW OLD?

Heat, Exercise May Help Aching Neck, Shoulders

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Many folks "get it in the neck" when they are tired or tense. In other words, fatigue may concentrate on the neck so that it actually aches. With me, this is a real barometer of my condition.

Many housewives and career women fail to realize that neck muscles become tense when women sit for long periods doing concentrated work. The work may be typing, sewing, writing letters, needlepoint, knitting, preparing vegetables, taking dictation or any other activity where the head is kept in much the same position for a long period of time. You may also feel this weariness through the shoulders.

* * * *

THERE ARE exercises which are extremely helpful and relaxing after a long session such as this. Here are two of them:

1. Stand tall. Let your arms hang limply at your sides. As you lift your shoulders, lower your head backwards. Lower your shoulders and return the head to its normal position. Continue, slowly.

2. Lie on the floor, on your back. Raise your arms upward so that your arms are at right angles to your body. Keeping the arm in this position, reach toward the ceiling with your right arm. Relax. Continue. Do this very slowly.

Heat is a great help for those who "get it in the neck." If you have this problem, first, lie down for a short rest period with a hot water bottle under your neck. Then do the two exercises I have suggested.

* * * *

IF ANY of you would like to have my leaflet, "Your Stiff Neck," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 18. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Engagement of Morganne Lee Arnold to David Ball has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Arnold, Long Beach.

The wedding will take place in St. Luke's Episcopal Church here Aug. 31.

Miss Arnold will be the third generation of her family to marry in Long Beach. Her grandparents, the Charles E. Akers, came to Long Beach in 1909 where he was affiliated with Security First National Bank.

In 1912 their daughter, Deborah, married S. Morse Travers in a ceremony performed in the home of her parents. In 1938 their daughter, Zella Margaret, married Robert E. Arnold in the same family home at Ninth Street and Magnolia Avenue.

* * * *

MISS ARNOLD'S fiance is the son of the Rev. and Mrs. Harold G. Ball, Middleport, N.Y. He was graduated from Yale University and is in his last year of law school at Columbia University. He was a member of Skull and Bones at Yale.

She was graduated from Poly High and earned her BA from Mills College and MA from Columbia University. She also attended the University of Bristol, Bristol, England.

Petrol to Salad Oil

By MILDRED K. FLANARY
I.P-T Food Editor

Chef of the Week

It may sound ambiguous, but today's Chef of the Week, James Stockman, is a petroleum engineer, engaged in the hotel business, with headquarters in Santa Rosa.

With that background, what brings him to Long Beach?

Well, he's president of Transwestern Hotels, Inc., and the major domo behind this city's Edgewater In Marina Hotel, down Marina way. City Center Motel at Third and Atlantic is another of his properties.

His headquarters in Santa Rosa resulted from that city's need for a new hotel which he just got busy and built, then stayed.

Stockman was born in Wichita, Kan. He was graduated from Kansas State College, Manhattan, and did a year's graduate work at Oklahoma University at Norman. He majored in mechanical and petroleum engineering.

* * * *

FOLLOWING graduation, he joined the Shell Oil Company in New York City. While there, along with his engineering, another of his propensities came to the fore. He edited the Shell Company magazine. He earlier cut his editor's teeth on his college paper.

Stockman boosted the Air Force roster by one in World War II, a pilot at the controls of a B-29. Part of his service was spent in Tinian, in the Mid-Pacific, as a test pilot.

At the war's close he rereturned to New York—rejoined Shell Oil. This time, however, it was under the guidance of Jimmy Doolittle, as sales manager for Domestic Airlines. He also served as assistant to the President of Shell, before being transferred to San Francisco as Shell's California sales manager.

* * * *

ONE DAY the urge to be in his own business overcame him, and he resigned from Shell and entered the real estate business. Eight years later — and with eight hotels to his credit, he now calls Long Beach his second home.

Come summer, he will be joined here by his wife, Betty Bill, and sons, James Bradley, 17, and Gregory, 15. Mrs. Stockman, a graduate of the University of Northwestern's McDill School of Journalism, is very active in the company, serving as its vice president.

Each year he and the boys journey to Wyoming in search of antelope, buffalo and deer. That accomplished, they fish.

A colonel in the Air Force Reserve, Stockman flies his own DC-3, and has more than 8,000 flying hours to his credit.

* * * *

THOUGH he travels extensively, he is active in the Rotary Club of Santa Rosa, serves on the Bay Area board of governors and on the executive council of Boy Scouts in the Bay Area. He is a member of the board of the Kelley Heart Foundation.

Last fall, our "chef" spent 22 days as a member of a business men's group, sent by the State Department, to Leningrad. There he discovered a Russian Dressing which he says is delicious on a Caesar Salad.

RUSSIAN DRESSING

Combine ¾ cup mayonnaise, ¼ cup chili sauce, 2 tablespoons minced green pepper, 1 tablespoon cider vinegar, ½ teaspoon paprika, ½ cup sour cream and 1 hard-cooked egg finely chopped. Shake in a pint jar until thoroughly mixed. Chill. Yield 2 cups.

CAESAR SALAD

In a wooden bowl put whole romaine leaves (8 servings). Sprinkle with salt and fresh ground black pepper to taste. Sprinkle with Parmesan cheese (2½ tablespoons per serving) over the romaine. Add croutons that have been seasoned with garlic and anchovy paste (4 per person) over greens and toss lightly. Break coddled egg (coddled one minute, using 1 egg for 2 persons) onto greens and toss again lightly. Add Russian Dressing and toss again. Always toss salad in same direction.

Keith Andes to Present Top Awards

Court Marian 1669, Catholic Daughters of America, will present local awards and trophies to finalists and semi-finalists in the state poetry - essay contest Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in Woodmen of the World Hall, 11 W. Plymouth St.

KEITH ANDES

Children have entered the contest from St. Barnabas, St. Pancratius and St. Athanasius schools. Nine of their entries will be sent on for state and national competition. Winners will be announced May 26.

LOCAL AWARDS will be made by Keith Andes, who soon will be seen as guest star in a Perry Mason television show. He currently is appearing in the "This Man Dawson" series and will co-star with Glynis Johns in a Desilu series. In May, he and Martha Raye will have leading roles in "Wild Cat" in San Diego. Earlier, Andes starred in the Broadway production with Lucille Ball.

Refreshments will be served after the presentations. Carolyn Mooney, chairman of education, is in charge of the evening's program.

OUR COVER

Cover girl Lee Remick, nominated for an Academy Award for her performance in Warner Bros.' "Days of Wine and Roses," is the youngest of five candidates battling for an Oscar tomorrow night in the "Best Actress" category. This is Miss Remick's first time at bat in the Awards derby. She is competing against such skilled troupers as Bette Davis, who won her 10th nomination for "Whatever Happened to Baby Jane?" and has collected two Oscars; Katharine Hepburn, with nine nominations and one Oscar; Geraldine Page, with three nominations; and Anne Bancroft, a first-time nominee but a seasoned Broadway star repeating her stage role in the film, "The Miracle Worker." Long Beach's 2,000 parking meters—those minute machines which regulate life with more authority than an alarm clock—are tended by four comely girls called meter maids. They play no favorites: so far, only Santa Claus has escaped getting a ticket for overparking. And their job's not always fun. If you think so, read "The Maids Who Tend the Parking Meters" in next week's Southland.

Operation Eggs...for Easter

By Vivian Brown

Young hands find employment in making this bunny and angel from tinfoil, tubing, crayon, hard-cooked eggs.

SMALL FRY are perennially charmed by the Easter bunny, and his arrival means another season of enjoyment for the children. They adore helping Mom—and the rabbit—color the eggs and prepare a festive Easter table.

The children may try their hand at creating charming table centerpieces, party favors or eggs for the Easter basket with hard-cooked eggs, aluminum foil and the tube from a foil box. Faces and costumes may be created from scraps of felt or crepe papers, bright ribbons, sequins, little tidbits from the sewing box, crayons.

To start the operation rolling, Mom may assist the youngsters by cutting the foil box in sections from 3 to 6 inches long. Make three inch-long slits in one end of each tube section and overlap the cut edges with tape. One end of the tube will then be tapered. Cover it with foil. Glue the egg, narrow end down, into the tapered end of the tube.

IF AN EASTER rabbit is being created, cut the ears of double-thick strips of foil about 4½ inches long. Pinch the end of the ears and glue or tape to the head. A triangle of crepe paper or felt forms the nose, glued on with the rabbit's whiskers that may be made from three or four very narrow strips of foil. Eyes are made from crepe paper, felt or fabric. Finish the rabbit with a pert bow tie or long ribbon necktie.

Foil curls are the beauty mark of a doll or angel egg head or a little girl going to the Easter parade. Prepare body and egg head the same way as for the rabbit. Cut ¼ inch strips of double-thick foil, curling each strip around a pencil before attaching it to the heard. A heart shaped mouth may be drawn with crayon or cut from red crepe paper, or it may be a heart-shaped or round red sequin. Fluttery eye-lashes are cut from black crepe paper or felt. Add a lace collar, tiny necklace or bright bow to make a shimmering doll for the Easter party table.

Making these egg heads should be lots of fun for the children.

Tall and Short of It

Oddity among usually straight-growing Redwood Empire trees is twisted giant, Corkscrew Tree.

IN THE 400-MILE coastal stretch between San Francisco and Oregon are the tallest of all trees . . . and the shortest.

Sequoia sempervirens, the Coast Redwood which grows nowhere else in nature, towers to 359 feet in South Humboldt County's awesome Rockefeller Grove. Near Fort Bragg, on the Mendocino coast, visitors stoop to see a pygmy forest whose mature pines and cypresses are only 18 inches tall.

Between these opposite growth-poles, other trees in the Empire are passing strange. Two beside the highway in Humboldt County live despite holes you can drive a car through. Several house stores. Fallen giants have reincarnated themselves, and sprout branches larger than most other trees. There are redwoods in corkscrew shape, some triangulated like a flatiron, and many with giant warts, or "burls" at their base.

Some have turned to stone. Near Calistoga, land of steam geysers, a prehistoric volcano leveled and petrified an entire forest.

INSPIRED BY these woodsy oddities, man has done his best to keep pace in the Redwood Empire. At Santa Rosa is a church built in 1875 entirely from the wood of one giant sequoia. At Asti beside the Redwood Highway is another shaped like a wine cask. At Eureka, the 1880-vintage Carson Mansion rears its gingerbread grandeur in toplofty disdain of normal-sized neighbors.

Not to be outdone, the Empire's animal kingdom offers tree-eating bears. In Humboldt County's hinterlands, they develop a liking for sweet sapwood, and destroy hundreds of young trees annually. Here Bruin's sweet tooth is his undoing, for the state has declared year-round open season on the tree-eaters.

A Touch of Spring

By Marguerite Ransford

ORIGINALITY in methods of presentation and the wide range of materials used add unusual interest to the annual exhibit of the Flower Arrangers' Guild of Southern California at the San Marino Woman's Club, 1800 Huntington Drive, San Marino, from 1 to 9 p.m. Thursday and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday. Theme of the show is "It's Spring Again."

The guild has 25 members who represent outstanding achievement in the flower arrangement field in Southern California, including the Long Beach area. Shows are not competitive and each member strives only to present the most beautiful and distinctive compositions within limits of her ability. Presentations are guided only by art principles and lack static rules. Freedom of expression, freshness and ingenuity are encouraged.

Dorothy Hill of Rossmoor uses purple Italian glass fruits on white sliced rock, snake grass and small white flowers for a guild arrangement. Container is lacquered, light blue, on white and blue glass stand.

Mankind dredges up strange denizens from the sea, like this pinto lobster taken in a trap at San Diego. It is only the second one ever seen north of Mexican border.

Few persons on the Pacific Coast have ever seen a scabbard fish (above), but a fisherman once dredged up 1½ tons of them in his nets at 140 fathoms off Newport Beach.

Weirdies of the Deeps

By Donnell Culpepper

JUST AS IT IS with birds of the air and creatures of the land, fish are diverse in their habits—some liking to roam and some desiring to stay pretty much put. And the roamers have provided the California Department of Fish and Game with some rare and strange individuals—at least, in these parts.

Take, for instance, a strange catch just off Newport Beach last year. A trawl fisherman, trying for anything he could get, netted one and one-half tons of scabbard fish in 140 fathoms of water.

Prior to that, the Fish and Game folks say, probably no more than 30 persons on this coast had ever seen a scabbard fish. Why such a large school should be netted off Southern California is a question that only the fish can answer.

SCABBARD FISH are common on the Atlantic Coast and are classed as excellent fare for the table.

This is the time of year that the DFG takes stock of the rare specimens turned in by anglers whose curiosity led them to the DFG's marine resources laboratory on Terminal Island. Fifty persons left 76 rare "critters" of the deep for classification in 1962.

One fisherman, Louis Zermatten, San Pedro, caught 11 species of rare fish and took all to the laboratory. Harry Barrington, Santa Babara, contributed four rare species. Ten other anglers contributed two species and 38 presented one each to the marine biologists.

Almost every kind of marine organism was involved—lamp shells, corals, lobsters, crabs, octopuses, clams, squids, heteropods, snails, starfishes, sea urchins, a sea anemone and many food items taken from the stomachs of migratory albacore.

ONE SQUID was the first of its kind in California; it's possible that it will be new to science everywhere. Two starfishes taken in extremely deep water off Catalina Island also are new to science.

A pinto lobster was the second of its kind ever taken off California. It was trapped at San Diego.

Forty years ago a lamp shell (brachiopod) was taken off Santa Monica. The second was taken in 1962 in approximately the same location.

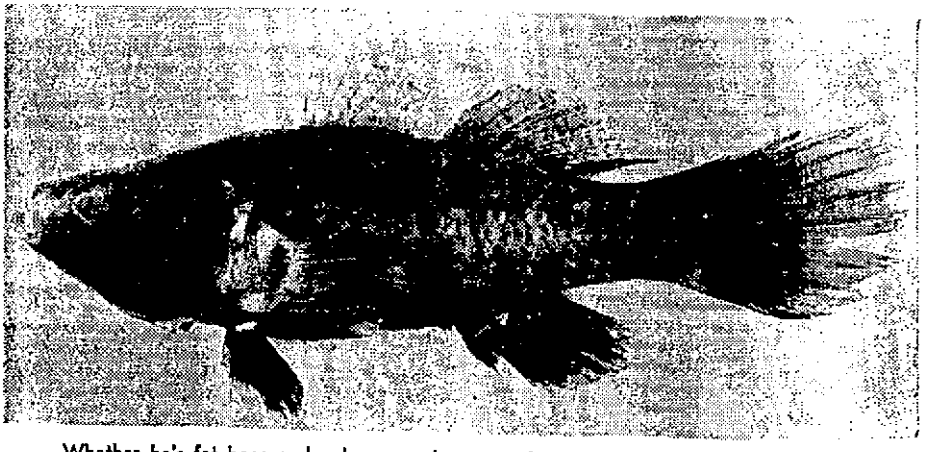

Several fish represented new size records and one shark had never been seen before.

So rare that it doesn't have a name, this fish is called Luvarus Imperialis by scientists who know their fins.

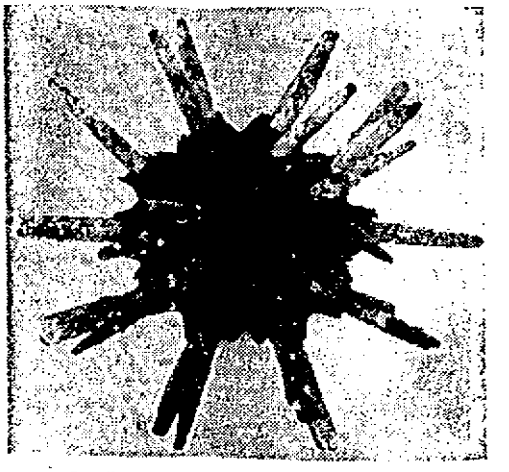

Another rare one: Vomer declirifrons. No common name. Maybe you'd like to name him . . . like Homer the Vomer.

Whether he's fat because he sleeps or vice versa, his name nevertheless is Pacific Fat Sleeper. He was hooked in rather deep water off the coastline of Palos Verdes.

Small squid are common in Southern California waters but seldom does one get this large. Giant squid above, also called J. B. Phillips squid, was netted off Long Beach and measured more than 6 feet across tentacles.

Satellite in the sky? Not at all, just a club-spine urchin taken off Catalina.

Crown Princes and Cinderellas

Will Dodgers and Angels Go All the Way?

By Hank Hollingworth

Famous foursome of the Los Angeles Dodgers lineup. Don Drysdale, Tommy Davis, Sandy Koufax, Maury Wills, a powerhouse of pitching, hitting and base stealing. Will they and their mates make it to the 1963 World Series?

GRAPEFRUIT and Cactus League schedules—the experimental grounds of all major league baseball clubs—go out the window Tuesday when the Dodgers and Angels open their official 1963 major league campaigns.

This is D-Year for both clubs—the Year of Decision.

The Dodgers have to decide whether 1962 was a fluke and they really are the No. 1 team in the National League.

The Angels have to decide if they're for real. The most astonishing team in the lengthy history of baseball, the Angels stunned the nation in 1962 when they finished the 10-team American League race in third place . . . in only their second year of existence!

Which club has the most difficult task? From a neutral viewpoint, this observer would have to designate the Dodgers.

EVEN THOUGH Walter O'Malley's club finished second in its league—after a thrilling three-game playoff with the San Francisco Giants—most of the hot dog and peanut-eating citizenry called the Dodgers 'bums," a name by which they were cherished in their Brooklyn birthplace, but which had only a derogatory meaning in Southern California.

Don't blame the fans, blame the Dodgers. The club boasted a four-game lead over the Giants with just seven contests to play. Not even Lloyds of London nor the bookies in Las Vegas would have quoted a price on the Dodgers blowing the pennant with that margin.

Yet they did!

A pennant they should have wrapped up in their knapsack days before the season concluded, went up in puffs of smoke when O'Malley's heroes managed to sandbag only one of their final seven games.

AS A RESULT, the Giants slid through the back door and into a regular season-ending tie.

The rest you know . . . the clubs split the first two games of the nerve-wracking playoff, then the Dodgers went into the ninth inning of the deciding final event with a 4-2 margin . . . and wound up losing the championship, 6-4!

Already, the Dodgers—despite their blue ribbon el foldo—are solid choices to win the 1963 championship. A second-place finish means nothing. The Dodgers must wind up at the top of the NL heap this season, or again be classified as 'bums." And not of the lovable Brooklyn variety.

The Angel situation is different. Few fans honestly expect the 1962 Cinderellas to finish as high as third place again. The Gene Autry-Bob Reynolds aggregation can land in fifth or sixth spot and nobody will be hurling ripe tomatoes at the warriors who wear halos on their caps.

THE DODGERS are the rich people. the Angels the poor folks—not in solvency, but in heritage and background.

Most fans figure the Angels were loaded with horseshoes and four-leaf clovers in 1962, since a sophomore team had no right to finish ahead of seven other clubs.

The Angels think differently. They point to their youthful discoveries of 1962—and insist these youngsters are no flashes in the pan. From Manager Bill Rigney down to the batboy, they are firm in the belief that they not only will IMPROVE this season, but (egad) actually challenge the Yankees for the pennant.

In Dean Chance, Ken McBride, Bob Rodgers, Jim Fregosi, Tom Satriano, Lee Thomas, Ken Hunt, George Thomas, Albie Pearson and Leon Wagner—not to mention the irrepressible Bo (Night Life) Belinsky—the Angels have the background to repeat their third-place finish or, with the horseshoes still clinging, to move up. Their best hope is that the rest of the league doesn't improve too much.

THE DODGERS have only one problem—in this seer's eyes: To pray their pitching holds up. They have everything else—in spades.

What happens Tuesday—for the Angels in Chavez Ravine against the Boston Red Sox and for the Dodgers in Chicago with the Cubs—won't really determine the leagues' final standings in September.

But it's a beginning . . . and haven't we all awaited it since last October?

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Hank Hollingworth is executive sports editor of the Long Beach Independent, Press-Telegram.)

Leon Wagner and Lee Thomas offer good batting power in the Angels' flag race.

Could be an all-Los Angeles series, but few give the Cinderella Angels a real chance for the pennant. Above are Ed, George and Lee, all Thomases; manager Bill Rigney, and Ed and Bob Sadowski, posing a puzzler in names.

Gift the kids with this easily assembled bunny for an Easter treat that will rate you high for cleverness.

Confectionate Bunny

IF YOU'RE going visiting at Easter time and there are children in the house, gift them with a simple-for-you-to-make candy bunny.

Here's how simple and inexpensive it is to make the Sweet Bunny: Use one small and one medium styrofoam ball; attach smaller ball atop medium ball with toothpicks. Cover entire surface with marshmallows, attaching individually with toothpicks. Use licorice string around "neck" for tie and toothpick jellied gumdrop rings down front of body for buttons. Eyes are nonpareils with miniature marshmallows in center; the nose is a chocolate kiss and gumdrops form the mouth. Attach all with toothpicks. For ears, peel medium-size bananas cut in half lengthwise and brush with lemon juice. Fasten to head with wooden skewers or long toothpicks. Mrs. Bunny's children are made by toothpicking two marshmallows together for head and body. Arms and legs are miniature marshmallows, and ears are one large marshmallow cut in half and toothpicked to head. Features are made of chocolate morsels or cloves.

La Reina Rule

WHAT YOUR NAME MEANS

Send your name to La Reina Rule in care of Southland Magazine, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach, Calif., for origin, meaning and brief genealogy, for reply only in this column.

DEAR MISS RULE: Would you give genealogy for SKINNER.—E. S., Anaheim.

E. S.: SKINNER is from the root word "Skynnere," used in 12th century Britain for a "dealer in hides and furs," as well as a man who prepared skins for market. A fur seller's shop was then called a "skinnery." One Skinner ancestor was the honored Lord Mayor of London in 1596. The Skinner shield from Herefordshire is black, emblazoned with three silver griffin heads. John Skinner of Windsor, Conn., was married there in 1638.

DEAR MISS RULE: Can you analyze DENNING?—W. D., Los Angeles.

W. D.: DENNING, an ancient English surname, is traced to the Anglo-Saxon phrase "Den-Ing, deciphered as "place of the Danish family." This refers to ancestors who came from a Danish settlement on the east coast of England. Denning also has an Irish origin, from the Gaelic clan O'Duinnin, meaning "sons of the little brown one." The Irish O'Duinnins or Dennings were from southwest Cork and were hereditary historians to the MacCarthys. The family coat-of-arms held by the O'Dinneens, a part of the same clan, has two crossed silver swords placed between four gold roses on a blue shield.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please give genealogy of HUBBARD. —O. L., Long Beach.

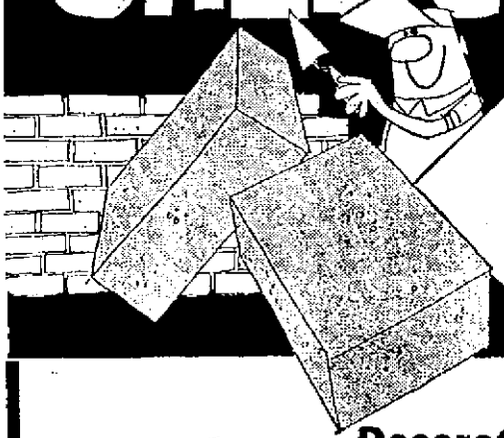

O. L.: HUBBARD, an altered form of the English hero-name Hubert, means "brilliant intellect." It was first popularized in honor of St. Hubert who was designated patron saint of hunters in the 8th century. He was converted to Christianity while hunting, after the appearance of a miraculous deer with a luminous cross on its head. Hubbard was first recorded as a surname in the 1200s. London registers later disclose the wedding of Jane Hubbarde in 1559. The family shield is green, emblazoned with a silver chevron between three silver eagle heads. Hartford, Connecticut records list George Hubbard and his wife Elizabeth, residents in the year 1643.

DEAR MISS RULE: What is the background of CASTELLANO.—M. C., Garden Grove.

M. C.: CASTELLANO is an unusual Italian surname meaning "man from Castile." This family's first recorded ancestor migrated from Spain to Italy in the early Middle Ages. After he was established in Italy, he was nicknamed Castellano referring to his native Spanish province of Castilé (Castilla).

HOMES

Moderate in Size

Interior design has created spaciousness in this house of 1,200 square feet, home of the John Carpenter family.

But All That a Home Should Be

In this view of the Carpenters' living room is shown how furniture groupings and wall treatment were employed to lend an air of luxury and roominess to the area.

By Stella George

TRUE elegance marks the decorating theme of the home belonging to Mr. and Mrs. John Carpenter, 2912 Nipomo St. The house is relatively small—1,200 square feet—but the interior designer, Floyd McMahon, incorporated ideas both in choice and placement of furniture that lend both spaciousness and attractivenes to the surroundings.

Certain problems were obvious. The front door opens directly into the dining area of the comparatively small rectangular living room. To the left, a door leads to one of the bedrooms which is in an alcove, part of a long hall which extends to other bedrooms and baths. Thus, the question arose: how to make an attractive entry into the living quarters when no entry space is available and the structural arrangement presents physical drawbacks.

McMahon met the challenge of this particular problem ingeniously. He placed an italian marble-top console on the wall (facing the living room) near the front door. The console is draped with gold cord and tassels. A small antique white table, which enlarges to seat 10 persons comfortably, is surrounded by gold upholstered matching chairs. A mirror above the console adds depth to the surroundings and completes the console decor. Twin lamps, slim and graceful, are on either end of the console. A hanging chandelier is directly above the table.

Need for creating an appearance of space led to careful selection of furnishings, such as this Italian set.

CARPETING is of gold color, an excellent background for the Italian decor. It does not predominate but rather enhances the fine furniture pieces in the same manner that a gold frame shows off a fine painting.

Occasional chairs are coral, and one chair is turquoise. A low, off-white couch, facing a glass-topped coffee table opposite glass doors that lead to the patio. A floor-to-ceiling rock fireplace is at the far end of the room. Off-white drapes provide a subdued wall background, adding depth because of the light tone, and luxury because of the fine quality of material used.

Every room in the home has been given importance insofar as decorating is concerned. In some rooms, Mrs. Carpenter used her own artistic ideas, the master bedroom being an example. Here, lavender is the dominant color. The room is relatively small, in the manner of the majority of tract homes. But well-chosen furniture makes it appear larger. The bed has a lavender filigree headboard, matched with an occasional chair of the same color and design. The spread and twin bolster pillows are lavender.

A second bathroom has an exciting decorative theme. Carpeting is red. Walls are covered with patterned red-background paper. A handsome framed mirror, formally a dressing table mirror, is placed above a white-flecked-with-gold wash basin that has gold fixtures. Above the mirror are three droplight fixtures. Adorning the area above the tub is a gold planter cherub.

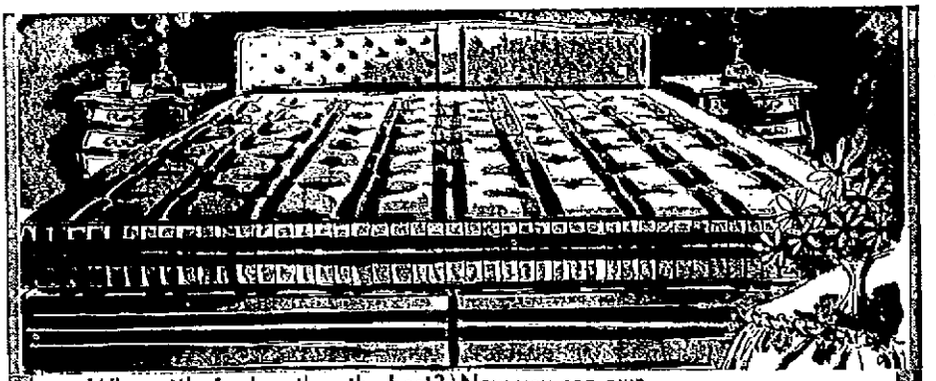

A boy's room is probably the envy of many of the occupant's friends. A huge green and blue sailfish is placed dramatically against drapes of matching hues. To add to the interest, the young occupant of the room caught the fish himself. Tailored furnishings are in good taste, and, once again, a small room appears spacious.

The back yard and patio arrangement of this home is interesting. Directly outside the living room is a patio on the same level as the living room, partially surrounded by a white, open block wall. Steps at the far end lead to another patio area surrounding a large pool.

Garden Hedge

An inexpensive hedge for the new garden may be made by planting seeds of Kochia where you want the hedge. If you prefer green leaves and a thick hedge, plant the type called Summer Cypress. You can grow 50 feet of hedge from one 25 cent packet of seeds.

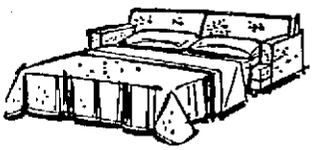

Should red leaves appeal to you, the Kochia commonly called Mexican Firebush is what you want. Green during most of the growing season, and not so dense or neat in growth as Summer Cypress, its leaves turn bright red with the first frost.

Outside House Painting Now Eliminated

Another boon of the space age has been accomplished for the homeowner . . . an exterior wall coating so tough and durable that it is guaranteed to totally eliminate exterior house painting for over 10 years. This remarkable textured coating is Fiberglas FLEXON.

BEST IN NATION

Homeowners are requested not to spend a single penny on painting their residence until they hear the FLEXON STORY. This remarkable material insulates, waterproofs and beautifies, and every Fiberglas FLEXON job is factory guaranteed for 10 full years against chipping, flaking, or peeling.

FLEXON the miracle exterior wall coating is so indestructible and durable that it is absolutely guaranteed to eliminate the necessity for painting the outside walls of your home, apartment building or commercial property for 10 full years. This outstanding product when applied is approximately 20 times the thickness of ordinary paint and makes a wall surface that resists all climatic extremes.

Fiberglas, a product of Owens-Corning, brings to FLEXON its great strength its wonderful insulating properties, its resistance to time, weather, and chemical attack.

PROVEN OVER MANY YEARS

FLEXON is one of the oldest, tried and true coatings now being marketed and has been applied on thousands of homes and commercial buildings. These buildings have remained in perfect condition after more than 10 years exposure in all types of weather.

The United States Government and many large corporations such as U.S. Steel Corporation, Aluminum Corporation of America, Pacific Telephone, and Shell Oil Company, are included on the honor roll of FLEXON users.

SHOT FROM A GUN

FLEXON is applied with special heavy duty spray equipment and is actually "shot from a gun" without muss, fuss or odor. FLEXON fuses itself to the wall surface and fills holes, cracks and covers building defects.

FREE INFORMATION

Cal-Tex Improvements, Inc. has been selected as the exclusive franchised contractor of FLEXON in Southern California. Home owners can obtain free information or have a free home demonstration without any obligation. The low cost will surprise you and terms can be arranged to suit your pocket book.

Outwardly a conventional ranch-style house, this 1½-story design has an unconventional second floor with a "sky room" for family use, informal entertaining.

HOUSE OF THE WEEK

A House With Room at the Top

By David L. Bowen

IN A middle-sized home too small to contain a recreation room on the ground floor, the setting for teen-age record rumbles and informal adult entertainment is usually in a basement playroom.

This works out fine, IF the site permits a perfectly dry basement, IF the foundation permits adequate light and ventilation, and IF your esthetic sensibilities are not offended by entertaining in the cellar.

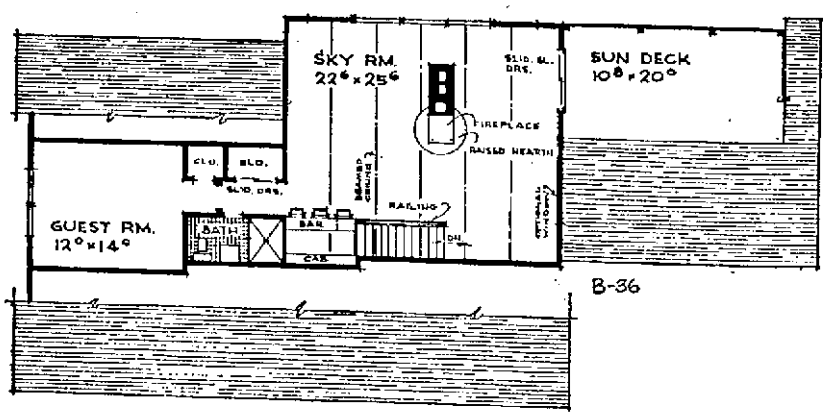

A basement playroom is not the only solution to the problem of where to find the extra space, however. There's another way — cheaper than building a wider house although not as inexpensive as sprucing up the basement. Architect Herman H. York suggests this different solution is moving the informal entertaining area to the second floor.

HE ADVANCES the concept in B-36 in the House of the Week series of distinguished architect-designed homes. A wide shed dormer in the back makes room in the house for a large 22½ by 25½ foot "sky room," complete with raised hearth fireplace, beamed ceiling, and sliding glass doors leading to an open-air sun deck.

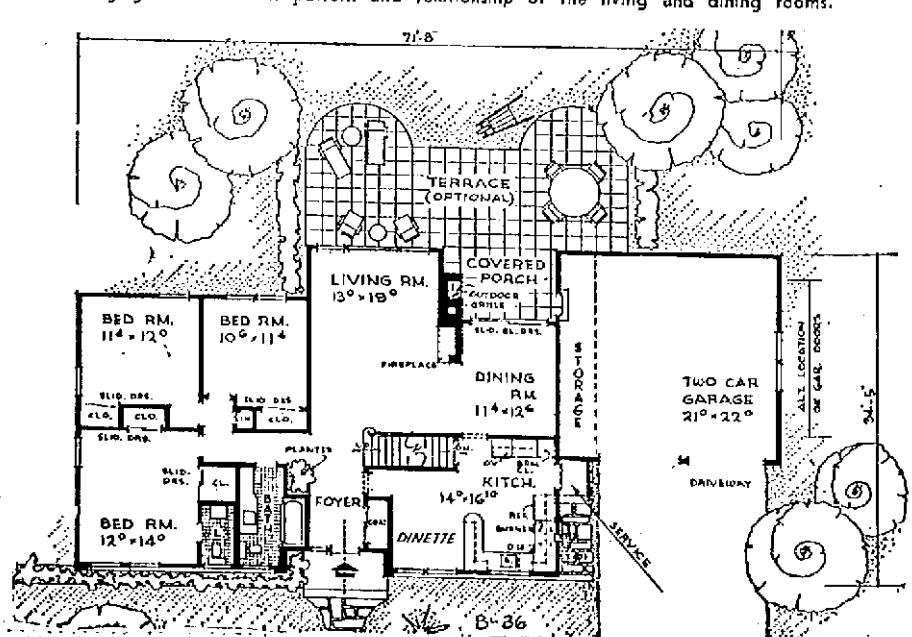

Off the sky room there's a bath and a guest room. The plan is conceived so that this area need not be developed immediately. Until it is, the family can make out nicely downstairs with three bedrooms and a bath and one-half, inviting living room and dining room, and roomy kitchen-dinette.

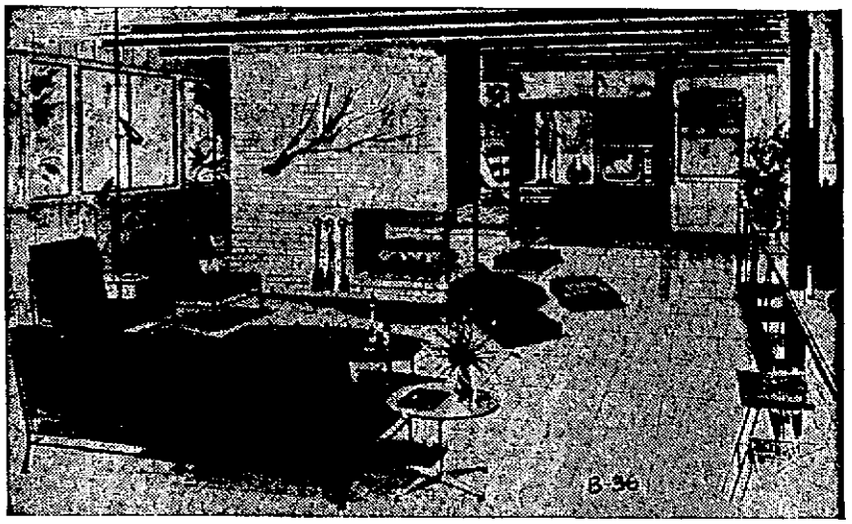

THE HABITABLE area on the ground floor is 1,452 square feet. The optional space upstairs is 871 square feet. Over-all width of the plan with two-car attached garage is 71 feet 8 inches and depth is 34 feet 5 inches.

From the front the home has a ranch look, because the upstairs dormer shows only from the rear. Entrance is set in to provide weather protection for the front door, which opens on a foyer. The arriving guest immediately gets an impressive view across the long living room and through its window wall onto the terrace.

TO THE RIGHT of the foyer is dinette and kitchen, with efficient U shape. Access from kitchen to garage is ideal, and basement stairs are also handy.

In the rear of the house, dining room and living room form an "L" around a peninsula fireplace which highlights the living room without hogging wall space. Sliding glass doors lead from the dining room to a small covered porch, equipped with outdoor grill, and then the open terrace.

Bedrooms are down a center hall from the foyer. Main bath is side-by-side (for plumbing economy) with the half-bath serving the master bedroom.

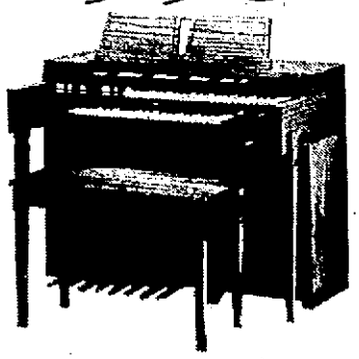

Stairway to the sky room adds an attractive design note to the foyer area and is centrally located for easy access from any part of the house.

To obtain plans, address Building Editor, Southland Editor, Southland Magazine, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach 12, Calif., inclose 50 cents and request House of the Week Study Plan, Design B-36.

Baked Salmon in Special Sauce

Salmon steaks are at a tender best baked in sauce of lemon juice and safflower oil.

By Mildred K. Flanary
Southland Magazine Home Economics Editor

SALMON has an esteemed place in modern home menu preparation, cooked whole, in steaks or used in dishes employing canned salmon.

Salmon spawn in the upper origins of fresh water streams. The young head out to sea and return to spawn and complete their life cycle. Much of mystery surrounds their lives at sea, but there is nothing mysterious about the adaptability of salmon as seafood. And here are recipes to substantiate that claim:

Salmon Steaks With Lemon Sauce

(Makes 4 Servings)

½ cup sugar
½ cup lemon juice
½ cup water
2 tblsp. safflower oil
2 tsp. onion salt
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. chervil
½ tsp. grated lemon rind
Dash pepper
4 salmon steaks, 1 inch thick
Lemon slices
Watercress

Combine sugar, lemon juice, water, oil, onion salt, salt, chervil, lemon rind and pepper in saucepan. Bring to a boil and pour over salmon in shallow baking dish. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 25 to 30 minutes, or until salmon flakes easily with a fork. Garnish with lemon slices and watercress. Makes 4 servings.

Salmon

Open ½ or 1 pound can of salmon. Remove in a cylindrical shape. Place the cylinder of salmon on broiler pan and pour the juice from the can over it. Spread salmon with Mustard Butter, made by creaming 1 tablespoon prepared mustard with ¼ cup softened margarine. Broil until salmon is hot and lightly browned. Place on serving plate and pour juice from broiler pan over the salmon. Sprinkle with chopped parsley and garnish with lettuce.

Baked Salmon in Sour Cream

2 ½-pound cans salmon
1 cup sour cream
¼ cup chopped dill pickle
1 tsp. dry mustard
½ tsp. salt
1 tsp. sugar

Place salmon in 8-inch casserole dish. Mix together remaining ingredients and pour over salmon. Place in 325-degree oven and bake for 30 minutes. For smooth sauce, do not baste salmon with sauce. Garnish with lemon wedges and parsley. Makes 4 servings.

Recipe of the Week

EGGPLANT and meat are combined in a pie that wins this week's $5 prize as best recipe for Ruth Sullivan, 5914 Olive Ave., Long Beach 5. The recipe:

Eggplant Meat Pie

1 small unpeeled eggplant
2 tblsps. butter
¼ cup minced celery
⅓ cup minced onion
½ pound ground beef
½ tsp. salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 8-oz. can tomato sauce
½ cup cottage cheese
9-inch pastry for top

Wash and cut off stem end of eggplant. Dice into 1 inch pieces. Melt butter, add eggplant, celery, and onion and cook over low heat until eggplant and onion begin to soften. Add ground beef, breaking it into small pieces; cook, stirring constantly until meat is brown. Add seasonings and tomato sauce. Cook 10 minutes longer. Stir in cottage cheese and pour into deep 9 inch pie dish. Cover top with pastry. Cut star in top to allow steam to escape. Bake in 400 degree oven for 30 minutes. Serves 4.

What's your favorite recipe? For each recipe published in this space, Southland will pay $5. Men are urged to submit their recipes along with the ladies. Send yours, with name and address, to: Recipe Contest Editor, Southland Magazine, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach 12, Calif.

TV: A Teaching Tool

By Harry Karns

Education Research Associates

QUESTION: Is instruction by TV just a way of saving money by getting rid of teachers, or does it have some real value?

ANSWER: TV is not a teacher and, where employed, is not meant to take the place of a teacher. It is a teaching aid, a tool—and a most valuable one.

Elinor Richardson and Robert C. Gerletti of the Division of Audio-Visual Education, office of the Los Angeles County superintendent of schools, writes in the "California Journal of Elementary Education":

"One of the most important contributions of a television lesson is that pupils are given an opportunity to learn from specialists in various fields. It would be impossible to take a noted scientist, artist, or author to very many schools or classrooms. Through use of a television lesson the scientist, for example, is brought into numerous classrooms at the same time. . . .

"Through television inaccessible places can be visited, and dangerous or expensive equipment can be shown. . . .

". . . television gives pupils front seats on the windows of the world."

The development of television as a classroom tool has been hindered by a few of the less imaginative educators, but more and more the teaching fraternity is recognizing the value of this tool and putting it to work.

QUESTION: "The little girl next door is younger than my son but is ahead of him in reading. My son is above-average intelligence. Why is he lagging?"

ANSWER: It's unfair to make these comparisons. Keep these three points in mind:

1. As a general rule, boys are slower to pick up reading than girls are.
2. Children differ in the ages at which they learn to read—or to do anything else, for that matter.
3. The slow beginner often overtakes his faster companions and may even pass them up.

Give the child time to develop. Even then, don't measure him by another child but against his own potential. Expect only the best that he can give.

Vibrant red "501" carpeting of Du Pont nylon by Gulistan is used by Renny Saltzman, AIID, for the entry hall of a split-level house that opens directly into the living room. Carpeting covers foyer, staircase and upper living level completely for a sense of unity and space. Kroehler sofa in long-wearing, electric blue nylon, white nylon armchairs, print "Dacron" casements add contrast, pattern.

Red for Small Spaces

"DON'T BE AFRAID to use brilliant color in a small space," advises Renny Saltzman, member of the American Institute of Interior Designers. "In fact, a small room may need the excitement and interest of color even more than a large room would."

Saltzman, who believes that clear, bright colors often work decorating wonders, uses China red "501" carpeting of Du Pont nylon for a dramatic answer to a widespread problem—the entrance hall of the split-level house that leads directly into the living area.

To counteract a cut-up look, the "501" carpet called "Golden Days" by Gulistan, covers foyer, staircase and upper living level completely, giving a feeling of unity and spaciousness. Despite the heavy family traffic which rooms like this often get, the "501" carpeting will wear extremely well, thanks to tough, durable nylon. It is also easy to spot clean, an asset in a much-lived-in room.

Saltzman points out that this colorful floor of "501" carpeting is more than a tonic; it is also a factor for comfort and safety. Soft and luxurious underfoot, it provides a warm, resilient surface, helps to deaden sound, and makes the staircase safer as well as more attractive.

The red carpet really is out for visitors in the welcoming entrance hall, with its large green plants and the simple, handsome storage piece by Kroehler.

The living room carries out the mood set by the gay and red carpeting with colorful sofa and armchairs from the new Krochler Modern Artisan collection. A long sofa across the back of the room is covered in electric blue nylon. Flanking it are two white armchairs, also covered in easy-care, long-wearing Du Pont nylon.

In this small living room, the striking window treatment gives the room balance by providing a simple, yet distinctive, background for the sofa. The print, Waverly's "Victoria," on 100 per cent "Dacron" polyester fiber, is black-on-white, its clean, etched look very effective against the splashes of color of carpeting and sofa. To show off the print and provide a frame for the wall of casements and the sofa, the fabric is stretched in simple wooden frames, painted black, which take the place of draperies. Because they are of crisp, easy-care "Dacron," the casements are washable, and drip dry with little or no ironing.

In the living area, a grouping of pictures over the handsome chest softens the white wall, picking up colors from the rug and sofa. For dramatic effect, reading lamps and potted green plants are deliberately large in scale. Accessories are colorul, but kept to a minimum to preserve the feeling of spaciousnss and the lack of clutter.

Padded back rests heighten the look of luxury in this headboard design, and there's plenty of storage space.

By Bill Meyerriecks

ADDING an air of luxury to a bedroom, the design shown in the sketch above makes such luxury a comfortable, cozy fact of life—in reach of the home shop handyman.

Under the cabinet tops at each side there's a shallow drawer which offers as much or more storage as the average night table. Over this is a shallow shelf for clock or radio. Below the drawer is a large compartment for magazines or nighttime snack supplies: tray with thermos, cups and cookies.

Immediately under the case top there is a pull-out board for the Saturday morning coffee you never have room to set down, and it's right where you can easily reach it from your comfortable lounging position against the built-in backrests.

SLOPED attractively and lightly upholstered over foam rubber, the two backs are hinged at the bottoms to provide access to the valuable hidden storage space within.

Designed to be built simply of hardwood lumber, the Sketchbook plan tells how you can substitute pine or plywood if you prefer. There is plenty of flexibility in the plan so that it can be made to fit almost any situation—double bed, twin beds, or even a single bed.

Kit for Camping Out

WHETHER IT'S a one-day picnic jaunt into the back country or a camping vacation of a week or more, one adjunct to happy enjoyment of getting back to nature is adequate cooking facilities. Communing with nature has many results, and one of them is sharpening of the appetite. Hence the camp kitchen pictured above with NBC's television actress Mary Ann Gaba. It has more conveniences than you can shake a frying pan at, provides tabletop working space, is compact, and is easy to transport by means of handles on both sides. Using a full-sized pattern, any home handyman can build this unit in three or four evenings. To obtain the pattern, with directions for assembly, send name and address and $1 in currency, money order or check for Camper's Kitchen Pattern No. 213 to Steve Ellingson, Southland Magazine Pattern Dept., PO Box 2383, Van Nuys, Calif.

CAMERA ANGLES

When Automation Isn't Enough

Two readings were taken to make this backlighted picture, one for the backlight and one for the face detail.

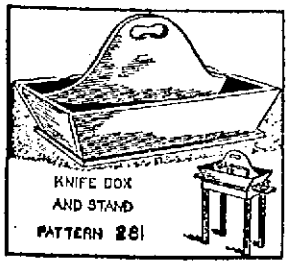

By Irving Desfor

ELECTRIC EYE or automatic cameras, both movie and still types, normally have a blind spot when faced with a particular exposure problem. It occurs when the camera is in bright sunlight and the subject being photographed is in shadow or, in reverse, when the camera is in a shaded area and the subject is in sunshine.

When the camera is strictly automatic and has no manual control, the photographer should change his position so as to shoot under the same light condition as the subject in order to get proper exposure.

If he can't change his position, he might compensate by shifting the film speed setting.

You Make It

There are new uses for the old-time box that was so handy for carrying knives and forks to the table. Now we carry books, mending and odds and ends in the box fastened to a stand with pull-out shelves. Pattern 281, which gives full-size guides and shows how to make both, costs only 35 cents. It also is in the Pine and Maple Reproduction Packet No. 53 which costs $1. Address: Pattern Dept., Southland Magazine, Independent, Press-Telegram, Bedford Hills, N. Y.

If the camera "thinks" it has a faster or slower film, it would close down or open the lens a bit more.

THUS, with the camera in sunlight and subject in shadow, the ASA film speed setting should be reduced if possible, at least half. And with the camera in shadow and subject in sunlight, the ASA film speed setting should be increased to double, if possible.

Fortunately, the newest cameras feature manual control along with electric eye automation. To prove the point, I tested a new still and a new movie camera under difficult backlight illumination. It showed, as always, that human judgment is needed along with the electric eye.

For stills I used the Rollei Magic II, a new model of the first electric eye automatic 2¼ by 2¼ twin-lens reflex camera. It features an easier-to-see exposure value pointer and an easier-to-handle manual control.

FOR THE accompanying illustration, shooting position was in the sun where the electric eye reading showed an exposure value of 15 (1/60th at f22 with Tri-X-film). Another close-up reading of the shadow side was made for facial details: exposure value 11. The Rollei was then set on manual and shot at 1/60th at f5.6.

For movies, I used the new Revere Reflex Power Zoom 8mm camera. It features through-the-lens viewing and focusing, automatic and manual f-stop visibility in viewfinder and power zoom. It also has a unique backlight stop which is a built-in effort to compensate for shooting in the direction of the sun by opening the lens more than the normal electric eye setting. It is certainly a step in the right direction but doesn't go far enough.

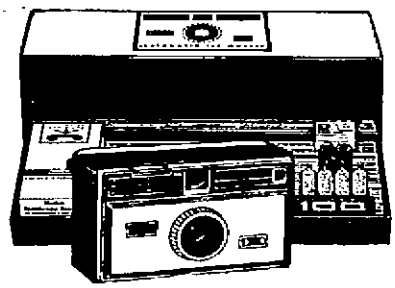

I FOUND it necessary in both cases to step into the shadow area and take a close-up electric eye reading of a face. Then I switched to a manual control on both cameras with the exposure set for the shadows. The results were what I wanted: detail in the faces.

With normal lighting situations, I turned back to automatic control and effortless shooting.

BOOK REVIEWS

Adventure of a Decent Rogue

By Vera Williams
Southland Magazine Book Editor

A VAST SAGA of Americana—the story of the maturing of oversized, mighty Thurs Wraldson—appeared in three novels from 1949 to 1952 under the pen name of Feike Feikema and attracted wide interest because of its literary mastery, scope and intensity.

Later, Feikema, using his true name of Frederick Manfred, rewrote the three volumes, "The Primitive," "The Brother" and "The Giant," into a trilogy now published as "WANDERLUST" (Swallow, $9.50).

Here is the rugged, earthy life's adventure of an inherently decent rogue, who leaves his orphanage in Iowa's rural Siouxland for a Christian college in Michigan and then meets every type of character in, and out of, society.

In Thurs' world are professors, pert coeds, perverts, artists, factory owners and coarse factory hands, psychiatrists, millionaires, scientists and women, good and bad. The dialogue, sometimes racy, sometimes cultured, is always vigorous, with an amazingly wide range of dialects.

Thurs' women refer to him as "all man." This he is, indeed, and no dullard.

SOVIET penetration of the western hemisphere and the Cuban crisis are given a careful going over by the teams of journalists in a pair of new books.

These are "STRIKE IN THE WEST (The Complete Story of the Cuban Crisis") by Readers Digest editors James Daniel and John G. Hubbell (Holt, Rinehart & Winston, $3.50) and "THE GREAT DECEPTION (The Inside Story of How the Kremlin Took Over Cuba)" by two other Readers Digest editors, James Monohan and Kenneth O. Gilmore (Farrar, Straus & Co., $3.95).

"Strike in the West" is a highly journalistic description of the two weeks in October 1962 when the U.S. and Russia faced each other over the brink of thermonuclear war.

"The Great Deception" is the first person story of hundreds involved in the Fidelista revolution and how they viewed the Soviet takeover. It traces the major events from when Castro emerged triumphant over Batista through his brother Raul's mission to Moscow in 1962.

THE SELF-PITY and self-love on which the "lost" generation of the '60s feeds have become the hallmark of a goodly portion of new American novels. David Chagall's well-written and promising "THE CENTURY GOD SLEPT" (Thomas Yoseloff, $3.95) is as good a Cook's tour as you can find through the world of the not-quite-beatniks but always despairing denizens of Philadelphia's Bohemian sector near fashionable Rittenhouse Square. It is virtually a documentary film.

MATT CARTER is a composite of many great surgeons. The semi-fictional account of one day in his life is a cross-section of true stories of dedicated men pitting their skill and ingenuity against death-dealing disease.

To probe the heart and will of "THE SURGEON" (Doubleday, $3.95), W. C. Heinz sought out a dozen masters of the profession. He learned of their aspirations, purposes in medicine, religious growth, attitudes toward death and failure and achievement and success, saw their operating techniques and watched them solve the delicate decisions of which dying patients and which relatives to tell or not to tell.

Admittedly, this is the idealistic side of surgery, but it is the door through which you meet patients, some strong and confident, some frightened and hallucinated; their (it-takes-all-k i n d s - of) families; and all the other players and factors in this fascinating drama.

BOOMING southwest Florida — the famed Everglades country—is the setting of "I TAKE THIS LAND," a new novel by Richard Powell (Scribner's Sons, $5.95).

Powell, author of the eminently successful "The Philadelphian" and "Pioneer, Go Home," uses an extraordinary cast of characters to describe the development of this lush tropical country from its frontier days in 1896 to the present.

Highly romanticized, but exciting and readable, the players in this colorful bit of modern Americana include Ward Champion, the land promoter who won a railroad in a poker game; Rush Lightburn, the crafty Everglades hunter who carried a rattlesnake's fang for a toothpick; Julie, his wild, untamed, temptress sister and many others.

Yoga Helps Allergic Shiners

By Ben Zinser

Southland Magazine Medical-Science Writer

ALLERGIC SHINERS—blue-black shadows in the grooves beneath the lower eyelids—are commonly found in the allergic child with chronic nasal disease.

Dr. Meyer B. Marks, Miami Beach, Fla., says the treatment of these eye shadows is basically that of managing the nasal allergy.

However, children who attend Yoga classes and perform head stands once or twice daily for several minutes have experienced remarkable improvement of their black-eye condition, he reports in Annals of Allergy.

A NEW chemical compound that reduces inflammation and fever in laboratory animals has been reported.

Called indomethacin, it exerts anti-inflammatory potency 10 to 85 times that of phenylbutazone, a well-known drug.

Fever induced in rabbits was blocked by indomethacin with a potency 20 times that of phenylbutazone and 10 times that of aminopyrine, an anti-fever compound.

The report is in the Journal of the American Chemical Society. Laboratory work is continuing.

A SKIN specialist has named some of the better creams and bath oils for the treatment of dry skin.

Dr. E. William Rosenberg, assistant professor of dermatology at the University of Tennessee, gives the following recommendations in the medical periodical Consultant:

Skin creams: Acid Mantle Creme, Nivea Creme, Lubriderm, Lowila Emollient.

Bath oils: Mellobath, Domol, Lubath, Alpha-Keri.

Dr. Rosenberg says grandma's favorite treatment to counteract dryness works well for many patients. The preparation: rosewater and glycerin.

The doctor reminds elderly persons to be cautious when using bath oils. These oils make the bathtub quite slippery, he says. (Bath oils are added to a tub full of tap water, and the patient sits in the oil-and-water emulsion for about 15 minutes.)

When patients complain of dry skin, he says, they actually mean roughness, scaling, redness, chapping or sensations of burning, stinging or itching.

BY ACCIDENT, medical researchers have discovered a medical treatment for enlarged prostate gland in aging men.

A drug combination known as Prostall has been able to relieve or reduce symptoms in 45 men with uncomplicated prostatic enlargement. The condition afflicts more than half of all men over 50.

Researchers discovered the compound's effect when a man being treated for allergy reported relief of his prostatic symptoms.

Prostall is a combination of ingredients known as glycine, alanine and glutamic acid.

In a study reported by Dr. Frederic Damrau of New York City in the Journal of the American Geriatrics Society, patients took two capsules three times daily for two weeks, then one capsule three times a day for three months.

The treatment reduced or relieved a variety of urinary troubles caused by enlarged prostate gland, Dr. Damrau reports.

OCCUPATIONAL hazard of quarter-miler track athletes: fatigue fracture.

These breaks usually defy X-ray detection and masquerade as sprains, researchers report in California Medicine.

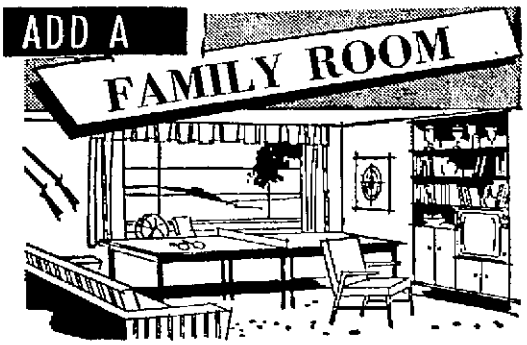

UCLA doctors say fatigue fracture usually develops from intensive training on a hard track. So most track coaches alternate hard-track and grass-course training.

Usual treatment: A rest from training for two months or more.

The fracture heals itself. The healing process often provides the only X-ray evidence that a break has occurred.

THE PARADE

Basset Pups Practice

By Eleanor Avery Price

WHY NOT start Easter vacation with a short jaunt today to La Palma Park in Anaheim for a puppy match of the Basset Hound Club of Southern California. "Hub" Robinson from Long Beach will judge. Hours will be 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. but you should arrive by noon.

Glendale also has an attraction today for cat fanciers—the Jewel City Cat Club Show in the Glendale National Guard Armory.

Or perhaps you have a desert trip lined up. If so, and children are along, remember that kids feel a sense of companionship, even kinship with the creeping, coldblooded creatures (not rattlesnakes) that inhabit the desert. If you feel squeamish about these animals, it is still your duty to encourage children in their love of an interest in God's creatures. Perhaps you can learn from one mother who said, "It wasn't easy at first, especially when I found the first 'thing' reposing in my sink, but I became used to it and now enjoy it. And all of nature can be a constructive and oftentimes humorous hobby."

—Louis and Virginia Key Photos

"Look, daughter, no cavities!" Champion basset and pup are owned by Mr. and Mrs. Hub Robinson of Long Beach.

OR COULD BE you are going to start Easter vacation with a new pet. This is a religious season, a time of joy, love, giving. The rebirth of spring kindles in our hearts the desire to give something alive. Many cities ban or try to ban the giving of delicate pets such as pink-eared bunnies and fluffy chicks (invariably chicks become crowing roosters) because their novelty wears off too easily. However, there are other pets available that do not outgrow their appeal.

A parakeet, for instance, as it learns to talk and do "tricks" becomes increasingly endearing. I'd like to add right here that, when training a parakeet to talk, you should repeat words over and over very slowly. The parakeet normally talks faster than a human, and if he learns words spoken too rapidly, his mimicking will rumble forth like so much gibberish.

CANARIES and other birds are also popular. If you obtain a male canary that doesn't sing, try to place a fine songster nearby so the young bird will pick up his song. Canaries, by the way, are extremely popular in Alaska. They help to cheer up their owners through the long dark nights!

(Turtles are good and easy to care for, as are hamsters, cavies (guinea pigs) and white mice or rats.

Nothing is easier on "mother's" nerves than plain goldfish, if they are housed correctly. (If this sounds ridiculous, you should see my buffet! I first used a bowl with straight sides, and the fish splattered water all over. A bowl sloped toward the center is much better, and even it should be placed on an attractive plate.)

A small descented skunk or a kitten makes a good pet. Puppies are wonderful if you have time and patience.

Just be certain a pet is wanted before you buy it as a gift or for yourself.

HUB POODLE CLUB has a spring puppy match today at South Park, Compton, with noon as entry deadline. The park is reached by Alondra Avenue to Chester Street, between Long Beach Boulevard and Santa Fe Avenue.

Two Favorites

Many vegetable gardeners think only in terms of the annual crops which he plants and harvests during the same year. The California Association of Nurserymen reminds us that two favorite vegetables—artichoke and asparagus—are perennial in nature and can be planted now for harvest over several years. You don't get crops this first year, naturally, but you will get them for at least the next decade from divisions set out now.

Science Goes to Sea on a Sled

Scientists prepare to drop seagoing sled (top) over the side from research ship to "coast" along bottom (lower photo) to gain data on ocean characteristics.

By Lou Jobst

THERE will be no bells jingling, but scientists are preparing to take a sleigh ride on the ocean floor off Southern California.

Researchers in Lockheed-California Co.'s anti-submarine warfare and ocean systems have developed an 80-pound stainless steel sled with which they hope to map the ups-and-downs of the ocean bottom.

Attached to a cable, the sled is to be dragged along the sea floor by a surface vessel traveling at two to three knots.

A DEPTH SENSOR and angle-reading inclinometer, attached to the seagoing sleigh, are to beam data on contour, slope and roughness to the surface.

The sled can tip or spill without an interruption in the work because it is designed to operate upside down.

Lockheed scientists believe the sled will give more precise information than an electronic echo sounder, whose signals are likely to hit the sides but not the lowest point of an ocean floor depression.

THE SLED, four feet long and two feet wide, is designed to withstand the pressures of any ocean depth.

With instrument modifications, scientists say, the sled may be able to determine sea floor composition by sound differences as its runners scrape along the bottom.

Preliminary tests with the device have already been conducted offshore.

SOUTHLAND TRAVELER

Faster Reservations

By Fred Taylor Kraft
Travel Editor

A NEW electric automated reservations control center—the first intrastate system of its kind in the United States—has been put in operation by Pacific Southwest Airlines at its San Diego headquarters.

The center, costing $500,000, receives all telephone reservation calls from each city on the PSA system (San Diego-Los Angeles-San Francisco) through Bell Telephone's TelPak system. A National Cash Register computer, soon to be installed, will further modernize the system by transmitting instantaneous information on flight conditions.

J. F. Andrews, president of the airline, said the new center "will result in faster, more efficient service, and, more important, will do away with inaccuracies and minor errors which have existed heretofore."

THE SYSTEM is manned by more than 90 personnel which already are receiving calls at the rate of 160,000 a month. The payroll for the new installation will top $400,000 annually.

Here is how the center operates: a Long Beach person, seeking a reservation on the airline from Los Angeles International Airport to San Diego or San Francisco, calls the regular PSA number; the San Diego center automatically takes the call and arranges the reservation.

A special desk receives calls from travel agents only.

Also being installed is a unique service, called Instant Ticket, designed for use by holders of PSA credit cards. Its aim is to reduce as much as possible the time required at airport ticket counters for ticket purchase and check-in.

THE AIRLINE'S credit card holders merely calls PSA reservations, give their credit card number and date and flight they wish to take. The information is punched out by the reservations agent on a special teletype machine, and a ticket is reproduced on another machine located at the airport ticket counter. Thus, the Instant Ticket is ready and waiting for the passenger when he arrives at the airport counter.

Other new San Diego facilities for PSA include a $500,000 engine overhaul facility which will be ready for use by late summer.

WILD FLOWERS may appear a little later in some desert areas but, on the whole, this year's display will be sparse,

That's the word received by the All-Year Club of Southern California last week from some areas which have boasted lavish displays in years past.

From Palm Springs comes word that "the high desert probably will have a pretty fair display, but the Palm Springs area won't have anything to brag about."

From Bakersfield: "We are soft-pedaling the wildflower situation this spring. Lack of moisture has pretty well dimmed the outlook for floral displays in the valley. There may be some color later at higher elevations, but it's too early to predict. Our educated guess is that this will be a poor year for wildflowers hereabouts."

Pacific Southwest Airlines' new reservations control center, the first intrastate system of its kind.

Landmark of Ireland's Past

ROSS CASTLE, a 14th Century battlement in County Kerry, remains one of the storied landmarks of Ireland. The castle was a stronghold in the time of the Cromwellian Wars. A stone staircase still leads to the tower for a fine view of the Lakes of Killarney. Two-day tours by luxury coach and with hotel and all meals now operate from Shannon Airport at moderate cost.

AROUND THE WORLD WITH

DELAPLANE

"Our son and daughter will be traveling as students in Japan—as cheaply as possible. Are youth hostels the best way?"

YES. About $1 a night. And a good way to get the feeling of the country. Write American Youth Hostel, 14 W. 8th St., New York City. (Youth hostels are open to any age and you don't have to be a student.)

". . . and our daughter thinks they should bring along instant coffee, cocoa and dried soups. Or can you buy these things in Japan?"

I'D CARRY the coffee and cocoa while traveling. Japanese drink tea mostly — though there are plenty of coffee houses. But it isn't available in all small restaurants.

But buy the packages in any big city in Japan. Why take up luggage space across the Pacific?

"The most inexpensive way around the world would be what?"

The best I know is on the P-and-O-Orient liners—$1085 for 77 days. This takes care of living and eating on the ship and you stop in about 40 Orient, South Pacific, European and Carribbean ports. Write Warren Titus, P-and-O-Orient Lines, 155 Post St., San Francisco, California.

"Since I want to do some writing while in Europe, what typewriter do you use?"

I USE the Olivette Lettera 22. Weighs 8 pounds. About $100 in the U. S. But if you're going through a free port like Shannon or Amsterdam, you pick them up for about $65.

"Do you have the recipe for 'sangre' that is served with tequila in Mexico?"

HERE'S ONE. From a pool hall and restaurant in Tepic but they had good sangre. Four cups of orange juice. One cup of lemon juice. One quarter cup of grenadine syrup—the kind they use at bars for cocktail mix. A half of a medium sized onion minced or blended in. Two teaspoons of salt. One teaspoon of tabasco sauce—or more if you want it hotter.

Shake it up. Keep it chilled. Let it stand overnight. It needs time to blend. Serve as a chaser for straight tequila. Not mixed with it.

"I understand we can bring back one gallon of liquor duty-free. Does that include each person in the party? I mean children, too?"

ONE GALLON for each person. But subject to laws of the state where you intend to take it. And in your state they don't let children buy liquor. (Or in any other I know of.) So little Johnny can't bring in a gallon for Pop. Too bad.

". . . true that you can ship a gift duty-free every day if it is worth less than $10?"

Alas, no more. Only if they cost $1 or less. (U. S. Customs cut it because too many overseas merchants were marking things "gift $10" which were actually purchases on a mail order basis.)

"We read about a big horse

Important P.S. to your trip to Europe

SAS flies almost everywhere in Europe. For instance, you can fly New York to Scotland.

From Scotland (g-r-r-rand) . . .

drive to London (jolly fine) . . .

hop over to Paris (formidable!)

. . . then add the other cities you want to see.

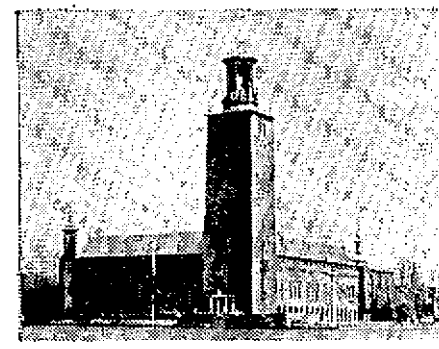

Now for the P.S. It's Pleasant Scandinavia—a totally different, totally delightful Europe. Come to Fairytale Denmark . . .

and wonderful, wonderful Copenhagen, with its lively night life, famous Tivoli, extraordinary restaurants and shopping.

Then go on to Sweden. You'll love the colorful villages and folk customs.

In contrast, Stockholm is a modern, sophisticated city, with stylish shops and hotels.

And by this time, you'll be all agog to see your third Scandinavian country. It's Norway—land of fjords and snow-capped mountains—breathtaking!

P.S. —Pleasant Scandinavia—adds a new world of pleasure to your European holiday. And with SAS, it's a bonus! Chances are it will cost you no extra fare to see Scandinavia on your way home via the SAS transpolar route to California. Ask your SAS travel agent to arrange it for you. Or mail coupon.

Melanesian maidens dress in crepe paper, silk, flowers and feathers for performance in Fijian sit-down dance.

TRAVEL REPORT

Going Places

By SHIRLEY and BOB SLOANE

TAMAVUA, Fiji, sits on a commanding rise just outside the capital city of Suva. Deep into the valley below and for many acres in every direction, the land is the communal property of the 300 villagers, ruled over absolutely by a handsome young chief with an Oxford accent.

The village is laid out in the traditional South Pacific style. Neat rows of bures with towering thatched roofs line both sides of the open compound. At the back is the chief's house, larger than the others, and in front is the ceremonial hall, into which we were ushered.

Most of the village had assembled for the occasion, a demontration of the curious Mealanesian folk art called Vakamalolo—dances performed with the arms while sitting cross-legged on the floor, to the accompaniment of story-songs.

ONLY THE women dance, and we found them sitting patiently on the matting in colorful rows. They were decked out in crepe paper streamers and silk skirts of pink and blue. Weighty multi-flowered leis were draped around their shoulders like stoles, and plumed feathers protruded from their fuzzy heads.

The chief gave the signal for the festivities to begin, and a rhythmic drug-tapping and chanting emitted from the male "orchestra" and chorus behind the dancers.

This is the start of the kava ceremony; without it there is no hospitality in a Fijian village. Kava, or yaggona, is a beverage made from a root pulverized in a communal bowl and served in turn to each guest in a coconut shell cup. Gulped chug-a-lug amid exhortations and hand-clapping, it tastes something like watered milk of magnesia.

The vakamalolo commenced, the girls extending their arms and posturing their hips and hands like hula dancers, chanting in tones more than a little reminiscent of the Anglican hymns woven into their background by the early missionary explorers.

AS THEY WARMED to their tasks, interjections of approval were shouted by the audience. Men gave them

HEALTHIEST HOTEL IN THE WORLD

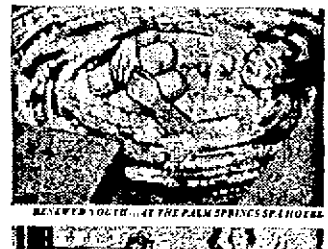

Here, at the foot of Mount San Jacinto — in a climate without equal — is the new Palm Springs Spa Hotel, destined to take its place as one of the famous spas of the world. Here, for centuries, nature has provided a health shrine, and now, at the Palm Springs Spa Hotel, considerate hands take over where nature leaves off. One hundred and thirty-one luxurious guest rooms, food to satisfy hearty appetites, and leisure-hour pastimes set the stage for health. From natural mineral springs directly below the hotel flows 104° water brimming with revitalizing minerals. A friendly smile greets you as you enter the Spa's portals, and expert hands guide you through a truly exhilarating experience . . . rock steam, vapor inhalation, Roman swirlpool bath, massage, needle-spray shower and cooling room, coupled with mineral pool immersion and gymnasium workout, if you like. Also optional are diet programs and figure control classes. Men leave the Palm Springs Spa Hotel relaxed and invigorated, ladies leave (regretfully) looking beautiful, feeling wonderful. 'Jet' Never Flies

Captain, first officer and flight engineer are at the controls of a "jet" that logs "air time," never flies.

TRANS WORLD Airlines has a six-plane fleet that "flies" 13,000 hours a year without ever going aloft.

The fleet consists of five flight simulators. These sophisticated devices, which create flight conditions with startling realism, maintain a constant altitude a few floors above the downtown streets of Kansas City in the company's transportation training center.

All of the firm's 1,500 pilots and 630 flight engineers undergo periodic checkouts in the simulators. Other airlines, and also the Federal Aviation Agency, send crews there for simulator training when the equipment is available. Military Air Transport pilots, including those who fly President Kennedy's jet, have come to brush up on the simulators under the supervision of TWA's flight training personnel.

All this keeps the simulators operating 13,000 hours each year. Despite this heavy load, the airline saves thousands of dollars annually by using them instead of airplanes for a portion of the crew training course.

WORLD WAR II Air Corps veterans will recall the cramped little plywood Link trainer in which they learned instrument flying. The simulators are highly advanced adaptations of the famous Link, many times larger with seating for a full crew.

The simulators are exact duplicates of airliner cockpits. They contain all the flight instruments and controls standard on TWA's Constellations and Super Jets. The jet simulators pitch and bank according to how they are flown, just as an aircraft would.

A high degree of realism results from recorded flight sounds and a closed circuit television system. During takeoffs and landings, the TV projects an aerial view of an airport runway and surrounding terrain on a screen just beyond the pilot's windshield. Electronically synchronized, the picture changes in relation to the simulator's "position" with the runway.

SIMULATORS can duplicate almost any situation a pilot may encounter. Personnel at a control panel may create "emergencies" merely by flicking a switch. So realistic is the sensation of flight that newcomers to simulator training sometimes admit that they forget they're not thousands of feet in the air.

gifts of cigarettes and money and an elderly woman went about touching the lips of chosen performers with her fingers in sign of commendation.

Carried away by it all, a big fat mama got to her feet and started shaking a gross Tahitian hula, and it all ended as the girls dropped their leis around the necks of men in the audience and invited them to join in a very un-Melanesian twist.

There was more yaggona, flowery speeches, and finally the high point of the evening, the presentation by the chief of the coveted whale's tooth to the head musician in honor of his outstanding service.

show in Nevada or in Phoenix. . . ."

Probably the show at the Las Vegas Convention Center, April 22-25. You could write the Rivera Hotel in Las Vegas. They're putting it on.

"How do you go about reading menus in Europe? We will be traveling in six countries."

I USED to carry dictionaries. But now a lot of the airlines have pocket menu translators. TWA has one that is thin and free. Any TWA office. Or write TWA Public Relations, 380 Madison Ave., New York City.

"What is the thing we are most likely to forget going from country to country in Europe?"

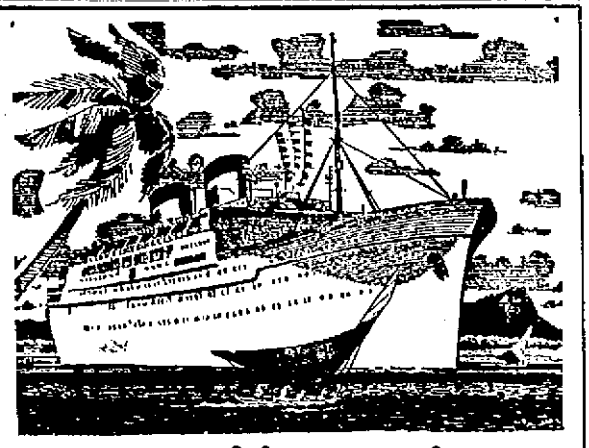

EASIEST to forget is that you should hold enough of the money of the country to pay airport tax and to buy cigarettes duty-free in the waiting room after you've been cleared by customs and immigration.

For such last minute items, carry a few $1 bills. Saves you cashing a traveler's check and then having to re-change the money.

YOUR GARDEN

Camellias Are Carefree Plants

By Walter Finch

WHEN THE camellia was first introduced to America from the Orient in the mid-nineteenth century, no one dreamed it would become an important and beautiful addition to the flower gardens throughout the land, but that's exactly what happened. And no wonder, because few other plants are as hardy and yet bear such opulent flowers and lush green foliage.

The camellia is one of a select species of flowers which command an immediate following of garden clubs and societies whose members have an unwavering devotion to its propagation.

Under the proper conditions, camellias can soar to a height of 35 feet and still retain their fresh, verdant beauty. And there is no finer species of plant that can be espaliered with such beauty and control. Cut properly and tied to a trellis with plastic covered wire available at any nursery, the camellia can be espaliered to take round, square, vertical, horizontal, symmetrically crossed and a number of other artistic and geometric shapes.

A FIRST condition is based on the fact that camellias thrive in acid soil which is rich in humus and friable. They like humid atmosphere and 30 degree freezing weather doesn't particularly affect them. Their tolerance to sunshine varies, but in general, shade produces heavier foliage while sunshine

Camellias require a minimum of care and are easily trained in espalier form to stay neat in a garden.

Try These 'Greens'

If your family is fond of "greens" plant Swiss chard in your garden this year. It will produce more edible greens per foot of row than any other similar vegetable. Furthermore, it's a dual-use vegetable.

You can cook the green leaves as you would spinach but you can also strip the leaf blades away (using them as greens) and cook the midriffs alone like celery. Serve them creamed—they're delicious!

Slow Starter

Parsley is best started indoors in a plant starter because seeds take three full weeks to sprout. It's an indispensible flavoring for soups, salads, and a garnish for meats.

TERR-O-VITE
The All-Purpose Fertilizer that Makes Water Wetter

"Doc" Cha-Kem-Co says:

You don't need to

Pick and Sweat 'n swear to break up Adobe or compacted soils

or

Break your Back boring holes to aerate and get water penetration into root choked lawns

or

Dynamite your Soil to get plant Nutrients deep into the Root Zone

or

Be a Plant Pathologist to cure and prevent Yellow Foliage due to Iron Deficiency

When All You Need Do Is Spray on

TERR-O-VITE

TERR-O-VITE is the ONLY COMPLETE fertilizer that does ALL the above . . .

And that is one whole of a job to do with ONLY one product by JUST SPRAYING on the ground.

TERR-O-VITE'S exclusive "wetter-water" principle gives fast water penetration through root-matted lawns and hard-pan soil—providing drainage, aeration and reducing runoff.

TERR-O-VITE cures and prevents CHLOROSIS by supplying the Iron, Zinc and Manganese plants need to maintain their green healthy color.

TERR-O-VITE corrects alkalinity in soil and water with fast acting acidifiers.

Remember that TERR-O-VITE is a COMPLETE FERTILIZER for ALL plants, a Soil Conditioner for ALL Western soils and a Plant Tonic for sick lawns, trees and shrubs.

Plant an Exotic

IN GARDENING, as with anything else, it is easy to fall in a rut of conservatism. We stick with the familiar and let the new or different be darned.

In many parts of the country you aren't missing much by following this routine, but here in Southern California, you are. There are so many exotic and unusual shrubs from more tropical parts of the world that one should make a special effort to try them in his garden.

One such shrub, which local members of the California Association of Nurserymen offer, is the Shrimp Plant—a name which has no connection with the plant's size. Through many months of the year, this handsome shrub is loaded with bronzy flower bracts which resemble nothing so much as a large shrimp or prawn. The bronze coloring is accentuated in a sunny location and this is where the gardener should plant it. Don't overwater and certainly don't overfeed this undemanding shrub.

Another for local gardens which we see too little of is the Princess Flower. A rather sparse shrub and top heavy so that it needs support against strong winds, the Princess Flower justifies itself a hundredfold when it bursts into its gorgeous bloom in late summer and fall. The 2-inch flowers, which literally cover the shrub are a vivid deep blue-purple and velvety in texture. They combine with the dark, leathery foliage to make an outstanding contribution to the garden.

A third unusual shrub which will catch your eye when you see it in bloom is the Pink Powder Puff. Had you planted one a year ago, you could have had its puffy balls of pink through winter, and if you hurry to a local nursery you may still find some in bloom to tempt you. Pink Powder Puff makes a handsome, broad shrub at any season and one of the best for espaliers. In fact, C. A. N. nurserymen often offer espaliered specimens already started.

Fourth on our list—a shrub for the summer garden—is the Brazilian Skyflower. It is a substantial shrub which needs annual pruning to keep it compact and while it is not sensational, the blue summer bloom is mighty nice to have around.

Camellias

Contrary to common belief, camellias are low maintenance plants, especially if proper soil conditions are created when first planted. This includes spading in liberal amounts of peat moss, oak, pine or redwood leaf mold and especially providing good drainage. Three fertilizings a year, an occasional spray should scale or aphids attack and pruning only to shape the plant is about all required.

Camellias should never be cultivated near the trunk because cultivation disturbs the fine feeder roots which lie in the top few inches of soil. Because a camellia can suffer if the feeder roots are damaged, care must be taken during the first two years of growth to insure against the plant toppling over from the weight of its extremely heavy blossoms. If a camellia falls over, the tiny root hairs are torn from the root branches.

THIS CAN be prevented by pushing a bamboo or redwood stake into the ground near the trunk and twisting a plastic covered wire plant tie around the camellia and the stake at several levels. The ties can easily be readjusted as the camellia matures. The stake may be removed after the "caliper" or girth of the trunk is heavy enough to support the plant from wind and from its own weight.

Camellia species range from single to double blossom flowers and run a wide spectrum of delicate colors.

"Now our dichondra lawn is beautiful and weedfree—thanks to BONUS"

Similar success can be yours—just read these letters

Hangs up glove. "After fighting crabgrass for 12 years, spending a small fortune on killers, sprays, 'sure-fire' cures, endless hours of weed pulling—BONUS* FOR DICHONDRA has given me almost 100% control and made my lawn a velvety weedfree carpet of green." H.S. Hambridge, Calif.

Well-dubbed. "My lawn was infested with a weed which, for want of a better name, I dubbed 'whisker weed'. Despaired of ever licking it. Applied BONUS in March, again in May as per directions. Happy to say weeds already 90% gone." MRS H.J.T.
(The more common name is annual bluegrass.)

Gripe. Disappointed. Put BONUS on three weeks ago. Oxalis every bit as evident—maybe even more so." H.J.S. San Diego
(Patience. As directions explain, complete control of mature weeds takes 5-6 weeks at least. If not satisfied then, money back.)

Revenge at last. "My dichondra lawn now looks so great I get misty-eyed just gazing at it! Revenge on crabgrass after all those years of bloody battle." P.O. Los Angeles

Receiving. "Just applied second application of BONUS FOR DICHONDRA. Now really getting compliments on our lawn." D.D. Long Beach

Damned disappointed. "Bought your BONUS to kill oxalis 'or money back.' Darned if we haven't got just as much." J.E.H. Sacramento
(Weed proved to be spotted spurge. No practical selective chemical method yet discovered—even by Scotts—for removing spurge or lookalike bermuda grass).

California's own magazine reports "We've seen product's effectiveness in home garden test plots in Arcadia, Pasadena, Sacramento. The manufacturer of new BONUS sought out dichondra lawns that appeared hopelessly gone to weeds and applied treatment. One or two years later, treated portions were almost 100% dichondra, where untreated portions look as bad as ever."

BONUS is easy to use

You've got so much in your favor now. BONUS not only can go right to work eliminating established weeds—oxalis, chickweed, annual bluegrass, clover—it can stop crabgrass before it starts.

While new BONUS is "weeding" your lawn, the fertilizer in it simultaneously feeds your dichondra. It greens, begins to thicken.

BONUS is odorless. Never attracts flies, fleas, goats or vermin. Quickly, easily applied. Simply fill a Scotts Spreader with the clean granules and walk your lawn. The two-in-one job of weeding and feeding takes maybe half an hour for the typical dichondra lawn.

Actually you don't risk even a thin dime. For, as any Scotts dealer will tell you, YOU must be content with what BONUS FOR DICHONDRA does for you—or your money back.

'Slips' Are a Garden Challenge

By Joe Littlefield

Clay pot with glass covering is as good as any cold frame for starting cuttings. For method, see article.

IN THIS DAY of handy nurseries with already started plants, the old-fashioned method of propagating garden material is too tedious and time-consuming for busy homeowners. However, "slips," as many gardeners know cuttings, are a challenge to the green thumber, a fun test of skill and, sometimes, the only method easily at hand to develop additional plants of a rare species.

The old-fashioned method was simply to stick a slip of the desired shrub into the ground and, if it grew, fine; if not, try again. Some plants are hardy enough to respond to this kind of gardening; most are not.

The best way to root cuttings, if you plan to do it at times, is to have a cold frame of wooden sides with glass covering. One side of the frame is lower than the other so that the glass slants downward to shed water. The glass cover should be whitewashed to reflect sunshine which in turn prevents the covered cutting from parboiling if the cold frame is in the sun.

THERE IS a simple easy way for busy but garden-minded folk to start cuttings. That is to use a clay pot placed in the shade. Cover the hole of pot on the inside to prevent the rooting medium such as sand or one of the treated silica materials, or sand and peat moss mixed together, from washing out.

Put three inches of rooting medium in the pot. Plant the cuttings, water well, place any handy broken window glass over the top and you have as good a cold frame as one would want! Eight-or ten-inch pots won't accommodate as many cuttings as the average cold frame does.

Hardy outdoor violets are susceptible to spider mite infestitation. Leaves with small yellow spots showing through indicate mite damage. Spray with insecticide spray that lists mites on the spray bottle label.

SUCKER growth on roses is different from succulent cane growth. The suckers grow out below the bud union area, may grow up through soil from base of plant trunk. Dig soil away, uncover sucker, then cut all of the growth area to remove it once and for all.

Fertilize hydrangeas for better flowers. Feed them acid food.

Pot up some pansies and violas for lots of color in the patio area.

Finish pruning flowering peaches or other deciduous flowering trees when through blooming.

Chewing worms damage passion vine, and geraniums, particularly. Spray those plants with stomach type poison spray. English primroses, too, is susceptible to worm damage. Soil must be moist before spraying.

Tips on Gardening

Garden tips for the week... Plant hydrangeas for lavish summer display.

Plant fuchsias now. Try some of the hanging types in overhead containers.

Feed lawns now and go after any lawn weeds with a chemical control. Your nurseryman will recommend one.

Plant daylilies this month for late spring and early summer bloom.

Plant tigridia bulbs for midsummer bloom. The triangular, spotted blooms are real attractions in July and August.

Window Box Gardening Is Easy

By Henry Pree

EVERYONE enjoys a well-planted box, especially those folks who have neither time nor space for a back-yard garden.

The success of window box gardening is largely dependent upon the size of the box and the soil. The box should be about 8 inches deep, 10 inches or more wide and about 3 feet long.

Longer boxes are difficult to handle. Three or more drainage holes must be bored in the bottom, otherwise the soil is likely to become soggy and retard plant growth. Cover the holes with pieces of broken flower pot and place an inch of rough material in the bottom of the box to further insure drainage.

THE SOIL mixture, made up of two parts good garden loam and one part well-decomposed compost, will provide sufficient foundation for root and top development. Rotted or dehydrated manure may be substituted if compost is not available. Monthly feeding with a complete fertilizer will provide nourishment.

Planting is best accomplished if the box is half-filled with soil, firmed down, and the plants then set in place. It is easy then to continue filling in with soil about the plants. For best effect, plant closer than you would in the garden. After planting, water them to compact the soil around the roots. Never allow the soil to become dry, but do not over water.

THE CHOICE of plants depends upon the location of the box. Some plants require a sunny location to produce blooms. Heliotrope, geraniums, verbena, dwarf zinnias, petunias and others are happy in the sunny window, while fuchsia, tuberous begonias and most of the foliage plants prefer shade or partial shade.

Coleus is an excellent plant where color is desired. Plants for the front of the box should have a tendency to droop. The balcony type of petunia, variegated vinca, ivy and asparagus fern are recommended. The common sweet alyssum likewise does well.

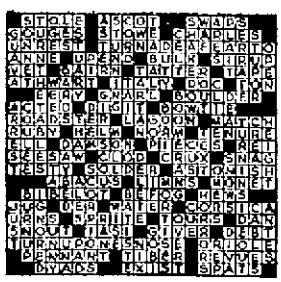

For the center of the box such plants as ageratum, browallia, balsam, verbena and petunias are most satisfactory. In the back of the box consider geraniums, heliotrope, lantana and begonias.

Dorothy Digs

Gophers feed on the roots of trees growing in your garden and also on bulbs and vegetation. They create underground burrows as they go about searching for food and do untold damage every year. They range in length from 6 to 13 inches, and in weight from 4 to 19 ounces. The gopher is a dynamo of strength and energy, very courageous, persistent and hard to destroy, especially the older ones. However, they can be destroyed.

There are several different ways of exterminating these pests . . . traps, poisons, etc., but the method I have found to be the simplest and safest is the use of a gopher gasser. The gassers I have in mind are non-toxic except when burning and all you have to do is to probe with a screwdriver until you find the open run; enlarge the opening with a trowel; light and immediately insert the gasser; then cover the hole with earth to make it as airtight as possible. The fumes will destroy the gophers and will do no harm to plants or trees growing in the area.

Why that extra weight may not be fat!

Pre-menstrual "water logging" can add from 2 to 7 pounds to your weight.

If every month your weight goes up, you feel stuffy and bloated and your dresses don't fit correctly, you are most likely suffering from pre-menstrual water logging. You see, during the five to ten days before your period, your body retains extra water. This gives you an extra burden to carry around. It puts pressure on delicate female tissues causing headaches, nervousness, irritability and skin flare-ups. This is when the amazing new medical discovery, Pamprin, helps you the most.

New Pamprin is a combination of medically proved ingredients that help your body adjust to your menstrual period. Pamprin gently relieves your body of extra water and extra weight. It also relieves headaches and cramps during the pre-menstrual period.

Pamprin contains no hormones, narcotics or harmful sedatives. It has given thousands of girls and women wonderfully effective relief. Get Pamprin at your druggist . . . before your next period.

N. L. (LEN) HILL
A Magnificent View

BY DAY or by night, the view is startlingly magnificent. From the Skyroom atop the Breakers International Hotel can be seen ships at sea or in Long Beach Harbor, the sloping humps of Palos Verdes, oil derricks bristling on Signal Hill and highways stretching far into Orange County.

By day the view from the Skyroom is graced with blue sky and ocean colors changing from blue to green and gray. And the luncheons, priced from $1.40, are as interesting as the panorama. Available from day to day are such entrees as broiled tender Swiss steak, southern fried chicken drumsticks, fried Eastern oysters and ham hocks with lima beans. All are accompanied by choice of soup du jour or salad, potato, vegetable, rolls and beverage. Also served are scrumptious shrimp and crab Louie salads ($2.15).

By night the view from the Skyroom is a blaze of colorful lights, marching north, west and east, stretching to the almost limitless boundaries of the great Los Angeles basin. While they gaze from their tables beside huge picture windows, the guests enjoy fine dinners, served nightly except Monday from 6 to 10. The menu, arranged by N. L. (Len) Hill, assistant manager in charge of the hotel's food service, includes delectable table d' hote dinners with soup or salad, potato, vegetable, French bread, beverage and dessert. An after-dinner drink, such as creme de menthe frappe, may be substituted for the dessert. Entrees (priced from $2.95) include baked sugar cured ham, capon, filet of halibut, lobster thermidor, beef Stroganoff, chicken cooked in wine and a variety of excellent steaks. The latter, priced from $3.95, are served with large salad, vegetables and beverage.

BERT'S EYE VIEW

Borgnine 'At Sea,' Navy Brass Cool

By BERT RESNIK
TV and Radio Editor

As far as the Navy is concerned, Lt. Comdr. Quinton McHale might as well be in the Army.

This is a feeling which saddens Ernest Borgnine who, in TV life, is Lt. Comdr. McHale.

In the Thursday night ABC-TV McHale role, Ernie heads up a crew of Navy men who have thrown away the GI rules book in favor of belly laughs.

Belly laughs, as any seaman second-class worth his salt can tell you, are not considered compatible with the dignity of Navy tradition.

But there is little question that McHale's Navy, despite its slapstick, has done much to humanize America's sea service.

There was, for example, the sequence in which Ernie's crew hosted a Christmas party for native orphans.

And while the seaway road to victory is always paved with laughs, the Navy has yet to lose an encounter with the enemy during McHale's TV tenure.

* * * * *

SINCE ERNIE in real life is a Navy veteran, the lack of official recognition has left him mournful.

"I'd be more than happy to do some recruiting things for the Navy," he said. "So far they haven't asked me."

Ernie said Army enlistments went up after the comedy Sgt. Bilko series in which Phil Silvers was starred. What Sgt. Bilko did for the Army, Ernie feels Lt. Comdr. McHale can do for the Navy.

"Look," he said, "we all know that 'war is hell.' But you get a bunch of servicemen or veterans together and what do they talk about?

"They don't talk much about the hell part of it—they laugh about their fun experiences.

* * * *

"I COULD SHOW you hundreds of letters from guys writing us that the same thing we had on TV was almost the way it really happened to them."

On one occasion, Ernie did receive official Navy recognition.

It was before his show hit the air and he went to New Orleans to make a publicity appearance on a local television station.

He was greeted with a sign that read:

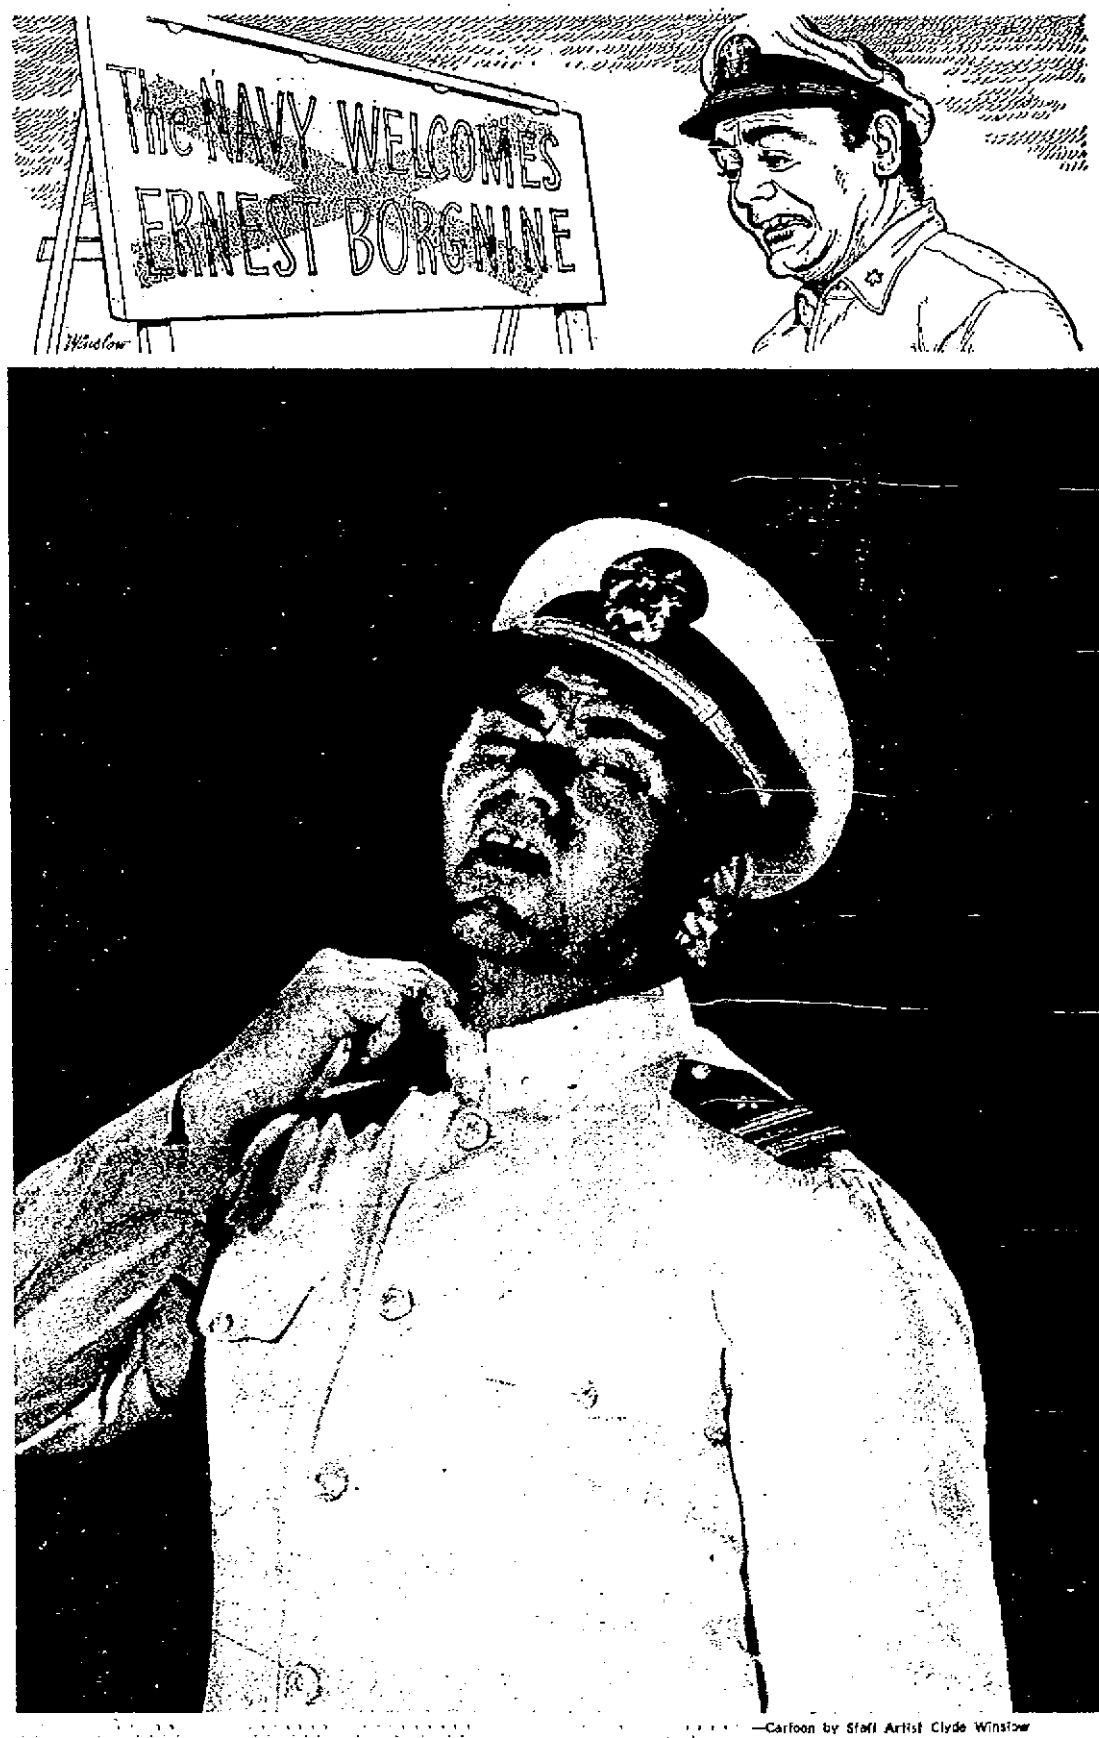

"The Navy Welcomes Ernest Borgnine."

An official Navy car conveyed him to the TV station and Ernie was informed of plans to honor him at the New Orleans naval base.

Between the time Ernie appeared on the TV station and the time he was slated to be taken to the naval base, the Pentagon got into the act.

Official word went out that the Navy

Strip Script on Television

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Stripteasing comes to television 10 p.m. Thursday in the person of Miss Beverly Hills, a shapely real-life peeler, playing herself in a dramatic episode of "Alcoa Premiere" on channel 7.

Beverly, whose real last name is Powers, is no stranger to taking off her clothes for movie and television cameras, but it makes her self-conscious.

"I don't mind stripping for a live audience—I do it three times a night, six nights a week," said Beverly, a native of Glendale. "There's no embarrassment there at all, unless my mother or father happen to be in the audience.

* * * *

"BUT I GET terribly self-conscious, really nervous when I have to strip for the cameras. It's so personal."

Beverly's 38-22-35 curves are displayed at the Largo Club on the Sunset Strip, which she says is the high temple of stripteasing.

She has found that stripping for television is considerably more modest than for movies, explaining that for foreign versions of such films as "Breakfast at Tiffany's" she peels down to a costume that could be packed in a walnut shell.

Occasionally Beverly plays roles other than strippers — prostitutes, party-girls and the like.

This elicits a beef from the lovely ecdysiast.

* * * *

"EVERYONE has the idea that stripteasers are immoral women. It's automatic. Just because you're a stripper it doesn't mean you're a bad person.

"It's a perfectly legitimate and decent way to make a living."

To the question, "How did a nice girl like you ever . . .? Beverly answers:

MISS BEVERLY HILLS AND LOUIS NYE
On "Alcoa Premiere" Thursday

"No girl really had to take lessons in stripteasing. Every woman instinctively knows how to peel.

"Of course it helps if you're a dancer. That's how I started. I was in the chorus up in a Las Vegas club for a couple of years and wanted to be on stage by myself. But I wasn't a ballerina or anything so I just naturally gravitated to stripteasing.

"Barry Ashton choreographed every step, but he couldn't teach me anything about stripping. A girl just KNOWS about that."

* * * *

BETWEEN shows at the Largo, Beverly knits sweaters and studies textbooks on acting. She is determined to glide from stripping to dramatic acting within the next few years.

"I'm not knocking stripteasing," she explained. "It's responsible for bringing me this far along in show business.

"And I try to be as good a performer as possible. When I'm up there on stage and all those people are looking at me I try to concentrate on what I'm doing and to give a good impression.

"But someday I'd like to keep all my clothes on in a television show or in a movie and play a decent woman. It may never happen because my measurements are against me. But I'm working at it."

Wells on TV

Bob Wells, columnist for the Independent, Press-Telegram, will appear on "Press Conference" at 4 p.m. today (Sunday), channel 7.

U.S. Sen. Clair Engle (D) will be interviewed by a panel of newsmen concerning the impact of national issues on Southern California.

Hobbies Galore

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Actor Fred MacMurray, an enduring movie star, keeps a fresh outlook for forgetting his profession when he finishes a day's work.

MacMurray lists the following hobbies: golf, fishing, painting, music, cooking and horseback riding. He got his start in show business as a musician and still plays the saxophone in lighter moments.

Harry Belafonte Makes Rare TV Appearance

SINGER GENERALLY FINDS COMMERCIAL TELEVISION 'TERRIBLY LIMITING'

By DOC QUIGG

NEW YORK (UPI) — The tall, athletic man broke off work in his recording-projection-rehearsal rooms, swooped down a long hall into a huge bare-floor rumpus room where his daughter Gina, 18 months, toddled toward him, and dropped into a red divan to await her.

He swept her up, held her high, and kissed her. "You all right, honey?" he asked. Then he held her on his lap and told about preparations for his only television show this season.

Harry Belafonte was in simultaneous production of three upcoming efforts: an 18-minute segment he'll do on NBC's Bell Telephone Hour this Thursday (10 p.m., channel 4 in color), a U.S.-Canadian concert tour which he begins June 6, and his 17th record album, due out in August.

Belafonte was on the premier performance of the Telephone Hour on television, and this is his third appearance on this show.

* * * *

HOW COME it's his only TV airing this season?

"There are others I could have done," he said. "But I don't believe in doing too much appearance on TV. I get along fine with the Telephone Hour people, and I like to go on their program once in a while. But I find doing things for commercial television to be, in general, terribly limiting.

"They try — the musical ones — to be all things to all people. I've just got to the point where I'd like to do something for 100,000 people who are interested passionately in certain concepts or points of view rather than for millions who want the same familiar formats with their superficial requirements.

HARRY BELAFONTE

"One reason I do so little TV is that I haven't really found a program with the kind of style that I'd like to lend my energies to regularly. I do look forward to doing an occasional show like the Telephone Hour with big audience exposure. But I guess the real answer for me is educational television. I'm very interested in it."

* * * *

FOR HIS Thursday performance — guitarist Andres Segovia and Metropolitan Opera star Birgit Nilsson are among other artists on the program—Belafonte will sing folk songs and spirituals, an Israeli number and a song from the American musical theater.

"I have certain concepts for an hour show on TV, and one of these ideas has been carried out to some extent on the new RCA record album which I've just about finished," he said. "It's called 'Streets I Have Walked.'"

The album deals with songs from all over the world (Belafonte has given concerts in many countries of Europe and Asia) and he renders them in their native tongues.

"The TV-show idea is — I've had some very intense experiences in the countries I've visited and I'd like to present some of these experiences," he said. "For instance, I was in the Philippines during a hurricane, in Japan during the Premier Kishi uprising.

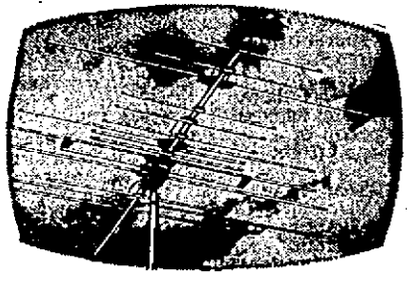

"Another idea is to do a sort of troubador-in-America on all the things I've seen in little villages of the U.S.A. Another, on all the songs that have come out of the Mississippi.

"Most of these have been rejected because they didn't have the superficial requirements the ratings-watchers are bogged down with."

BERT'S EYE VIEW

Borgnine in Navy 10 Years

should look the other way when Ernie was around.

The captain of the New Orleans naval base, however, was indeed a gentleman as well as an officer. He went ahead with plans to have Ernie picked up after the TV appearance and brought back to the base.

* * * *

EXPLAINING WHY he was going to have to soft-pedal honoring activities, the captain told Ernie he understood the series was going to be "adverse" to the Navy.

Replied Ernie:

"Sir, I spent 10 years in the Navy. The Navy made a man out of me. I wouldn't do anything I thought was adverse to the Navy."

Ernie grinned at the recollection.

"After I said that," he recalled, "they rolled the base out for me."

While Ernie is not sure when the Navy first decided it would "look the other way," it's possible that the official attitude was precipitated by the reaction of a Navy lieutenant assigned as technical adviser for the show.

During the taping of the first scene of the first show, the lieutenant told producer Edward J. Montagne:

"You can't do that."

Replied Montagne:

"McHale's Navy can do anything."

The Navy lieutenant left and has not yet returned.

And Ernie feels sad that he hasn't come back.

Because he'd like a chance to explain that the "anything" includes helping in Navy recruitment.

WHY GO BALD?

California's Leading Scalp Specialist Answers Your Questions About Hair

S. I. Turoff, California's leading hair and scalp expert, who has just announced a Save-Your-Hair-Week. As long as you have some hair, you have an excellent chance to grow thicker hair with remarkable new methods, Specialist Turoff says. Turoff recently opened the 9th permanent Turoff Clinic in Long Beach.

"There are many causes of baldness," says S. I. Turoff, California's foremost hair expert, "but the most important cause is ignorance!"

This startling announcement was made by Mr. Turoff in a recent interview in his Long Beach office. And there's no doubt that Mr. Turoff speaks with authority, for he has spent over 26 years studying and correcting the hair ills of thousands and directs scalp treatments in his many offices.

He has treated show people, businessmen, athletes, workers -- men and women from every professional background. With this long and varied experience, he is generally regarded as one of the nation's top trichologists.

"The hardest part of helping men and women with hair troubles is to show them that they can be helped," says Mr. Turoff. "After all these years, it still continues to amaze me how little people have learned about the advances that have been made in hair science field."

Leading Questions

According to Mr. Turoff, most men -- and women, too -- have the same general misconceptions about their hair.

"I have heard the same questions for so many years that I have made a list. Four men out of five who come in to see me for their free scalp examinations ask me one of three questions first. Usually," he added with a smile, "I can tell when a man walks through my office door which one he'll ask first."

Mr. Turoff agreed to publish his "little list" for the help of those who haven't got around to getting help for their hair problems. Here they are:

Q. "I have been worried about heavy hair-fall for the last year. How can I get rid of this disorder?"

A. Heavy hair-fall is a symptom of scalp trouble, not a disorder in itself. The problem is to find what's causing the loss and to treat the cause, not the symptom.

By far the most common cause of hair loss, as revealed by the thousands of case histories at Turoff Hair Experts, is infectious dandruff.

This dandruff may not be the kind you see. In its most dangerous form, it becomes imbedded in the hair tubes and blocks the emergence of new hairs.

You cannot get rid of such dandruff with ordinary methods of shampooing and scalp hygiene. You must have expert help if you are to avoid baldness!

Q. "I've lost so much hair lately that's it's quite thin on top. Is it possible to regrow this hair?"

A. Some re-growth is almost always accomplished by Turoff treatment and aftercare. In many cases, we re-grow most all of the lost hair.

The amount of recovery depends on the amount of damage done before you start treatment. Where hair loss has been going on for years, some hair follicles will be completely closed and the hair bulbs withered away. Nothing can be done to reactivate growth there.

But where follicles still produce even "fuzz," they can usually be stimulated to produce hair of full length and strength.

You see, your scalp naturally has a tremendous urge to keep on growing hair. Once a follicle is cleared of dandruff and infectious bacteria by Turoff treatment . . . and the "manufacturing" mechanism stimulated, Nature takes over. From then on, following a proper schedule of hair care will keep your scalp healthy and hair growing.

Q. "I have a pronounced 'bald spot,' and my hair is very thin elsewhere on top. Would I benefit from Turoff scalp treatment?"

A. Almost any man with any hair left will benefit from our modern treatment . . . and quickly, too.

From your very first treatment your scalp looks and feels better. Soon dandruff disappears and excess hair loss slows down to normal. Too oily or too dry scalp is cleared up.

Wherever you have new hair growing -- even thin "fuzz" -- you can have thicker, healthier, handsome hair. But it's all a matter of timing.

You must remember that the one sure thing about a "bald spot" is that it will spread unless attended to. The spreading does not stop naturally -- until you're slick bald. You must stop it with expert care. And that's the least benefit you can expect from Turoff treatment. It will enable your hair "to hold its own."

"Do-It-Yourself" Treatment

Mr. Turoff says that there is a fourth question that is quite popular although it does not apply to residents of California who can get to the Turoff office easily.

Q. "I live sixty-five miles from your office and cannot get in to the offices frequently enough for regular treatments. Is there any hope for my hair?"

A. Most assuredly. For those who live out of town or who travel frequently, Mr. Turoff has developed a combination home-and-office treatment that is highly successful. After your initial office examination, you are given a self-help plan of hair care that is remarkably effective.

Hundreds of men from cities and towns around Long Beach have a healthy head of hair today because of the Turoff "Do-It-Yourself" system.

Free Examination

No matter how far advanced your hair-loss is, the most important consideration is that you do something about it NOW.

If hair loss is severe, you had better tend to it immediately before you lose everything . . . and hope, too.

If thinning is just beginning, you're lucky -- if you get expert help NOW. For with the assistance of the Turoff Hair Experts, you can regain your hair, get it in a healthier condition probably than ever before, and be assured of a full head of hair the rest of your life.

Trial Treatment

During "Save-Your-Hair Week" only, the Turoff Hair and Scalp Specialists offer a complete scalp treatment for $2 to any eligible man or woman.

Here's the way to get it:

Visit the Turoff Hair and Scalp Specialists office this week at any time between 11 a.m. and 8 p.m. daily (10 to 3 Saturday; Thursday, 4 to 8 p.m.). Have the Turoff specialist examine your scalp and give you his findings.

If your condition is "hopeless," he'll tell you so frankly. About 5 per cent of those he examines are hopeless.

If you are acceptable, your first trial visit (with coupon) will cost just $2.

Phone: 436-7284

Trained Technicians Administer All Phases of the Turoff Treatment under Careful Supervision of a Specialist.

SAVE YOUR HAIR WEEK IN OUR LONG BEACH OFFICE WILL BE PERSONALLY CONDUCTED BY

110 PINE AVE., L.B. SUITE 309

NO APPOINTMENT NECESSARY

Same Special Offer Good in Other Turoff Branches: Oakland, Berkeley, San Mateo, San Jose, Sacramento, Fresno, Westlake, San Francisco.

Since your scalp, like your fingerprint, is not the same as anybody else's, the examination must come first.

These are the questions most people want information about:

1. How often should you wash hair?
2. Which kind of shampoo is best?
3. Is brushing necessary? Desirable?
4. What can be done about oily scalp?
5. What about dry scalp?
6. Are "tonics" and dressings helpful?
7. Does it help to cut hair short?
8. When is dandruff dangerous?
9. Can your hair be thickened?
10. What is a scalp treatment like?

Take this list along with you tomorrow to the Turoff Hair and Scalp Specialists.

PARADE

THE NEWS & Independent - Press-Telegram

APRIL 7, 1963

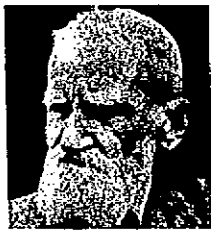

PRESIDENT KENNEDY AND THE JOINT CHIEFS OF STAFF

WALTER SCOTT'S

PERSONALITY PARADE

Want the facts? Want to spike rumors? Want to learn the truth about prominent personalities? Write Walter Scott, PARADE, 733 Third Ave., New York 17, N.Y. Your full name will be used unless otherwise requested. Sorry, the volume of mail received makes personal replies impossible.

Q. Is it true that the late George Bernard Shaw was the world's worst driver?—Ellen Adams, Austin, Tex.
A. Pretty nearly. He ran down several people in the course of his driving by pressing on the accelerator when he wanted to brake.

Q. I would like to know if they have horse race tracks in Russia. If so, is betting legal there?—S. Taylor, St. Louis, Mo.
A. There are more than 90 race tracks in the U.S.S.R. where betting is legal.

Q. I've heard it said that Lena Horne is retiring from show business. True or false?—Mrs. Lawrence Holt, Tucson, Ariz.
A. Says Lena, who is thinking of quitting the night-club circuit: "It's stifling to keep singing all these silly boy-girl songs all your life." Miss Horne, now in her late 40s, has been singing for 20 years.

Q. Back in December 1962, a group of approximately 50 Republicans held a secret meeting in Chicago to draft Barry Goldwater for President. What happened?—Barbara Pitt, Oak Park, Ill.
A. The group planned to raise a campaign fund of $3,200,000, and a professional political staff, but Goldwater asked backers to give him 1963 to decide.

Q. How old is Gene Kelly?—M. H., New York, N.Y.
A. Kelly is 50.

Q. Please tell me Gloria Swanson's age, the names of her husbands and how many children she has.—E. B., St. Louis, Mo.
A. Miss Swanson is 64. Husbands were Wallace Beery, Herbert K. Somborn, Marquis de la Falaise de la Coudray, Michael Farmer, William N. Davey. She has two daughters and one adopted son.

Q. Is it true that Stalin used to wear lifts in his shoes?—L. S., Reading, Pa.
A. He wore shoes with built-up heels to make him appear taller than his 5-feet-5.

Q. What's happened to Bernard Goldfine, the textile magnate who got Sherman Adams into such a mess?—Larry Harris, New York, N.Y.
A. He is starting a new life. All of his holdings have been turned over to the government to satisfy a $10,000,000 tax claim. The government is allowing Goldfine $200 a week on which to live.

Q. Who are the Adlai Stevenson men in the Kennedy administration, and isn't Kennedy quietly dropping them?—D. McGovern, Oakland, Calif.
A. Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz, Postmaster Edward Day, Deputy Secretary of State George Ball, Assistant Secretary of State Harlan Cleveland, Assistant Secretary of State Fred Dutton, F.C.C. Chairman Newton Minow, Presidential Assistant Arthur Schlesinger, Jr., NATO Ambassador Thomas K. Finletter, Ambassador to Guinea William Attwood, Ambassador to the Dominican Republic John Bartlow Martin, Ambassador to Luxembourg William Rivkin, Federal District Judge Hubert Will, Circuit Court of Appeals Judge Carl McGowan. Kennedy is dropping none of these men as of this writing.

Q. I would like to know how long Ethel Merman and Bob Six were married, and if they had children.—Mrs. John Law, St. Louis, Mo.
A. They were married almost seven years, had no children.

Some intimate and revealing glimpses of

THE PRESIDENT AS

COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF

by FRED BLUMENTHAL

EDITOR'S NOTE: PARADE's correspondent Fred Blumenthal spent several months developing this important article. It is not a report card on the President in his role of Commander-in-Chief, but a revealing close-up on some of the facets of this awesome responsibility he shoulders.

WASHINGTON, D.C.

FOR MORE THAN HALF of his waking hours, President John F. Kennedy battles with the enormous problems of defense of the U. S. and the free world.

The public sees the President in his role as Commander-in-Chief when crisis news flares in the headlines: Cuba, Berlin, South Vietnam, Laos, the Congo, or when he visits the Armed Forces at sea or in the field.

But only a handful of his closest associates know of the anxious, grinding study he must devote to military affairs.

And only the President himself knows the strain of being the one man with his finger on the world's most powerful trigger.

When the former PT-boat commander entered the White House, he was well aware of the awesome responsibility that would be his. Yet he now admits privately that the full impact did not strike until several days after his inauguration.

The day, January 25, 1961; the time, 10:15 A.M.; the place, the Cabinet Room of the White House; the occasion, the new President's first official meeting with the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Says an aide: "The President had envisaged the gathering as a get-acquainted session with his top military advisers. He entered the room in bouncy mood, and after friendly greetings all around, took his place at the huge table, removed a ball point pen from his pocket, laid it on the yellow scratch pad before him and asked, 'Gentlemen, do you want to start or do you want me to?' "

AS MIGHT BE EXPECTED, the Joints Chiefs were eager to hear first from their new Commander-in-Chief. For the next 10 minutes, President Kennedy, crisply and yet in considerable detail, outlined his basic thinking on the perils facing the free world and how he believed they could best be met.

But the real shock was yet to come for the young President. Over the years he had received military briefings: as congressman, senator, presidential candidate, and President-elect. But now, for the first time, all the top secret military cards were on the table.

The friendly get-together suddenly became deadly serious business. For more than an hour the Joint Chiefs in turn presented a balance sheet of life and death, not only for the U. S. but for the whole free world. Calm, matter-of-fact voices reported on U. S. plans for nuclear retaliation, alternate war plans, casualty estimates, latest intelligence on Soviet capabilities, U. S. ability to react to a Soviet first strike and, most important to the President, command and control elements in his hands alone.

It is one thing to discuss in broad terms the holocaust of nuclear war—the "taking out" of cities; the possibility of American casualties running as high as 50 million lives; the risk of war by accident or miscalculation.

It is a wholly different thing to realize, in your innermost heart, that for the next four years the peace of the world depends, in large measure, on your judgment, that it is your hand and your voice which control more than 25,000 nuclear weapons.

How does a man react to such terrifying responsibility?

When the meeting with the Joint Chiefs was over, President Kennedy left the Cabinet Room, walked past the desk of secretary Mrs. Evelyn Lincoln and entered his own oval office. He gave orders that he was not to be disturbed. Then he swung round his swivel chair and gazed out in deep meditation over the snow-covered South Lawn. Those were somber moments for John Fitzgerald Kennedy.

As he stared out of the window, the President drew up his own balance sheet. He was grateful for the military strength that had been passed on to him. But there were new factors in the equation he had to solve.

The keystone of our defense, and the free world's deterrent, was our strong nuclear capability. This capability had been maintained by President Eisenhower.

But now another element had been added: a new factor introduced by Premier Khrushchev.

On January 6, 1961, 14 days before the President's inauguration, Premier Khrushchev made a dramatic, historic speech in which he outlined his new strategy—in effect: "We will beat the U. S. with small wars of liberation. We will nibble them to exhaustion all over the globe, in South America, Africa, Southeast Asia."

Kennedy had understood the message. He called for the classic textbooks on guerrilla warfare by Red China's Mao Tse-tung and Castro's right-hand man, the Argentine Communist Major Ernesto (Ché) Guevara.

In the weeks that followed, Kennedy began investigating America's readiness and capacity to cope with the guerrilla threat. He gave it a name—"the twilight war."

The President tossed the following questions at the Joint Chiefs of Staff:

▲ How many of the officers being recommended for flag rank and general officer rank have experience in guerrilla warfare? Only a handful, and the new Commander-in-Chief sent these generals-to-be on a long series of trips to Laos and to South Vietnam for "orientation."

▲ How many officers going to far-off Military Advisory missions and attaché posts speak the language of the country? Hardly any, it was discovered, and the Armed Forces were told to set up short language courses.

▲ How many of our soldiers, sailors and airmen receive school instruction in guerrilla warfare, counterinsurgency and counterrevolutionary tactics? Very few. So curricula at West Point, Annapolis, all service schools and the National War College were enlarged.

These were long-range projects. The President looked the Joint Chiefs in the eye and spoke more directly.

Of a top Air Force general he asked: "I am sure that a SAC bomber with a megaton bomb at 50,000 feet is important to our defense, but can it help 20 guerrillas in the jungles of South Vietnam? What are you doing to support those 20 guerrillas?"

SINCE THEN, THE AIR FORCE in South Vietnam has been concentrating on "Operation Farmgate," designed to train native pilots in air support for jungle warfare.

The President asked an admiral: "What is the Navy doing?" He answered: "Well, sir, there are the Marines, of course, and we are making a number of studies."

Said the President: "I know the Marines are always ready for any kind of combat, but they can't carry the whole burden."

Today the Navy is engaged in a variety of enterprising activities. In Southeast Asia it has created a huge fleet of Oriental junks which operate in the rivers and estuaries of South Vietnam. Manned by local anti-Communist "fishermen," they harass Communist supply lines, even board the enemy at gun point. Navy experts are working on "raider projects," demolition training and radio communication control.

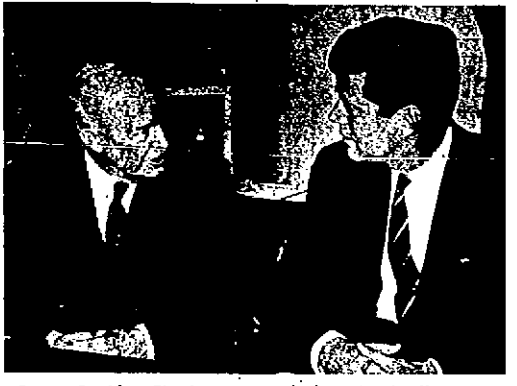

Kennedy wanted to see for himself the kind of weapons the Army had for guerrilla warfare. A few days later, lethal weapons, all designed for silent, hit-and-run warfare, were carried into the President's office.

The President picked up weapon after weapon. He asked: "Are these our latest? I have read about or seen most of these before." The answer: "Sir, the latest item here was developed for the OSS in 1944."

The President made other disturbing discoveries:

▲ The U. S. had been sending thousands of M-1 Garand rifles to the small, slender troops of Laos and South Vietnam. On paper, at the Pentagon, it looked good. They wanted guns, and we had sent them guns. But they were guns they could hardly carry and few could fire. Loaded, the M-1 weighs 9¾ pounds and has a hefty kick. It also has a stock designed for bigger men. While aiming the M-1, a Vietnamese could hardly reach the trigger. He had little enthusiasm for

THE JOINT CHIEFS: A TYPICAL SESSION WITH THE PRESIDENT

THE JOINT CHIEFS OF STAFF are by law the military advisers to the President and to the Secretary of Defense. President Kennedy, as Commander-in-Chief, has frequent meetings with these men to get their straight-from-the-shoulder advice on national defense and our international problems from a military viewpoint. This team are all appointees of President Kennedy except for General Shoup, who has been representing the Marine Corps as its Commandant since January 1960.

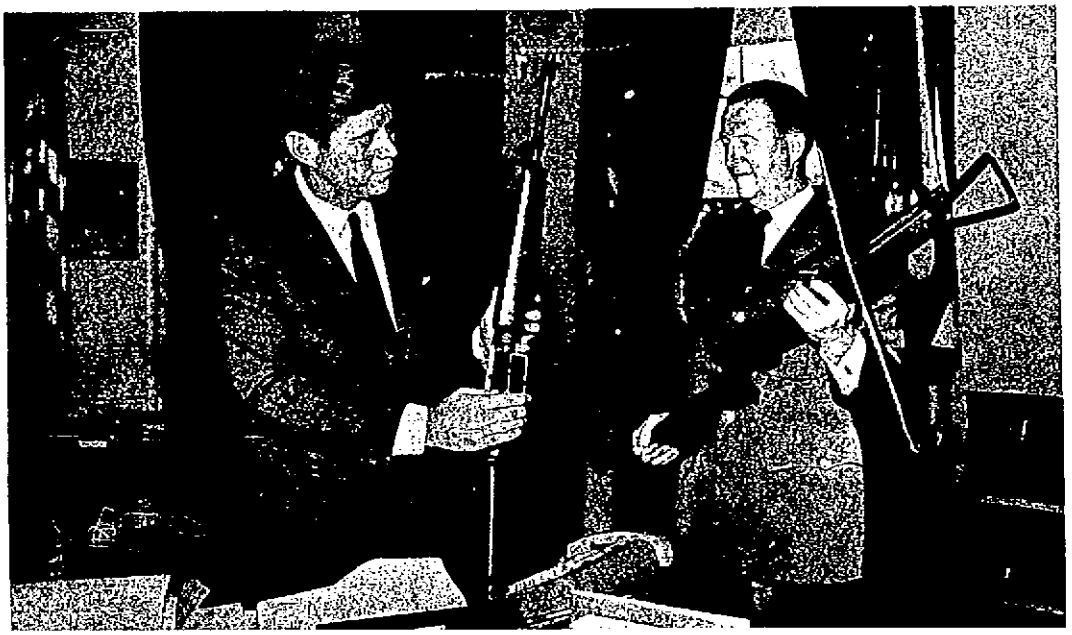

A typical meeting was held in the Cabinet Room a few weeks ago. Here are some of the subjects they discussed:

- The reaction time of the U. S. forces assembled last October, when the Cuban crisis broke: It took more than 2,700 flatcars to move an armored division to the East Coast. The Commander-in-Chief wanted to discuss the application of lessons learned in this crisis to future readiness.
- The military viewpoint on the Civic Action Program in Latin America: How did the Chiefs feel about combining military training for Latin American armies along with permanent good works like bridge-building?
- The measure of progress being made by our NATO allies in "beefing up" their conventiona forces.
- The JCS views on the newly proposed nuclear force for European nations.
- A short progress report on the war in South Vietnam.
- Are American officers and GI's getting sufficient foreign language training?
- Discussion of how the defense hearings were going before Congress.

As advisers to Secretary of Defense McNamara, the Joint Chiefs of Staff are in daily touch with him and constantly go over with him the countless problems that beset top Pentagon planners.

The President takes personal interest in the development of every new weapon. Here, with his Military Aide, Maj. Gen. C. V. (Ted) Clifton, he examines the Army's new AR-15 —a rapid-firing rifle with a special .22 caliber bullet. It's designed for close combat, weighs only 6.4 pounds. It's now in use in South Vietnam. Gen. Clifton is holding a modern version of the ancient crossbow, which silently shoots a steel-tipped arrow—lethal at 150 yards. Steel triangle on the end of the bow is for soldier to place his foot while pulling up the powerful bowstring into the trigger mechanism.

KENNEDY continued

Nuclear age requires sharp intelligence, fast communications—even with the Soviets—briefings several times a day firing the rifle because he knew the kick would almost certainly knock him off his feet.

▲ Boots and hats were another problem. The regular GI combat boot was too heavy, absorbed too much water and made too much noise in the silent war of the jungles. It was replaced by tennis shoes, but these were not proof against the bamboo spikes which the Communists sow in swamps and along trails. Literally thousands of casualties have been caused by these spikes.

▲ In the jungle the traditional GI helmet is too heavy, too hot and too noisy.

▲ GI rations, while excellent for American stomachs, don't sit well with Asian digestions used to rice.

▲ Field radios were too heavy and too complicated.

▲ Only a handful of American instructors could speak the language of the men they were teaching.

Today the South Vietnamese are being supplied with AR-15 rifles, a new .22 caliber automatic that weighs 6.4 pounds, about half the weight of the M-1. It has a more limited range, but in the jungle you first see the enemy at 40 feet.

Helmets will be replaced by Australian-type cloth hats, which are quiet in the jungle.

Tennis shoes are now reinforced by a fine, flexible steel inner sole which can crunch down the toughest bamboo spike. Rations have also been changed to give our fighting friends what they like.

In each of these innovations—and there are now more than 100 new items under development—the President has had a personal hand.

On his night table is a thick, black-covered loose-leaf book labeled "Top Secret," containing all the latest ideas and progress reports on guerrilla warfare. It spans the world.

There are reports on tribes—their customs, religion, even superstitions. There is information gathered by experts on food and weapons best suited to an area. No detail is too small: the average length of a man's arm, the size of his foot, the span of his hand, rainfall, desert heat, winter temperatures and spring crops. These are all vitally important. All bear on victory in a "little war."

But the President has not lost his perspective on the larger tasks and larger wars that might develop.

He sees two essential answers to the challenge facing him: gathering of intelligence and speed of communications. He insists: "Not only must I know the real facts of any situation, but I must also be able to talk immediately to the men involved."

To get the facts, the President has paid detailed attention to the intelligence effort. The Central Intelligence Agency has been inspired as well as prodded. The Army, Navy and Air Force have pooled their resources into a Defense Intelligence Agency. The President himself is briefed several times a day on events around the world that might tip off the need for action. If American action is to be effective, information has to move in and orders go out—rapidly. Fast communications, especially with the Soviets, are essential in the nuclear age.

'Still in the 19th Century'

Secretary of State Dean Rusk complained after the Cuban crisis, "We're still in the 19th century"—it had proved faster for Khrushchev to get in touch with Kennedy through Tass, the Soviet official news agency, using commercial facilities, than through diplomatic channels.

A man who lives on the telephone, Kennedy runs his own spot checks on his personal communications. He is always conscious that it is his hand, his voice and his mind that must give the crucial orders.

For example, after he had occupied "The Chair" in the White House for a few days, he was told: "Mr. President, pick up that phone and you can speak to any major U. S. military base, anywhere in the world, within 30 seconds."

With a skeptical but hopeful smile, Kennedy accepted the invitation. He asked for the Command Room at the Pentagon, which was not across the world but just across the Potomac, 2 miles away. It took him 1 minute and 55 seconds to get through—not 30 seconds.

There were red faces. Explanation: Down in the basements of the White House and the Pentagon, sergeants who had sat for months watching for the President's light on their switchboards that had never come on were suddenly "all thumbs."

At first the President was annoyed. Then he chuckled, accepting the apology: "Mr. President, we were nervous."

He said: "I understand completely. Let's talk to each other a lot more. Then none of us will be nervous."

But the President was delighted when, at Homestead Air Force Base, south of Miami, following the Cuban crisis, he saw a red phone labeled "Joint War Room." He asked General Walter Sweeney, Commander of the U. S. Tactical Air Command, "Does this phone really go anywhere?" General Sweeney, knowing the President's standing suspicion of phony phones, grinned and said, "You will be right through to the Pentagon."

The President gave Sweeney a quizzical look and picked the phone up. At once a voice answered: "This is Colonel —— in the Joint War Room."

"This is President Kennedy," said the President. "I am here in Homestead with General Sweeney and I'm just checking our communications. Thank you, Colonel."

The President put the phone down with a smile and said, "It does work, doesn't it, Sweeney!"

Hard to Believe

Meanwhile, back at the Pentagon, Colonel —— was having a hard time getting anyone to believe a single word of his story.

Then there was the occasion when the President suddenly decided to make another test—this time to a base in Alaska. To the President's delight, he was put through in seconds.

A major answered: "Cinc-Al Duty Officer."

"This is President Kennedy in Washington speaking. How are things going up your way, Major? I'm just checking communications."

The startled major outlined the maneuvers then taking place, and was thanked. The major knew it had to be the President on that line, because such calls cannot be made without a reverse-call clearance.

Up to a few months ago, in a closet in the President's office there was a gray phone—the smallest telephone system in the world. It connects with 12 men—the JCS and the secretaries of state, defense, etc. They alone are the men who must always stand ready to take the President's orders in grave emergency. Recently that all-important phone was moved from the closet to his desk, and now an extension has even been placed at his bedside.

The military posture of the United States, which today is President Kennedy's main concern, is constantly changing—as it must, to keep abreast of new challenges.

But there are constants which the President fully recognizes. One is leadership. Another is morale. Not long ago he asked his staff to find the verse which he had seen tacked on the wall of a British sentry box in Gibraltar. It wasn't high poetry, but it was full of meaning to the President, his JCS team and to the men and women serving our country in uniform.

God and the soldier all men adore
In time of danger, and not before.
When the danger is past and all things righted,
God is forgotten and the old soldier slighted.

The Commander-in-Chief added: "This country does not forget God or the soldier. Upon both we now depend." ■

KEELY

TEN YEARS AGO Keely Smith (real name—Dorothy Jacqueline Keely), a shapely, petite, black-haired singer from Norfolk, Va., married Louis Prima, a gravel-voiced, trumpet-playing orchestra leader more than twice her age.

She was 19, and he was approaching 50. Theirs was a Pygmalion relationship in which Prima called all the shots—professional, financial and domestic. He told his young wife how to sing, how to dress, how to behave—and because she is obedient and pliant by nature (also ⅛ Cherokee Indian by heritage) she executed these orders faithfully.

The result was that on stage she developed a dead-pan, fully bored expression, while her husband carried on in a wild, zany fashion. The combine of contrasts proved unbeatable. Keely and Louis played the leading night spots, from the Copacabana in New York to the Sahara in Las Vegas. They appeared on all the variety TV shows. Ed Sullivan described them as "the greatest act in show business." Randy Wood, president of Dot Records, said, "These two constitute the most valuable property in the recording field today."

Born into a life of poverty, Keely, who used to sing for $5 a night with Earl Dennett's band in Norfolk, suddenly found that she and her husband were in the 6-figure income bracket. They built a large Japanese-type home in Las Vegas, formed their own company, the Keelou Corporation, seemingly overnight became a million-dollar business.

'The Great Stone Face'

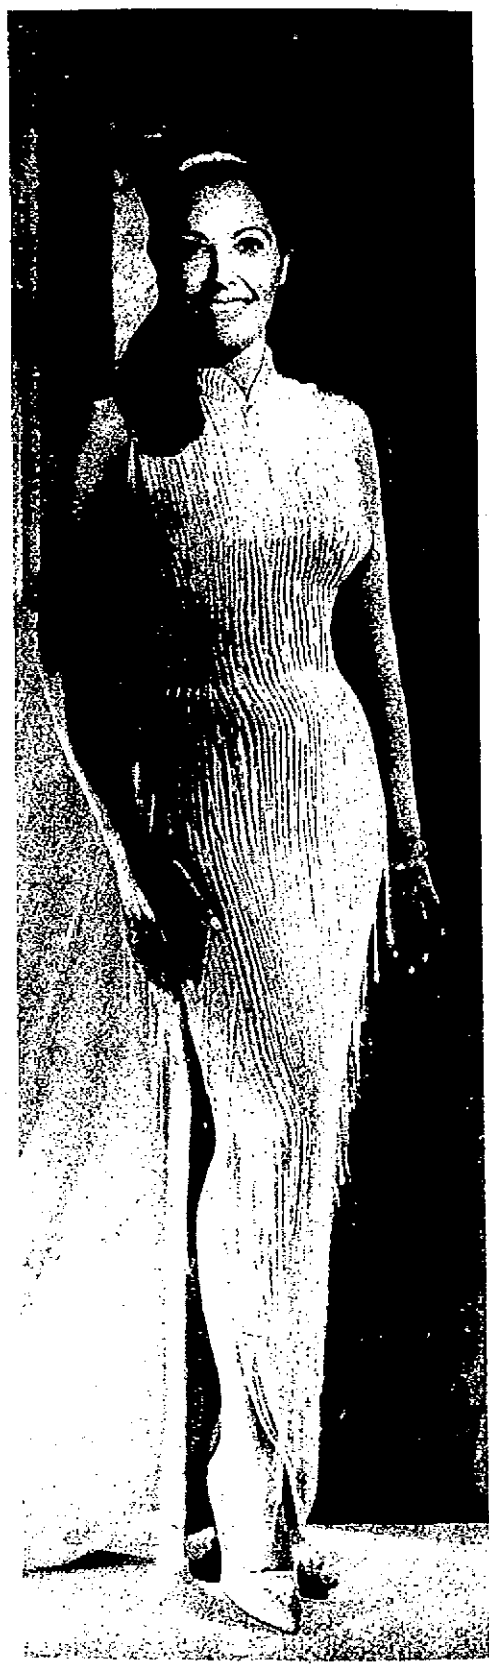

Keely gave birth to two girls, Toni, now 8, and Luanne, now 6, and with the Primas all appeared good, golden and glorious. Except that Keely seemed to develop no identity of her own. Prima so completely dominated the relationship, both private and professional, Keely's fans began to call her "the great stone face."

In truth, she was submerged, overwhelmed and domesticated, but in her own words, "I didn't mind because I was brought up to be a mother and a wife, and I really didn't care about a career. It was just one of those things that happen."

Keely and Louis were divorced two years ago. When Prima was questioned about it, he said: "The reason most show business couples split up is money. To me, it's the root of all evil. It changes people. In the case of the wife who becomes as important as the husband and whose earning power is as strong as the man's, she gets independent of the husband. When the man is earning more, he takes care of his wife, but when she is making it, that feeling is gone. He ceases to be a husband. Money is involved. They fight."

Friends who know Keely well bring out that her own parents split up when she was 9, that, wittingly or not, she found Prima more of a father-substitute than a husband, that when she began to seek an identity of her own Prima rebelled, and the marriage came apart.

Whatever her marital background, the fact is that as she approaches 30, Keely Smith finds herself on her own for the

Keely today is no longer a submerged personality, has given up dead-pan style as singer, and would like to remed.

SMITH – woman on her own

first time. "And frankly, it isn't easy. I find that I have to make all the decisions, do all the planning, and then my two girls —they really need a father. Every time I go out on a date they say, 'Mommy, why don't you marry this fellow if he promises to live in Las Vegas?' And only recently—my brother Piggy lives with us—my 8-year-old said, 'Mommy, why don't you marry Uncle Piggy?'

"I find that I have to pay the income taxes and choose my own numbers, and I have set up my own company, Keely Smith Enterprises, and I have signed a contract with Frank Sinatra's record company, Reprise. And well, until a year or so ago, all of that was done for me—maybe it wasn't done too wisely, but I was never let in on what was happening, so I never learned. It's a question of delayed growing up, and believe me, it isn't easy.

"I am on my own, not because I want to be but because I have got to be. [Keely has at least $100,000 in debts she assumed at the time of the divorce.] And while it's great being independent—I have been a solo for six months—I can tell you, I would trade in on a good husband in a minute. The trouble with being married at an early age is that a girl gets used to it. A successful career is just great, but have you ever tried running your hand through its hair?

"Anyhow, I am not complaining. I've got my two daughters with me, my mother, Mrs. Fannie Smith, my brother Piggy, who is also my road manager. And not too long ago my youngest brother Buster and his wife moved to Las Vegas to take charge of my office, which handles my business operations and fan clubs. So you can see the difference in being on your own is that suddenly a lot of people become dependent on you. And for a single girl—well, it isn't a snap. But that's life. And I take it as it comes." ■

Louis Prima was 50 when he married Keely, 19. Act and marriage broke up in 1961.

HIGH SCHOOL DRIVERS

A radio control tower directs these students in a unique and dramatic training program

by JIM HEAD

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y.

SEVEN GLEAMING CARS of the driver training fleet wheel along in perfect formation, then break off into seven separate maneuvers.

High above the one-mile track is a radio control tower similar to those directing traffic at busy airports. It is manned by a broadcasting teacher in what is believed to be the only such classroom in the U. S.

White Plains, N.Y., High School—a 3-year institution with an enrollment of 2,000—has had two-way radio for its driver training program since 1959. The system has three main advantages, explains Dr. C. Darl Long, the school principal. It allows one teacher to do the work of seven, assures greater safety because of the over-all tower control and permits maximum use of the track, since all the cars can be put through their paces simultaneously.

Driver training is a serious business at White Plains High. It's compulsory for all students and far removed from the "snap course" category. Nearly 800 students complete the program each year at no cost to them. The city built the track, the school picks up the tab for insurance and gas, and local dealers supply the cars.

Best of all, however, is the safety record. School officials say there has been no known auto accident involving any of the driver training graduates since the program started, four years ago.

IN THE FIRST YEAR of the 2-year program, White Plains sophomores receive 18 hours of general safety education, including good pedestrian and bicycling habits and the basic principles of driving.

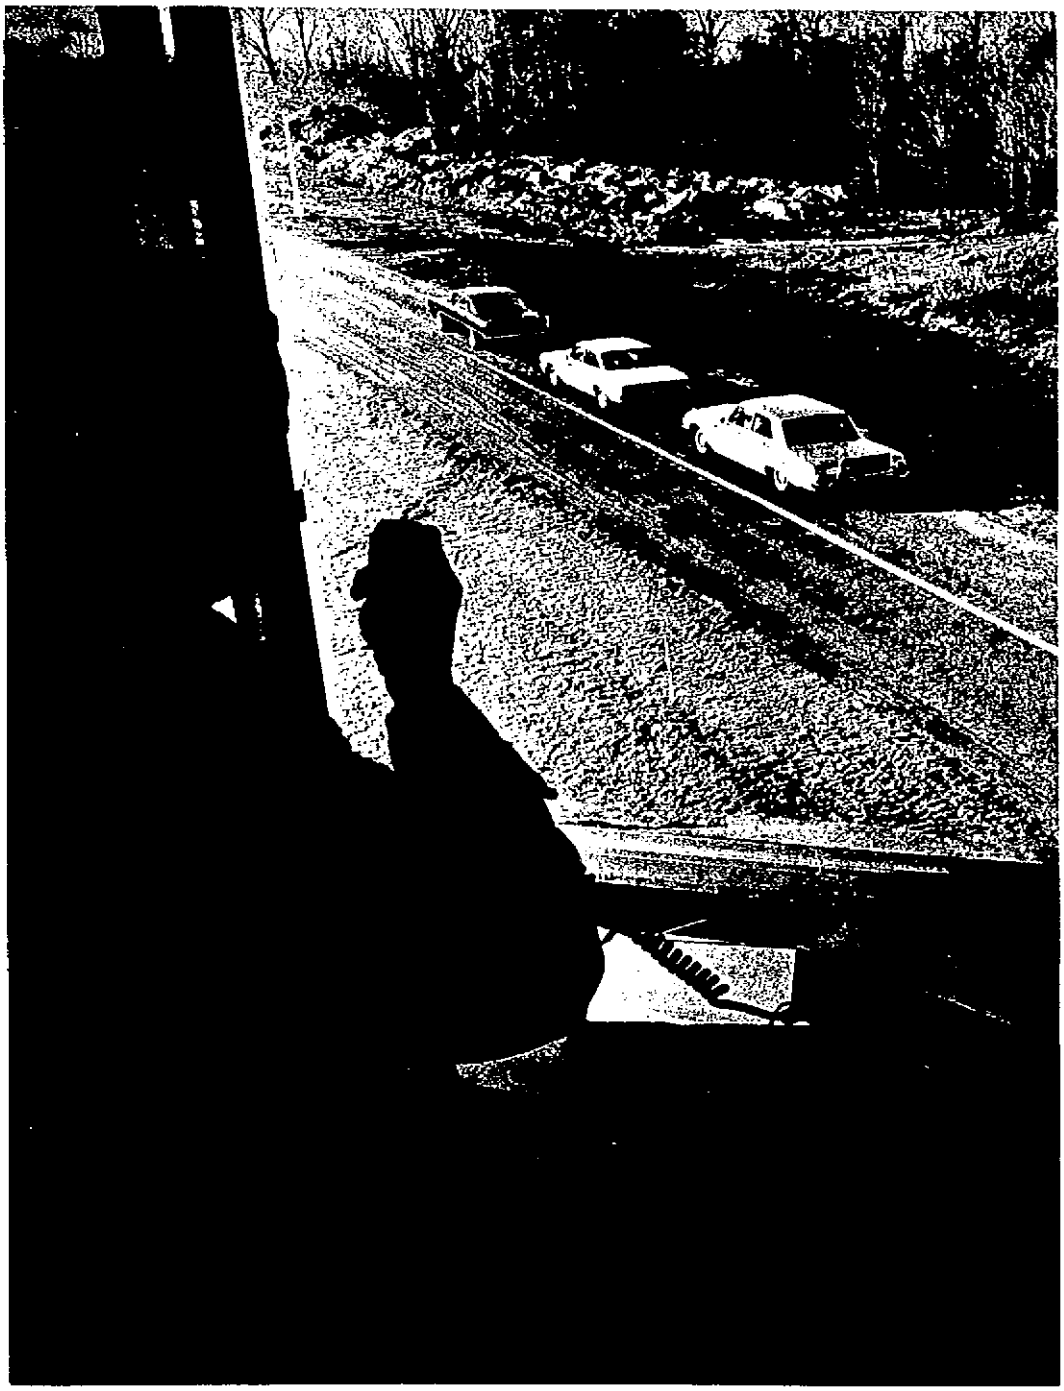

In their junior year they have 18 hours of classroom lecture, 18 hours of simulated driving in trainers that move on rollers within a confined area and finally 21 hours behind the wheel of a real car on the track.

By the time they go to the track, the trainees are ready to solo, since they have become thoroughly familiar with auto controls in the classroom trainers. Two students are assigned to each car, one to drive and the other to operate the Cadre Industries transistor radio. The radioman is aboard to man the mike, because New York law requires that a driver keep both hands on the wheel.

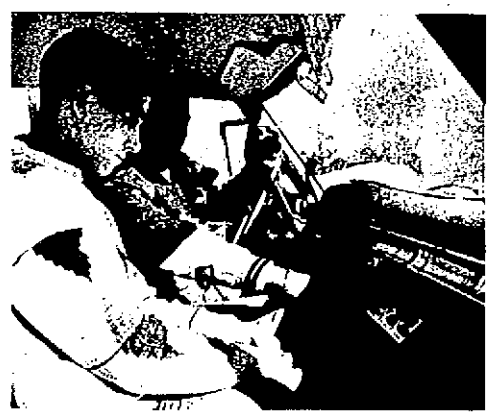

The most obvious benefit of the White Plains program is greater traffic safety. The graduates' record speaks for itself. There is a financial gain, too. Insurance companies now offer a 10 per cent cut in premiums to the family of the graduate.

White Plains is so pleased with its radio-controlled track it may put it to a second use—the education of errant grown-up drivers. Traffic court judges are considering a plan to sentence minor offenders to track-school in lieu of fines.

In any case, White Plains is on the right road.

PARADE'S SPECIAL INTELLIGENCE REPORT

PAUL DUDLEY WHITE. The dean of American cardiologists is 76 years old, weighs 130 pounds, claims that atherosclerosis -- hardening of the arteries -- begins in boys at age 12. "Children should get on their legs again," White maintains. "In many cases they should bicycle or walk to school rather than take the bus. And doctors have to start paying more attention to teenagers. Doctors and parents both should serve as examples. They should eat less, walk more. American medicine is great in diagnosing and treating disease. But more accent has to be placed on preventing disease. Right now there is an epidemic of atherosclerosis in this country, and we've got to stop it. How? By diet and exercise and, of course, further research."

Dr. Paul Dudley White and his wife bicycle before breakfast. The doctor believes strongly in exercise.

HOT SUB. The West Germans have developed a new pocket submarine which is selling like hotcakes. Orders have already come from Turkey, Norway, Denmark and, of course, West Germany, which has ordered 10 of the new pocket subs. Designed solely for operation in coastal waters, the sophisticated U-boat has a speed of 25 knots on the surface and better than 20 knots submerged. Its armament is secret, but reportedly the craft carries 8 torpedo tubes, can fire torpedoes equipped with nuclear warheads. One reason the pocket U-boat is so successful is that it fills a definite need. No other operational craft of a similar nature has enough range to penetrate into Communist coastal waters along the Baltic.

DILEMMA. One of the most essential alloy ingredients necessary for the manufacture of missiles and jet engines is metallurgical chrome ore. Until recently we obtained our ore from Turkey and Southern Rhodesia, the only two countries outside the Soviet bloc with adequate ore deposits. Now, however, the Soviet Union has come on the market, offering large quantities of chrome ore so far below the Turkish and Rhodesian prices that already the Reds have captured 70% of the European market. Ore mines in Turkey and Rhodesia are closing down, and there is a great likelihood that the entire industry will come to a halt before the year is out. This means the Soviets will then have a monopoly on chrome ore. We and our allies will be compelled to rely entirely on supplies from Russia. Right now American alloy manufacturers are buying Soviet chrome ore, claiming they are forced to do so to compete with European and Japanese alloy producers. These manufacturers buy the cheap Soviet ore, then ship the alloy to America where they undersell American producers. The only way for American producers to stay in business is also to buy the cheap Soviet ore. One solution to the dilemma is to have the U.S. take over or subsidize the Turkish and Rhodesian ore mines rather than let them shut down. Otherwise we will be buying chrome ore from the Soviets in order to manufacture missiles which one day we may have to fire on them.

ONASSIS TRUTH. For weeks the rumor has been circulating on the Riviera that Aristotle Onassis, the Greek millionaire, is selling his controlling interest in the casino at Monte Carlo -- especially now that Monaco is no longer a tax haven. The truth, according to Onassis, "is that I offered my 540,000 shares, which represent 53% of the casino stock, to Prince Rainier for $10,000,000. I thought this might help him in his negotiations with the French government on the tax discussions. But the option to purchase the stock has expired, and I still retain my holdings. I plan to keep them indefinitely. I love Monte Carlo and never want to lose my interest in the casino."

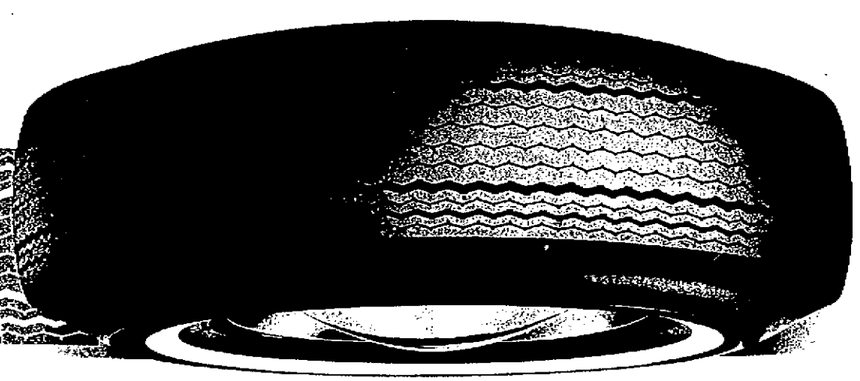

STUDENT JOBS. Teenagers in the market for 1963 summer jobs with the federal government should write the Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D.C., asking for information on the federal agency they desire to work for. Last summer 11,000 students, 16 or over, were employed by the government as Student Trainees and Student Assistants. Salaries range from $296 a month for high school graduates to $342 for students with almost 3 years of college.

NEW FRANCO IMAGE. General Franco of Spain has not only hired American public relations experts to give him a new image in the U.S. -- he is also determined to obtain a new European image. He wants to be regarded as a kind, benevolent executive who is leading Spain out of a political wilderness -- not as a dictator who imprisons political enemies. Franco recently appeared on an American TV show, has now agreed to lend a $5,000,000 collection of Spanish art to the British Royal Academy. It is expected that the collection, which contains 24 Goyas, many Murillos and Velasquezes, will presently be offered to the National Gallery in Washington.

EGGNOG FOR EASTER

by BETH MERRIMAN Parade food editor

In the 16th century, when England and Spain were in conflict, the English brought casks of Spanish sherry back to their own country. Sir Walter Raleigh soon sent sherry to the New World in ships bound for Virginia. There the custom of serving Sherry Eggnog on Easter Sunday originated and spread north as far as Philadelphia, where it still exists. We suggest Sherry Eggnog, served with butter-crisps, as a pleasant custom anywhere.

SHERRY EGGNOG

4 eggs, separated
1 cup sugar, divided
2 quarts milk
1 bottle cream sherry (oloroso type)
Grated nutmeg

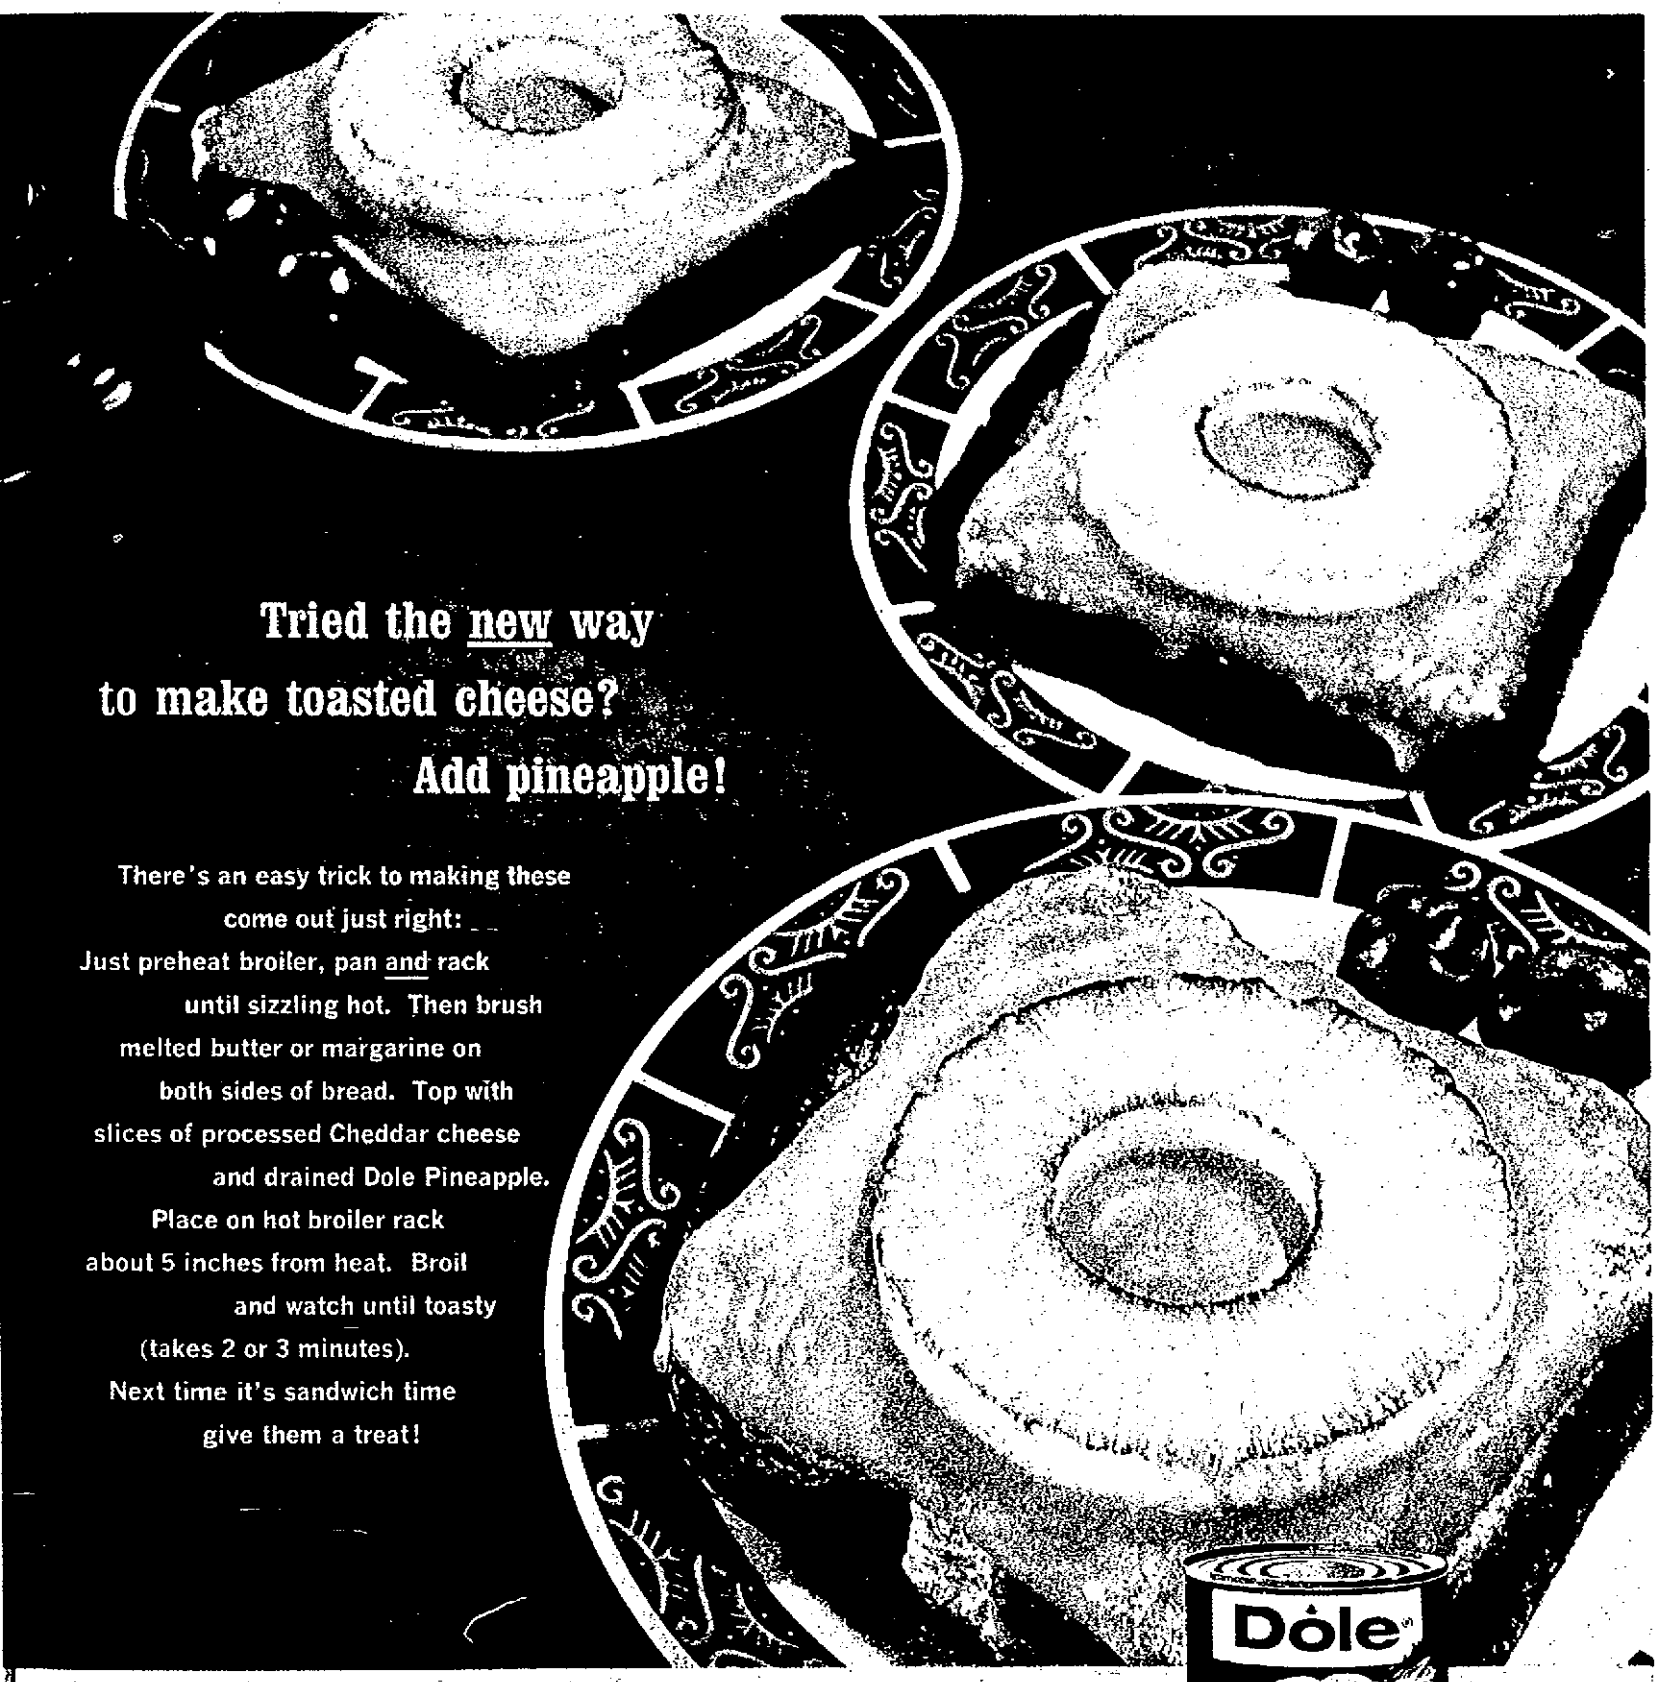

Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon-colored. Beat in ¾ cup sugar slowly. Continue beating until sugar is dissolved. Add milk and sherry; chill. Beat egg whites until stiff; beat in remaining sugar. Spoon into punch bowl. Pour sherry mixture into punch bowl; sprinkle with nutmeg. Makes about 24 punch cup servings.

FROM PARADE'S TEST KITCHEN

BUTTER-CRISPS

1 lb. soft butter or margarine
2 cups flour
1 cup confectioners' (powdered) sugar
1 cup cornstarch

Cream butter. Add flour, sugar and cornstarch slowly while continuing to cream. Divide into 4 portions. Wrap each portion in foil. Chill thoroughly. Shape into 1-inch balls, working quickly with 1 portion of dough at a time, keeping other portions in the refrigerator. Place balls 2 inches apart on ungreased cookie sheet. Flatten with floured tines of fork. Bake at 325° for about 18 to 20 minutes until lightly browned. Makes about 7 dozen.

The lady has lost much of her mystery and taken on a certain sophistication.

The riddle of her charm—unsolved, but captured here in treatment of the smile.

A sense of composition, play of light and shade, and greater attention to detail.

She knows more than she's telling—this young artist has caught her eccentricity.

The original Mona Lisa was painted by Leonardo in 1503-1506. It belongs to the Louvre, was recently on loan to The Metropolitan Museum.

This sketch presents a more robust Mona Lisa, yet conveys some of her complexity.

MONA LISA

Sixth-graders try to solve her famous riddle

PLAINVIEW, N.Y.

THE ENIGMATIC SMILE of the Mona Lisa inspired 6th-graders of this Long Island community to the efforts reproduced on this page. Students of the Parkway School in Plainview, N.Y., were among the thousands to visit the famous 16th-century masterpiece by Leonardo da Vinci, which recently ended its U.S. tour at The Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York and is now back in France.

The day after their visit they were asked by the art teacher to record their impressions of the baffling young Florentine woman who has perplexed art critics and laymen alike for generations. The pencil sketches reproduced by these 10- and 11-year-olds are unmistakably recognizable as copies of the Mona Lisa, and some, crude as they are, show a remarkable susceptibility to her fascination.

Something for babies of all ages

Suggestions from Mrs. Dan Gerber

Stork winging your way? One of your big decisions will be whether to breast or bottle-feed your baby. If you and your doctor decide on bottle feeding you may want to ask him about Modilac™ . . . the Gerber Baby Formula. This special milk formula, which really looks like milk and tastes like milk, is adapted to babies' early digestive needs and provides nourishment comparable to mother's milk. Modilac is a complete formula. All you do is add the amount of water your doctor specifies.

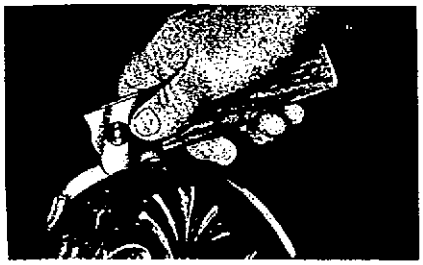

Good solid start. A baby's first solid food is usually cereal. And even tiny babies soon learn to like a change of taste. Easiest way in the world to introduce your darling to different cereal flavors: Gerber Cereal Sixes. This handy, 6-in-1 package contains small-size boxes of Rice Cereal, Barley, Mixed Cereal, High Protein Cereal and 2 Oatmeal. Flavors are delicate and pleasing . . . the texture wonderfully smooth. All 6 are enriched with iron, calcium and B-vitamins.

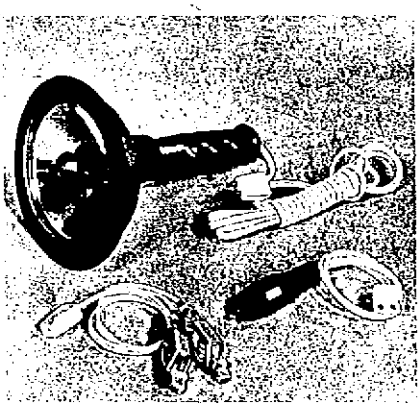

Gerber Cereal Sixes make ideal traveling companions when you and baby go visiting or on a trip.

Self feeder in the house? Your toddler will love to play "pick-up-sticks" with Gerber Meat Sticks . . . the perfect finger food, designed to help your toddler's hand-to-mouth co-ordination. Made from selected Armour Pork and Beef, plus nonfat dry milk, they're high in protein . . . low in fat . . . mildly seasoned and a delight to bite. P.S. Older children adore Gerber Meat Stick sandwiches. Gerber® Baby Foods, Fremont, Michigan.

Hand scraper

Spotlight

PARADE OF PROGRESS

Here are new ideas for your home, car and boat by PETER DRYDEN

For difficult furniture refinishing: Here's a hand scraper (left) to simplify the job of refinishing antique and period furniture or intricate wood frames. It has two steel blades, each with four changeable scraping edges that provide a variety of concave and convex shapes as well as straight edges to remove old finishes more easily from hard-to-reach places. You can use it in whittling, pushing, pulling or paring fashion. $2.50. Maute Co., Dept. PP, Box 27, Williamsville 21, N.Y.

Spotlight for car and boat: This one (left) has two interchangeable connectors so you can operate it from automobile cigarette lighter socket or boat battery. With its sealed beam auto-type bulb, it can pick up objects at ¼ mile, be seen approximately 7 miles in clear weather. And its soft rubber case makes it virtually indestructible (even if dropped on concrete), keeps it afloat if dropped overboard, allows you to use it under water. 6- or 12-volt model, with 10' cord, 1½' connectors: $7.40. Modern Design, Dept. PP, Box 35, Signal Mountain, Tenn.

Safety mower: New idea in power lawn mowers is one that throws nothing—not even grass. A fan above blade and baffle pulls air in from top, forces it down—and, in the process, forces cut grass directly to the ground instead of to side or front. With no chute or opening in housing, any objects struck by blade—rocks, sticks, wire—are contained and fall harmlessly to ground. The 22" machine is said to accumulate no grass, never need cleaning. Details: Saf-T-Mo, Dept. PP, Box 278, Monroe City, Mo.

Poultry stuffer: Tired of sewing up stuffed poultry or using nails for the purpose? A new spring-activated aluminum plate does the job in seconds. Just squeeze spring, insert, release spring—and cavity is sealed. Good for turkey, chicken, duck, any fowl over 6 lb. $1.25. Aids, Dept. PP, 6473 S.W. 8 St., Miami 44, Fla.

My baby looks like the Gerber baby—

Bringing Up Baby®
Hints Collected by Mrs. Dan Gerber, Mother of 5

Of all the warm and wonderful words, written by warm and wonderful mothers, none please me more than these: "My baby looks like the Gerber Baby." Because I like to think the Gerber Baby has a special something that belongs to all babies who are loved. It lights up their eyes. It sings out in their shining faces. It speaks softly of inner security . . . proof positive of a happy heart.

Yes, love is the strong song, managing miracles nothing else can. When you love a baby you wrap him in a smile that will warm him a whole life through.

Mothers often write to ask if the Gerber Baby is a boy baby or a girl baby. Well, our little charmer was conceived not as a he or she, but a representative baby . . . the beautiful kind all mothers have.

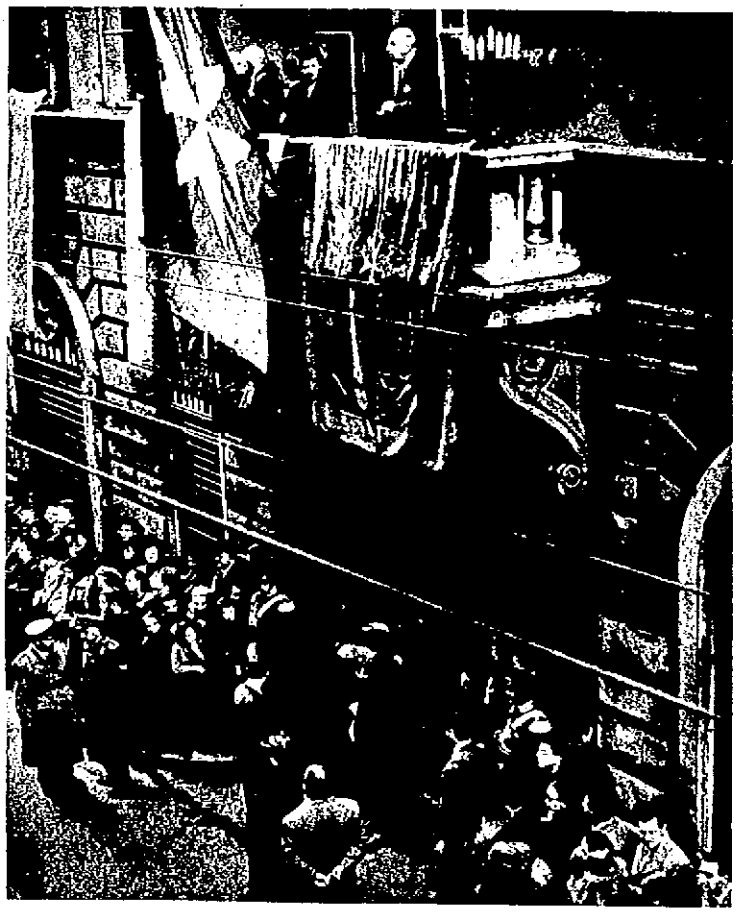

When the Gerber Baby first appeared in Gerber advertisements over 30 years ago, mothers by the score began writing for reprints of the little sketch. (Matter of fact, the very popularity of the picture prompted the decision to use the baby as the Gerber trademark.) If you would like a print suitable for framing, just send 10¢, to cover costs, to: Gerber Baby Foods, Dept. 634-3, Fremont, Michigan.

Today, the Gerber Baby is more than just a famous trademark. It has become the symbol of the specialists who devote all their energies to the most important people . . . your baby and all babies. Their efforts are never-ending in behalf of better infant nutrition. From research, all through processing and final packing, the people who prepare your baby's food look upon the Gerber Baby as their special representative for Gerber quality.

Important: Gerber prepares over 100 baby foods—cereals, strained and junior—to meet your baby's nutritional needs. We're proud to say: "BABIES ARE OUR BUSINESS . . . OUR ONLY BUSINESS!"®

Cross this portal and enter another country. The entrance of Palace Malta is surmounted by the Grand Master's standard. SMOM officials on the balcony await a pontifical procession.

THE SMALLEST NATION IN THE WORLD

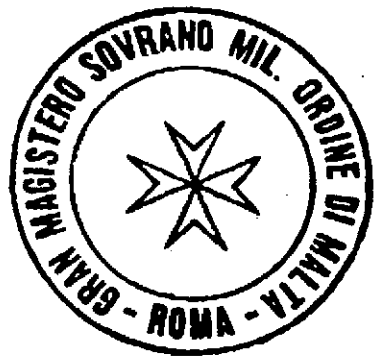

by ART ELWOOD

WHAT IS the world's smallest nation?

Surprisingly enough, it's none of the better-known and more glamorous countries in Europe such as Monaco, San Marino, Lichtenstein or Andorra, but the headquarters of the Sovereign Military Order of Malta (SMOM). SMOM is the governing body of the Roman Catholic organization, the Knights of Malta.

Situated on a half-acre plot in the heart of Rome's fashionable shopping district, the walls of its building are its frontiers. The sovereign government, whose sole function is to co-ordinate the operations of the Order's medical institutions, has been recognized by Italy since 1870. SMOM now maintains diplomatic relations and has exchanged envoys with 23 other nations. Despite its location within a major European capital, SMOM is undisturbed by the power politics, rocket rattlings and ideological warfare that beset other governments.

The 4-story, 16th-century-Roman building, known as Palace Malta, is located at Via Condotti 68, near the foot of the Spanish Steps, one of Rome's best-known tourist attractions. The entrance, a huge portal, opens into a pretty little courtyard. Thousands of visitors to the Eternal City pass by the entrance daily without realizing that by turning in they would be entering another country. There are no border guards, customs or immigration officials. The Grand Master's standard — a white Maltese cross on a red field — hanging over the entrance and the Order's coat of arms in the courtyard are the only outward signs of sovereignty.

Seal of the Grand Master of Knights of Malta.

The government consists of a Grand Master, who is elected for life, and a Sovereign Council of 10. The present Grand Master is Brother Angelo de Mojana. All members of the government are entitled to reside in the palace. They and any knight on official business are eligible to use Order of Malta passports, which are recognized everywhere in the world. Officials also have SMOM auto license plates—red numerals on black.

Since SMOM is tax-free, its major income is derived from Italian properties donated by or inherited from knights. Its annual budget, however, depends on fund-raising activities.

Dating from the 16th century, Palace Malta was presented to the Order by two of its knights and originally served as the residence of the Grand Masters' ambassadors to the Holy See. The 60-room palace is not entirely occupied by the government. Six high-fashion shops rent ground-floor space fronting on the Via Condotti. The building also has an infirmary where treatment is given free to members of the Order and at very low rates to the general public.

Three Classes of Knights

Although it is a religious organization, SMOM's ties to the Vatican are largely diplomatic. The knights are divided into three classes: (1) those who take monastic vows of obedience, chastity and poverty—the equivalent of brothers in other religious orders; (2) those who maintain monastic virtues in accordance with their lay lives; and (3) lay knights and dames without special obligations. Only knights of the first class are eligible to hold high office. In keeping with its ancient aristocratic traditions, only men who can prove nobility for 200 years on both sides of their families, or 400 years on one side, can become knights of the first class.

Formerly a hospitaler and military brotherhood, Malta's main occupation now is the care of infants, the aged and the sick. The Order maintains hospitals, dispensaries, research laboratories, orphanages and homes around the world, including several leper colonies in central Africa. It has served on both sides in the two world wars by operating military hospitals and ambulance corps. After World War II, it took over Italy's remaining air force — 12 aircraft — for hospital planes. The littlest nation also assists refugees; it aided victims of the Hungarian revolt in 1956 and the Armenian refugees in Greece in 1923.

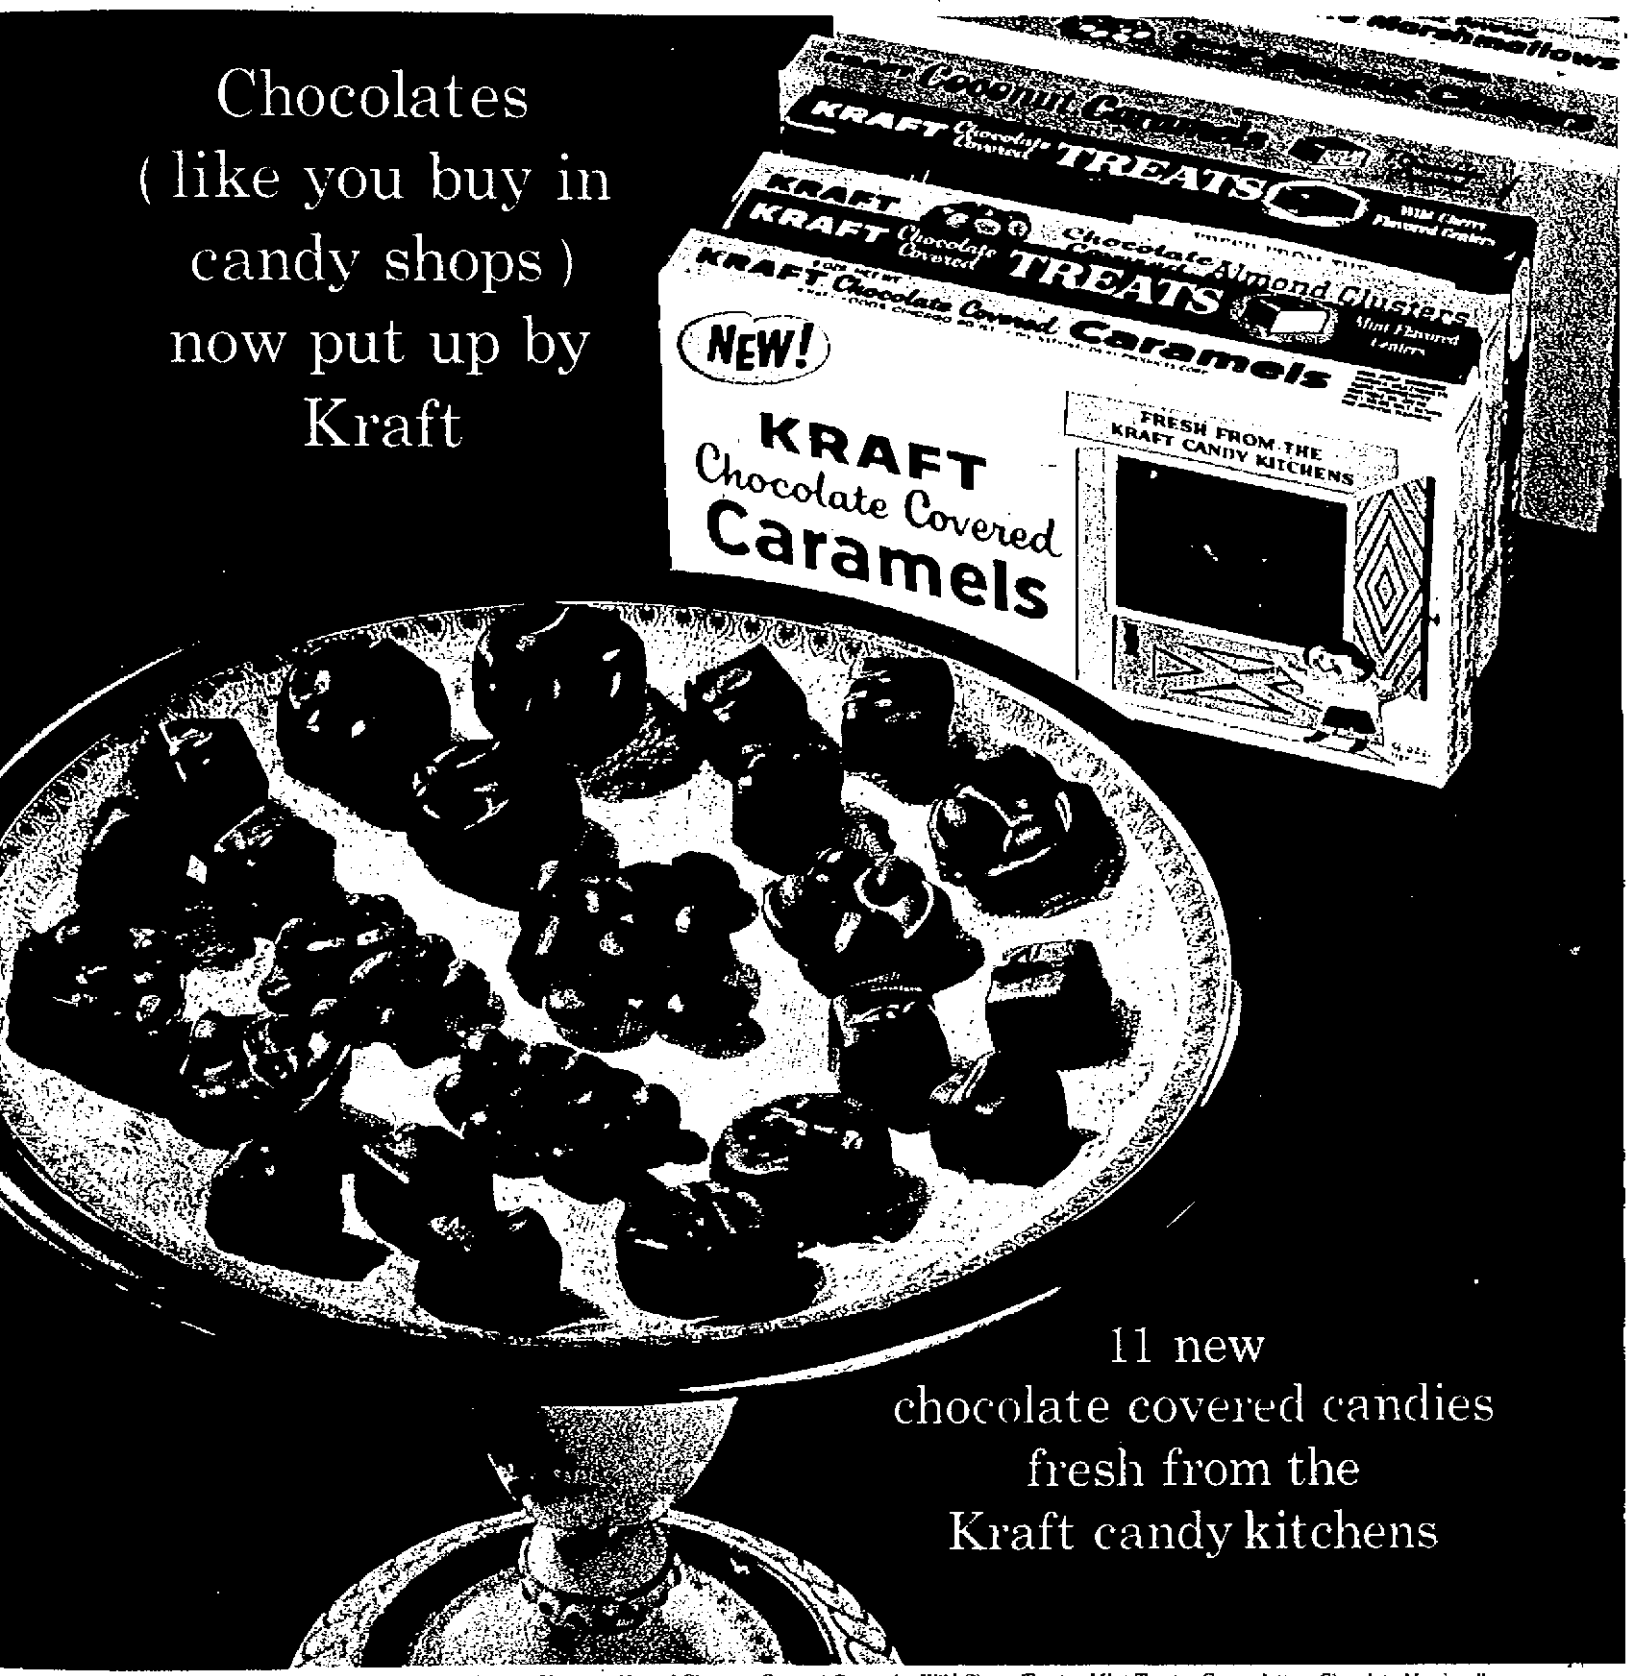

The 6,000-knight Order is grouped into 5 Grand Priories and 26 National Associations. It has two associations in the U.S., with an enrollment of 600.

Founded by monks in 1048 to care for ailing pilgrims in the Holy Land, the Order acquired a military role when patients assumed the responsibility of defending the hospital against the Saracens. It took a regular part in the Crusades but was gradually forced out of the Middle East by Saracen conquests. The Order moved to Cyprus in 1291 and then to Rhodes in 1310, where it remained for 212 years. Driven out by Suleiman the Magnificent, the knights kept moving westward—to Crete and finally to Malta. Known first as the Knights of the Order of the Hospital of St. John of Jerusalem, it was next called the Knights of Rhodes. The order is now referred to as the Knights of Malta.

The knights fought their last battle in 1721, when they repulsed Tunisian pirates. When Napoleon took over Malta in 1798, the Order retired to Italy. It moved into Rome in 1834 and has been there ever since.

For nine centuries the Order has exercised sovereign right over its castles, hospitals and landed properties, and its sovereignty is still recognized throughout the world. ■

Who killed the blonde—

MORE AND MORE IN AMERICA, insanity is becoming the classic courtroom defense for murder.

How many murders have you read of in which the defendant declares: "I just can't remember"; or "I blacked out"; or "I didn't know what I was doing"; or "At that moment, I lost my mind"?

There are hundreds of such examples in which the defendants, guilty of overt murder, plead not guilty by reason of insanity. They use as their defense the historic Daniel M'Naghten rule, based on a case decided in England 120 years ago. [The M'Naghten rule is that "to establish a defense on the ground of insanity . . . party accused was laboring under such a defect of reasoning, from disease of the mind, as not to know the nature and quality of the act he was doing, or if he did know it that he did not know he was doing what was wrong."]

One recent widely publicized murder involved Dr. Geza de Kaplany, a California physician who poured a pint of nitric acid over the body of his beautiful blonde wife of five weeks.

Eligible for Parole

Charged with murder in the first degree, Dr. Kaplany was sentenced last month to life imprisonment, which means in California that he will be eligible for parole consideration after serving seven years.

In the case of this confessed murder, both the defense and prosecuting attorneys presented a mass of psychiatric evidence so highly technical, so detailed, so controversial and opinionated that the average person could not follow it. And yet the typical jury consists of laymen. What layman understands such nomenclature as "a schizophrenic paranoid with suppressed homosexual tendencies," or "the pathogenesis of neuropsychiatric disorders," or "the effects of phrenotropic agents on psychic processes," or the "obsessive-compulsive reaction," or "a patient suffering from both echolalia and echopraxia," or "the schizoaffective with catatonic symptoms and possibly involutional psychotic reactions"?

This sort of psychiatric mumbo jumbo frequently serves more to confuse the evidence than to clarify it, particularly when one battery of psychiatrists is diametrically pitted against the other, and both candidly admit that medicine is an inexact science and psychiatry one of its most inexact branches, and that what they are rendering is nothing more than opinions.

Take this bizarre case of Dr. Geza Kaplany. One August night last summer in San Jose, Calif., this man, an educated Hungarian refugee of 37 with a doctor's degree in medicine and a record of postgraduate work at Harvard and Massachusetts General Hospital, bound his wife, 25, nude, with surgical tape. He gagged her, painted her attractive body and face with burning acid—she had been a model in San Francisco prior to their marriage—then slashed her breast with a knife.

Hanja Piller, blonde beauty who married Kaplany, was slain five weeks later.

Sitting in his shorts, calm and composed, Kaplany then called the police. When they arrived he promptly confessed to them: "I did not intend to kill her. I wanted only to take away her beauty." His reason: he believed her guilty of adultery. Thirty-three days later, her body, horribly mutilated and burned black, Hanja Piller Kaplany died in San Francisco's St. Francis Hospital.

To Louis Bergna, district attorney of Santa Clara county and his assistant, John Schatz, Jr., her death was an obvious case of murder in the first degree. But Dr. Kaplany pleaded innocent and innocent by reason of insanity. He claimed his crime was committed by Pierre La Roche, a French journalist, another person inside of him who from time to time took over his brain and controlled his body. Later he changed his plea to guilty, and a trial ensued to determine his sanity.

Stevenson's Prototype

Many years ago Robert Louis Stevenson wrote a story, Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde, about a respectable London physician who drank a strong potion which turned him into a murderer. Subsequently, there have been many other literary works, both fiction and nonfiction, of multiple personalities. Actress Joanne Woodward won an Academy Award for portraying one such woman in The Three Faces of Eve. And James Thurber's story of a multiple personality, The Secret Life of Walter Mitty, is, of course, a classic.

Dr. Kaplany insisted that it was Pierre La Roche who mutilated his wife, not Geza Kaplany, the kind, considerate physician. His attorney, E. P. DeVilbiss, put two San Francisco foot doctors on the stand. They identified Dr. Kaplany as Pierre La Roche, a French newspaperman both had treated.

Later, Dr. A. Russell Lee of the Palo Alto Research Institute was called to testify. He played for the jury two four-hour interviews he had taped with the defendant.

In these interviews, Kaplany told Dr. Lee he first became aware of the name Pierre La Roche in 1957 when he was standing in the Louvre in Paris, fixed by the beauty of Da Vinci's Mona Lisa.

"So I just turned around," he confided, "and I bumped into somebody there, and before I could open my mouth, she said to me, 'Pierre, I haven't seen you for quite some time.' And there was standing a beautiful woman. . . . I probably have seen many pretty women, and among the many, I might have seen maybe five or six beautiful women, and she was one of them. And I was so astonished that I just couldn't answer. But at the same time I decided almost automatically that I would act like Pierre. . . ."

According to Kaplany, his alter ego Pierre La Roche was a Don Juan of the first order. Whenever Kaplany underwent a sexual experience, it wasn't he who enjoyed it—it was the gallant Frenchman, Pierre. In 1954, when the doctor was working at a hospital in Budapest, he fell tempestuously in love with a patient, Eva. It was Pierre who had the affair with Eva, because a doctor like Kaplany would not violate his Hippocratic oath and seduce a patient.

Pierre Dates Ruth

Again in 1959 when Dr. Kaplany was at Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston, he met a German girl, Ruth Krueger. He dated her twice. On the second date he took her to a night club, then to his room at the hospital, where Pierre and Ruth were intimate. Subsequently, Ruth became pregnant, but according to the doctor it was Pierre who impregnated her.

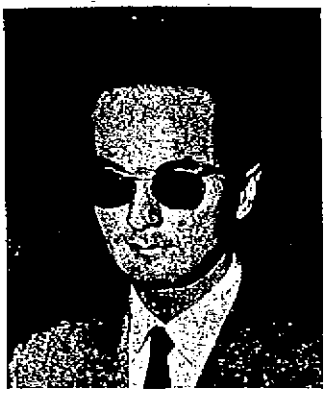

His version of the affair is that one day he was asked to report to the reception desk at the hospital. "So I went there. . . . and there was a lady and she said to me, 'Well, Pierre, it isn't nice of you to hide.' And I took her to my hospital room apparently as Pierre and then maintained some relationship with her, but she did not know my real name. And one day she came and traced me because she was going to have a baby."

It was Pierre who fathered her illegitimate son, the doctor explained to the psychiatrist, not Geza Kaplany. And it was also Pierre who, outraged by his wife's rumored infidelity, plotted and carried out the acid attack on her. He felt that was the way to treat an adulteress, "because an adulteress feels no pain."

The prosecution, parading its own team of psychiatrists, contended that "Pierre La Roche" was merely a fictional convenience concocted by Dr. Kaplany's clever brain to escape the consequences of his

Dr. Jekyll or Mr. Hyde?

by LLOYD SHEARER

Dr. Geza de Kaplany, who denied murder of his wife, as he looked during trial.

merciless mutilation, that no man could alter his personality 30 times in a single day as Pierre and Kaplany had supposedly done.

The district attorney also had Ruth Krueger, 28, flown in from Coburg, Germany. She testified that she was the mother of Kaplany's illegitimate son, Andreas. But she insisted under the most withering cross-examination that she had never known Dr. Kaplany as Pierre La Roche—just as Dr. Geza Kaplany. He had refused to marry her on the false grounds that he was already married.

Kaplany's attorney declined to put the doctor on the witness stand. Even so, the jury took 9 hours and 15 minutes to decide that Dr. Kaplany was legally sane. The sanity portion of the trial lasted 28 days. The penalty trial lasted only five days. In weighing the penalty choices of life imprisonment or death in the San Quentin gas chamber, the jury of 10 men and 2 women decided that Kaplany was "a sick man" and gave him life imprisonment.

A day later his attorney called a press conference in the jail cafeteria. Here Dr. Kaplany formally apologized for the torture murder of his wife, then complained: "Had I been tried in another country, I would have been found insane. But I understand that because of the public opinion this was impossible. You can hardly overcome the community feeling that is kept at a pitch."

When one of the jurors read Kaplany's statement, he said: "It's lucky for him he gave a press conference after the trial. If he had given out this sort of statement during the trial, I assure you he'd be headed for the gas chamber right now."

Blamed for murder was doctor's other personality, dashing Pierre La Roche.

Even so, the jurors who spared the doctor's life were besieged by phone calls protesting their lentency and asking, "How would you like some nitric acid thrown on you or your wife?"

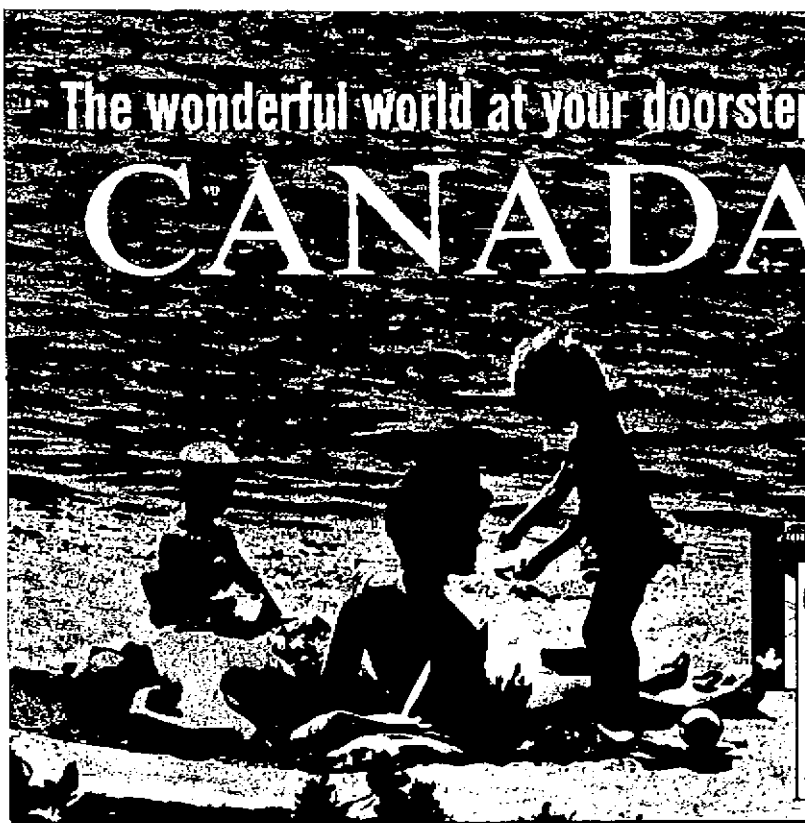

The Kaplany case raises anew the entire question of whether multiple personality constitutes insanity or even mental illness. After all, which one of us has not sought to escape from the hard world of reality by imagining ourselves to be Babe Ruth or Greta Garbo or Albert Schweitzer or even Lady Godiva? In our sublimations and excursions into dream worlds, are we not responsible for our behavior? Are we not responsible in the eyes of the law for acts of violence?

In Boston, socialite Suzanne Clift, niece of actor Montgomery Clift, recently murdered her Italian lover and pleaded guilty to manslaughter. She was freed contingent upon her continued psychiatric treatment on the grounds that she is mentally ill. In San Jose, Dr. Geza Kaplany planned brutally to murder his wife and did so merely on the basis of an unverified rumor of infidelity gossiped to him by a friend. He was sentenced to life imprisonment with the possibility of parole after seven years. Why? Because the jury apparently believed some of his Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde story.

Obviously, the entire question of insanity as a defense for murder now needs the most thorough investigation by the leading societies of law and medicine in this country. In many cases, murderers have used it to get away with murder. ■

I walked up to a dejected-looking acquaintance last week and tried to cheer him up. "It's no use," he said.

"What's wrong?" I asked.

"Plenty," he replied. "Two weeks ago my uncle died and left me $50,000. Last week an aunt died and left me $25,000."

"You should be very happy," I told him.

"That's what you think," he groaned. "This week—nothing."

Anecdote of the week

NOTHING POINTS UP the difference between nations more than the manner in which they name their rockets. We Americans, for example, use such powerful mythological names as Titan, Atlas and Thor. The British, not quite as blustery and perhaps more poetic than we, call their rockets Red Shoes, Black Knight, and Blue Water. As for the French, they are singularly true to tradition. They derive neither into mythology nor poetry — just set. Dependably enough, their missiles are named Veronica and Monica. ■

Reno-S.F. Coach Skids Into Feather River Canyon

BUS PLUNGE FATAL TO 7

OROVILLE, Calif. (AP)—A Greyhound bus spun off a rain-slick mountain highway Saturday and carried more than a score of screaming passengers on a rolling 120-foot plunge to the canyon floor, killing at least seven and injuring 17.

The driver was among the dead.

The Reno-to-San Francisco bus, caught in a blinding rain squall, crashed through a metal guardrail, ripping out 50 feet, on the Feather River Canyon Highway, No. 40A, 17 miles east of Oroville. The crash scene is more than 80 miles north of Sacramento and 110 miles due west of Reno.

"Everybody was screaming," said Howard Hyatt, 52, a San Francisco seaman. He was treated and released from Oroville Medical Center Hospital.

"I was surprised to find myself still conscious when the bus hit bottom. The inside of the bus was just one mass of bodies and luggage."

Highway patrolmen and sheriff's officers pressed 50 spectators into service to form a line down the mountainside to the wrecked bus. Stretchers with the injured were shuttled hand to hand up to the roadway.

One side of the bus was ripped out. Seats hung out grotesquely. Wreckage was strewn over 100 feet of the embankment. The wrecked bus came to rest at a 45-degree angle.

Hyatt, further recounting the accident, said:

"I had just remarked to a friend that I thought the driver was going too fast for the slick pavement. Just then I felt the bus skid and the back end came around to where the front should be.

"I thought for a while it was not going to go over. But it broke through the rail and started down."

The bus, making a gradual descent from the Sierra toward Sacramento, was on a comparatively level stretch of several hundred yards at the crash scene.

Health Educators Hear Mosk in Plea for Fight on Dope

By ROBERT WILCOX

Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk appealed to the state's health educators Saturday for support in a program of narcotics education in the schools to combat a dope problem which has assumed "frightening proportions."

"Narcotics education has been in a limbo for a long time," the attorney general told his Long Beach audience.

"There has been relatively little study by educators on the proper means of classroom presentation of the dangers of narcotics. Every year we fail in this the problem becomes more complex."

Mosk addressed a joint conference of the California Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation and the Southwest District of the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation at the Lafayette Hotel.

* * * *

THE FOUR-DAY, seven state confab, which has attracted 3,000 delegates, ends Tuesday.

Mosk said the California program for narcotics education is budgeted at $95,000 for a three-year period, with the first year's effort directed toward planning.

"Work with the state's teachers will take place the second year," he said. "The third year will see the initial introduction of material into our schools."

Parents, he said, also must be "instructed in the many complexities of the narcotics problem."

He disclosed that a survey may show that there are as many as 20,000 narcotics addicts in the state —"equal to the population of such cities as Whittier, Merced, Monterey or Covina."

* * * *

"DURING 1961," he said, "California began a new and forward-looking program to cope with the narcotics problem . . . stiff penalties and a novel system of rehabilitation.

"We are now attempting to expand this program in the current session of the legislature to include persons who are victims of the 'dangerous drug' habit. Narcotics education is the necessary third part of this program."

He said that at one time a lecture on the evils of heroin was thought sufficient. "Now any serious discussion of the dangers of narcotics must give equal emphasis to drug abuse—the abuse of legal narcotics and the possi-

CLASP OF FRIENDSHIP

Indian friend, Mrs. Winnie Anders, of Lakewood, is given "clasp of friendship" by medicine man Paul Semu, tribal spiritual leader Johnny Whitecloud, and Albert Camarrillo.

Indians Visit Lakewood, Apologize for Gift Snub

By ANDY PARK

Four Pueblo Indians, decked out in tribal trappings, calmly walked into the Lakewood sheriff's station Saturday afternoon.

After scaring half a dozen "white men marshals" half to death by their stoic, premeditated nonchalance, the quartet asked for, and received, directions to the home of Mrs. Winnie Anders, 5219 Bixler Ave., Lakewood.

Intertribal medicine man Paul Semu was there to explain to Mrs. Anders that he and three members of the Laguna branch of the Pueblo tribe traveled to Lakewood from Barstow to "apologize on behalf of the Pueblo nation for the insult she received" when Santo Domingo, N.M., Indians refused her charity shipment of five tons of food, clothes and equipment earlier in the week.

Mrs. Anders and her husband, George, collected the food and supplies over several months and arranged to have them delivered by Navy aircraft after the couple had observed the "starving conditions" of the Indians on the reservation in a visit there last year.

The shipment was returned with a terse note from Tribal Governor Diego Rosetta:

"Give it to the starving California Indians!"

Semu, and tribal spiritual leader Johnny Whitecloud, explained to Mrs. Anders that they left Barstow, where they work for the Santa Fe railway, to visit her personally "to help ease the hurt in her heart" at being snubbed by the New Mexico Indians.

Semu pointed out that "the white man is probably behind the whole thing," however, and that the plight of the Indians on the reservation is a real one, with "no water to grow anything, and men, women and chil-

Castro Foes Arrested by U.S., British

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—United States and British forces, collaborating Saturday to rid Bahamas waters of anti-Castro raiders, nabbed 14 men in the cays southwest of Nassau.

British marines operating in the cays radioed military headquarters at Nassau that "the U. S. Coast Guard intercepted five men in a boat off Orange Cay" Saturday morning.

Lt. Col. T. J. Pine-Coffin, joint chief of staff of British forces in the Bahamas, said the five presumably were the same men who fled Williams Cay Friday night at the approach of British marines who captured nine armed men on neighboring Andros Island.

* * * *

OFFICIALS said one of five captives brought here Saturday night by a Coast Guard cutter was Maj. Eloy Gutierrez Menoyo, onetime Fidel Castro lieutenant who defected two years ago and led the Escambray organization which mobilized fighting units in Cuba as well as exile bands who supplied the Cuban underground with arms.

The area is about 70 miles southwest of Nassau.

BABY AT MEMORIAL HOSPITAL SETS RECORD

Only One Mother Lost in 40,000 Births Here

A medical milestone was reached at 2:41 p.m. last Tuesday at Memorial Hospital of Long Beach.

At that moment, Richard Warren Hyatt was born, a husky 7-pound 11-ounce boy—and Richard was the 40,000th baby born at Memorial in 18 years with the loss of only one mother from any cause.

Richard is the first child born to Maureen Annette Hyatt, 18, and Michael W. Hyatt, 20, of 214 E. 55th St. Attending physician was Carl Natter, M.D., who made news just a few months ago by attending at the birth of a child to a 52-year-old mother, a medical rarity. Richard and his mother are doing "just fine."

Statistics from The Journal of The American Medical Association show that in 1945, 20 pregnant women died per 10,000 births. In 1958, the rate had been reduced to 3.5, a remarkable decrease. But in 18 years, Memorial Hospital's rate was only one maternal death in 40,000 births.

Outside of marked advances in medicine, such as antibiotics, early ambulation and other measures which have lowered the over-all maternal mortality, the outstanding record at Memorial Hospital is attributed to three other factors:

1) Consultation from a member of the Obstetrical Consultation Committee is required in serious cases.

2) Due to the availability of blood through the cooperation of the American Red Cross, no loss of life has occurred from hemorrhage, the number-one cause of obstetrical deaths.

3) Younger obstetricians are available for the giving of obstetrical anesthetics. These young men not only give safe, excellent anesthetics, but also act as consultants when emergencies arise.

Memorial, formerly at 14th Street and Magnolia Avenue, moved to 2801 Atlantic Ave. in 1960.

DR. CARL NATTER
In Attendance

L.A.C. Says:

Five Wasted Years 40 Years Frustration

There are good reasons for young people to fear the future—unless they prepare for it. No longer can they count on a job just because they graduated from high school or college. They need a special skill to assure them of a job. After that their future depends on their ability and willingness to work—and a measure of good luck. But, above all, they need to have something definite to offer in this highly mechanized age.

It is unfortunate when a junior in high school has no real idea what he wants to specialize in. It is even more so when he enters college still confused. And yet, a very large percentage of our youngsters are in this quandary. It is understandable because few of them have had work experience to help them in such a decision. And far too many parents fail to be helpful in making a decision.

Result is, thousands of young people waste the next five years of senior high school and four years of college—as far as a definite profession or skilled trade is concerned. The college is not essential to the student who specializes in some vocation that can be learned in a vocational school or city college. The hardest problem for the young person is making a decision.

In this respect we read a statement by a very successful man. He said: "I always wanted to be somebody. If I made it, it's half because I was game enough to take a lot of punishment along the way—and half because there were a lot of people who cared enough to help me." It is probable this would apply to virtually every successful person. But to get people interested enough to help you, you have to show you are game enough to work and show willingness to learn.

Many young people look upon these formulative years as their only chance to have fun. They say, I will not be young long so I must enjoy it while I can. They refuse to look beyond these years to the 40 or more years of adult life when what they were and what they did during these five years decided the kind of life they could lead.

It is a fortunate young person who has a strong inclination for some particular vocation. They can go ahead and develop it and thereafter be assured of a job. Those who are undecided would be wise to pick out a vocation from the hundreds they could choose from—and become skilled in that one vocation. It could be teaching, nursing or office work for girls—or a plumber, doctor, mechanic or accountant for the boys. If they become efficient in any one vocation they will be certain of a job, even though they may change later on. But, unless they have one of these skills, most of them are doomed to a lifetime of frustration as unskilled workers.

Another saying is: "Do the thing you fear and the death of fear is certain." That applies to the uncertainties that cloud the minds of those soon to enter adulthood. It is making a decision that is feared. Once made, it is surprising how well the future works out. But when you are a junior in high school, time is getting short. You can follow the line of least resistance and end up with nothing—or you can decide on a course of action that will give assurance of a job to take care of a family. The future is bright for the individual with a skill. It is not very cheerful for the unskilled who missed out during these five important years.—L.A.C.

Poland Births in New Drop

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—The Central Statistics Office announced Saturday that Poland's 1962 population stood at 30,453,600. The birth rate last year was 11.7 per thousand residents or 1.6 less than in 1961. Since 1955, the birth rate has dropped 7.8 per thousand residents, according to the statistics released.

Most of the leading newspapers carried the census data but Trybuna Ludu, the official Polish Communist Party publication, omitted all reference to birth rate statistics. Stefan Cardinal Wyszynski recently loosed a strong attack from the pulpit against the government-sponsored birth control program.

Lawgivers Open Debate Tuesday on Death Penalty

By JIM McCAULEY
L-P-T Sacramento Bureau

SACRAMENTO—The first death-penalty debate of the 1963 legislative session will take place Tuesday in an Assembly hearing room. Long Beach men will play key roles.

At stake is whether the Assembly Criminal Procedures Committee will approve a Brown-administration-backed bill to suspend the death penalty for a four-year trial period.

The 10-man committee is divided, unofficial polls show. So a nip-and-tuck contest is likely—with a shift of one vote possibly determining whether the bill gets out of committee.

Assemblyman C. George Deukmejian, R-Long Beach, is leading the opposition. And prominent Long Beach attorney Joseph Ball has been invited to testify in favor of the bill.

* * * *

PANELS of blue-ribbon witnesses for both sides have been lined up. There will be more fanfare than a San Quentin Prison execution—television cameras and all.

Gov. Brown's office opened a preliminary debate last week with a battery of press releases from various state officials who oppose the death penalty.

Typical was an attempted verbal death blow to capital punishment from Richard A. McGee, State Corrections Agency administrator. McGee called the death penalty "futile and inappropriate in a modern state."

Assemblyman Lester McMillan, D-Los Angeles, author of the death-penalty-moratorium bill, will give a preview of his side of the debate on Monday. He has called a special press conference to introduce two of his witnesses: Dr. Thorsten Selling, University of Pennsylvania foe of the death penalty, and Gerald D. Marcus, chairman of Californians Against Capital Punishment.

* * * *

PREVIOUSLY, Gov. Brown said he will invite top peace officers to Sacramento for a special conference on violent crimes in California.

It won't officially be conference day on Tuesday. But you'd never know it in the Capitol corridors.

Assemblyman Deukmejian of Long Beach, a committee member, has invited some of the top lawmen in the state to address the committee.

Among the witnesses who will testify against lifting the death penalty are:

Robert Seares, Arcadia police chief and president of the California Peace Officers Association.

Sheriff Mike Caulis of San Joaquin County.

Deputy District Attorney J. Miller Leavy of Los Angeles County's Inglewood office.

Insp. Henry Herr of Los Angeles police.

Lawrence Drivon, deputy district attorney of San Joaquin County.

* * * *

DEUKMEJIAN, who has introduced bills to broaden the death penalty to kidnapers, bandits and burglars who harm victims, said he figures he needs to win over one vote to bottle up the McMillan bill. "I believe the committee now is divided 6 to 4," Deukmejian declared.

Earlier, a Sacramento newspaper said it understood the committee was split 5-5. All observers agree the vote will be close. One factor that could change the alignment is that Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk has indicated he will appear at the hearing, but he hasn't stated whether he will favor the Brown-backed McMillan bill.

The McMillan bill provides that, with certain exceptions, the death penalty won't be imposed as punishment for first-degree murder during a four-year trial period.

* * * *

ITS ASSERTED purpose is to test during the moratorium whether capital punishment is a crime deterrent. Deukmejian contends it is a strong deterrent. Gov. Brown and McMillan assert it is no deterrent.

Argentine Revolt Leader Gives Up

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Retired Adm. Isaac Rojas, considered the ranking leader of the Argentine Navy revolt, surrendered to police at his residence Saturday.

Other key leaders of the revolt were in hiding. Except for a few diehard holdouts, the latest uprising, an effort to topple President Jose Maria Guido, had collapsed before an overpowering Loyalist tank force.

Many Navy officers were reported turning themselves in for arrest. Others fled into exile in neighboring Uruguay.

• • • •

THERE WAS no word of the whereabouts of retired Army Gen. Benjamin Menendez, another top leader of the revolt aimed at barring Peronist participation in the forthcoming national elections.

Rojas' daughter told the Associated Press her father wore civilian clothes when he arrived at his apartment from the Puerto Belgrano naval base, the still restless but apparently subdued rebel strongpoint 350 miles south of the capital. He telephoned the Navy ministry, then changed into his uniform, she related.

"He wanted to surrender to the Navy," she said. But police came and took him away, reportedly to federal police headquarters. Under truce terms, he will be subject to a military court for his part in the five-day uprising.

• • • •

A CROWD gathered outside the home as police threw a cordon around the building. Spectators chanted Rojas' name as the short, swarthy admiral was led away.

The Navy secretariat issued a communique declaring, "The situation of the Navy is normal." It said conditions of the ceasefire had been satisfied, including the discharge of some 5,000 of the crack 8,000-man Marine force.

TV Tower in Quebec Periled

MONTREAL (AP) — Police removed a powerful bomb Saturday from the foot of a radio-television transmitting tower atop Mt. Royal and dismantled it minutes before its timing device indicated it was to have exploded.

Sgt. Leo Plouffe, the Montreal Police Department's bomb expert who supervised the dismantling, said the charge was big enough to have brought down the 360-foot tower, used by Montreal's four television stations.

Painted in red at the base of the tower was the word "Liberte" and the initials "FLQ" of the Front de Liberation Quebecois. This is a terrorist group that has claimed responsibility for several minor bombings in its avowed campaign to win independence for Quebec from predominantly English-speaking areas of Canada.

• • • •

THE TERRORIST group reportedly threatened retaliations this week against CFCF-TV, one of the stations using the tower, unless it stopped signing off nightly with the playing of "God Save the Queen."

The bomb was made up of 24 sticks of dynamite, a battery and a timing device. The timer was set for 4, and the bomb was dismantled shortly before 4 p.m.

WORLD NEWS BRIEFS

Britain and U.S. Sign Polaris Pact

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States and Britain Saturday signed the formal agreement under which U.S. Polaris missiles will be sold to the United Kingdom for use in British submarines.

The agreement was signed by Secretary of State Dean Rusk and British Ambassador Sir David Ormsby Gore a few hours before Rusk flew to Europe for important political and military talks with allied leaders.

The signing was disclosed by diplomatic sources who said agreement on sale of the Polaris missiles, minus their nuclear warheads, will be presented to the British Parliament early next week.

Lunik IV Passes the Moon

MOSCOW (AP)—Lunik IV passed within 5,300 miles of the moon Saturday, Tass reported, and yielded valuable information to Soviet scientists. It was the widest miss of any of the four Russian moon shots and Lunik IV was reported doomed to become a satellite of the sun.

The Soviet news agency announced the instrument-crammed, 3,130-pound research vehicle—five times heavier than its 1959 model predecessors—passed the moon at 4:26 a.m. Moscow time (8:26 p.m. EST Friday) at a distance of 5,251 miles.

Millionaire Sportsman Slain

NASHVILLE (AP)—Millionaire sportsman John B. Wilson was stabbed to death with a Japanese souvenir sword in the hands of his attractive wife early Saturday shortly after they returned from a gay society party.

MRS. WILSON

Mrs. Wilson, 42, claimed through her attorney the stabbing was accidental. She was charged with murder and released under $2,500 bond.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Gen. Howard Butler said the 54-year-old financier's death followed an argument between the couple over his treatment of a step-son. The stepson, William Cochrane, 20, was present but said he had his eyes shut "and didn't see what happened."

Ski Star Murder Motive Sought

RENO (UPI)—Reno police prepared Saturday to question the former husband of a onetime British Olympic skier in the hope of finding a clue to the person who killed and butchered her.

Victim of the slaying, which apparently took place sometime late Thursday or Friday, was Sonja McCaskie, 24, a native of Elgin, Scotland, and the mother of a year-old son. Her dismembered body was found late Friday night in her once pleasant apartment, which was adorned by her many skiing cups and trophies.

Fighting Rages Again in Laos

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI)—Heavy fighting raged in the Plain of Jars Saturday between Communist Pathet Lao troops and Laotian neutralist soldiers despite efforts by Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma to arrange a cease-fire, informed sources reported.

Guiana Riots Erupt Anew

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (AP)—Rioting broke out again Saturday in the market places of Georgetown and police hurled tear gas into the mobs to disperse them. Blaming "foreign meddlers," Prime Minister Cheddi Jagan said if violence continued he would declare a state of emergency—a form of martial law—and call out British troops.

Burglar Suspect Admits 14 Thefts

A 24-year-old burglary suspect who was arrested because of a watchful Anaheim Street bar caretaker confessed Saturday to breaking into a total of 14 Long Beach business places, according to police.

Officers said William James Dowell, of 1829 Junipero Ave., Ave., early Saturday morning crashed out of the locked front door of Nick & Sam's Cafe, 2913 E. Anaheim, after a wild running fight with caretaker Gustav U. Schorr, 56, of 2907½ E. Anaheim.

* * * *

DOWELL later was arrested at his home and booked on three counts of burglary and for assaulting Schorr with a deadly weapon.

Det. Lt. C. J. Novotny said the suspect was identified and arrested through a description supplied by Schorr. Dowell reportedly clubbed the watchman during a brief fracas in the cafe.

Schorr crept into the bar after he was awakened by the ringing of a homemade burglar alarm that links his apartment with the cafe.

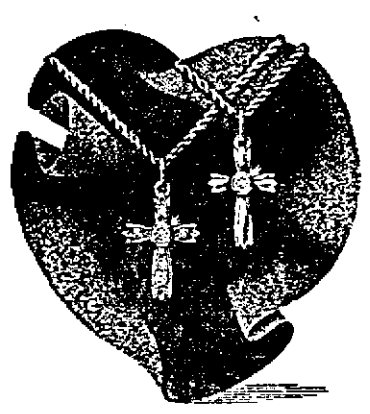

* * * *

DURING Interrogation, Dowell confessed burglarizing the Clipper Cafe, 3325 E. Anaheim, of $200 in bills and coins earlier the same night, as well as 10 other Long Beach cafes and one vending machine firm, detectives reported.

Dowell has an arrest record going back to 1957, including three other Long Beach burglary bookings since December.

Formosa, South Korea Aid Cut Studied

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States arms, trains and finances two of the largest military forces in the world—those of Nationalist China and the Republic of Korea.

Chinese and Koreans fire U.S. rifles, fly U.S. planes, sail U.S. ships and drive U.S. tanks.

Through June 1962 the United States had given the Taiwan forces of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek nearly $2.4 billion in military aid for his 590,000-man armed forces. In the same period, Korea received slightly more than $2 billion for its 600,000-man military machine.

Hundreds of thousands of more dollars were given in economic aid to support economies burdened by extraordinary military expenditures.

Both Nationalist China and Korea occupy what Gen. Lucius D. Clay termed "the border of freedom" next to Communist China and Communist North Korea. And U.S. military experts believe that dollar for dollar the U.S. benefits more by giving military aid to these two nations than it would be spending a like amount on U.S. forces.

• • • •

NEVERTHELESS such aid programs are coming under the ever-increasing scrutiny of Congress and government officials.

Said the Clay committee report after an investigation of the global aid program: "We are convinced that in several of these countries indigenous forces are larger than required for their immediate mission of defense and not large enough to assume other missions. There, phased reductions of a very substantial order appear practical . . ."

There was little question that Nationalist China and Korea were among the nations the committee had in mind.

Although both nations might be affected in the not too distant future, Nationalist China stands a better chance of avoiding cuts than Korea.

Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, gave a hint of this in their February testimony before a House appropriations subcommittee.

Canadians Quiet on JFK's Note

MONTREAL (UPI)—Canada's major political parties decided Saturday to refrain from an eleventh-hour political dispute with the United States on the eve of Monday's national elections.

A political "blackout" kept secret the details of a "get-tough" document said to contain marginal notes in President Kennedy's handwriting that might possibly have caused friction between Canada and the United States.

The paper reportedly came from a 1961 U.S.-Canadian conference and is said to have been highly critical of the conservative administration of Prime Minister John Diefenbaker.

• • • •

DIEFENBAKER, predicting a victory at the polls, refused to comment on the document during a final whistle-stop tour through Ontario.

Liberal Party leader Lester B. Pearson, who according to most pollsters stands a good chance of succeeding Diefenbaker after the votes are counted, similarly refused to inject comment on the paper, or any other anti-American issue, into his final speeches.

Pearson told a crowd of 1,000 wellwishers who met his plane when he returned to Ottawa from a 27,000 mile campaign tour that he was confident Canadians would vote Liberal.

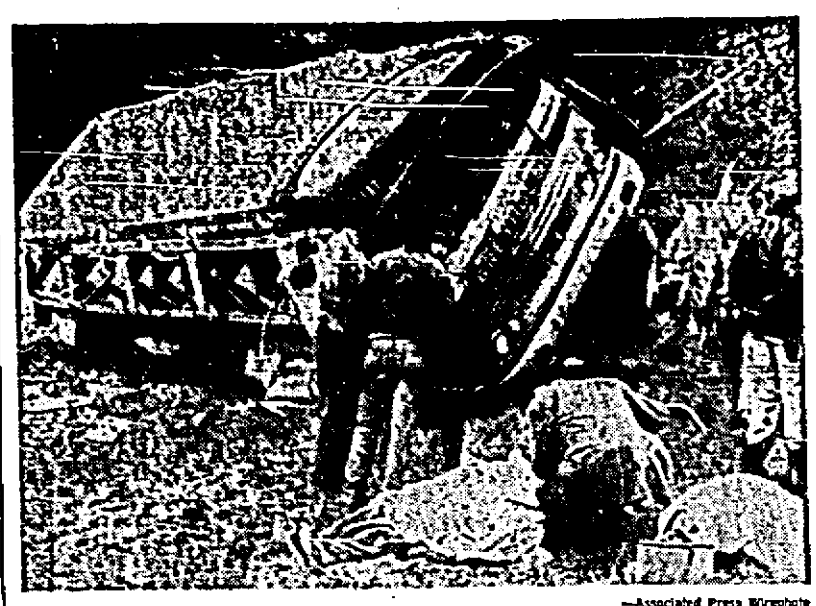

Canadians generally heard little of their political favorites' last-ditch pronouncements. A broadcast regulation forbids radio or television stations to go on the air in the 48 hours before election day with anything political that could influence the voters.

• • • •

THE EXISTENCE, or otherwise, of the controversial paper, said by the Montreal Star to have contained notes in Kennedy's handwriting, first was reported more than a week ago by a group of Canadian newspapers.

It was brought up again by the Star in a copyrighted dispatch. The dispatch said the document blasting Diefenbaker for failing to accept nuclear weapons for mutual defense, was found by Canadian officials after it was mislaid during Ottawa talks attended by Kennedy and Diefenbaker.

The Star said Kennedy's handwritten notation said: "What do we do with the (deleted) at this point?" There was no firm indication of what the "deleted" word or words were, and the White House refused comment about it.

Dutch Employment Rate Stays High

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (UPI)—When it comes to steady employment, it's hard to beat the Dutch. The Social Affairs Ministry announced the number of jobless decreased in March from 38,000 to 33,000. That's 0.8 per cent of a work force estimated at four million.

Police Halt Noise, Silenced in Turn

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Police Pvts. Ronald A. Clark and Victor Kuklis had no trouble quieting a loud party in the southeast Washington apartment.

In fact, by the time they got back to their scout car there was complete silence.

While they were quieting things down someone had ripped the microphone from their short wave radio set, they reported to precinct headquarters — by telephone.

Anti-Reds Seized in Bahamas

Bahamas capital.

Both the United States and the Bahamas colonial government have served notice on anti-Castro bands not to use United States and Bahamas territory as a jumpoff point for raids against Communist Cuba.

Col. Pine-Coffin said the nine men captured at a creek on Andros has small arms, ammunition and a boat.

The nine, together with their martial gear, will be taken to Nassau aboard the 370-foot anti-submarine frigate HMS Londonderry, whose marines captured them.

They are not expected to reach the capital until Monday.

• • • •

THE ARREST of the nine by British forces, and the Coast Guard interception of five more, brought to 31 the number of men seized in the Bahamas last week on apparent missions against Castro. Seventeen men and their boat, seized last Sunday at Norman's Cay, were taken first to Nassau and then to Miami where they and their craft were released.

Pine-Coffin said the five men intercepted by the U.S. Coast Guard identically answered the description of the five who barreled out of Williams Cay in a light powerboat Friday night.

Orange Cay is 40 miles west of Andros Island.

The Seventh Coast Guard District, with headquarters at Miami, reinforced its air and sea units to maintain a sharp lookout for sneak departures of innocent-looking small craft loaded with anti-Castro fighters.

The 35-foot motorboat Violynn III remained in dock in Miami after a planned Cuban raid was thwarted. The 17 men aboard the Violynn III had been picked up at Norman Cay and detained by Bahamian authorities earlier in the week.

• • • •

FREED Thursday, the craft started for Miami, shadowed by a Coast Guard cutter and plane. The escort lost the Violynn III in darkness and the vessel showed up off Miami Friday afternoon, minus its weapons and without ammunition or fuel.

Two U.S. citizens in the crew were released after questioning and the 15 others, Cuban nationals, were held overnight at an immigration processing station, then released Saturday afternoon.

Capt. Evilio Duque, leader of the band of 17, said he intended to continue fighting for the Cuban cause but would respect the laws of the United States. Duque said he was "grateful to be back."

Seethaler, Artist and Teacher, Dies

Karl Seethaler, 65, internationally known artist, lecturer and teacher, died Friday at his home, 45 Hermosa Ave.

The highly talented and versatile artist was a native Austrian but had called Long Beach his home since 1945. He had been a U.S. citizen since 1931.

He founded the Long Beach Academy of Art in 1946.

Seethaler studied in Vienna, Bruenn and Budapest.

• • • •

HE WORKED in a variety of media, but oil was his favorite.

In 1956 he was honored by the Austrian Cultural Society (Oesterreichische Kulturvereinigung) which sponsored a one-man exhibition of his work in the Vienna Concert House. Seventy of Seethaler's paintings and sculptures were displayed in the foyer of the building.

Seethaler, a dedicated artist, was fond of telling his pupils:

"Skill alone is not enough. The real artist paints because he has to. If you can live without painting, don't paint!"

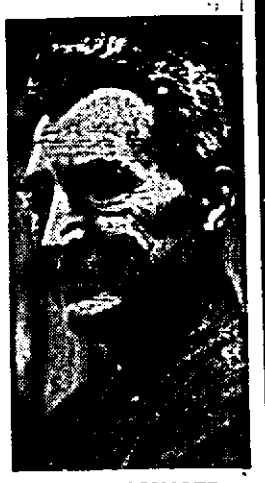

A partial list of group exhibitions in which he was represented included Arizona and California State Fairs, Los Angeles County Museum and Long Beach Museum of Art. He has had one-man shows in the Palos Verdes Gallery; Hougland Galleries; Lucien Labaudt Art Gallery, San Francisco; Galerie Lefort, Montreal, Canada; Innenbaukunst, Frankfurt, Germany, and the Vienna Concert House.

Insane Plea by Attacker of Deputy

SANTA ANA—A La Habra laborer has declared in Superior Court he will contest his conviction of attacking a sheriff's deputy with a food tray.

John Thomas Avitia, 29, said he was insane at the time of the incident. The defendant was found guilty by Superior Court Judge Robert Kneeland after the judge read the transcript of the preliminary hearing taken during the court proceedings at Anaheim-Fullerton Municipal Court.

Judge Kneeland will allow the insanity plea at an April 29 hearing, he said.

Avitia is accused of attacking Deputy Roneal Julian Jan. 16 in the county jail.

GETTING THERE BY VELOCIPEDE

Idea Is to Arrive Safely

Since the days of the "Draisine" and "French Velocipede" children and adults have enjoyed the mode of transportation offered by the bicycle.

While today's modern, streamlined two-wheeler is a far cry from its 1816 counterpart, many of today's riders, particularly children, fail to use 1963 safety practices.

• • • •

ALTHOUGH the California Vehicle Code was originally designed for automobiles, bicycle operators are also governed by many of these same laws.

In 1816 Baron Van Drais invented a two-wheeled contraption to help him travel about his large estate. It resembled, slightly, today's bicycle, but the rider, in a sitting position, propelled himself by pushing against the ground with his feet.

• • • •

ABOUT 1855 the French Velocipede was introduced. It had a large front wheel with pedals attached to the hub to make it go, and a small wheel in the rear.

Because of the difficulty, and danger, involved in getting aboard this bicycle, a low wheel was developed for the front and a sprocket and chain attachment was fastened to the rear wheel for mobility.

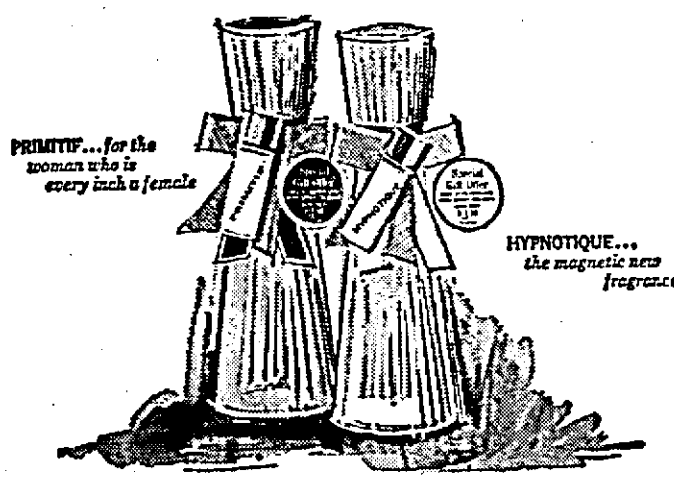

By 1869 the low wheel "safety" bicycle had undergone many improvements, until today, the bicycle offers comfort, endurance, ease and inexpensive transportation for millions.

• • • •

"IF YOU wish to become a skillful and healthy rider, learn and always follow these life-preserving safeguards," the traffic experts said:

1. Keep off busy streets until you can ride well.
2. Obey all traffic signs.
3. A warning device—horn or bell— is required, plus a red reflector on the rear and a white light on the front for night driving.
4. Only one rider per seat.
5. Do not hitch a ride on other moving vehicles.
6. Use both hands when riding.
7. Do not ride against traffic. Stay on the right side of the street close to the curb, and move along with the traffic.
8. Don't be a road hog.
9. Walk your bicycle across a busy street at the intersection.

HE COMMANDED, IT HAD BEST OF EVERYTHING

Gen. Cannon Recalls L.B. Had Biggest Air Base Ever in U.S.

By GEORGE FLOWERS

Andy Cannon, a star in each eye and one on each shoulder, came back to Long Beach Saturday on Air Force business, and lingered to talk about airplanes and men.

For Brig. Gen. Cannon, the city has a special meaning. In 1943, when he commanded the Air Force installation here, it was the biggest base in Uncle Sam's military world.

* * * *

THERE were 3,000 pilots stationed in Long Beach under his command, more than any other base. There were 3,000 airplanes leaving here a month for the far corners of the world. No other Air Force base did so much business. There were 7,500 men servicing the base and the planes. The war-harried base was the biggest thing in traffic and pilot-count the Air Force ever has seen, and in the coming days of pushbuttons is not likely to see the like again.

But war is not all grease and gasoline. Among other things, Gen. Cannon recalls that Long Beach:

1—Had one of the best baseball teams ever fielded.

2 — Had one of the greatest bands ever assembled.

3 — Had one of the greatest reputations for good food known to the service.

Gen. Cannon, now stationed at Hamilton Field, San Rafael, Calif., as commander of the Sixth Air Force Reserve Region, visited the city Saturday to award the local

BRIG. GEN. CANNON
Remembers War Days

reserve a recognition for their newspaper, "Group Scoop."

Perhaps it is because he knew that this will be one of his last visits to the city as an Air Force officer—he retires in September—he spent some time reminiscing.

* * * *

THE BASEBALL team, for example.

"We had Red Ruffing as our No. 1 pitcher, and three other pitchers owned by the New York Yankees and one from the Boston Red Sox. Harry Danning of the Giants was our catcher, Chuck Stevens played first base, Peanuts Lowry was on third, Max West in center and Swede Jensen in left. We had others, all major leaguers, and nobody ever beat us.

"Finally the Air Force transferred the whole team to the Pacific, to play for the men overseas."

Of the band:

"We had $5,000-a-week musicians, enlisted men, playing for us. We had Ziggy Elman on trumpet, the Teagarden brothers, and many more.

* * * *

"PEOPLE like Bing Crosby, Eddie Cantor and Kay Kyser used to come to our base for their broadcasts, and use our band.

"The band went overseas, too."

And of the food:

"At one time we had 10 chefs, all $25,000-a-year men from the finest restaurants on the West Coast. The food was fabulous. And they were all enlisted men."

Andy Cannon, with 25,000 hours of flying under his belt, recalls that he first saw Long Beach in 1941 when he was a lieutenant. After some suffling around, including a stint at Dutch Harbor, Alaska, he came back here in September 1943, a colonel, and ruled the country's biggest base until June 1944. Under his guidance, the ferry system of supplying planes to U.S. and Allied forces reached its peak.

* * * *

THE BASE complex, he recalls, included instruction for pilots and crews, and special instruction classes for overseas flying.

"When the war began, we had 57 pilots qualified for four-engined planes," he remembered. "When it ended we had something like 400,000."

For Gen. Cannon, his Air Force career has included servicing U.S. and New Zealand expeditions to antarctica, where he dropped supplies — sometimes 1,900 tractors — to the icepacks.

While there, he picked up an Antarctic husky, now grown to a 155-pound pet on Cannon's farm in Tipton, New Hampshire.

"The dog was born in minus-80 weather, and he likes it in Tipton, where it gets 30 below."

Long Beach always has been important to the Cannons. When Gen. Cannon was overseas, his wife, Mabel, lived here. Their elder son, Hughie, was stationed here and died in a plane crash in Chattanooga, Tenn. (Another son, Andrew Jr., 15, is preparing for medical studies.)

* * * *

A BROTHER, Capt. William Cannon, was stationed here. Upon retirement, the brothers plan to buy a seaplane and fly from Tipton to Canada and Newfoundland on their own fishing excursions.

Gen. Cannon, raised near Tipton, finally bought a farm there. It has 400 acres, about 80 tillable, but more important, it sits atop Bean Hill, which is something of a small mountain. The importance of this to a flying man is illustrated by the general's comments:

"I can see 150 miles from there, in a 270-degree sweep."

Farming, however, has no lure for the retiring general.

"I know there's money in it, though," he says wryly. "I put it there."

Judge Suggests Uniform Code of Punishment

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—The Kentucky's highest court says, way juries fix punishments for law violators is "like shooting craps," a judge on country's biggest base until June 1944. Under his guidance, the ferry system of supplying planes to U.S. and Allied forces reached its peak.

"I know there's money in it, though," he says wryly. "I put it there."

"The idea of sentencing is to deter crime and it's not been working too well in this country," Judge John Palmore of the State Court of Appeals told the Kentucky Bar Association.

He said there was inequity of punishment by juries trying similar cases and also inequity from one area to another in the state. He suggested standardization of punishment.

Indians Do Need Aid, Friend Told

dren in great need."

"The White Man's government has made us give up our rule by tribal chief," the medicine man said, "and now tribal 'governors' are elected and they must avoid any embarrassment to the Indian agent."

• • • •

IN A BITTER, scathing charge, the Barstow railway worker stated that "the whole history of the white man-Indian relationship is one filled with broken promises by the white man and dire poverty for the Indian!"

Semu surmised that the refusal on the part of his tribal brothers on the New Mexico reservation to accept the Lakewood couple's gifts came about "because somebody ordered the governor not to attract publicity that would let word leak out to the people about how Indians are treated by the government.

"We had our own religion, our own honor and a history of peace until the white man stepped off the boat with his Ten Commandments," Semu relates, "'Thou Shalt Not Kill,' and he began to wipe us out . . . 'Thou Shalt Not Steal,' and they robbed us blind.

• • • •

"EVEN THE great 'national hero,' Gen. Custer, was under orders to return to Washington for court-martial charges for slaughtering Indian women and children when we got him at Little Big Horn," Semu asserted. "Now he is remembered as the 'victim' of merciless Indians!"

Asked if present Indian affairs are any better, the graying Indian acknowledged that "we have made gains," but he compares the plight of the American Indian to "that of the Southern Negro" as far as discrimination and equality are concerned.

"They say that they (the government) are appropriating hundreds of thousands for the Indian . . . but the Indian never sees it," Semu bitterly charges. "They tell of the thousands of acres set aside for reservations, but they neglect to mention that there is no water to make things grow.

• • • •

"AND NOW, when good people like the Anders try to help, our people must refuse their help so as not to embarrass the white man's government!"

Mrs. Anders told the visitors that the 10,000 pounds of foods and gifts turned down by the Indians had been distributed to a mountain mission near Rodeo, Mexico, by a local missionary group.

"It's just terrible," the woman said, "that such a thing as this can happen to our own American Indians."

Semu, Whitecloud, Albert Camarrillo and Jake Garcia informed Mrs. Anders that they would like to honor her husband with initiation into the Society of the Turtle at a future date.

• • • •

"THIS IS an honor that has been extended to only five other white men," Whitecloud said, "and it is accompanied by a ritual handed down through the centuries. It is an honor we wish to extend to show these people how much their kindness really means to the American Indian."

"We are not the poker-faced machines that the 'Hollywood Indian' would lead you to believe," Semu interposed, "we cry, we feel pain, we have emotions like all other men, and we are truly moved by the kindness these people have shown."

With these parting words, the four drew themselves up stiffly, and marched from the modern Lakewood home. As neighbors watched, dumbfounded, four American Indians, in full tribal dress, climbed into their compact station wagon and drove off, looking straight ahead.

Bulgaria Opens Crackdown on 'Sluggish' Shops

VIENNA (UPI) — Communist Bulgaria has taken steps to iron out "irregularities" in the nation's apparently sluggish retail shops, Radio Sofia announced.

The broadcast also announced new crackdowns on black-marketeering, hoarding and special treatment given to high Communist Party officials.

Political observers here said the new government decree was "obvious evidence of a serious food shortage and distribution crisis in Bulgaria."

Ghosts of Brave Airmen Hover Over Famed Base

By HAL COOPER

SNETTERTON, England (UP)—Just 20 years ago, in April 1943, the U.S. 8th Air Force launched its first big-scale assaults on Adolf Hitler's Germany.

When it was all over, 25 months later, the 8th had lost 8,902 aircraft and 41,236 flying men, most of them in their late teens and early 20s.

Today only gaunt hangars, crumbling Nissen huts and grass-grown runways remain to show where base after busy base once dotted the flat East Anglian countryside.

Most of the land is back under the ploy, producing sugar beets, potatoes and Brussels sprouts.

Many of the old buildings have fallen down. Others have been demolished. A few are in use as barns or livestock pens. Over all, the scene is desolate and saddening.

• • • •

LITTLE REMAINS familiar except the place names—East Harling, Diss, Besthorpe, Buntwell, Wymondham, Thetford, Deopham Green, Banham.

In the spirit of a gray-bearded prospector on a pilgrimage to Virginia City, I made a sentimental journey to the 96th Group's old Snetterton base.

I was stationed here for seven hectic months of 1943 as a B17 Flying Fortress gunner.

The old homestead was like a ghost town.

The perimeter track around the main runway has been turned into a seldom-used bush league car racing strip known as the Snetterton circuit.

The big hangar where so many shot-up bombers were nursed back into flying condition stands black and empty except for a few farming implements and some baled hay.

• • • •

GRASS AND weeds grow in cracks in the runway and the adjoining hardstands. A brick butt used for testing aircraft machine guns is all but hidden in a copse of fir trees.

After a considerable search I was able to find what used to be the 413th Squadron barracks area—with, amazingly, my own onetime hut still upright.

The hut has been severely beaten up by the elements of two decades. But the roof is still sound and the place contains new tenants.

Where 14 men once slept there now dwell 23 pigs of a variety known to the English as "large whites."

A second hut in the same area is home to a flock of turkeys.

Virtually no other physical vestiges of the 413th have survived. The areas once occupied by the group's other three squadrons were almost indistinguishable from the surrounding terrain.

Well—it was all a long time ago.

WHAT CAN HAVE GONE WRONG?

Fairview Hospital Model for Nation

By GEORGE C. FLOWERS

In three short years, Fairview State Hospital at Costa Mesa has run the gamut of public attention.

It has been singled out as one of the nation's most modern hospitals for care of the mentally retarded.

It has pioneered in the use of volunteers to help its patients.

It has grown as few such institutions could dare dream. It still is growing.

Its approach to care of the retarded has been studied by visiting experts, who hoped to take some of its modern methods back to their own institutions.

* * * *

AND, SUDDENLY, it is under investigation for alleged maltreatment of patients.

Fairview, a state hospital housing 2,000 patients, has embarked on a program to expand its facilities to care for 600 more. When the additions now begun are completed, Fairview will have cost the state of California $25 millions. Eventually it will cost $45 million and house 4,000.

Most of its patients are children. Eighty percent are under 20 years of age. For most, there never will be freedom. At the agonizingly slow rate of about 20 a month, advanced patients are "graduated" to outside foster homes. But they are not discharged as "cured."

* * * *

DR. JACK LEVITT, assistant superintendent of the hospital in charge of psychiatric services, recently remarked sadly:

"So far there is no cure for the mentally retarded."

Fairview was designed and built especially for the care of the mentally retarded. The more than 25 buildings are connected by walkways covered to protect against weather and intrusion. The entire complex is virtually self-sustaining, with bathing, recreation, laundry, dining and work facilities.

When Dr. Hyman Tucker took over the helm of the hospital in its planning stages, he envisioned a place where the retarded could have privacy and an "at home" feeling, and could also participate when practical in the work: for example, qualified elder patients could enjoy assisting the young.

* * * *

ROOMS WERE designed to be bright and cheerful. The jail concept of an institution for the mentally retarded—the "insane asylum" approach — was discarded.

Dr. Tucker envisioned one of the greatest institutions of its kind in the world. For example, he planned a research program.

"We know so little about the mentally retarded," he declared. "If we are to find a solution to this mounting crisis, it must be made here, where these unfortunate people exist."

He felt pleased, he said, that the public's attitude had changed toward the mentally retarded.

"Today they are considered unfortunate . . . like people who live in a world next door," he declared. The hospital's purpose, as designed and operated, was to bring these people as close home from "next door" as humanly possible.

* * * *

TO HELP bring these people into the normal world, volunteers were sought from the Orange County community. For example, a group of 150 teen-age volunteers—mostly from Orange Coast College— was organized to help with the child patients.

These volunteers visited the patients, played with them, helped the handicapped to move about, and sought to help the slow minds learn.

Orange County women's, service and social clubs organized more teams, each to fit into age groups and special cases. These teams of volunteers, numbering in the hundreds of people, provide extra care, entertainment and companionship for the patients. It is a program unique, and one many other institutions in the nation are studying.

* * * *

FAIRVIEW Hospital is also a multi-million-dollar business. When some Orange County residents protested, a few years ago, that an "insane asylum" was being built in their backyards, they were confronted with figures to show that care of the retarded is a major industry.

Fairview employs 1,000 nurses, doctors, social workers, teachers, therapists, maintenance workers and specialists. The annual payroll of over $5,250,000 comprises the greater part of the hospital's $7-million budget. By the time the hospital is completed, another 500 people will be on the payroll.

These employes operate, maintain or supervise the latest equipment for physical and psychiatric therapy.

* * * *

THE PURPOSE of all this money, all these people, all these new buildings and all this equipment is explained by Dr. Levitt:

"We know we have a long way to go in attempts to correct retardation but there has already been a revolution in the field in the last 15 years developing more and more diagnostic facilities to recognize these problems at the earliest possible age.

"In many cases, borderline patients, once sent away to institutions for the rest of their lives, now are trained to a useful life. We are doing everything possible to do the same for many once considered hopeless."

* * * *

CHARGES of patient mistreatment at Fairview, now under investigation, produced more than an ordinary reaction of shock and alarm, in view of Fairview's short but brilliant record, and high purpose.

Fairview's staff has adopted a tight-lipped "wait and see" attitude toward the accusations.

The charges were given some substance by a team of representatives from three private mental hospitals, which claimed to have found "shocking" conditions.

Cited was "one naked girl with festering wounds," described by Mrs. Stephen Walter, chairman of the California Council of Mental Retardation's mental hygiene section, as "scratched to pieces."

* * * *

THE REPORT, which cited other patients with scratches and bruises, noted that conditions in other sections of the hospital were "excellent."

And, the report continued, it is possible that the patients may have inflicted the injuries upon themselves.

There were other accusations: a man lying naked on a concrete floor, without blankets, in a ward; a girl punished by being locked in a bathroom, nude; and injured patients without proper care.

A stream of investigators has poured into Fairview Hospital since that time. The State Department of Mental Hygiene has searched and probed; the attorney general and the Orange County district attorney have launched inquiries.

* * * *

ADIMINISTRATOR Winslow Christian, of the State Health and Welfare Agency, found enough evidence in the reports to announce publicly:

"There is a possibility of mistreatment of patients at the hospital."

The final evaluation, from all investigators, may be weeks in materializing. The people who saw Fairview planned, built and operated, ask themselves:

"How could the very things it was designed to prevent take place at Fairview?"

They wait now for an answer. Could a place like Fairview belong to the Dark Ages?

Rocky Knocks JFK; Offers Remedies for U.S.

OMAHA (UPI)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York Saturday dismissed President Kennedy's fiscal program as "another massive attempt to prime the pump through deficit spending," and offered an alternative program of his own.

Rockefeller, here for a banquet honoring Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., set forth a five-point fiscal program which he said could restore confidence and provide the incentives for the kind of growth which will provide 20 million needed jobs in the next five years.

* * * *

THE FIRST ITEM in the Rockefeller program was a proposed reduction of corporation taxes from 52 percent to 47 percent with the entire cut "fully effective as of July 1, 1963."

The second was a reduction of personal income taxes by $7.5 billion "across the board, in the general pattern recommended by the Secretary of the Treasury, also to be effective July 1 this year."

Rockefeller also proposed that Kennedy's "so-called 'reforms'" be abandoned, and that federal spending be held to the fiscal 1963 level. The final point was to "subscribe resolutely to the goal of a balanced cash budget by fiscal 1965."

Films Limited on Italy TV

ROME (UPI) — Italy's state television network has agreed to show no more than one motion picture a week on each of its two channels. The decision was a concession to movie house owners, who threatened a nationwide shutdown.

They said they had to pay high taxes that raised the cost of tickets while the television network did not have to worry about taxes. Movies have been shown almost every night on one or the other of the two state television channels.

College YR Race Narrows

FRESNO (UPI) — A first ballot victory in Sunday's California Young Republican College Federation election was predicted Saturday by both candidates for the presidency of the 5,000 member group.

Trend Devenney of Pepperdine College and Randy Sieffkin of University of California at Santa Barbara issued the statements following the official withdrawal from the race by William Dillon of University of California at Berkeley.

* * * *

DILLON promptly announced his candidacy for executive vice president, opposing Walt Driver of University of San Francisco and Dennis Alexander of Santa Clara.

"I am convinced that Sieffkin will serve all of the college clubs and I am endorsing his candidacy," declared Dillon. "I am urging delegates committed to me to support his candidacy."

JAYCEES ANNUAL GRIDIRON NIGHT

L.B. Leaders to Pay $25 Each to Hear Selves Ragged Tuesday

Long Beach civic, political and business leaders Tuesday night will hear themselves lampooned, humorously ridiculed, ch humorously ridiculed, chastised and otherwise insulted—but they'll file no slander suits.

In fact, most of them will pay $25 for the "privilege," plus a dinner in the Petroleum Club, starting at 7:30 p.m.

The occasion is the 23rd annual Gridiron Night, sponsored by Long Beach Junior Chamber of Commerce and patterned somewhat after the Gridiron dinner of the senior Washington Press group.

As always, the year's decisions concerning city problems will be rehashed (and possibly exaggerated or altered) in the form of a play or musical production.

A cast of 22 Jaycees has rehearsed a month on script and songs written by the members themselves. Title of this year's production has not been announced, but past titles have included: "The $10 Million Question," "The Search for Briber Murphy," "Return to Satan Place" and "The Court of Swift and Final Justice."

The titles' similarity to TV shows, books, Broadway plays and motion pictures was purely intentional.

• • • •

THE SERIOUS part of the program will include presentation of the annual Jaycee Good Government Award and Distinguished Service Award.

Gridiron chairman Don Cameron said there are five nominations for each. The former will go to a person in civil government position deserving recognition of his efforts for the city; the latter to the outstanding young man (35 or under).

Approximately 200 persons are expected to attend. Proceeds will be used in Jaycee community betterment projects.

The Long Beach Municipal Airport, Veteran's Stadium, police training facilities and Rancho Esperanza Honor Farm are among community assets due in part to drives spearheaded by the Jaycees.

Other annual projects promoting Long Beach such as Wings Over the World Air Pageant, Christmas Lighting Contest and Operation Phone Santa, and youth activities including the All-City Sports Event, TV Dance Party and Good Citizenship awards provide Jaycees the experience necessary for leadership training, Cameron said.

Attendance at the show is by invitation only, but Cameron pointed out that bids are sent to everyone who is thought to be interested.

Those who attend automatically become members of the Gridiron Club. The group is unusual in that it meets but once a year, and many who take part expect to be insulted and criticized for most of the evening.

Kaiser Gypsum Plant Here Joins AID 100 Per Cent

Kaiser Gypsum Co. Long Beach plant employes have joined AID-United Givers 100 per cent, Jack Collins, Long Beach manager of AID announced.

The plant employs 170 persons and the average contribution will be $20. "This year employes of the plant, some of whom who have been members of AID since 1956, will establish a new record in dollars contributed and membership," said Richard Wiborn, plant industrial relations manager.

Long Beach AID will raise about $500,000 for charities during the year—its tenth of operation in the area. AID is operated by a volunteer 30-man board of directors representing the public, organized labor and business. Larry Collins Jr. is president.

Brothers Think They Have Perpetual Motion Solved

By DON MADDOCK

STANLEY G. GOLLNER

ZOLTAN GRSETIC

Inventors and scientists down through the ages have been scratching their heads over the possibilities of squaring the circle and of building a perpetual motion machine. In both cases, they've decided it can't be done. But two Westminster men believe they have the answer to the perpetual-motion problem.

Stanley G. Gollner, who changed his name for simplicity, and his brother, Zoltan Grsetic, both of 13432 Yosemite Dr., think their work will make mammoth and costly hydroelectric projects obsolete, and will furnish cheap power to both the privileged and underprivileged countries of the world.

Patents are pending for their machine, now known only as a "scientific demonstration device."

• • • •

IT'S LARGELY based on the principle of fluid mechanics that when an object is immersed in a fluid, the object is buoyed up by a force equal to the weight of the fluid displaced by the object.

Southland bathers unknowingly illustrate the principle when they push a beach ball underwater, then release it. It catapults out of the water with force.

Gollner and Grsetic say they can harness this force.

• • • •

THEIR blueprints show a completely-immersed device consisting mainly of round, air-filled balls, a conveyor belt, pulleys, tank, tube in which the balls fit precisely and a water pump.

Starting from the bottom, a ball escapes from the tube and fits behind a prong on the conveyor. It and those which follow it seek to escape upward, generating power as they do so.

Instead of flying into the air, each ball is trapped at the top in an opening into the tube. The pump draws out the water underneath it, and the ball sinks until it again is in place to begin a ride on the conveyor.

• • • •

GOLLNER says the pump operates on only a small part of the generated power. The rest can be made available for other purposes.

Once an electric motor has started the operation, the device is self-perpetuating, he adds.

Gollner has worked 11 years in developing the machine. His brother spent five years working on the project independently in Europe, and joined Gollner here nine months ago. They worked out what they believe was the last kink last Thanksgiving Day.

They say their device is scientifically and economically sound. They have not built a large working model because of the expense involved.

They estimate the model would cost $10,000 to $20,000.

• • • •

THE BROTHERS insist that their project be used to raise the standard of living of the entire world. They deny their major desire is private gain, and will not sell any of their rights to any group which wishes only to keep the device off the market and thereby curb competition.

The brothers have other inventions to their credit, some of which have European patents.

They're working now on other projects, but the underwater device is their pet.

They hope and feel they are making a major contribution to all mankind.

Researcher Urges Study of Virus Link to Cancer

By BEN ZINSER
L. P-T Medical-Science Editor

LA JOLLA—Failure to isolate a virus from human cancer material should not deter researchers in their efforts to find a virus link to cancer, a noted virologist said here Saturday.

Dr. Wendell M. Stanley, director of the University of California virus laboratory in Berkeley, said he still believes scientists should assume that viruses, in one form or another, are implicated in human cancer.

Dr. Stanley spoke at a science writers seminar sponsored by the American Cancer Society.

• • • •

IMPROVED and alternative procedures for finding a virus link should be sought, he said.

"It looks obvious that we are really only at the beginning in our search for human cancer viruses and that a tremendous amount of experimentation must be done before we can reasonably expect some successes," he asserted.

Dr. Stanley said viruses can no longer be thought of in terms of simple infection and multiplication.

"There are devious ways in which a virus can control the destiny of a cell," he said.

Scientists are just beginning to understand some of these processes, he added.

Another speaker, Dr. Harry Rubin, also of the University of California virus lab, disclosed that the Rous sarcoma virus, which causes cancer in chickens, sometimes gets assistance from a "helper virus."

• • • •

ALTHOUGH the Rous virus can transform normal cells into cancer cells in the chick, it is not reproduced within the cell it affects, he said.

Progeny virus appears only if the cell is infected by a helper virus, one which by itself can cause leukemia in birds. The helper virus is known as avian leukosis virus or Rous-associated virus.

Dr. Ruban said clarification of the process may improve science's understanding of how cells become malignant.

A monkey virus capable of causing tumors in hamsters has not produced malignancy in man even though thousands of humans have been unwittingly inoculated with it, two researchers reported.

• • • •

THE MONKEY virus, known as SV-40, was present in Salk polio vaccine from 1954 until May 1961. The simian virus was removed from polio vaccine when it was found to be a contaminant.

Dr. Joseph L. Melnick, professor of virology at Baylor University College of Medicine, Houston, said there has not been a single case of illness attributable to SV-40 in either monkeys or humans.

In a message telephoned to the seminar, Dr. Michael B. Shimkin of the National Cancer Institute, Bethesda, Md., said if SV-40 were dangerous to man, that danger would have been recognized by now.

There has been no increase in leukemia or cancer which can be attributed to the monkey virus, he said.

British Improve Rail Station, Close It Up

LONDON (UPI)—The British railways reorganization plan includes closing St. Mark's station even though a two-year improvement plan has just been completed.

"In an organization as large as the railways things like this are bound to happen now and then," a spokesman said.

Tibet Trade Dying; Spy Business Bad

By HENRY S. BRADSHER

KALIMPONG, India (AP)—For decades, big Himalayan mules with red plumes dancing above their heads and bells ringing from their necks ambled into Kalimpong under the shouted guidance of pigtailed Tibetan traders.

Now the trail to Lhasa is silent. Kalimpong, Indian terminus of the Tibetan trade, is slowly dying. Since the mules stopped jingling down from three-mile-high Himalayan passes, Kalimpong has lost its primary reason for existence.

Even the spying business is bad.

WHEN THE people of Lhasa revolted against Chinese Communist rule in March 1959, Peking charged that the uprising was directed from Kalimpong. Prime Minister Nehru denied this but agreed with Peking that Kalimpong was a nest of spies of all nationalities.

A visitor to Kalimpong at that time found it teeming with Chinese of both Communist and Nationalist persuasions. There were also Tibetans who had profited by working with the Communists, others who had been fighting the Communists in eastern Tibet for more than three years before the Lhasa revolt, and miscellaneous westerners of vague connections.

This town that straggles along a 3,940-foot-high ridge of the Himalayan foothills bustled with business then. There were more Chinese tea shops and shoemakers than seemed economically justified.

• • • •

TIBETAN muleteers sometimes slit open their soft leather boots to extract letters smuggled from Lhasa.

After the Chinese crushed the Lhasa revolt and began the subjugation of the Tibetan people, the air of espionage here dissipated. Talk of spying had a brief resurgence last October when the Chinese attacked India. Rumors of faithful old Chinese shopkeepers operating concealed radio transmitters were common all over this border area. Most Chinese were moved out by the Indian government.

The mule trade declined because of Chinese restrictions on Indian traders and Indian bans on sending strategic goods to Tibet. In 1962 India allowed its trade treaty covering Tibet to lapse.

• • • •

THERE HAS been some smuggling but now it is hampered by Indian army units guarding this area.

By unofficial estimate, 40 per cent of the businesses in Kalimpong have closed. Others are on the verge of bankruptcy.

The streets are still lively with people and the birthrate does not seem to have declined in recent years. Perhaps 600 Tibetan refugees still wander about, spinning their Buddhist prayer wheels while muttering sacred words, but most of the thousands who flooded through Kalimpong have moved on elsewhere.

JUDGES HEAR ALL SORTS OF STORIES

180,000 Traffic Citations Handled in Year

By BOB SCHMIDT

The man finished his explanation and became silent. The black-robed judge he was facing didn't let his face reflect that he'd heard the story, or a variation, countless times. He said, instead, "Sir, that's a very credible story. I'd be considerably more inclined to believe it if I didn't see here that you have received four citations of one kind or another in the past three months."

And so he meted out fitting punishment: A fine, perhaps a few days in jail, perhaps the suspension of the driver's license.

Although the judges of the Long Beach Municipal Court regard each traffic violator who appears before them individually, it figures that in the course of a year they would hear just about any kind of story, fact or fiction.

* * * *

IN 1962, the Traffic Division of the Long Beach Municipal Court, located in Room 203 of the gleaming new Long Beach County Building at 415 W. Ocean Blvd., processed some 180,000 citations.

And a substantial number of the motorists to whom those 180,000 citations were issued eventually faced a judge.

Some just want to give the judge an explanation, hoping that he'll reduce the fine or perhaps not levy one at all. Others, about 2 per cent, feel they're not guilty and want a trial. And the appearance of others is mandatory.

HERE IS the traffic division "machinery" which is set in motion when a citizen is cited for violating the law:

The agency which issued the citations sends the original of the ticket to the Traffic Division. If the citation is for a moving violation, a card is typed and put in a giant rotary file, where it is kept for one year. If there has been one previous violation during the preceding year, the bail to be posted is increased by $5. If there are two or more violations, a court appearance is mandatory.

The offender must come in within 10 days to post the required bail, or he may mail the specified bail in at his own risk. If he does this, the ticket is "cleared," that is, the citizen's obligation has been met.

Unless he wishes to plead "Not Guilty," as some 2 per cent of the ticket recipients do, he need do nothing further. The bail is forfeited.

If he wishes to appear personally before a judge, he may do so. There are seven court appearance times daily between 10 a. m. and 3 p. m.

IF, AS has been indicated, the moving violation is his third within the past year, he is ordered to appear in court.

When the ticket is not cleared within the 10-day period, the violator's trouble multiplies.

First of all, a warrant for his arrest is issued. A notice that the offender has failed to appear is sent to the Department of Motor Vehicles in Sacramento, and that agency will refuse to issue or renew any operator's license if uncleared tickets involving the applicant exist anywhere in the state.

The violator will eventually be arrested, and if he wants to get out of jail he will have to post a bail considerably higher than the bail or fine on the original ticket was.

And he will have to make a court appearance on a date specified by the court. When he gets to court, he'll be punished for the original violation plus the failure to appear. It can get costly.

IN ADDITION to the local records kept for a one-year period, the Department of Motor Vehicles in Sacramento receives a notice of all citations for moving violations, and these are kept for 10 years.

Insurance companies use this information regularly, checking on the driving records of policyholders.

IN MAY of this year, the Long Beach court will join with other municipal courts in Los Angeles County in the establishment of a centralized traffic citation index.

This will enable judges and court traffic divisions to find out at once how many other moving violations a defendant has been cited for anywhere in the county during the preceding year. And this, of course, will increase the required bail and mandatory court appearances of repeat offenders.

MOVING VIOLATIONS are recorded and kept in this circular index file for one year. Deputy Ann Brown inserts index strip which helps traffic division and judge establish amount of fine imposed on repeat offenders.

On parking citations, the bail may be posted by mail. A bail schedule is printed on the back of all parking citations.

Parking tickets, too, must be taken care of within 10 days. After that, a "Notice of Intention to Issue Warrant" is sent to the registered owner of the car. The notice carries additional penalty.

If, after receiving a notice, the defendant still does not clear the citation, a warrant of arrest is issued with bail set at $10.

ALL OF the municipal courts in Los Angeles County use the same bail schedule, so that a driver cited for going through a red light in Long Beach pays the same bail or fine here that he would in Santa Monica or Pomona. The bail schedule was adopted and approved by the judges.

In Long Beach, in 1962, the 180,000 citations issued brought in a revenue of $802,297.13. Two-thirds of the 180,000 citations were issued for parking violations, the remainder for moving violations.

ROBERT HOVARD
Division Chief

The Long Beach Municipal Court Traffic Division handles traffic citations issued by the Long Beach and Signal Hill Police Departments, the California Highway Patrol, the Los Angeles County Sheriff, the Smog Control Board, and the Long Beach State College authorities (who handed out 13,000 parking tickets in 1962).

* * * *

EXCEPT FOR revenue received from citations issued by state agencies, which are split 50-50 between the state and county, 86 per cent of the Traffic Division's revenue comes back to the city where the ticket was isuued and 14 per cent is retained by the county.

The substantial sum of money the City of Long Beach receives each year goes right back into its various traffic safety programs, such as signal installation and maintenance, street markings and signs, crossing guards, and various other aspects.

Included in the $802,297.13 is $101,043.25 in penalty assessments required by the state vehicle code. This money, which comes from a $2 penalty on each $20 bail or fine on all moving citations, goes directly to the state for distribution to schools. The schools use the funds to finance driver education programs.

ROBERT HOVARD, chief clerk of the local traffic division for the past five years, says he and his staff of 12 are continually astounded by the way people make things difficult for themselves.

"Approximately 15 per cent of all violators fail to appear within the 10-day period after they have signed their written promise to do so," he says.

Municipal Court Judges Charles T. Smith and J. Merrill Lilley, before whom most dling of traffic citations," Hovard adds. "We stress courtesy and service, and make things as convenient as we can for our citizens. If the motorist wishes to plead not guilty, he can do so at the window here and the trial date will set when it's convenient to the citizen and to the court. The officer who issued the citation is subpoened, and the citizen may designate whether he wants a court or jury trial."

Hovard, the municipal court judges, and the various police agencies with whom they work, all share one attitude.

They wish the citizens who paid in $802,297.13 last year plus paid the taxes which support the officials involved in traffic safety, would drive a bit more slowly and more carefully.

They don't want as much business as they're getting. of the "non-appearance" offenders are eventually brought, usually sentence the motorists to pay a $20 fine or serve two days in jail the first time he ignores a ticket. The sentence can be stiffer, and it is considerably stiffer on second or third offense.

This is in addition to the punishment for the original violation.

"ANOTHER astounding thing," Hovard says, "is that we receive about 5 or 10 bad checks every week in payment of citations. This adds to the cost of the ticket."

"We do everything possible to expedite justice in the han-

POSTING OF BAIL on traffic citations may be made either personally, as Mary Ellen Harrell is doing here, or by mail. Nevertheless, an estimated 15 percent of persons signing citations fail to appear despite written promise to do so. Clerk is James Weaver.

THE BUSINESS WEEK

U.S. Economy Steps Up; Steel Output Mark Due

By DARDEN CHAMBLISS
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The nation's economy stepped into the spring quarter with spirits high and prospects bright.

Several weak spots remain, but the outlook as the first week of the new quarter opened was better than many believed it could be last fall.

Steel production figures were up for the ninth straight week and there were predictions the coming quarter would hit a three-year high.

Auto production continued to gain and one executive said it's very possible the industry will have a third straight banner year.

New orders received by manufacturers in February set a record, retail sales were up in February to a record and it appeared March would be even better.

The Internal Revenue Service outlined new business expense rules that most observers considered to be far less restrictive than first indicated.

• • • •

THE STOCK MARKET charged to new highs for the year, staging what looked to be a vigorous spring rally.

And New York City's newspapers reappeared in force after a three-month strike.

There were, however, other developments less cheering to the business community.

The Labor Department reported sharp rises in the level of unemployed teen-agers, saying it hit 15.6 per cent in February. That compares with the long term average for the month of about 6 per cent.

A federal grand jury in New York indicated U.S. Steel Corp., Bethlehem Steel and five other companies on charges they conspired to fix prices of rail wheels, industrial equipment and other products.

• • • •

COMMERCE SECRETARY Luther Hodges spoke of dangers to agricultural exports if European Common Market attitudes harden as they have shown some indications of doing. He said the United States may have to restrict industrial imports if American agricultural exports are impeded. Some other developments during the week are still being assessed for good or bad portents.

Among them was the release of a Security and Exchange Commission investigation report that said it found no pervasive fraudulent activity in the stock market but that grave abuses do occur. Most Wall Streeters considered it encouragingly mild.

Another development that invited varying interpretations was the announcement by the nation's railroads that they will begin putting new work rules in effect April 8. The National Mediation Board quickly certified this as an emergency, thereby empowering the President to appoint a study panel and to prevent any strike for 60 days. He did so.

• • • •

ON BALANCE, the week's business news seemed strongly favorable, especially with steels and autos perking along so merrily.

Growing steel demand has boosted the nation's steel mills to about 75 per cent of capacity, against 50 per cent during last year's doldrums. Production levels, at almost 2.4 million tons a week, were the highest in a year. The trade magazine Iron Age said April-June output appears headed for the greatest total since the first three months of 1960.

The rise reflects seasonal demand, some inventory building against a possible strike, and the strong demand of such industries as autos.

The automobile industry, meanwhile, posted its third best opening quarter on record with an output of 1,935,853 vehicles. Industry sources said the industry may turn out more than 2 million in the second quarter, something that has only been done once before.

• • • •

A FORD MOTOR CO. official told a trade group there is a real possibility total production will top 7 million cars in 1963 for the third straight year.

The Commerce Department released some figures on activity elsewhere in the economy. It said that retail sales in February hit a revised total of almost $20.5 billion for a record and that new orders received by all manufacturers hit a record $34.6 billion the same month.

In other developments during the week:

The National Association of Furniture Manufacturers said shipments rose 3 per cent in February from the previous February. . . A $550 million plan to distribute natural gas from Texas as far away as New York was shelved by Monterey Gas Transmission Co., which said adverse rulings by the Federal Power Administration dampened enthusiasm.

Sales of merchant wholesalers were estimated by the Commerce Department at $11.4 billion in February, up 6 per cent from the previous February. . . The National Aeronautics and Space Administration signed a $456.6 million contract with McDonnel Aircraft Corp. for Gemini moonflight craft.

The Kroger Co. supermarket chain began testing a new credit card system in two Alabama counties. . . United Steel Workers Union members ratified an agreement that ended an 8-month strike in Missouri against St. Joseph Lead Co.

Texan in Japan Seeks Doctor From POW Camp

TOKYO (AP)—A 48-year-old Texan said today he is looking for a Japanese doctor he met 20 years ago in a Japanese prisoner of war camp in China.

Joe Latham of Brownwood said he wants to meet the Japanese medical officer again just to say "hello, and thank you."

Latham said he was captured by the Japanese on Wake Island after it fell to the Japanese forces. At the time he was a corporal in the U.S. Marine Corps. The Texan said he spent two years, from 1942 to 1944, in a Japanese POW camp at Wosung, Shanghai, where he met the Japanese medical officer he remembered as "Shindo."

• • • •

LATHAM IS here as one of some 100 foreign crusaders for the Japan Baptist new life movement now under way in this country. The movement is a nationwide evangelistic effort of the Japan Baptist convention to present the Christian message to Japan.

Latham recalled "Shindo" as a good friend who was kind and helpful at all times in the Japanese POW camp.

"It will be my great pleasure if I could meet him again," said the Texan.

Latham said he appealed to "Shindo" through the newspaper Yomiuri, one of Japan's three major newspapers to get in touch.

"But there's been no contact yet," he added.

THE WEEK IN REVIEW

Eisenhower's Criticism Fired JFK's Ire

By HARRY W. SHARPE
United Press International

President Kennedy normally handles former President Dwight D. Eisenhower gently, but last week he used the lash.

The general fired up Kennedy's ire with a slashing attack on his $98.8 billion spending budget and "enormous waste" in America's race to beat Russia to the moon.

This added fuel to a $15 billion budget-cutting blaze ignited by congressional Republicans. For this Democrats have tagged the GOP "American lasters" using a "snow job instead of a fact sheet" on how the budget can be trimmed.

The President entered the fray with relish and obviously with the 1964 election in mind. He told a nationally televised press conference that under Eisenhower the nation had the largest peacetime deficit in history, the largest outflow of gold, two recessions, and the highest peacetime unemployment since World War II.

"That," said Kennedy, "is not a record we plan to duplicate if we can help it."

As to the space race, and again with Eisenhower his target, he said "we are second in space today because we started late."

Even as he spoke, a 3,130-pound unmanned Soviet lunar probe was rushing toward the moon though there was doubt it would land on the surface.

The President asserted that if his budget was reduced as Eisenhower proposed, the heart would be cut out of the defense budget, domestic programs would be crippled, and the country plunged into a decline "even while we are trying to prevent one."

He reminded his audience that big bugets and expanded domestic programs are inevitable because the nation's population increases 4 million a year.

While the budget battle grew more furious, Kennedy himself proposed a $420 million cut in his $4.9 billion foreign aid budget. He also promised stricter standards and more thrift in the program.

As the Labor Department was reporting a sharp drop in unemployment in March, the House Appropriations Committee adopted a Republican motion to deny Kennedy $500 million he had requested for anti-recession emergency public works and $61.9 million for radiation fallout shelters.

The Soviet Union accepted a U. S. proposal for a "hot line" communications link between Moscow and Washington to ease the threat of war by accident.

• • • •

THE PRESIDENT conceded he and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev could have used such a line in the Cuban missile crisis last fall. In that instance, news wire services transmitted the contents of war-or-peace notes much faster than they could clear complex diplomatic channels.

Russian delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin made the acceptance at the Geneva disarmament talks and said the line could be either telegraph or teletype.

Kennedy disclosed meantime that 4,000 Soviet troops had left Cuba in the past month, with 12,000 to 13,000 remaining. He said these would be kept under observation. It was understood he was trying to make it easy for Khrushchev to withdraw the troops without losing face and one reason why he cracked down on anti-Castro hit-and-run raids on Cuba and Soviet cargo vessels.

The President said the attacks gave Khrushchev an excuse for keeping his troops in the area. The State Department curtly rejected Russian charges the U. S. had encouraged the attacks.

A British warship, acting on U. S. tips, seized a 17-man anti-Castro raiding party in the Bahamas, among them an American. A second raiding party escaped.

• • • •

IN OTHER NEWS spheres, Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara told Congress that Russia's military and economic complex will not equal America's "in our lifetime."

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy sent to Congress a proposed bill to guarantee voting rights for Negroes. The Securities & Exchange Commission asked for legislation to correct "certain grave abuses" turned up in an investigation of sales and listing of stock market securities.

Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, whose security clearance was suspended by the Atomic Energy Commission in 1953, was chosen to receive the agency's $50,000 Enrico Fermi award for his contributions to theoretical physics and scientific and administrative leadership in development of the atomic bomb.

FOREIGN PRESS VIEWS

President Draws Europe Praise

By United Press International

President John F. Kennedy came in for praise tempered with a little criticism from the European press last week for his policies generally and Cuba specifically.

In London, the Daily Telegram said Kennedy was right to take measures to prevent American soil from being used for mounting raids on Cuba or shipping using Cuban ports.

The Belgian weekly Europe Magazine said: "More than the 'isolation' of Cuba, a more generous and realistic U.S. policy toward Latin America may contribute to an effective 'sterilization' of Castroism." The outcome of Kennedy's San Jose conference with Central American leaders "is quite promising in this respect."

Il Giornale D'Italia (Ihl Jaw-nahl-ay Diht-ahl-ee-ah) of Rome spoke of a "third America," with Kennedy and his "young aides" in Washington as the protagonists.

"This third America . . . expresses a clear tendency toward a dynamic and active policy: the strengthening of a military deterrent and world-wide American competition with communism. An almost mystical conviction is spreading that American civilization can give the world . . . help and a civilization which are both superior to what communism can offer," Il Giornale D'Italia said.

The Austrian Salzburger Nachrichten (Sahls-buhr-guhr Nak-rink-tehn) said: "It is understandable that the United States wants to avoid anything which could intensify East-West tension. It is hardly convincing, however, when the United States claims the commando raids of Cuban exiles merely serve Castro's purposes. Castro's totalitarian terror can hardly be stepped up any more and the economic chaos on the island can hardly be surpassed."

• • • •

THE AUSTRIAN Die Presse (Dee-Preh-sa) questioned the purpose of the new U.S.-Soviet talks on Berlin. "Talks for talks sake?" it asked. "It is true perhaps with regard to co-existence that there will be no shooting as long as there is talking."

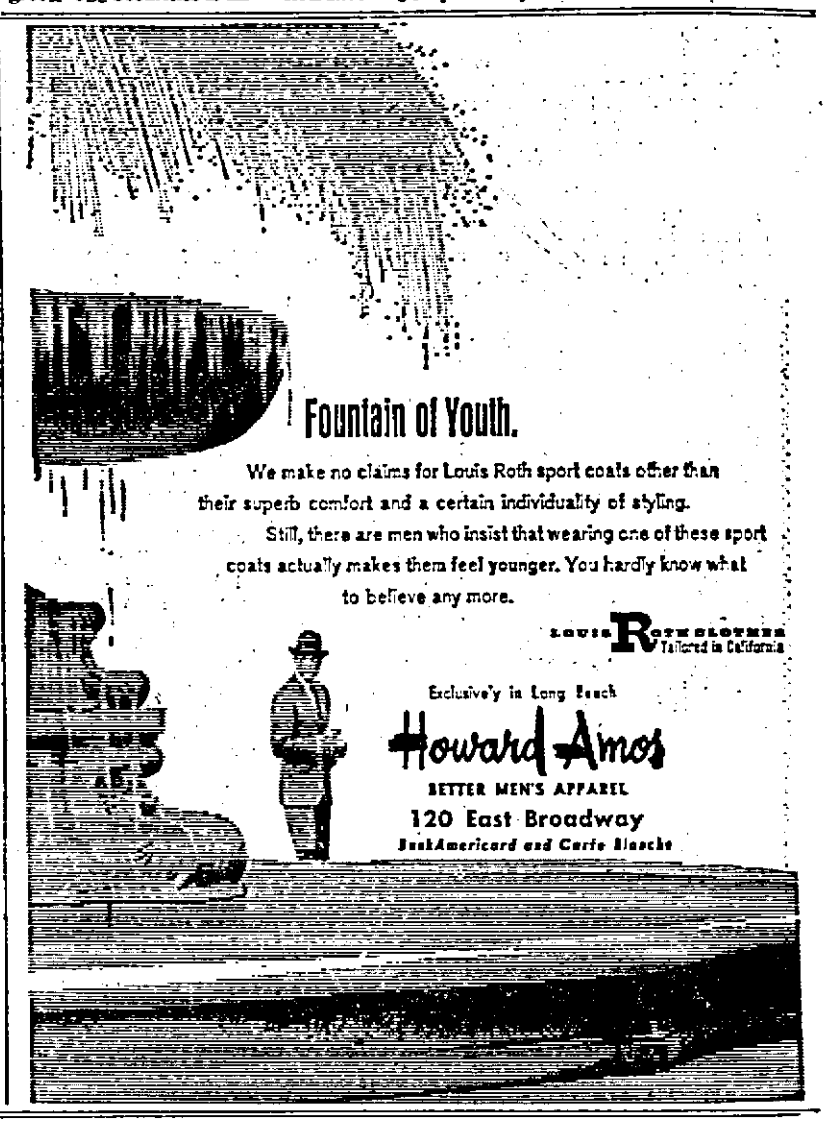

Dagens Nyheter (Dah-gehns Nee-eet-ehr) of Stockholm said the United States should use its influence to bring Britain and France together.

In Seoul, the Korean Republic warned against cutting either economic or military aid to South Korea: "Unfortunately, Korea has suffered from drastic and continued cuts in American economic aid. The aid cuts have already presented immense difficulties to the military government in its determined efforts for economic reconstruction."

• • • •

IN SINGAPORE, the Straits Times argued the possibility of U.S. help for the Malaysia project:

"Malaysia is easily the smallest beneficiary of American generosity in the southeast Asia region, having had only $23 million out of the $6.532 million dispensed in the year 1946-62. If 'fair shares' is an unsuitable slogan, it is possible to take another tack. For all the grandiose scale of American aid, the results produced have been less than sensational. Perhaps this is because the Americans have tended to wait till a ship is sinking before leaping in to bale it out. Might it not be better to help ensure that sound ships do not spring a leak at all? Such a sound ship is Malaysia. Finally, it can be argued, Malaysia meets all the tests of aid-worthiness: she is making a maximum effort to help herself, and she has a government and an administration that can be depended upon to put aid to the most effective use and not dissipate it in corruption and incompetence."

(Community Savings Passbook)

Thousands of saver-investors all over the world find this the most absorbing book they own. Their Community passbook becomes even more interesting at the end of every quarter as they see their balances grow at the annual rate of 4.8%. And every newly added amount has the benefit of DAILY INTEREST—savings earn from the day received if they remain through the end of the quarter. These people also like what they read between the lines—the safety that goes with a Community account. Founded in 1929, Community has established an outstanding financial record. Interest has been paid 82 consecutive times. Financial management has remained conservative. Now membership in Financial Federation, Inc. makes Community part of an organization with resources over one-half billion dollars. Reinforcing this solidity is the insurance power of the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation. No wonder 53,000 safety-minded savers are sold on this passbook. Hopes for Big-Time Tennis at Palos Verdes Booming

By PAUL WALLACE

Forest Hills and Wimbledon are synonymous with big time tennis over the world. It's just possible that Palos Verdes may be added to those two prestigious names one year soon.

For on the rolling peninsula, the gentile old game is booming.

Two new tennis clubs are underway—one operated by the game's most flambuoyant promoter and one of its top players, Jack Kramer.

• • • •

KRAMER LAST week began operating his Jack Kramer Tennis and Swim Club as a private, membership only organization.

Also last week, the second club, a semi-private set-up, got under construction on a site amid the undulating fairways of the Palos Verdes Country Club. It will be named the Palos Verdes Tennis Club.

Kramer's club, built in Rolling Hills Estates at the northeast corner of Narbonne Avenue and Palos Verdes Drive across from the reservoir, now has nine courts in operation. Soon all will be lighted for night play.

• • • •

A CLUBHOUSE and pro shop and a huge Olympic-sized, L-shaped swimming pool, should be under way by month's end.

Kramer, and his club manager, Vic Braden, hope eventually to build at least 16 courts at the site. To do this, however, would require their getting more land. Braden said they feel 16 courts are a minimum for making the club into a real world tennis center.

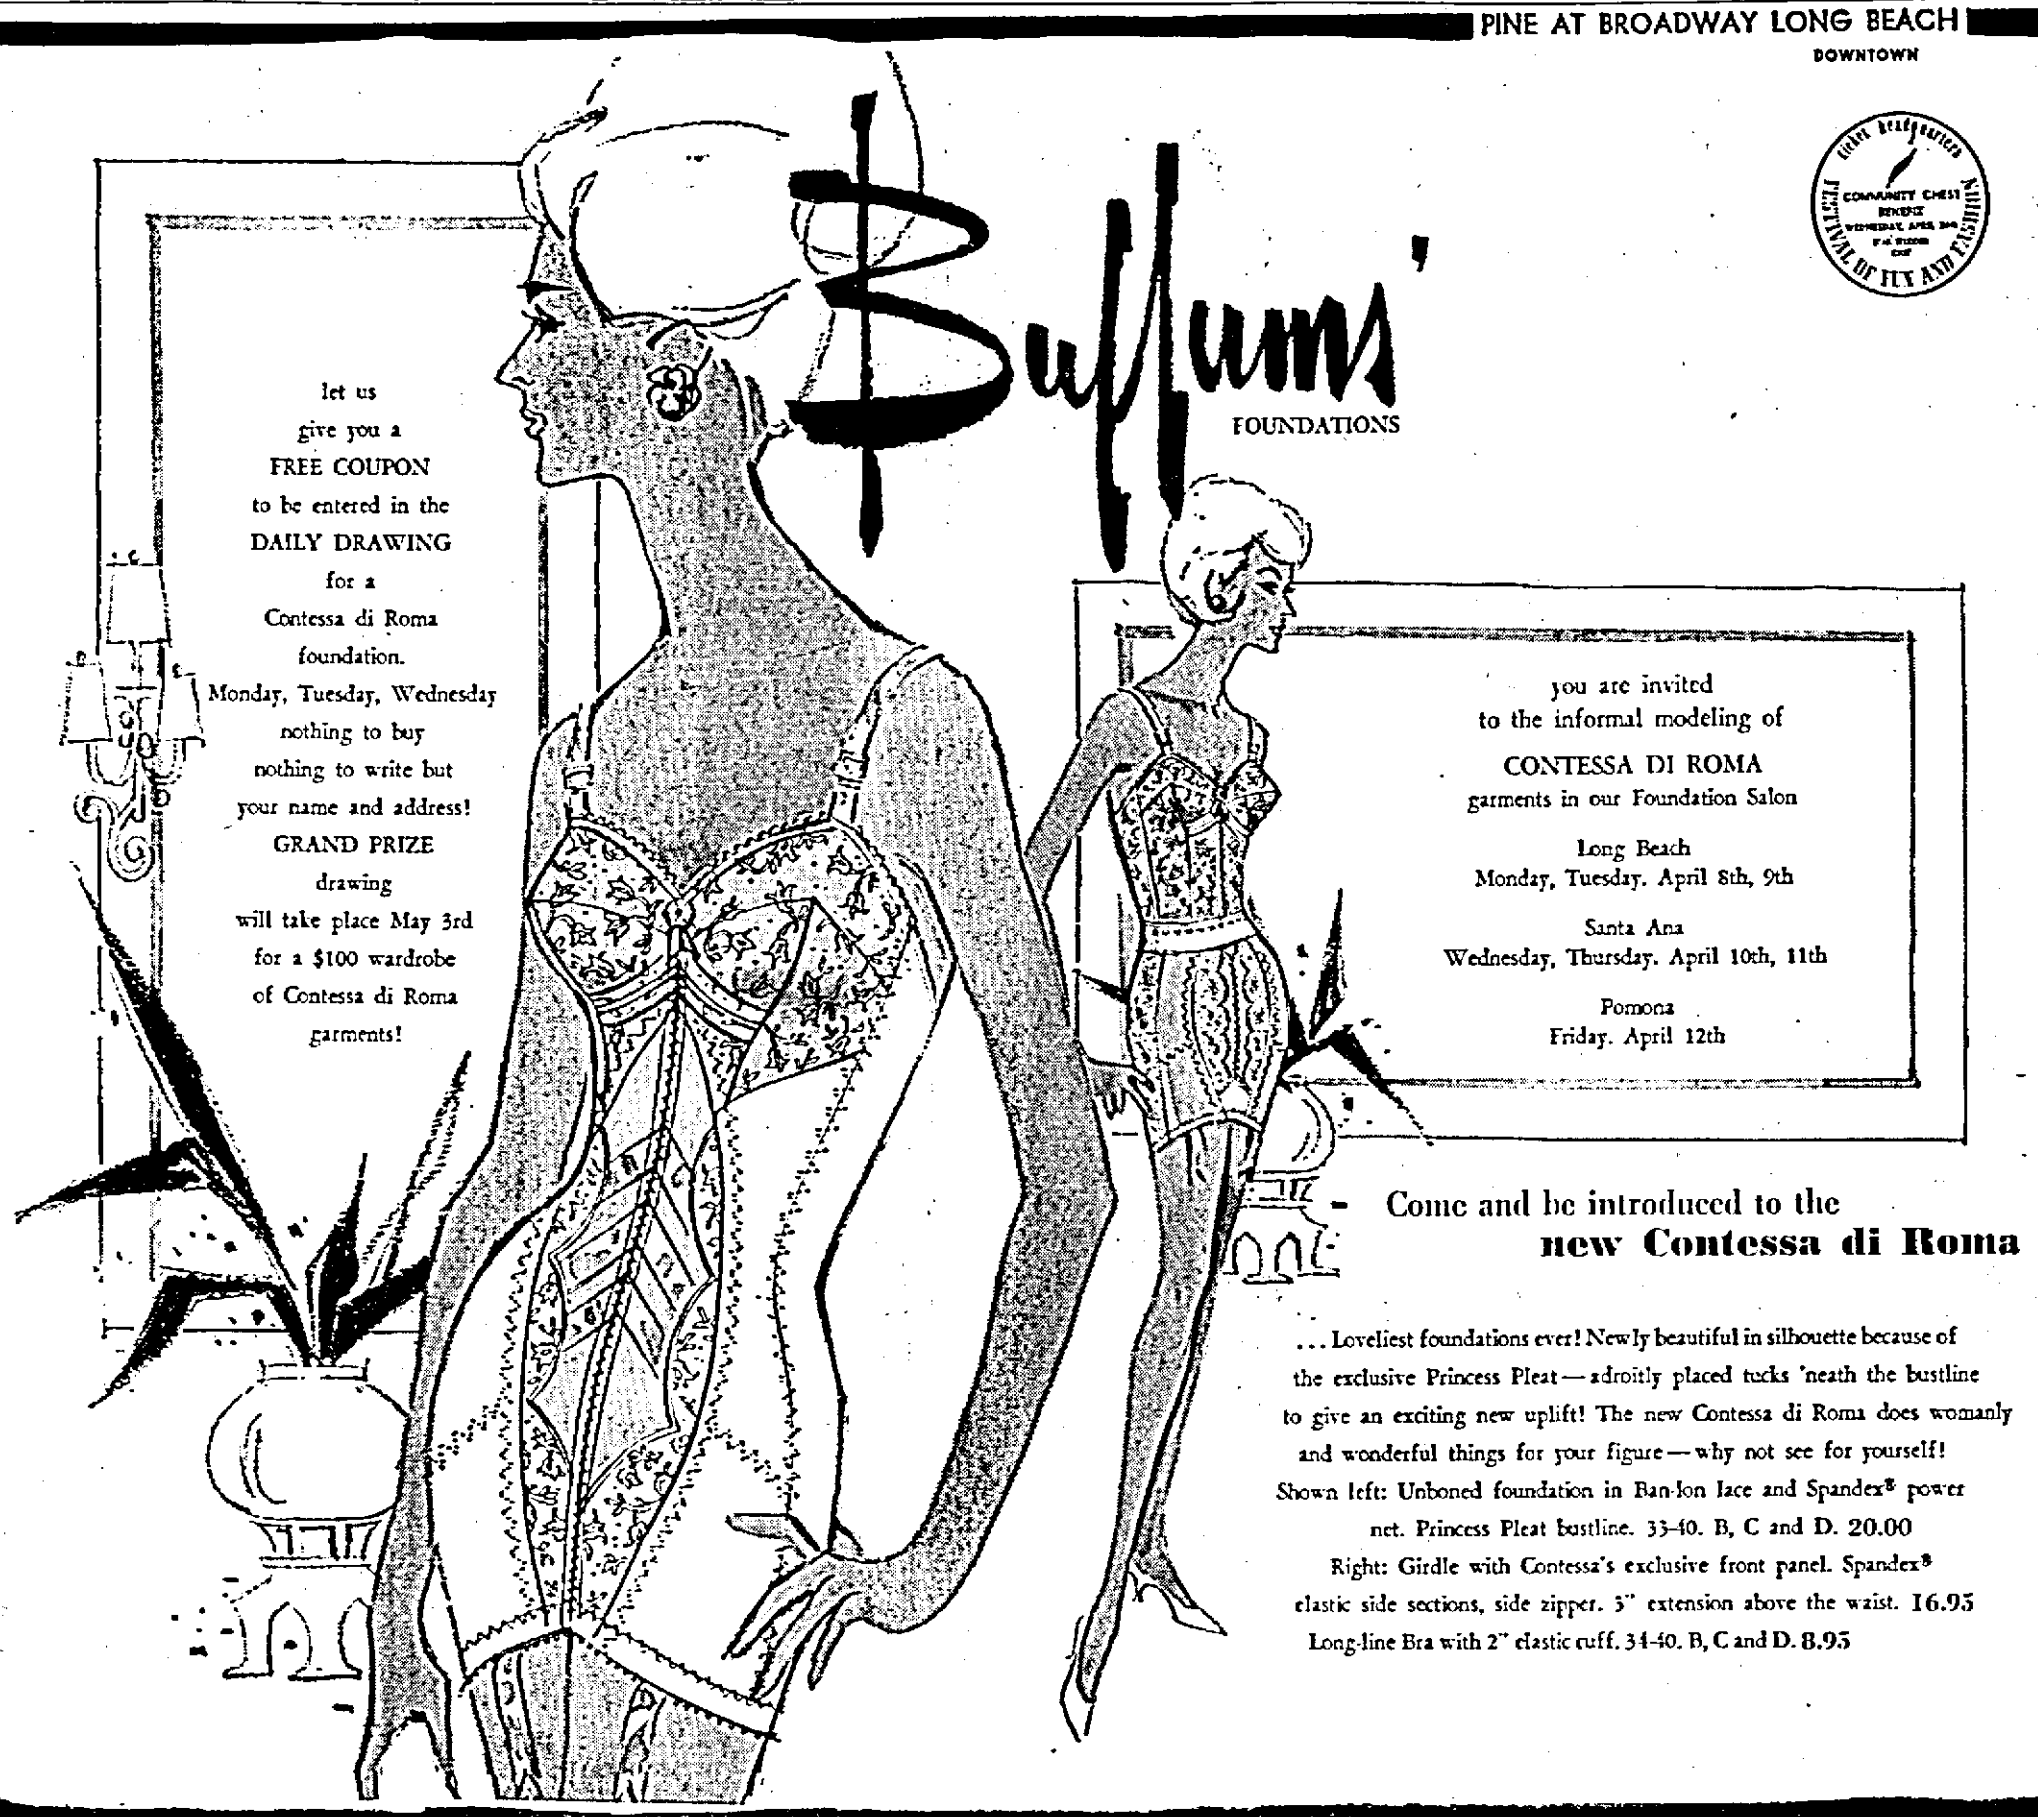

The Palos Verdes club, headed by Don Miloe, is building five courts and a pro shop near the golf course's present maintenance garages. Two will be lighted.

Beach Combing

With Malcolm Epley

LET YOUR spring Sunday morn be brightened by a little story that proves there are still honest people around.

As you may know, our paper, like many others, has some "honor racks" located at strategic spots in the area. Papers are left in the open on these racks and people who take them are supposed to drop a coin in a slotted box to pay for them.

This works pretty well but there are times when the money in the box doesn't equal the price of the papers that have been removed. Not everybody has paid.

That's what makes the story about J. Mestina a good one.

The other day a note was found in a coin box on one of the honor racks. It read: "I took a Sunday paper. I promise to pay you 20 cents tomorrow.—J. Mestina."

Next day there was another note in the box. On it Mr. Mestina reported he had paid up as promised, and to prove his story, he had done it by wrapping adhesive tape around two dimes. The dimes are in the box, with identifying marks inked on the tape.

This one really had our circulation men shaking their heads.

STRANGELY missing facility in our community is a walk connecting the Long Beach State College campus with the city's sidewalk network via Seventh St.

Every school day, some students and faculty members may be seen making their way gingerly along this section of Seventh, using either narrow dirt corridors on either side of the paving or, where they can, trekking along the center cement divider. This street carries extremely heavy auto traffic, but there's not a thing there to help the foot traveler.

Now Long Beach State is pretty much a commuter college. Only a smattering of students live on campus. Most of them go to the campus from various parts of Long Beach or surrounding communities. But not all of them drive, and it's time to give consideration to providing a sidewalk to the main entrance of the campus.

I've never heard of any official attention to this problem. Perhaps this is because the area has peculiar political status. The VA Hospital, whose grounds run along one side of the street, is in a county island and of course is federally owned. The other side is private property.

But certainly something can be worked out. L.B. State is proudly claimed by Long Beach, and here's a suggestion that city authorities assume some responsibility in getting the ball rolling.

IT'S NO secret that this has been a bad year for weather men. Rains have maddeningly followed dry forecasts.

This is embarrassing and somewhat amusing, but for most of us, not serious. It really doesn't make much difference.

However, it does sort of shake one's confidence in the heralded advancement of science. It seems strange that we've lately been sending instrument-bearing objects out into space and getting back information supposedly telling us about weather and other conditions on the moon and distant planets, whereas we have trouble finding out what it's going to be like right here tomorrow.

In a way, it illustrates an anomaly of the space ventures. While we're busting budgets and straining brains to get out there, we've still got all sorts of earthly problems that haven't been solved.

Personally, I'd a lot rather see cancer conquered than to know that an earth-sent space ship had hit the moon.

Film Lecture Series Winds Up

The sixth and final program in Los Angeles County Museum's third annual "Where in the World?" film - lecture travel series will be held Tuesday at 8:15 p.m. in the museum auditorium.

Renee Taylor, co-author of the best-selling book, "Hunza Land," will give a lecture and show a film on "Hunza, Valley of Eternal Youth." She spent one year making the film.

Tickets will be available at the Exposition Park auditorium box office for $1.

Use of Coleman electronic vote-counting machines in Los Angeles County elections would require an initial cost of $6.7 to $9 million, but would make it possible to have final election returns by 5 a.m. of the day following the election.

The annual operating cost of the machines would show a slight saving below the cost of the present manual counting system.

Engineering field tests and actual operating results of the Coleman system indicate that the accuracy of this equipment in tallying ballots is better than 99.9 per cent.

* * * *

THESE FACTS are contained in a 26-page report, with a nine-page appendix by Coleman Engineering Co., Inc., which will be submitted Tuesday to the Board of Supervisors by L. S. Hollinger, chief county administrative officer.

Supervisors are not expected to take any action on the report at this time.

The report is in answer to a request by the supervisors last Jan. 10 for Hollinger, Registrar of Voters Benjamin S. Hite, and County Counsel Harold W. Kennedy to report on how the Coleman system would work in handling election returns in Los Angeles County.

The Coleman vote tally system tallies voter marks on paper ballots at a rated speed of 600 ballots per minute.

* * * *

VOTERS AT THE polls would use the same ballots as at present. They would mark them, however, with a special fluorescent ink.

After the polls close, the ballots are brought to a central location for tallying. The vote-counting machine automatically tallies each ballot and produces punch cards containing the precinct totals for all candidates and measures on the ballot.

These precinct cards then would be processed by tabulating equipment or electronic computers to give the county-wide election returns.

Hollinger said the committee studied the use of the system on the basis of eight, 10 and 12 machines as well as with various numbers of precincts, starting with the present approximately 12,000 and working down to 10,000, 8,000 and 6,000 precincts.

* * * *

TOTAL purchase and installation costs, including site preparation, range from approximately $6.7 million for eight systems to $9 million for 12 systems, Hollinger said.

LABORATORIES AID GROWERS OF ORANGES, LEMONS

Analysis of Leaves Tells Citrus Ranchers Fertilization Needs for Next Year's Orchard

By BILL DUNCAN

Come next fall Southland citrus ranchers will gather together 50 or more leaves from orange trees, secure them tightly in plastic bags and deliver them to one of six special chemical laboratories in Southern California.

Among ranchers the September and October leaf collecting is not a hobby, but a ritual begun three years ago when University of California researchers "accidentally" discovered leaf analysis could reveal fertilization needs for the orchard.

J. A. Beutel, University of California citrus farm adviser for Los Angeles and Orange counties, said a leaf sample properly taken in September can be analyzed by an agricultural laboratory and tell the rancher exactly the amount of fertilization needed for next year's crop.

The amount of essential nutrients found in a sample from any citrus orchard is compared to the amount needed and the difference is used as a basis for determining fertilizer needs.

* * * *

ORANGE AND lemon trees this month are setting new growth which one season soon will bring forth new fruit, Beutel explains. It is a nonfruiting branch of this year's spring growth cycle from which the tender four to five-month leaves are taken.

Lab experts read the leaves as a gypsy reads tea leaves — only more scientifically. The new leaves are taken to the laboratory in sealed plastic bags to prevent any possible deterioration from the time they are picked until the time the analysis begins.

First step of the examination is a bath for the leaves where all dirt and foreign substance is removed. The leaves are then dried in a kiln-like oven and ground to powder.

* * * *

THE ESSENTIAL elements analyzed for are nitrogen, magnesium, phosphorus, and potassium. Occasionally analyses are made for zinc, manganese, copper, and boron.

The proper levels for best orange production are 2.4-2.6 per cent nitrogen, 0.3-0.6 per cent magnesium, 0.12-0.18 per cent phosphorus and 1.0-1.7 per cent potassium. Higher or lower levels can be injurious and may be changed next year by reduced or increased fertilization in the winter, Beutel explains.

Lemon leaf analysis standards are similar to those used for oranges, he said.

Generally Southland citrus ranchers have discovered that too much nitrogen is in the soil. This reduces color and fruit doesn't measure up to quality.

The test also discovered that 95 per cent of Southland citrus orchards had adequate quantities of phosphorus and potassium and this fertilization was reduced because of leaf analysis.

* * * *

RESEARCHERS at University of California at Riverside discovered the leaf analysis method about 10 years ago, Beutel said. The researchers had deliberately withheld nutrients from tree crops and noticed a change in the leaf makeup of the trees involved in experiments. Gradually examining leaves they discovered the tiny green leaf held a storehouse of information about the food supply—or lack of it—a tree was getting.

The method is so effective, the farm adviser relates, that leaves from one tree in the orchard can tell the nutrition story of a 10-acre orchard.

ANALYSIS PLUS FERTILIZATION EQUALS THIS

Arena Will Show Operating Profit

By GEORGE WEEKS

Long Beach's new Arena will show a surplus of revenues over operating costs during its first full year of operation.

This is the forecast of city officials who are preparing an application to the State Lands Commission for allotment of tideland oil funds for numerous shoreline purposes during the 1963-64 fiscal year.

The application seeks authority to spend $391,115 for maintenance of the Arena.

But the tideland trust accounts will actually profit in a net amount of more than $25,000, according to City Manager John R. Mansell's estimate. Revenues from Arena operations are anticipated at $417,000.

* * * *

IT IS A CASE of the city, as administrator, contributing to the trust funds from sources other than oil income. Mansell said he was "most gratified" by the level of activity at the building.

The final accounting for the current fiscal year, ending next June 30, will probably show a near balance between outgo and income, Arena manager Win Hanssen said.

Expenses are met from a tideland allotment of $396,650. Income probably would have exceeded that amount except that last-minute building delays kept money events out of the shoreline structure until October.

The Arena item is the largest entry in a total application of $1,148,731 for tideland fund expenditures, which compares with $1,111,925 authorized for the current year.

* * * *

OTHER MAJOR items are Marine Department administration and lifeguard services, $325,233; Public Service Department beach cleaning and other activities on tidelands, $297,174; Park Department services, including maintenance of beach parking lots, $67,681; Police Department services, $47,048.

Cycling Worker Killed by Car

A 46-year-old man who had been riding a bicycle from his home in Compton to his job in Huntington Park for the past year, Saturday was struck and killed by a car in South Gate.

Dead was Robert Allison, 46, of 11834 Louise St., hit as he rode through the intersection of Long Beach Boulevard and Iowa Avenue. Officers said his body was hurled more than 60 feet.

The driver of the car, Harvey W. Geithman, 50, of South Gate, was arrested on suspicion of felony-drunk driving and manslaughter.

HALCYON BALL
Appointed

Halcyon Ball Named to Fair Post

Appointment of Halcyon Ball as director of finance for the California World's Fair was announced Saturday by Nelson McCook Jr., president.

Ball, 38, said the Fair "will have a tremendous economic impact on Southern California, and I'm happy to be a part of it."

A native of Long Beach, Ball is president-elect of the Lakewood Rotary Club; president of the Lakewood Plaza Citizens' Improvement Association, and past secretary of the Long Beach chapter, California Society of Certified Public Accountants. He has, in the past, worked for Price Waterhouse and Co. in their management advisory service.

2,000 YOUNG PEOPLE TO ATTEND

Easter Sunrise Rites on Boats

An estimated 2,000 young people of the Long Beach area will attend Easter sunrise services aboard boats.

The young people will be aboard Navy launches, and the service itself, starting at 6:30 a.m., will be held aboard a barge in the middle of the Navy landing area.

This unusual program of worship is being organized by the Long Beach Ministerial Union, the Long Beach Council of Churches and the council's youth group, the Christian Youth Council, in cooperation with the Navy.

The program is open to youth groups and their sponsors and to individuals from junior high school to college age, according to a spokesman for the church groups. Adults who wish to attend will worship from shore, where a battery of loudspeakers will be set up.

In addition, private boat owners will attend the services from aboard their craft inside the landing area.

Following the services, the young people will be taken to various ships in port for breakfast as guests of the Navy, and will be taken on a tour of the ships.

Rev. C. Leroy Doty Jr., president of the Ministerial Union and pastor of the First Church of the Brethren, will deliver the Easter message, and a combined choir will sing.

Wednesday is Tax Deadline

Real estate taxes in Los Angeles County will become delinquent if not paid by 5 p.m. Wednesday, Tax Collector Harold J. Ostly warned Saturday.

After the deadline, a penalty of six percent, plus an extra $3 per parcel, will be imposed, he said.

* * * *

A LIST of all properties upon which taxes were not paid by the Wednesday deadline will, according to law, be published in a community newspaper in the area, Ostly said.

If the taxes remain delinquent on June 30, the property will be sold to the state, and additional penalties will accrue.

Catalina Seeking 'Privateer Queen'

The Avalon Chamber of Commerce is looking for lovely girls to compete for the title of 1963 Queen of Privateer Days, which will take place April 26-28 on Catalina Island.

The contest is open to all unmarried Southern California girls between the ages of 18 and 22. Candidates must send photos and biographies to Avalon Chamber of Commerce before April 21.

L.B. City College Should Remain in School District

SHOULD LONG BEACH City College remain under the jurisdiction of the Long Beach Unified School District, or should it operate under a separate board?

This question arises as the result of a move to elevate the junior colleges of this state into the system of higher education along with state colleges and the state university.

Three junior colleges in Los Angeles County are in unified school districts. They are located in Long Beach, Santa Monica, and Glendale. These junior colleges are the object of a study by a committee of 11 laymen elected by representatives of 99 school boards of the county. This committee has been directed by the legislature to submit a report of its findings by June 30. Although the directive is not too explicit, behind the study is the question of the feasibility of setting up separate local boards for these junior colleges.

THE ADVOCATES OF separate districts offer some persuasive arguments. They go like this:

A separate board has the independence of decision and action so necessary for efficient administration.

A separate board concentrates solely on the problems of the junior college. In a unified school district, the board makes decisions for elementary schools and high schools as well; and because of the great volume of business involving elementary and high schools, the junior college's problems often are dealt with as an afterthought.

An independent board which doesn't have to worry about other schools can develop attractive salary scales and do many other things to increase the educational quality of the junior college.

The separate identity gives teachers greater prestige and prevents the departure of good teaching talent to the state colleges and the university.

PERHAPS THESE ARGUMENTS would prove overriding in other districts. Our immediate interest, however, is Long Beach City College. We fail to see how this institution could be improved by putting it in a district by itself.

The cost of educating youngsters at Long Beach City College is less than the cost of educating them in existing separate districts.

Long Beach City College is not dealt with as an afterthought by the Board of Education. It is administered as a valuable part of a unified educational system in which the transition from high school to college receives special attention.

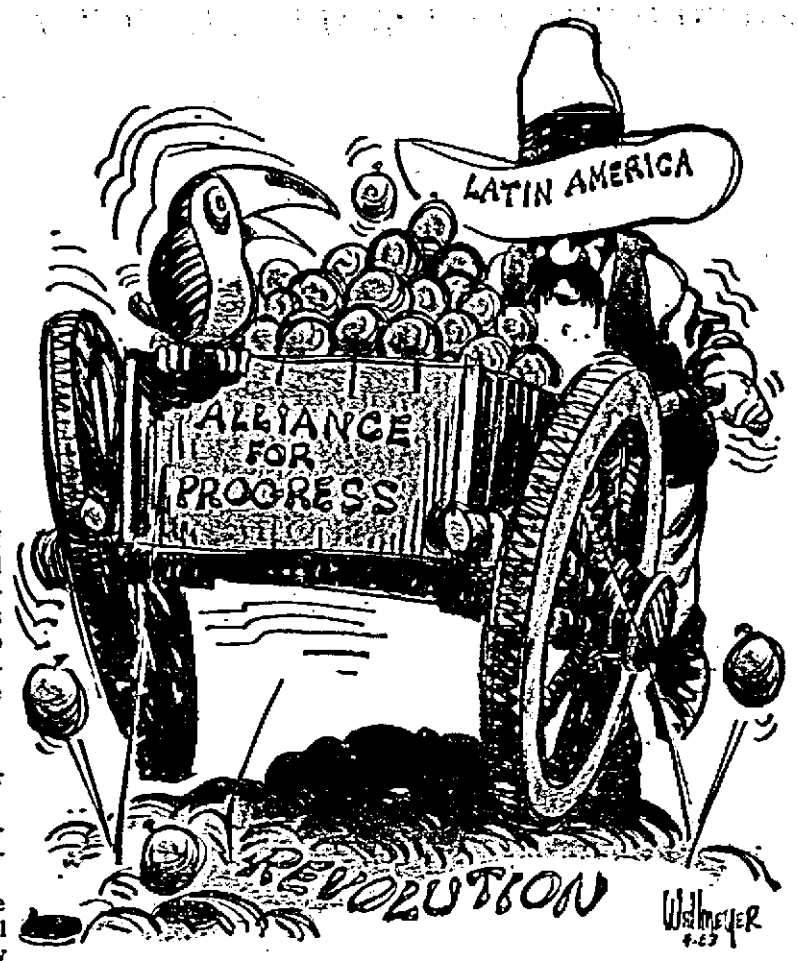

Finally, the product is good, as even the advocates of separate districts admit.

Why, then, should there be a change?

This state is already plagued with a multiplicity and confusion of overlapping boards, agencies, and districts. Each time one is created, the bill to the taxpayer for governmental housing, offices, and personnel climbs higher.

The cost and the confusion would only be heightened by cutting this school district, outstandingly administered under a single board, into two separate jurisdictions. We strongly recommend against any such action.

John Murdy State Senate's Top Farm-Tractor Operator

L. P-T Sacramento Bureau

SACRAMENTO—The Senate long has been ballyhooed as the stronghold of rural northerners. But the Senate's top farm-tractor operator is a Southern Californian—Sen. John A. Murdy of Orange County.

Murdy, born on a South Dakota farm in 1900, still operates his own tractor at planting and harvest time. Murdy, now 62, intends to wheel out his own tractor for the 1963 harvest.

Sen. Murdy has harvested a lot of successes since his father bought a ranch in Huntington Beach in 1906. His farflung farm holdings now extend into the Imperial Valley and Arizona. The Murdy farms grow lima beans, truck crops and citrus fruit.

In the Los Altos section of Long Beach, Murdy owns the commercial building occupied by Standard Shoe Stores and Hof's Hut Restaurant.

Murdy is best known as a Republican conservative and as the Senate guardian of Orange County and Southern California interests, however.

A publication of a labor lobbylist described Murdy thusly: "He has acquired a reputation for independence and sound thinking—traits for which farmers are known the world over—a belief in free enterprise, and unrelenting efforts to ard holding the line or state expenditures."

MURDY was chairman of the Southern California delegation in the legislature when state lawmakers approved the state water plan to bring Feather River waters to the Southland.

As vice chairman of the Senate Water Resources Committee, Murdy battled successfully to get Senate approval of a $1.75-billion water bond program. He also authored the Orange County Water District Act, a 1953 bill that was California's first underground water management measure.

It was during Murdy's decade in the legislature that Orange County succeeded in landing a state college at Fullerton and a University of California campus at Irvine.

Murdy is senior member of the four-man Orange County delegation. The three first-year assemblymen from Orange County meet in Murdy's office every Tuesday morning to plan strategy on Orange County legislation.

Murdy plans to guide through the Senate in 1963 bills creating six additional judgeships in the county—three municipal, and three superior court. Also, he hopes to sponsor in the Senate a bill that would earmark up to 1 per cent of state tidelands oil-lease revenue for beach improvements in Huntington Beach and other tidelands-lease communities.

Orange County had less

than 100,000 residents when Murdy began dairy farming 22 acres near Westminster a half century ago. Orange County's population now is near the million-person mark, and Murdy's farm holdings have grown to hundreds of acres.

Murdy foresees some dramatic changes for Orange County in the next decade or so. Already, some of the Murdy farmland has been developed into subdivisions, shopping centers and industrial enterprises.

"The day will come when Orange County is entirely residential and commercial," predicts Murdy.

• • • •

MURDY is president of Hoag Memorial Hospital in his present home town of Newport Beach. He is a member of the board of trustees of Whittier College. The Orange County senator also is a member of the State Allocations Board—an agency that has loaned millions of dollars to Orange County school districts.

The Murdy family is doing its bit to see that Orange County's population tops the million mark. Murdy has 14 grandchildren — all living in Orange County.

Kennick Finds Tough 'Jury' in Bakersfield CDC Caucus

CAUCUSING in Superior Court No. 4, Bakersfield, the Long Beach area's 32nd Congressional District delegates to the California Democratic Council were seated variously at counsel tables, visitors section and jury box.

"Ladies and gentlemen of the jury." Assemblyman Joseph M. Kennick couldn't resist the setting. "If I were my Long Beach Assembly colleague (C. George Deukmejian), I'd be asking you for the death penalty."

KENNICK

However, he continued, his one strong desire is to elect Democratic candidates in the 32nd District. He observed the complete lack of real harmony" among district Democrats. It's got to the point in the East Long Beach 39th Assembly District that Republicans have absolutely no worry from Democrats even when the Democratic registration is as high as 55 per cent.

Burden of Kennicks' preface was his nomination for the 1963 district CDC directorship of Ron Hager last weekend. Until this point it had appeared that incumbent Willard Hastings had unanimous reelection in his hands. Kennick realized this too but decided the stake was worth risking his reputation on.

Hager and Kennick lost. The caucus voted 21 to 12 for Hastings, of 7014 El Cedral, a teacher of 5th and 6th grade classes in South Gate. Insiders noted Kennick's caucus reference to Hastings as the "splendid young man now holding the job," but observed also that Kennick regarded Hastings' philosophy as too liberal to win votes for candidates running in Long Beach.

"Kennick might have had his way," some of the delegation said, "if the thing hadn't had the appearance of a power play with some delegates making a special trip up here (to Bakersfield) to vote against Hastings. Some of those people are known to be strongly opposed to CDC so how could we go along with them?"

HASTING'S acceptance speech was mainly an attack against Congressman Craig Hosmer's recent district poll revealing a lopsided antiadministration sentiment.

The poll was misleading, Hastings said, a tabulation of the conservative minority which comprises the bulk of his mailing list. Senior citizens here are not misled by Hosmer's poll figures opposing medicare, Hastings said, when the Gallup poll shows it is favored by two of three Americans and the Lou Harris poll shows a 75 per cent favorable response.

Hosmer respondents were 71 per cent against the President's tax cut proposal, Hastings noted, while Congressman George E. Brown, asking the same question, got the exact opposite response, with 70 per cent in favor.

Hastings also cited a San Francisco Chronicle poll which he said was at odds with Hosmer's findings that 65 per cent thought the U.S. is doing a poor job at handling the Cuban situation and only 9 per cent give a "good" rating.

THE CHRONICLE readings did not ask the same question but showed majority votes against invasion, against ultimatums to the Soviet, against a blockade of all Cuban shipping, against use of the Cuba matter as a partisan issue and showed 61 per cent saying they do not regard Cuba as a military threat to U.S. security.

Asked their thoughts on whether JFK had bungled the Cuban problem, the Chronicle results showed 48 per cent saying yes, 46 per cent no.

Profits, Service Can't Be Divorced

EDITOR:

Maybe the "Wage Price Spiral" can be reversed.

On Wednesday, March 27, in San Francisco, the California Public Utilities Commission resume hearings in its investigation (harassment) of Pacific Telephone's rates and practices. The PUC staff accuses Pacific Telephone of excess profits.

Personally, I don't believe that profits and service can be divorced.

If (God forbid) the will of the PUC investigating staff prevails, and my telephone bill is reduced, I, as an employe, am willing to accept a cut of the same amount in my wages. I would not be losing anything over what I now have left after paying my phone bill, and I could feel that the quality of my phone service was not in jeopardy. Indeed, I feel the telephone company, thus heartened and encouraged, would continue striving to improve service with renewed faith.

Increased wages and increased prices mean only one thing to me—increased tax bracket rates. My only real index to wages is—that per cent (not dollars) of earnings I have left after paying my bills.

Brown's Plans Will Erase Economies

EDITOR:

I see where, according to Bob Wells, our governor had asked all state employes to travel economy class when traveling by air.

At the same time, the state budget up for consideration has a $500,000 provision in it for a new plane for the governor. Yearly expense for this plane is $175,000.

The $175,000 yearly expense for operating this plane would buy the governor approximately 600 round trips (economy class) to Washington, D.C.

Thus the taxpayers of California could save $500,000 if the governor would forego this luxury of such an expensive private airplane. Then if he would further settle for a $300,000 mansion instead of the $800,000 one in the budget, an additional $500,000 could be saved.

U.S. Should Give Credit Where Due

EDITOR:

There was an item recently in the Press-Telegram telling about how the Japanese had deposited somewhere near $22 million to the account of our government as a first payment on loans we made to her since World War II.

I believe we should use every means at our disposal to give proper recognition to governments which realize their debt to the American taxpayers and thus encourage others to repay as well. Perhaps if De Gaulle would do a little inspection of the fiscal books he would realize his remarks about our constancy and concern for Europe would seem pretty silly to him as well as to us.

Nothing New About 'New Frontier'

EDITOR:

There is nothing new about the New Frontier. A rose by any name smells the same, but the real name for the Kennedy frontier is appeasement. Appeasement has been tried before, but it never works.

The President has now put a wall around Cuba. He safeguards the Communists. The New Frontier is opposed to anti-Communist patriots. It is opposed to anti-Communist nationalism whether it is in the Caribbean, the Congo or the U. S. A. This continued retreat before the Red advance will see the U. S. shortly surrounded.

With our backs to the wall, we will have to fight or surrender.

Congress' Affairs in Terrible Shape

By Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON—The hope is growing that Congress will do some serious thinking about putting its affairs in order while home for Easter vacation. The affairs are in bum shape. So much so that even the congressmen are getting worried.

The list of problems is as long as your arm.

Two former members, defeated only last year, are under conflict-of-interest indictments.

Twenty-nine present members have their wives on office payrolls, and another 20 or more have brothers, sisters, sons, daughters or in-laws employed in their offices.

The Capitol Hill construction program, directly under the supervision of Congress and a Capitol architect who is not an architect, seems totally out of hand. The third House Office Building will be opened soon at a cost of about $100 million—or $490,000 per suite per congressman.

Not one piece of major legislation has been passed so far this year.

The congressmen have been filling their news letters with dire warnings about crime on the streets in the nation's capital, but in their committees, they refuse to vote funds for schools or reform schools or children's care, and they drag their feet on harsher arrest laws the police department is demanding.

Meanwhile, Washington, the last outpost of colonialism on the North American continent, still doesn't elect its own government, and the southern-dominated House District Committee is not about to grant the vote because it would franchise some 400,000 Negroes.

Birth Control Plan in Illinois Being Watched Around World

WASHINGTON—A birth control plan which may have repercussions around the world went into effect in Illinois this week. It provides that women on relief may not only get birth control information but contraceptives paid for by the state.

Aimed at curtailing the alarming Negro and Puerto Rican birth rate of Chicago, much of it illegitimate, the Illinois birth control plan is still the subject of hot controversy among Catholics; also between Democrats and Republicans. And a bill, introduced by Democratic Sen. Morgan Finley of Chicago, would stop the plan dead in its tracks.

PEARSON

Nevertheless, despite the attempts to block it, the plan did go into effect. And it is being watched by diplomats and welfare experts in various countries as a possible pattern for the exploding population growth which in Latin America threatens to defeat all advances made by the Alliance for Progress and which in Asia is the key reason for the belligerency of Red China.

China, with a population of 700,000,000, will have increased in 1970 by as much as the present population of the United States. By 1970 China will have added 200,000,000 people and will have 900,000,000 men, women and children bulging its borders.

This was the basic reason for the Chinese push into India and the Chinese infiltration into the small Southeast Asian countries on its border.

Illinois' birth control plan was pioneered by Arnold H. Maremont, chairman of the Illinois Public Aid Commission, who in private life is an auto parts manufacturer and art collector. Maremont is a Democrat, appointed by Demo. Gov. Otto Kerner.

But his plan immediately brought heavy fire from his fellow Democrats, and support from Republicans. Reason is:

1. The backbone of the Democratic Party in Illinois is in densely populated Cook County, where most Negroes vote Democratic;

2. Most Democratic leaders in Chicago are Catholic.

This, presumably was why Mayor Richard J. Daley, running for re-election last week, came out publicly for the Finley bill which would block the birth control plan. He was under pressure from a Republican Catholic, Benjamin Adamowski, running against him for Mayor, who attacked the Maremont plan as promoting immorality.

As of today, no lay Catholic has publicly endorsed the birth control program, though many have expressed private support. Many legislators in Springfield suggest that the best way to handle the whole business is do nothing. If possible, they would like to let the Finley bill, blocking birth control gather dust and die without a vote.

THE MAN to watch when George Meany, long-time president of the AFL-CIO retires, is a tall 53-year-old labor leader with a slight Tennessee drawl who has built up the fastest growing union in the nation — James Suffridge, head of the Retail Clerks International Assn. This month it celebrates its 75th birthday.

Suffridge, a close friend of Meany's, is a man who believes strongly in industry-labor cooperation and actually has spent union money on a nationwide advertising campaign to promote the retail establishments which employ his clerks.

Nominally, the man who will replace George Meany is a Republican. Most AFL-CIO leaders in the past have been Democrats. However, Suffridge believes in the old Sam Gompers edict: "Support your friend, defeat your enemies." Following this, Suffridge supported Kennedy as against Nixon; took a round-the-world trip with Vice President Lyndon Johnson, received a boost from GOP Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine when she mentioned him as a future Republican secretary of labor.

Languages in the News

By Charles E. Berlitz and Robert Thompson-Davis

Americans traveling in Europe are often surprised to learn that American English is frequently treated as a different language from British, or standard, English, and that books by American authors are republished in the United Kingdom with changes made for British spelling and wording.

Some of the most striking differences between American and British English are in everyday household words and expressions. Here are a few:

American	British
water heater	geyser
thumb tack	drawing pin
check stub	cheque counterfoil
instalment plan	hire purchase plan
baby carriage	perambulator
transom	fanlight
cigarette butt	cigarette end
traveling salesman	commercial traveler

Woman Regains Youthful Figure Without Rigid Diet Under Pat Walker's Stauffer System

Vivacious Pat Walker, who has helped thousands of Southland women to achieve their dreams of a brand new figure, is now directing this new program from her Long Beach and Lakewood Center Stauffer System salons.

Nationally known as a figure authority, Miss Walker has operated salons here and over the Southland for years and is launching a vast new program. She is the national figure authority for the world famous Stauffer system.

NO STARVATION

Women with problems are finding Miss Walker's figure control methods offers them a new way to reduce without suffering from effects of near starvation.

There is no secret to Miss Walker's success, for across the nation some 4 to 5 million women from ages 14 to 84 have been given a new figure and no secret could be maintained by that multitude of happy women.

The key to the success—or secret if you wish to call it that—is in losing where the loss is needed and in firming and toning the tissue to retain the new figure.

DIET WON'T DO IT

"Under a rigid diet program women will lose weight," says Miss Walker. "But they won't lose it in all the places they should.

"Perhaps the waistline may shrink from hunger but the bulging hips, large thighs, thick ankles and sway back remain after dieting.

"Under our system we accept each individual as a separate figure problem. We chart the course necessary and go to work. First there is a figure analysis. Then we provide the scientific treatments to give a woman the loss where she needs to lose and to tone and firm the muscles and improve circulation where needed.

SENSIBLY

"When we speed the circulation we increase the metabolism beyond the food intake. Therefore, there is no need for a starvation diet. Naturally any woman should eat sensibly, but she doesn't have to starve."

Miss Walker invites all women, no matter their age, to come in for a free trial treatment and figure analysis. At that time you will be told where you are going to lose, how long it will take, how many treatments you will need and exactly how much it will cost. We will answer personal questions without any charge or obligation.

You will find that each treatment is relaxing and restful and even if you have no weight or figure problem, the treatments are designed to relax and soothe the nerves of any woman whether she's a tired working girl, housewife or grandmother.

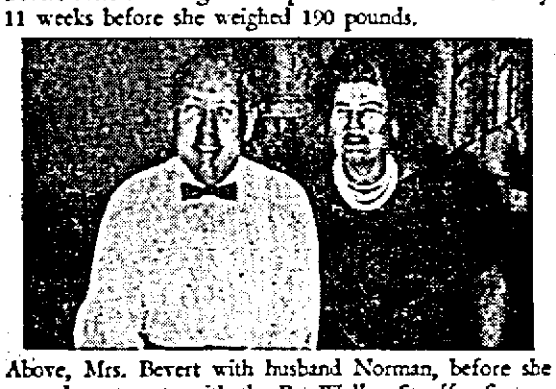

The salons feature privacy and the treatments are only $2. For further information you can reach Miss Walker at HEmlock 2-2973 or MEtcalf 4-0672.

"Im losing in all the right places and I'm so enthused because I've lost over 4½ inches off of each thigh and I've lost 3 inches off my tummy. I've lost 2 inches off each arm. In fact, it is really beginning to show in my clothes and I've only been taking treatments for a few weeks." — Hazel Olshesfski, Honolulu.

Long Beach Woman Was Ashamed of Her Figure

Above, Mrs. Bevert with husband Norman, before she started treatments with the Pat Walker Stauffer System. She weighed 190 pounds and wanted to shut her eyes when passing full-length mirrors.

as told by CATHERINE BEVERT
728 Cherry Ave., Long Beach

"It's true! I'm over 30 and this is happening to me."

"My name is Catherine Bevert. I live in Long Beach at 728 Cherry Ave. and I'm proud to say I'm a patron of the Pat Walker Stauffer System.

"Recently I was photographed with Miss Walker and I am wearing a size 14 dress. I'm married to a wonderful man, so wonderful he was instrumental in my going to see Miss Walker.

"About eleven weeks before, I saw an ad in the Press-Telegram showing what had happened to a lady who had taken treatments at Pat Walker's Stauffer System Salon. It just sounded too good to be true but having fought figure problems for so very long I decided to talk with them. My husband was all for my going — after all he's like every man who admires a pretty figure. Well, anyway, I went to the phone and called them. The person I spoke with invited me to come for a courtesy treatment and a figure analysis. She told me at that time they would show me how pleasant it is to reduce with their method; that I did not have to disrobe and they would tell me how many treatments I would need, what it would cost and how long it would take.

"I made an appointment to go at night because I'm an office manager and work days. My husband drove me to see them. They did just what they said they would. I had a treatment and believe me it was so relaxing and pleasant that I was most impressed.

"I almost forgot to say that before going to Pat Walker's Stauffer System Salon, I weighed 190 pounds. When I was photographed with Miss Walker I weighed 142 pounds. But what's really great is that I'm losing it where I need to lose it.

"I really didn't realize that there were so many other women with the same problem as I had. I hope by seeing me some of them are helped. Miss Walker told me the next time I was photographed with her I would be down to my real dress size. That's a 12 . . . and I know I will.

"My husband says I'm looking younger and prettier by the day. I told Miss Walker I would like to tell other women how I feel about the results I'm having. She thanked me and said that would be very nice of me.

"So now you know how I feel and the best part is that I'm not even finished. It's nice when I pass a full-length mirror not to want to shut my eyes.

—Catherine Bevert.

Pat Walker Says:

(NATIONAL FIGURE AUTHORITY)

Most women are happy to know that under our figure correction program there is no starvation diet.

* * *

Not only do we remove unwanted fat where needed, but we firm and tone the tissue so the body holds the new contour.

* * *

We consider each woman as an individual case for no two women have figure problems alike. Age is no barrier if a woman decides she wants to improve her figure.

* * *

A perfect figure is every woman's most valuable asset and every woman can have it with proper guidance.

* * *

We offer all women a free trial treatment and figure analysis and we will inform them how long it will take to make their figure corrections.

* * *

Women who have no figure problem find our treatments tone their bodies, relax them and sooth the nerves without creating a false appetite.

* * *

Nearly all women have a good figure in their youth. When their figure problems start they have a tendency to slump and poor posture creates problems in the abdomen, hips, thighs and other areas. Nature did not intend it that way.

* * *

The real joy of this business is to hear a woman say, "thank you" on her last treatment of her program. We have earned a good friend and producing results is the best endorsement for our system. This you cannot buy.

* * *

There is no excuse for figure problems today. In our grandmother's day, maybe yes, but not now.

Free Trial Treatment and Figure Analysis

Under Pat Walker's scientific, personalized guidance, women can slim down as quickly and easily as told by the women here. Over 5 million women have successfully reduced with this service.

"I Hardy Believe I'm Same Person"

"I don't have any bulges now; I lost 4 inches off my waist, 5 inches off my hips, 3½ inches off each thigh and the "over-the-bra" bulges. My family and friends hardly believe I am the same person. The best part of it all is that it hasn't made me haggard and drawn looking." — Mrs. Frances Robertson, Long Beach.

What Others Say:

Here are a few quotations from the hundreds of grateful letters received from women who have taken the Pat Walker's Stauffer System treatments:

"I lost 22 pounds and 34 inches overall. I lost where I needed to lose — including four inches from my waist, three inches from each thigh and six inches from my abdomen. My family says I look 10 years younger and my new figure has put me on top of the world."—Mrs. Ruth Rundlett, Los Angeles.

"Life is so wonderful again. For years my dress size was an unattractive 40. Today it is a trim 12. I lost 67 pounds without dieting . . . without exercise. It was easy. I owe everything to Miss Walker."—Mrs. Grace Fundler, Los Angeles.

"In two months I reduced 19 pounds and trimmed 21 inches from my figure measurements. Aches and pains are gone and I feel wonderful." — Mrs. Jeanette Weinberg, Hollywood.

For many years, it seems like forever, I was hiding my figure under a boxy suit or coat, huge handbags and full skirts. My problems were all from the waist down. I had given up slacks and told everyone I didn't like the beach when the real truth was I was ashamed to wear a bathing suit.

I'm proud to say I'm finished with my treatments. Now I wear a size 10 dress. Before I wore a 16. I had to because my hips and thighs were so bulgy. I lost 7 inches in my hips and 5 inches on each thigh and my legs look decent again. — Mrs. Jackie Stevens, Long Beach.

Honolulu Woman Tells How She Is Reducing

Mother of four children, Vicki Cruz of 128 Prospect Street, Honolulu, Hawaii, discusses her analysis and program with Miss Pat Walker in the Honolulu salon.

As told by Vicki Cruz—

"My name is Mrs. Vicki Cruz. I live at 128 Prospect Street, Honolulu. I am a native of Hawaii. I was born in Honolulu—it's my home and I love it. When I told Miss Walker that I loved Honolulu she said she could easily understand it because she thought it would be a beautiful place to live. I'm a housewife. I work but at home. Four children keep me very busy, but as hard as I've worked at that, it never helped me to reduce. My husband is a heavy equipment operator here in Honolulu. I really love going to the Salon for my treatments. Long ago I began to think nothing would help to reduce me and at that time I was really worried because I weighed over 200 pounds. When I found out the Salon had opened here I thought I would go talk to somebody. I called the number I saw in the newspaper and they told me to come in and they would see what my problems were. I told them I had lots of problems. They were all over and they told me not to worry. Just come in and so we made an appointment.

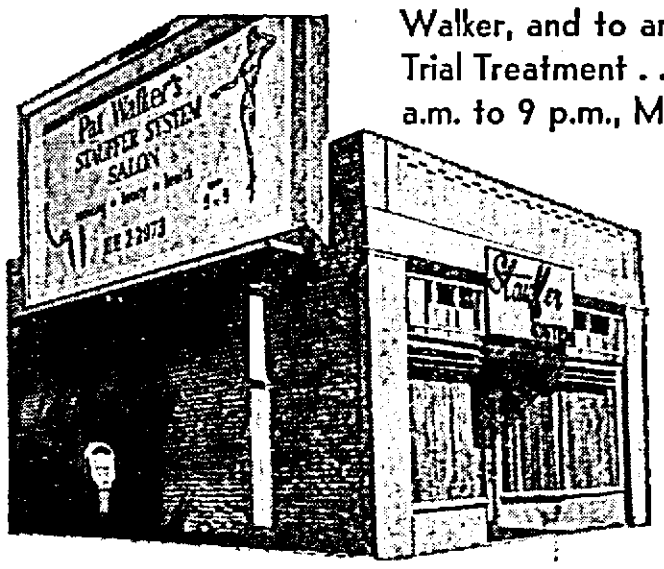

"I am taking treatments in the Salon now. I really feel wonderful. I'm losing and every week shows great signs that I'm well on my way to a good figure. My clothes are needing altering, but I'm going to wait until I've lost even more. In just a short time I've lost over 17 pounds, 3½ inches in the waist, 4 inches in the tummy, 2½ inches on each thigh, 2 inches on each arm and of course I've lost other places that I needed it too.

"One of these days I'm going to wear a muu muu, not to hide my figure, but just because I feel like wearing one. Miss Walker told me that should not be too far off."—Vicki Cruz.

IN PERSON! IN LONG BEACH & LAKEWOOD CENTER SALONS!

Due to many requests for a personal consultation with Miss Walker, she will be available by appointment, in the Lakewood Center and Downtown Long Beach Salons. This is your opportunity to get advice about your very own figure problems from the nationally recognized figure authority.

Movieland Stages Oscar Awards Show Monday

HOLLYWOOD — The eyes and ears of the world will turn toward Hollywood Monday night when "Oscar" steps back into the spotlight for the 35th time.

Millions will be watching and listening off-stage when the Annual Awards of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences are presented before filmdom's top personalities at the Civic Auditorium in Santa Monica.

Frank Sinatra will emcee the presentation which will disclose the results of secret balloting by the Academy's 2,000 voting members for outstanding achievements in all branches of motion picture production during 1962.

The two-hour affair will start at 7 p.m., Channel 7.

INCLUDED in the list of presenters are all four of last year's acting winners—Maximilian Schell, Sophia Loren, George Chakiris and Rita Moreno.

The other award-winning presenters are Joan Crawford, Bette Davis, Olivia de Havilland, Van Heflin, Karl Malden, Donna Reed, Ginger Rogers, Eva Marie Saint, Frank Sinatra (in addition to serving as emcee he will also present the best song award), Miyoshi Umeki, Shelley Winters and Joanne Woodward.

Lending an international note will be the presentation of the coveted Foreign Language Film Award by Academy president, Wendell Corey.

Nominees in the top six categories are:

BEST PICTURE — "Lawrence Of Arabia," "The Longest Day," "The Music Man," "Mutiny On The Bounty," "To Kill A Mockingbird."

BEST ACTOR — Burt Lancaster, "Birdman Of Alcatraz"; Jack Lemon, "Days Of Wine And Roses"; Marcello Mastroianni, "Divorce, Italian Style"; Peter O'Toole, "Lawrence of Arabia"; Gregory Peck, "To Kill A Mockingbird."

BEST ACTRESS — Anne Bancroft, "The Miracle Worker"; Bette Davis, "Whatever Happened To Baby Jane?"; Katharine Hepburn, "Long Day's Journey Into Night"; Geraldine Page, "Sweet Bird Of Youth;" Lee Remick, "Days Of Wine And Roses."

BEST SUPPORTING ACTOR—Ed Begley, "Sweet Bird Of Youth"; Victor Buono, "Whatever Happened To Baby Jane?"; Telly Savalas, "Birdman Of Alcatraz"; Omar Sharif, "Lawrence of Arabia"; Terence Stamp, "Billy Budd."

BEST SUPPORTING ACTRESS — Mary Badham, "To Kill A Mockingbird"; Patty Duke, "The Miracle Worker"; Shirley Knight, "Sweet Bird Of Youth"; Angela Lansbury, "The Manchurian Candidate"; Thelma Ritter, "Birdman Of Alcatraz."

BEST DIRECTOR — Frank Perry, "David And Lisa"; Pietro Germi, "Divorce, Italian Style"; David Lean, "Lawrence of Arabia"; Arthur Penn, "The Miracle Worker"; Robert Mulligan, "To Kill A Mockingbird."

Looker from Texas

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Charlene Holt is a looker from Texas who used to go to the movies and drool over Rock Hudson.

"I admit it," says the statuesque model. "I loved him."

Anyone as good looking as Charlene was bound to leave Abilene, Tex., for either New York or Hollywood. Charlene went to New York first and before long made good as a model.

• • • •

ONE night director Howard Hawks saw her on a television commercial. Then he picked up a magazine the same night and saw her again.

His scouts got busy, located her, and in a matter of hours she was on a jet for Hollywood, headed for a sound stage to make torrid love with Rock.

"I couldn't believe it," she recalls. "Here I was looking right into those beautiful, soft brown eyes. I haven't landed on earth since."

• • • •

ALTHOUGH she had never acted before—except in commercials—Charlene is now Rock's leading lady in "Man's Favorite Sport."

Her ravishing good looks somehow make it unbelievable that the movie title refers to fishing.

Hawks has signed her for three more movies. Hudson personally has signed her as the first contract player in his own company.

• • • •

SHE HAD studied acting in New York while modeling.

"Mostly, I worked with voice teachers to lose my Texas accent. I did."

But, with typical Hollywood irony, her name in the movie is Tex—and she's got her accent back.

CHARLOTTE HOLT—Under Contract

Talman and Porter Score at Magnolia

By DAVE TAYLOR

Motion picture and TV star William Talman teams up with a strong supporting cast to have a field day in an outstanding current Magnolia Theatre production of Garson Kanin's comedy, "Born Yesterday."

In Hollywood he's just plain old stuffy TV District Attorney Ham Burger—the brunt of Perry Mason's courtroom brilliance. But in Long Beach he gets to be an actor.

As hard-headed, loud mouth, junk yard tycoon Harry Brock, Talman demonstrates how lightly the "tube" has tapped his talent for characterization—and for comedy in particular.

• • • •

BUT HE'S crowded into his own half of the spotlight by Dorene Porter who creates as densely delightful a Billie Dawn as ever uttered a double negative.

Under the skilful direction of Pat Brown, "Born Yesterday" has three acts of fun at the expense of millionaire-bully Brock who pushes the world around until it falls on him when he makes the mistake of trying to educate his "dumb broad," Billie.

• • • •

THE TWO stars get solid support from Ronan Hogue, Carl Yates, and Frank Keith in the respective roles of Paul Verrall, Billie's intellectual prince charming; Ed Devery, Brock's wiley attorney; and bewildered, corrupt Senator Hedges.

Filling out the cast are Grace Shaw, Tom Loven, Dick Pilcher, Fran Boston, Paul Butler, Benny Stevenson and Elaine Herman.

Ann-Margaret Dates Fisher and Couple of Other Guys

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Ann-Margret is coming to another milestone in a few days—another birthday.

"And how old are you going to be?" I naively asked her a few afternoons ago at the Four Seasons.

"I'm going to be a year older," the young lady replied.

Actually, she's going to be 22, which she seems to regard as elderly. Convinced as I am that she'll be one of the great talents of the screen by the time she's 25, and therefore much headlined, I pelted her with impertinent questions about her personal life, such as:

ANN-MARGARET

• • • •

"WHAT ABOUT you and Eddie Fisher getting married?"

"Im dating three boys." She looked at me somewhat sourly from under her wide-brimmed hat. "A singer, an agent and a publisher."

The singer was Eddie, the agent was Jack Gilardi, and the music publisher was Lou Adler, who seemed to have a corner on the market when she was here telling the world about "Bye Bye Birdie."

"I did hear, though," I remarked, "that Jack Gilardi was No. 1."

"Oh, really?" She smiled—tightly and gave me a Swedish stare.

BORN IN Sweden, brought here by her parents when she was six, "discovered" by George Burns and Jack Benny in Las Vegas when she was a teenaged singer, Ann-Margret was rushed into "Pocketful of Miracles," then "State Fair" and now "Bye Bye Birdie."

"Why did you decide to call yourself just Ann-Margret instead of Ann-Margret Olson?" I asked.

"I wanted to keep my parents out of any bad publicity."

"You feel sure you're going to get some?"

"Oh, sure! Not everybody is going to like you. And I think everybody gets in the headlines at some point in a career."

• • • •

BUT IT seemed that Ann-Margret was least likely to get into print outside the amusement pages. For her hobbies are fairly simple ones, like riding a motorcycle.

"A gentleman gave me a motorcycle," she said. "I live in a canyon. When I get bored or moody, I get on the motorcycle and ride the curves."

"With this fellow who gave you the motorcycle?"

"I'm not going to talk about personal things!" she announced.

Seckler's Band Back at Hotel

The "big band sound" of Stan Seckler's seven-piece dance orchestra will return Monday night to the Skyroom of the Breakers International Hotel.

Steve Miller, hotel executive, said the band's first appearance last Monday was so well received that the engagement will be repeated.

DO WE DARE place national defense on a percentage basis?

The future workload of all naval shipyards is threatened because of proposed legislation pending before Congress. The Long Beach Naval Shipyard Employees Association requests that YOU — each individual — protest the passage of Section 541 of the Budget of the United States Government for Fiscal Year ending June 30, 1964. Use facts set forth on this page if you wish, but WRITE YOUR OWN LETTER. Address it to any one, or several, of the Members of Congress listed below.

Long Beach Naval Shipyard Employees' Association, Inc.

1423 WALNUT AVENUE
LONG BEACH 13, CALIFORNIA

March 22, 1963

Honorable George H. Mahon
Chairman, Defense Appropriations Subcommittee
House Office Building
Washington, D. C.

My dear Mr. Mahon:

We are seriously concerned with the provisions of the Appropriation Act of last year which provided a split of funds for repair and overhaul of naval vessels, making at least 35% available for private shipyards, and the possibility of a similar provision being included in the 1964 Appropriation Act.

We are alarmed that the language of the existing and proposed legislation does not require that this work will be accomplished by American workmen in an American shipyard. The Puget Sound Bridge and Dry Dock Company has set a dangerous precedent by subcontracting a major part of conversion of two fleet oilers to a Japanese shipyard.

Preferential treatment for private shipyards has caused reduction in force at Long Beach Naval Shipyard and other naval shipyards around the country. We would like to prevent further trends in this direction.

In fiscal 1962, private shipyards were given approximately one and three quarter billion dollars of Navy work. In fiscal 1963, private shipyards were allocated two and one quarter billion dollars of Navy repair, conversion, and new construction work.

This clearly indicates a trend that is decreasing the amount of work available to Long Beach Naval Shipyard and other Navy shipyards.

The Navy needs flexibility in its conversion and overhaul work and must have it to retain a balance of skilled craftsmen available at all times. The proposed legislation would deny this all-important element in our defense program.

Let's not put National Defense on a percentage basis.

We solicit your efforts to delete from the Appropriations Bill any split of overhaul and repair money.

Yours very truly,
Frank Fisher

Here are salient reasons why we should NOT . . .

1. Readiness—For efficiency's sake alone, a diversion of 35% of the work performed in Naval Shipyards to private shipyards is not justifiable. It is vital that Naval shipyards be kept in readiness for emergencies (such as the Berlin and Cuban crises in recent memory). This factor is not to be found in private shipyards.

2. Economy—Although private shipyards claim ability to accomplish for less the repair, conversion and construction jobs Naval shipyards have been doing for many years, this is not the fact. No economy to the taxpayer has been proven, although economy was claimed as one of the reasons for the requirement.

3. Flexibility—A split of the work takes away one of the Navy's important tools—flexibility. The Navy maintains thousands of highly skilled craftsmen and it must continue their employment in the interest of defense. Private shipyards have no rosters of similarly capable men.

4. Balance—Naval shipyards need a bigger share of new construction. This volume, added to repair and conversion jobs, makes it possible for the Navy to retain skills of its craftsmen in the defense program at the smallest possible cost to the taxpayer.

5. Crew Morale—Naval shipyards have facilities to take care of crews while ships are being worked on. Many times the crew must eat and sleep off the ship during the progress of a job. Recreation facilities also are provided.

6. Work Control—Naval ships have operating schedules which have to be met. Our Navy has to be ready to fight. Strikes that can slow or halt work at private yards are not a consideration at Naval shipyards.

7. Modifications—Changes in the work, accomplished routinely at Naval shipyards, invariably result in extra charges at private yards. Fear of these extra charges has, in some cases, resulted in a ship emerging with obsolete equipment or lacking needed alterations. Inefficiency. Loss of time. "Extra charges" for taxpayers.

8. Speed—Not only does the Naval Shipyard do its work faster, it does it better. A recent collision between the USS Collette and the USS Amen was speedily repaired by men thoroughly familiar with such repairs and these ships were back in service in short order, fit to fight.

9. Inspection—Naval inspection teams (at heavy cost to taxpayers) must be maintained near private shipyards for regular inspection of work in progress. Inspection teams are "built in" at Naval shipyards, without causing an additional tax burden.

10. Necessity—Naval shipyards are a part of the Navy. They are a military necessity. They represent an enormous taxpayer investment in facilities vital to the Navy's operation. To significantly reduce the employment level of these establishments would increase the ratio of overhead cost to productive labor cost to the disadvantage of the taxpayer.

Here Is the Unhealthy Trend That Impairs Our Navy's Efficiency:

Parks Plan Fun for Vacationers

A fun-filled week awaits spring-vacationing Long Beach young people.

Activities locally include planned projects for kids of all ages in Long Beach parks, according to Bob Van Antwerp, assistant director of the recreation department.

Day-by-day schedules will be posted at each park, with the Big Easter Egg Hunt set for every park on Saturday at 1 p.m.

Easter Sunrise services atop Mt. Ada on Catalina Island will climax a week of activities and organized parties for the teen-agers spending school vacation in Avalon, the chamber of commerce there advises.

And a gala dinner-dance in the Casino Ballroom Saturday night will provide entertainment for adults visiting the island.

Easter programs will be presented throughout the week at 42 Los Angeles County parks and playgrounds — including nine in the Long Beach area.

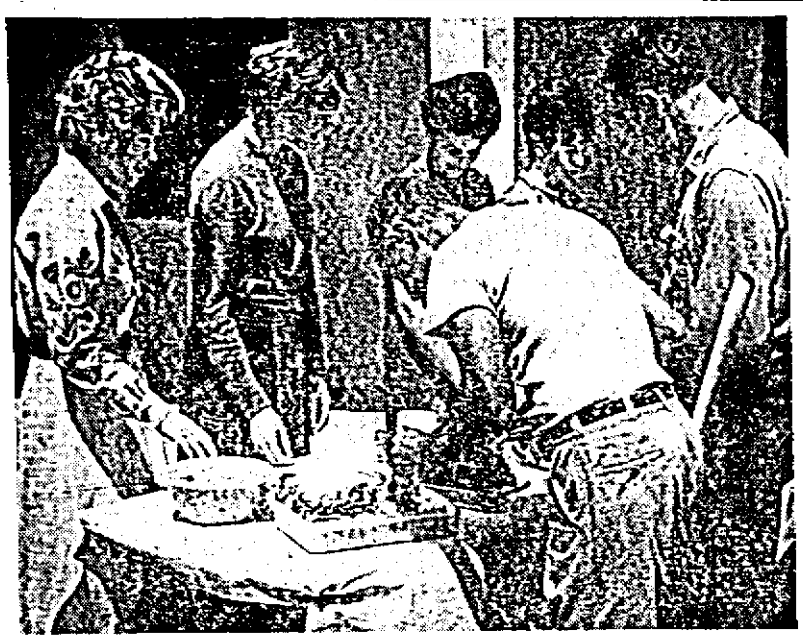

For young children, Easter-egg hunts will be held in almost all parks. First of the local programs will be Thursday at 2 p.m. in Bloomfield Park, 21420 Pioneer Blvd., Artesia.

Campanella Park, 14812 Stanford Ave., Compton, will hold a "tiny tots" program Friday at 10 a.m. and an Easter program Saturday at 2 p.m.

Others programs Saturday include: Artesia Park, 11931 E. South St., at 2 p.m.; Alondra Park, 3612 W. Manhattan Beach Blvd., Lawndale, 10 a.m.; Enterprise Park, 13055 Clovis Ave., Compton, 11 a.m.

Mona Park, 2291 E. 121st St., Compton, 11 a.m.; Scott Park, 23410 Catskill Ave., Wilmington, 9:30 a.m.; Victoria Park, 19101 Towne Ave., Gardena, 10 a.m.

On Sunday, Lomita Park, 24428 Eshelman Ave., Lomita, will hold an Easter-egg hunt at 10 a.m.

LUNCH FOR 'Y' VOLUNTEERS

Members of the Women's Division of the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce serve lunch Saturday to 11 volunteers from the Long Beach-Orange County Division of the California Landscape Engineers Association at the North Long Beach YMCA. The men contributed a day's work on the 'Y' grounds as part of the Long Beach "City Beautiful" program.

L.A. County Crops Bring $79-Millions

L. P-T Los Angeles Bureau

Agricultural crops in Los Angeles County in 1962 showed a gain in valuation of more than $5 million over the preceding year, Kenneth L. Wolff, county agricultural commissioner reported.

Harvest from 130,390 acres resulted in gross returns of $79,243,600, with nursery stock and cut flowers the major item, accounting for $38,232,000 of the total, Wolff said.

Citrus products ranked second with a total of $9,550,000 returned from 10,384 acres. Although Valencia oranges and grapefruit declined slightly, this was offset by higher yields in navel oranges and a gain in lemon production.

'Exercise Illiteracy' Scathed

"The invention of the soft-top beer can was very timely," a space physician who takes a dim view of the strength of Americans told 2,000 delegates to a conference here on physical education.

Dr. Toby Freedman warned the joint Southwest District and the California Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation that the average American is in a dangerous state of flabbiness.

* * * *

"MOST OF our population is made up of physical-education illiterates," he said. "The popular current is against exercise. This is evidenced by the overwhelming commercial field selling luxury.

"A realistic reason for maintaining physical fitness is to have a better, more realistic life." He suggested that hiking and bicycle riding are good exercises to start with.

* * * *

HE SAID that the notion that exercise does not reduce weight is a fallacy.

Dr. Freedman urged parents to inculcate exercise habits in their children from the beginning. He praised those sports which carry over, from youth to all ages, such as tennis.

Dr. Freedman is director of life science, medical director and flight surgeon at North American Aviation, Downey.

New Frigate Down Ways in New Jersey

CAMDEN, N. J. (AP) — The USS Richmond K. Turner, a guided-missile frigate, was launched Saturday at the New York Shipbuilding Corp. yard.

The vessel is the second of its type launched at this big shipyard, measuring 533 by 53 feet and displacing about 7,500 tons.

Besides carrying surface-to-air Terrier missile-launchers fore and aft, she will be armed with an anti-submarine rocket system and two triple torpedo tubes. The engineering plant is conventional.

Cadillac

NO TICKET—JUST ANOTHER ADMIRER!

It's nothing new to this Cadillac owner.

In fact, anyone who spends much time in a 1963 Cadillac grows happily accustomed to admiring glances and comments from the people around him.

For this is the best-liked, most looked-at, most talked-about Cadillac ever built. And the reasons are easy to see.

The car's lively, youthful beauty is refreshingly new in a car of such majesty and stature. This outward beauty, of course, tempts many a passer-by to glance inside—into the luxury of Cadillac's meticulous new Fleetwood coachcrafting.

And when the conversation starts—well, what owner could resist describing the effortless response of the car's new engine. Or the remarkable quiet and smoothness afforded by its new true-center drive line. Or the extraordinary confidence he feels in Cadillac's exclusive triple braking system.

In fact, the list of Cadillac virtues—and Cadillac talking points—is longer and more varied this year than it has ever been.

Why not visit your dealer soon and see for yourself? He has a beautiful 1963 Cadillac ready for your inspection . . . demonstration . . . pricing . . . and ownership.

Take the wheel—and get ready to be admired!

27 Entered in Race for City Council

With two filing days remaining, 27 have entered the May 14 Long Beach primary for nine council seats and the offices of attorney, auditor and prosecutor.

No opposition has appeared for Vice Mayor Bert B. Bond, 2nd District, Attorney Gerald Desmond, Auditor Murray T. (Ted) Courson or Prosecutor James T. Starr.

• • • •

ROBERT F. CROW, 7th District incumbent, has not yet filed but says he will by Tuesday's deadline. Virgil H. Spongberg, 9th District, will not seek re-election.

Voter registration for the May 14 primary closed last month. Registration for the final will close Thursday.

Except for uncontested council races, the primary voting is to decide the two top vote-getters in each council district, and voting on them is limited to the candidates within the district. In the June 4 final, however, voters may ballot on all nine council seats.

• • • •

THE VOTE for attorney, auditor and prosecutor is citywide in the primary and the winner is determined by majority vote.

Another deadline for candidates is Friday when all declared candidates must submit nominating petitions signed by not fewer than 50 nor more than 75 qualified electors.

Beaches Use Fee Opposed

L. A. Times-L.A. Examiner Bureau

All public beaches should be open and free to all persons without limitation or restriction—in the opinion of the county recreation officials.

This reaffirmation of long-standing policy will be reported Tuesday to the Board of Supervisors by Milton B. Arthur, chairman of the county Parks and Recreation Commission.

County supervisors, in February, asked the commission for a review and recommendation on free use of public beaches. The action stemmed from reports that the City of Laguna Beach in Orange County, was considering a fee for beach use by non-residents of that city.

• • • •

"THE CALIFORNIA shoreline—especially in Southern California—is one of the most attractive and valuable regional recreational assets offered to the local residents as well as the tourists, and should be reserved to public ownership for the enjoyment and welfare of the populace," Arthur wrote.

"The Parks and Recreation Commission stands ready to support any effort that will guarantee the preservation and free use of our public beaches," he concluded.

Testimonial to R. F. Crow

Councilman Robert F. Crow, 7th District, will be honored at an invitational testimonial dinner at 7 p.m. Monday in Veterans Park Clubhouse, 101 E. 28th St.

A former Crow campaign manager, John D. Downing, said the dinner committee includes Maurice Johnson, president of the West Side Improvement Association, Mrs. Nelda Wentworth and Mrs. Carol Gracio.

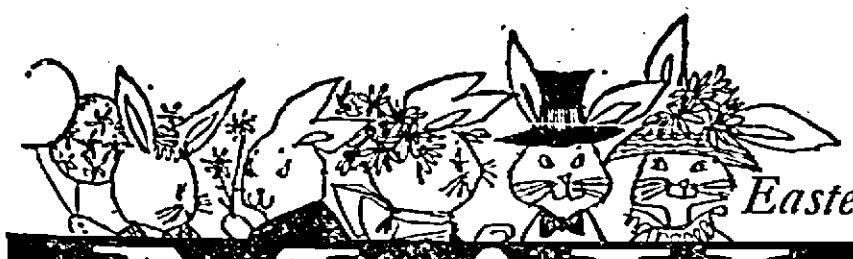

Collector of Customs D. Patrick Ahern, a former council colleague, will be master of ceremonies. Some 300 persons are expected to attend.

Furgol 2nd; Scores Soar as Storm Hits

By WILL GRIMSLEY

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Heavyweight Jack Nicklaus bulled through a harassing rain storm in 74 for a one-stroke lead at 214 and the comeback magic failed to work for defending champion Arnold Palmer Saturday in the third round of the Masters golf tournament.

Palmer, the man who performs fairways miracles, surged and then faded for a 73 and 220, which placed him

Channel 2, 1 p.m.

six shots off the pace. The other member of golf's renowned "big three," Gary Player of South Africa, had a 74 for 219.

The nearest man to the 23-year-old Nicklaus, the game's sensational sophomore, going into today's climactic round was a crippled old pro with a barrel of nerve, Ed Furgol, 46, who shot a 74 for 215.

* * * *

FURGOL'S LEFT arm is crooked and 8 inches shorter than his right, which also was damaged a few years ago in an automobile accident.

The drenching rain and cascading bogeys drowned the once bright hopes of big Mike Souchak, the 36-hole leader, and others who had been clustered near the top starting this wet, miserable day.

Souchak, hard luck man in three recent U.S. Opens, missed eight greens and failed to salvage his par at any one of them in shooting a nightmarish 79 for 218.

* * * *

HE WAS TIED at this spot with an implausible little Oriental—smiling, bashful Chen Ching-po, the king of the Far East, who chipped in on two greens and sank a 20-foot putt on another for a 71.

Jay Hebert, the handsome Louisiana Cajun who had been tied with Nicklaus at 140 just a shot back of Souchak at the halfway point, took a horrendous 81 for 221. After leading the field at the 45-hole mark, he took two double bogeys and four bogeys on the nine finishing

Dodgers Still Erring; Bo, Sandy Duel Today

By GEORGE LEDERER

Angels 4, Dodgers 3.

What does it prove? Well, for one, there is no doubt that the Dodgers are not in the same league. Warren Giles would be the first to agree.

There are some doubts about these Dodgers, however. Saturday's opener of what has become an uncivilized war was ever so reminiscent of the Dodgers' final home appearance of 1962.

The Dodgers were two outs away from victory and then blew the whole shooting match, just as they did to the Giants last Oct. 3. This one wasn't quite as expensive, but it was highly embarrassing.

Four Dodger errors contributed to three unearned Angel runs. Nate Oliver's bobble in the ninth inning produced the winning margin and a boot by Bill Skowron in the sixth accounted for two gift scores.

Bill Rigney, the Angels' master psychologist and manager, was in mid-season form on this, a sunny and pleasant afternoon for approximately one-third of the assembled 32,982. Rigney wore a path, from dugout to mound, into the fresh sod as he plotted strategy in the ninth inning.

Actually, Rigney set his thinking wheels in motion the previous evening at the baseball writers' annual dinner. He said he was happy to see Skowron out of the American League. And that goes double today.

"Moose is a real pain in the neck," was Rigney's praise Friday night, albeit slightly edited. Skowron blushed at the time, little realizing that he was to turn crimson again so soon.

Don Drysdale and Johnny Podres blanked the Angels on two singles until the sixth inning and the Dodgers still held a 3-2 edge going into the ninth. Dodger fans were on their way to the exits when Ron Perranoski retired George Thomas for the first out.

Angel partisans knew better, though. They sat tight and were rewarded with their seventh final-inning victory of the spring. Last year the Angels won 18 such contests.

Felix Torres began the winning rally with a single to right and Bob Sadowski ran for him. Jim Fregosi followed with a triple in the same direction and scored the winning run while Oliver juggled the relay.

Fregosi's line drive took a wicked hop in front of Ron Fairly, who slipped and thus allowed the ball to roll to the bullpen fence. Fregosi was turning the corner at third when Oliver muffed the throw for the Dodgers' 46th error in 26 exhibitions.

It wasn't Oliver's fault that the Dodgers didn't duplicate the Angels' last-at-bat magic. The rookie second baseman led off with a double against winner Danny Osinski, but third base was to be his last stop.

Willie Davis advanced Oliver by grounding to the right side. The Dodgers were in good shape, needing only a fly ball from the heart of the batting order to at least prolong the issue. This possibility was erased when batting champion Tommy Davis went down swinging for the second time.

Skowron was able to coax a walk that finished Osinski, but Jack Spring needed only one pitch to retire pinch-hitter Lee Walls for the game-ending out.

While the Angels (17-10) broke a three-game losing streak, the Dodgers (12-14) extended theirs to the same number.

The Dodgers did all their scoring in the first two innings, picking on Dean Chance, who was still out of gas after giving such an excuse for missing the baseball writers' dinner Friday.

Maury Wills, who had four

JIM FREGOSI tripled in tying run and scored winning run in Angels' 4-3 victory over Dodgers.

DODGER OF DAY

MAURY WILLS singled three times and reached base on four occasions as Dodgers bowed to Angels.

Angel Is Sorry for Rigney-- 'We Can Only Win in Ninth'

By ROSS NEWHAN

"Well, nothing has changed much," shouted Joe Koppe, a hero of last year's 6-5 Angel victory over the Dodgers and a dugout spectator at Saturday's 4-3 conquest. "I hope Rig has a silver lining on his stomach. We'll never learn how to win in any inning except the ninth."

The scene was the Angels' clubhouse moments after Southern California's American League representative had scored its seventh final-frame victory of the spring to retain the Mayor's Trophy, emblematic of city supremacy.

They had done it with typical cardiac precision. Down 3-2 going into the ninth, Felix Torres singled and Jim Fregosi laced a drive down the rightfield line which bounced past Ron Fairly. Fregosi was around third when Pee Wee Oliver received the relay, and he was home free when the Dodger rookie dropped the ball for his team's fourth error.

* * * *

"THIS HAS got to be my biggest thrill," warbled Fregosi, who turned 21 last Thursday. "I hit a sinker (off Ron Peranoski) and had no idea where the ball was when Rocky gave me the go-ahead at third. Normally I would have scored easy, but the new infield is soft and the ground gave way with each step."

"It was a risk sending him home with one out," said third base coach Rocky Bridges, "but the pitcher is up next and we've at least got the game tied."

The bottom of the ninth produced yet more tension.

Oliver redeemed his error with a leadoff double off Danny Osinski, who began his stint in the seventh. Willie Davis was then nailed on an infield grounder, Oliver moving to third.

Now National League batting king Tommy Davis was at the plate and Rigney at the mound.

"Bill told me that Davis was the best hitter on their

Lakers Lose, Try Tonight

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Veteran Cliff Hagan scored 19 points in the third period to spark a St. Louis rally and lead the Hawks to a 124-114 victory over the Lakers Saturday, evening their best of seven National Basketball Assn. playoff series at two games apiece.

The Lakers, who led 28-18 at the first quarter and 59-46 at the half, were held to five field goals and 12 free throws in St. Louis' 45-point third quarter.

Los Angeles closed to within three points in the final quarter but Bob Pettit and

The teams return to the L.A. Sports Arena tonight for an 8:30 p.m. game. Few tickets remain, the Lakers announced Saturday night.

Lenny Wilkens, who got 8 of his 17 points in the final five minutes, combined for 18 points to turn back the threat.

The capacity crowd, irate at five offensive foul calls on the Hawks in the first half, showered the court with trash. As referee Earl Strom was leaving the court after the game he was struck by a fan but was unhurt. Police rushed the fan from the arena.

The Hawks' Zelmo Beaty suffered an eye injury early in the second period when hit by the elbow of the Lakers' Jim Krebs. Beaty had three scratches but returned to action in the second half.

Beaty was taken to a hospital after the game. Beaty said "there was a scramble; he (Krebs) didn't mean it."

Hagan tallied 33 points before fouling out in the final period. Jerry West had 33 for the Lakers.

CELTICS CLIP CINCY

BOSTON (UPI) — Boston, scoring in torrid spurts on their home court for the first time in the playoffs, won 125-120 Saturday night for a 3-2 game lead over the Cincinnati Royals.

With Tom Heinsohn setting a big, 34-point pace, the Celtics trailed, 34-32, at the quarter but roared back for leads of 6 and 16 points at the periods in gaining the victory.

It was the first home-court win for either team in the NBA's best-of-seven Eastern Division final playoffs. The Celtics, seeking a fifth consecutive playoff crown, had lost twice here but won both games at Cincinnati.

Boston held Cincinnati shooting star Oscar Robertson to 11 points in the first half but the Royal ace shook loose to finish with 36 points.

The 162-Game Handicap

Today is the day when all good handicappers reveal their predictions on the forthcoming major league baseball races. Even the bad handicappers like us get into the act.

So, away we go!

Entry	Jockey	Comments	Odds*
National League
Dodgers (Alston)		Unlucky to lose last	7-5
Giants (Dark)		Just beat the top one	9-5
Reds (Hutchinson)		Hard to separate top three	3-1
Cardinals (Keane)		Will make them hustle	6-1
Braves (Bragan)		Best chance bet of day	15-1
Pirates (Murtaugh)		Youngster may need a race	8-1
Phillies (Mauch)		Served notice last start	20-1
Cubs (Kennedy, etc)		Figures to be among stragglers	50-1
Colts (Craft)		Not with this company	150-1
Mets (Stengel)		Should stay in the barn	1,000-1
American League
Yankees (Houk)		Should have no excuses	1-5
Angels (Rigney)		Excellent early workouts	10-1
Tigers (Scheffing)		Best a bold threat	5-1
Orioles (Hitchcock)		Ignore last, coming up to best	8-1
Twins (Mele)		Coming off excellent effort	10-1
Red Sox (Pesky)		Usualy sluggish in stretch	15-1
Indians (Tebbetts)		Good early speed, never lasts	20-1
White Sox (Lopez)		Driver best recommendation	20-1
Athletics (Lopat)		Out only for exercise	150-1
Senators (Vernon)		Will trail all the way	1,000-1

*Odds not from Las Vegas, Minneapolis nor New York. Strictly those of the handicapper.

THE ABOVE HANDICAP was concluded in this manner:

Dodgers—I'm afraid to bet on them or against them. They have the best talent, so I have to give them a shaky vote of confidence.

Giants—Their hitting is outstanding. Yet their pitching makes me nervous and they still have too many primadonnas.

Reds—Perhaps the best balanced club of all. But, beware of Bob Purkey's bad arm. They need him.

Cardinals—Pitching BIG question mark. But glance at this infield and outfield . . . and you have to give them a good chance.

Braves—Little to recommend over mediocre '62 campaign. But strictly a hunch bet that Bragan may do something with these oldtimers.

Pirates—Infield questionable because of youth. No power, either. Tab for future.

Phillies—An up-and-coming club. A first division possibility, but hardly likely to bother the top three.

Cubs—Too many chiefs and not enough Indians. Pitching is key to any success because hitting looks hopelessly puny.

Colts—They're building for future with some excellent rookies. They'll be spoilers all season, but little else.

Mets—Absolutely hopeless. Their "building" process consists entirely of castoffs. But—they'll be good for laughs again.

YANKEES—As solid as Rock of Gibraltar. Only chip in granite might be pitching, but don't take out a second mortgage against it.

Angels—Fine longshot stab. They seem steady all-around and pitching corps capable of being outstanding.

Tigers—Same as Reds in other leagues. Well-balanced and should be season-long contender UNLESS Frank Lary doesn't respond again.

Orioles—Could be the big surprise. Winter trades make them appear far superior to last year's dismal seventh place finish.

Twins—Pitching still question mark. But power and defense big assets.

Red Sox—They'll hit a lot of home runs, but so will the opponents. Too many question marks.

Indians—Sole hope is pitching, which could be very good. If not, woe is woe.

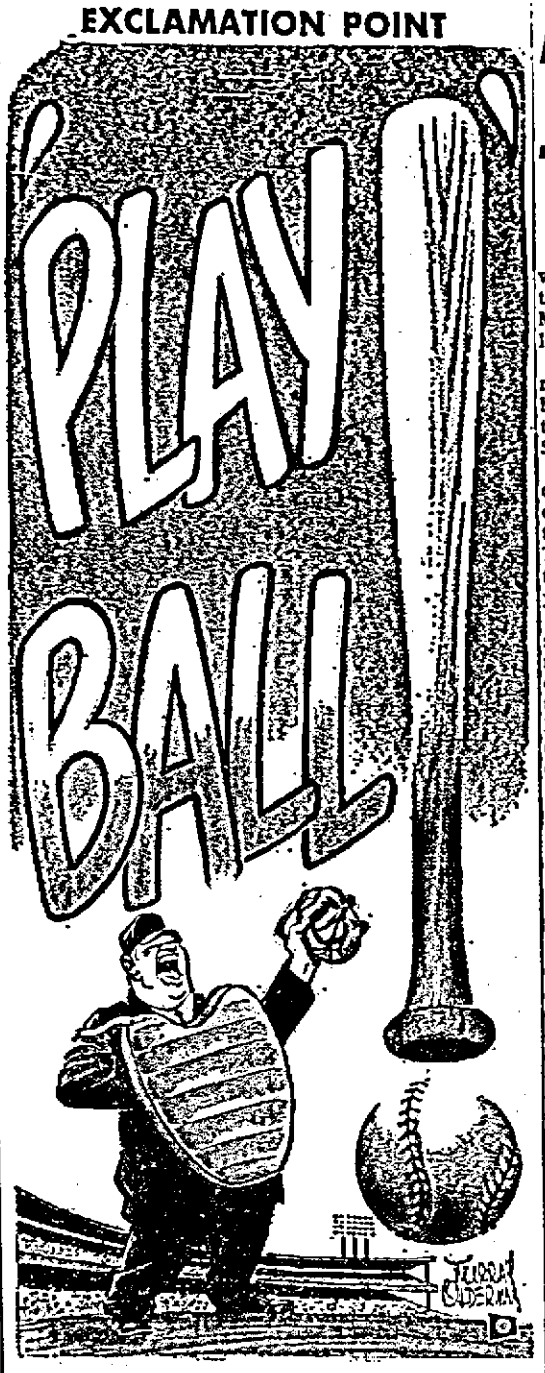

White Sox—Their old men are getting older. Only recommendation is wily Al Lopez. Otherwise they boast nothing.

Athletics—Another castoff organization. New green-and-gold uniforms their only bright outlook.

Senators—Future appears as dismal as Mets. Only hope is to beat out A's.

P.S. Please don't clip this piece and return it on October 1st!

EXCLAMATION POINT

NL Race Is Wide Open —but Dodgers Will Win

By GEORGE LEDERER

This is the time of year when I wish I were covering the American League. Our Mr. Newhan and his colleagues have it made.

What I mean is, they don't need a slide rule, a ouija board or a crystal ball to pick the Yankees first and the Senators last.

There are, of course, a few oddballs who will risk the chance of becoming heroes at the expense of being fools. These gents have had opportunities twice in the last 14 years.

In the National League such opportunity arises annually. Because the league is dedicated to the proposition that all teams—save the Mets, Colts and Cubs—are created equal, the prognosticators' race to the dunce cap is wide open.

(And before there are any pointed remarks, I will admit I have worn mine for five years running.)

• • • •

TO ATTAIN an expert's rating in the National League is as difficult as getting a parking ticket in your own driveway. There are, for instance, such fickle factors as the wind currents of Candlestick Park, the candlestick lighting in Houston, the Blue Law of Philadelphia and the Vern Law of Pittsburgh.

Form charts in the National League serve a useful purpose only at a fashion show. Only four clubs have won consecutive pennants in the last 21 years, Milwaukee being the last to do so in 1957 and 1958.

Since then, the Dodgers rose from seventh to the top in 1959, the Pirates from fourth to first in 1960, the Reds from sixth to first in 1961 and the Giants from third to a victory in the final inning of the playoffs last year.

So much for the background which, in this case, is as good a synonym as any for alibi. Now, the breathlessly awaited pennant prognosis for 1963:

Toss the Dodgers, Giants, Reds and Cardinals into a tall hat, shake well and your chances of picking a winner should be about 4-1, provided you don't peek.

My pick is the Dodgers, who came within two outs of taking all the marbles last year. Should they take the gas pipe again, I can always find solace in the immortal words of the man who made the tall hat popular:

LEDERER

"The world will little note, nor long remember what we say here . . ."

The Dodgers' table of contents features strong pitching, speed unmatched, power more than adequate, but a defense that has been and still is on the shaky side. Every bit as important as the table of contents is the index, in this case the index finger of strikeout king Sandy Koufax.

• • • •

FROM ALL indications, Koufax is 100 per cent healthy, an outstanding prospect to become a 20-game winner and to regain his league strikeout title from teammate Don Drysdale.

Without the crippling injury to Koufax, or, for that matter, to Pete Richert, the Dodgers would not have been forced into a playoff last year. That they turned the race into a dead heat with the loss of two key pitchers and a year-long problem at third base is to their credit.

The third base problem remains to be solved, but it can't be worse than last year when five men ran a shuttle relay to that station.

Another question may be the inexperience of Nate Oliver at second base, but the youngster performed well enough in the spring to erase most of the doubt. As long as Jim Gilliam, Don Zimmer and Dick Tracewski lurk as shadows, the situation appears well in hand.

• • • •

A SUMMARY of National League clubs in order of selection:

1—DODGERS: Pitching should be even better than last year with Koufax and Richert available all the way and Bob Miller offsetting the trade of Stan Williams. Outstanding bullpen headed by Ron Perranoski and Ed Roebuck. Four of the league's top stars in MVP Maury Wills, batting and RBI champion Tommy Davis, ERA leader Koufax and Cy Young Award winner Drysdale. Defense could be better.

2—GIANTS: Pitching excellent with starters Jack Sanford, Juan Marichal, Billy Pierce, Billy O'Dell and Jack Fisher. Bullpen tied in class with Dodgers. Power galore from Willie Mays, Orlando Cepeda, Willie McCovey and Felipe Alou. Berick still a question mark, although improved with versatile Joe Amalfitano.

3—REDS: Even without George Crowe, an important member of 1961 champions. Cincy finished only 3½ games behind Giants last year. Similar finish possible this year only if Bob Purkey recovers from spring arm trouble. With Purkey, pitching ranks with best in league. Bench strong with Wally Post and Jerry Lynch as pinch-hitters. May have outstanding rookie in centerfielder Tommy Harper. Vada Pinson, injured much of spring, isn't the Pinson of old.

Diathermy Treatment

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—The Chicago White Sox sent Floyd Robinson, their leading batter last year, back to Chicago Saturday for diathermy treatments for a pain in his hip.

4—CARDINALS: Could be the league's darkhorse club. Important changes made with Dick Groat at shortstop and George Altman in right field. May have given up too much pitching by trading 14-game winner Larry Jackson. Return of Ray Sadecki to winning form a must if club is to make serious pennant challenge.

5—PHILLIES: Most improved team in league should be good enough to move up at least two notches from last fall. Except for Roy Sievers at first base and Don Hoak at third, club is young and hungry. Outfield of Don Demeter, Tony Gonzalez and John Callison rec[eived] take back seat to any. Outside of starter Art Mahaffey and reliever Jack Baldschun, pitching remains unpredictable.

6—BRAVES: Too many problems to rate higher, despite standouts Hank Aaron, Ed Mathews, Del Crandall and Warren Spahn. Pitching is young behind Spahn and Lew Burdette, while rest of club is aging. Must depend on Al Dark acquisitions Don Dillard and TY Cline to help Aaron in outfield.

7—PIRATES: Another unpredictable club. Has deepest pitching staff, but only in name. Vern Law and Joe Gibbon have sore arms. Don Cardwell had arm trouble last year. Three-fourths of infield Dick Groat, Dick Schofield, 3b, and Bob Bailey, 1b, is untested. Don Schwall should help bullpen pitching, but Roy Face seems much[?] terrific load to buttress.

8—CUBS: Pitching improved with addition of Larry Jackson. Bob Buhl eventually from the start and Glen Hobbie apparently back to form. But it will take more than an athletic director and a dozen coaches to perform miracles at Wrigley Field.

9—COLTS: Not much change from last year. Contained NL batting champion Frank Robinson (.323), but sacrificed power in trading Roman Mejias.

10—METS: Defense appears much better than last year and Duke Snider will add power. Some of the young pitchers can throw hard, but lack the necessary aim. The Mets are still the Mets.

BASEBALL NOT 'DYING GAME' --FORD FRICK

By FORD C. FRICK
Commissioner of Baseball

NEW YORK (UPI) — Those of us who are devoted to baseball must laugh at the unwarranted claims that this is a "dying" game.

As a matter of fact, baseball is healthier and more popular than ever.

More than 25-million persons watched major league baseball during 1962.

We are looking forward to another boom season, but even if attendance fell by 1-million, it would not be any reason for alarm.

The old game never was in better shape.

ANGELS TO CARRY AL BANNER!

Yes, Virginia, Yankees CAN Lose

By ROSS NEWHAN

Yes, Virginia, the Yankees CAN lose the pennant.

Why, child, it has happened twice in the last 14 years. On both occasions the teams that found themselves representing the American League in the World Series, Chicago and Cleveland, were so stunned at what they had accomplished that they promptly blew the October classic to the other league.

Again this year Las Vegas has informed one and all that the Yankees are the next best bet to death and taxes for those who like sure things.

• • • •

LAS VEGAS contends that Mickey Mantle's two sore legs, Roger Maris' severely sprained one, Marshall Bridges' wounded one, Luis Arroyo's sore arm, Whitey Ford's 34-years and the lack of a veteran first baseman will not affect the American League's outcome, only keep it interesting a few weeks longer than usual.

Encouraged by what Chicago and Cleveland once did to the Yankees, and the beating Las Vegas took when it made Wally Butts an 8-5 choice over the lie detector, it is this writer's (that's another word for expert) opinion that the New York nine will spend the first week of October watching its super stars shave.

In between commercials, the Los Angeles Angels will be carrying the banner of the American League against the other league's champ (for the winner of the National League race see George Lederer's story).

Please, Virginia, before you write Santa Claus requesting that he bring me a straightjacket, hear me out.

Inasmuch as we have been recording the activities of the Angels since Feb. 11, we will only briefly repeat a few of this spring's findings involving the manager of the year's team:

1. The best pitching in the league. 2. Greater esprit de corps than ever. 3. Depth that wasn't there last season when the Angels finished third, only 10 games behind the Yankees. 4. A healthy Ken McBride. 5. A healthy Art Fowler. 6. The blossoming into a major leaguer of 21-year-old Jim Fregosi. 7. The continued improvement at the plate and in the field of Albie Pearson (and, Virginia, he just may be the best centerfielder in the league). 8. The return to 1961 form of George Thomas. 9. Bobby Rodgers, Lee Thomas and Leon Wagner. 10. Bill Rigney.

NEWHAN

With fiery new managers at Boston (Johnny Pesky), Cleveland (Birdie Tebbetts) and Kansas City (Eddie Lopat), and with Baltimore and Detroit strengthened through trades, the American League race should be a good one.

• • • •

HERE'S HOW IT SHAPES UP—after the Angels.

1—NEW YORK — Mantle played 122 games last season. He must play at least that many again. Without the "Hatchet" in the lineup, the Yankees are the Yankees in name only. The biggest question mark is the bullpen. Can Bridges bounce back from the gunshot wound? Can Arroyo bounce back from the sore arm? Will Ford still be the stopper among the starters? "If he's not," said ex-Yankee Lee Thomas, "the Yankees are in big trouble." With Bill Skowron gone, Joe Pepitone will play first base. He's a left-handed swinger which leaves only Elston Howard to supply the power from the right side. With the abundance of southpaw pumpers, the Yankees are their much easier to pitch to, especially in the big parks. Mantle, of course, will be switch-hitting, but in Yankee Stadium his power, as a righthander is nullified by the dimensions.

2—BALTIMORE—Lee MacPhail's shrewd winter deals have made the Orioles a dark[?] while hitting only .263 and .244 serious pennant contender. The holes respectively. Both should improve. have been filled and the Birds are one big happy family. Gus Triandos finally got his way and was traded. Ex-Giant John Orsino will handle Baltimore's bats. Best pitching staff, by far, in Baltimore since the days of Hall, Brecheen and Fisher. Baltimore not only landed Orsino, but Mike McCormick and Stu Miller as well. It will be impossible to get a ground ball through the infields of Orioles' infield. Luis Aparicio, an underrated ballplayer in Chicago, is all smiles now and he'll unite with Brooks Robinson to present a wall of leather on the left side. Al Smith, snatched in the Angels' swindle to the Red Sox, is another the Birds have sorely missed.

3—DETROIT—The Tigers just have to be better. Al Kaline will be available all year, and he's the best. Frank Lary won five games last season—he could win 22 this year. Trades brought the Tigers third baseman Bubba Phillips, a 100 percent competitor, and Francisco Acosta, a bona fide run scorer to carry Tiger Stadium. The big problem is around second base where Chico Fernandez and Jake Wood cavort. Last season Wood was a terrible liability. Until the Tigers solve it, or improved the Tigers will not win the pennant.

4—MINNESOTA—The Twins, naturally, present a double-X of sophomores in Bernie Allen and Rich Rollins can repeat their rookie performances then the Twins will again be in the thick of it.

Harmon Killebrew drove in 126 runs and hit 48 homers. Bob Allison drove in 102 runs. They achieved these power marks while hitting only .253 and .244 respectively. Both should improve.

But the Twins pitching once said Camilo Pascual and Jim Kaat is weak. Too many "ifs" will leave the spirited Twins City fans disappointed.

And the second division situation.

CHICAGO—A year older but no better. Floyd Robinson will hit over .300 again but not hurt anyone in the process. The Sox will sound heavily on rookie third baseman Pete Ward and rookie pitcher Dave DeBusschere. If they fail, the Sox could be the way of the Cubs.

CLEVELAND—Rookies Vic Davalillo, an outfielder, and Tony Martinez, a shortstop, carry the hopes of Lake Erie fans. Both were brilliant in the minors—ah, but that top step is a big one. Pitching is average. Cleveland will start fast and start descending around June 1.

BOSTON—Dick Radatz is the best relief pitcher in the league, but Boston has no one to match him on the starting line. To people the left-field monster in Fenway Park, the Red Sox acquired Dick Stuart and Lee Thomas. Both will hit a few balls over the fence, but strikeouts will be more frequent.

KANSAS CITY—The A's are blessed with a fine infield and solid hitting. The outfield and pitching are of glaring question marks. Only Ted Bowsfield throws from the heart. The plus could outweigh the minus, however, and the A's might finish as high as seventh.

WASHINGTON—Aside from Dave Stenhouse, Don Rudolph, Tom Cheney and Claude Osteen, the Senators' pitching is in fair shape. Nothing else is, however, and expect fans will flock to Jack and Jackie for their summer excitement.

S.F., CINCY PILOTS ARE OPTIMISTIC

NEW YORK (AP)—A poll of National League managers showed Saturday San Francisco's Al Dark and Cincinnati's Fred Hutchinson as the most optimistic.

Said Dark: "I expect our team to be better than last year because our youngsters have more experience." Said Hutch: "This is the best club I've ever managed." The Giants won the pennant last year and the Reds won it in 1961.

Comets Sparkle in Girls Track Meet

Martha Watson led the Long Beach Comets Track Club in the all-school, all-club SPAAAU meet at Mt. San Antonio College Saturday. She won the broad jump (18-7½) and took second in the 50-yard dash finals (6.2).

Other good performers included Sonia Guss with a first in the 75 (8.7) and second in the broad jump (17-4); Dee Mosley, first in the baseball throw (228-6); and Shirley Maynard, third in the 75 (9.1).

CUBANS ASK FIDEL OK TO PLAY IN U.S.

HAVANA (UPI)—Cuba's professional baseball players with 1963 U.S. contracts sent a petition to prime minister Fidel Castro Saturday asking for permission to leave the country.

Castro was handed the petition as he watched the Cuban amateur baseball championship in Havana Stadium. Professional baseball and boxing has been discounted by the Communist regime.

The Communist newspaper Hoy wrote Saturday that Castro said the players should be allowed to fulfill their contracts.

186-Foot Discus Toss by Humphreys

Bob Humphreys threw the discus 186 feet, 4½ inches and the shotput 56-2½ Saturday in an all-comers track meet at Long Beach State College.

Marine Dave Davis got off his longest shot push of the season, 61-8¾.

Rig Always an Angel—Mrs. Manager of Year

By ROSS NEWHAN

Mrs. Paula Rigney has lived with a sailor, a minor league ball player, major league player, a manager in Minneapolis, a manager in New York, a manager in San Francisco and a manager in Los Angeles.

Bill Rigney has been all these things. He's also been fired as a manager and he's also the reigning manager of the year.

The Rigneys celebrate their 19th wedding anniversary this year, and we went to Paula Rigney to ask if her husband had changed a great deal under the different pressures of the past 19 seasons. A dynamic, fiery figure on the field, does he draw the line between Ed Hurley and Paula Rigney?

"He's always left his fire on the field," revealed Paula. "The night after a tough loss he may brood a bit, but the next day he's himself again."

The Rigneys met while he was in the Navy and she was working at St. Mary's Pre-Flight School. "That was '44 and I wasn't much of a fan then," Paula relates. "I had seen the Oaks play a few times before the war, but as far as I knew a diamond was something you wore on your finger."

A year later, her last name now Rigney, Paula found herself in New York—which would be her summer address for the next 10 years.

"I remember the day we saw New York for the first time," Rigney told this writer over lunch in the big city one day last summer. "After checking into the hotel we went for a walk. Our eyes never saw the pavement. We were awed by the skyscrapers. People must have thought we were bird-watching. I don't think I've ever recovered from the stiff neck.

"From that day I've had the feeling that if you're going to make it big, do it in New York. Success just doesn't seem to mean as much anywhere as in New York."

Rig made it big in New York. Not big, of course, when you measured his talents against a Rizzuto, but big as a fan's player, a 100 per cent player. All the while he was keeping an eye on Leo Durocher and filing notes in a book and in his mind.

"If Bill made up his mind early to be a manager he didn't talk much about it," said Paula. "We didn't live just baseball, of course. I didn't attend a great many games these first few years. I was interested, but I didn't understand the game. I'm not sure I do yet."

In 1954 Rigney was tapped by Horace Stoneham to manage the Giants' triple A farm club at Minneapolis.

"There was no great change in Bill when he became a manager," revealed Mrs. manager of the year. "The job took more time, of course. There were more responsibilities and more problems. All of a sudden he was the father of 25 children instead of just the three he had at home. But to those three (Bill, Tom, Lynn) he was and always has been a wonderful father."

After two years at the Minneapolis Preparatory School of Managing, Rigney graduated to New York, where secret explorations to the West Coast were already being launched.

After two sixth-place finishes under Rigney, the Giants packed up and moved to San Francisco.

"It was marvelous for us," said Paula. "We had set up winter housekeeping in Walnut Creek about nine years earlier so we could now live at home all year."

Once again, however, the baseball was to take a funny bounce. The Giants finished third in the pressure-packed 1959 season and when they slipped four games out of the lead in June of 1960, Chub Feeney called Rigney out of the batting cage where he was giving tips to Eddie Bressoud and informed his best friend he was no longer manager of the Giants.

"We had expected that day for quite awhile," said Paula. "I remember calling Paula only minutes after it happened," said Rig. "Her only words were 'that's good, come on home, honey.'"

Mrs. Rigney disagrees that criticism in the press led to her husband's firing at San Francisco.

"Isn't it the job of the press to pick everything to pieces?" she asked pointedly. "I don't think they were especially hard on Bill."

After a pleasant summer on the golf course, Rigney became the manager of the foundling Angels and became a new man on the field.

"He was still the same guy I had married when around the house, but if he changed on the field it was only because he no longer had the intense pressure that weighed him down in San Francisco. He no longer had a team of stars but something he could build, which is always more fun."

Rigney built it so well that he was named manager of the year this past winter. "It was a thrill for the whole family," said the happy Mrs. Rigney. "I can't tell you how delighted we were."

Does the manager of the home ever second guess the manager of the year?

"No, but I occasionally voice an opinion."

And what is her opinion of the '63 Angels?

"I'm no judge, but they look great to me. I want Bill to paint the kitchen when the season is over but I'll gladly wait until the SECOND week of October."

Once Over Lightly

Baseball Season Follows Pattern

As a former player who performed on pennant winners and as manager of the National League's defending champion San Francisco Giants, Alvin Dark can speak with some authority on title races.

And he has an interesting viewpoint about them. He maintains, for instance, that the regular season usually follows a three-part pattern that you also find in spring training.

"Everything falls into distinct patterns," Dark pointed out recently. "The first few days of spring are more or less carefree as the players shake themselves out of any complacencies acquired over the winter. Through the first nine or 10 exhibitions they work at full speed. They're back in the groove.

ALVIN DARK
Sag After All-Star Break

"Then the drag sets in and training becomes punishment. Then about four or five days before the season starts you can feel the lift. They get an edge, they want to get with it . . . get to winning the games that count.

"The regular season has its segments and patterns, too. Whereas the players point toward opening day during spring training, and sag from monotony during some of it they begin to think in terms of the All-Star game after settling into the daily routine during the first few weeks. And I know what the All-Star games means because I've been in some of them.

"Every player wants to make it and those who have the best distance bear down harder than ever to win a berth.

"After the All-Star game, a natural sag sets in. It's harder to keep winning. The end of the season seems so far off. This affects many teams. We had a sag after the All-Star breaks last season and it almost did us in," Dark points out.

"THEN COMES THE final segment of the three-part pattern," Alvin said. "Suddenly, the players wake up one morning and see the season is coming to an end. They begin to play with renewed vigor, particularly those on the clubs still in the race.

"They no longer have to push themselves as they did in July and August. The momentum is regained. The stackup of doubleheaders and the psychological drain of playing them has reached a peak and disappeared. It's downhill then and the club that more acutely feels the thrill of the stretch run usually wins.

"I think if you go back over the past several seasons you'll find this pattern cropping up quite often. We certainly followed it to some extent last season," Alvin said.

And that the Giants did. In the first phase, they won 40 of their first 55 games. The second phase found them slowing down in June and then almost getting knocked clear out of it shortly after the All-Star game, but they came on strong at the end to win seven of their last 10 games while the Dodgers were blowing 9 of their last 13.

Incidentally, if you'll look back, the Yankees also followed the pattern outline by Dark in winning last season.

FAST STARTS ARE becoming more and more important in the major league races. In fact, baseball men for some time now have been using the standings on May 1 as the key to the pennants rather than waiting for the traditional July 4 figures.

Actually, the May 1 standings have been more indicative of the outcome of the races for the past several seasons. For instance, in the last 12 years, seven National League winners and six in the American were in front on the first of May.

The best time to throw the defending champions off balance, according to those in the game, is in the first three weeks. Throw everything at 'em and try to keep them from settling into a winning pattern.

However, that may be a bit hard to do this year, especially in the National League. Both the Dodgers and Giants, who finished the '62 season in a tie, should get off winging. The Dodgers' first 13 games are with Chicago and Houston, who are picked for 8th and 9th place. The Giants open up with 12 games against the same clubs.

Over in the American League, the Yankees have a tougher opening slate, but one that could help them bust things open in a hurry if they get off to a blazing start. In 17 games scheduled in April, they meet all the leading contenders except Minnesota.

SPEAKING OF PATTERNS and fast getaways, the swift quarter horses break from the starting gate at Los Alamitos Tuesday and if the trend set at the track in recent spring meetings is followed, Jet Deck appears to be a cinch to set a new world record . . . mostly likely at 440 yards.

In the spring of 1960, Vandy's Flash was clocked in 18 seconds flat for 350 yards in the track's mandatory qualifying program before the meeting opened. A few days later he set the current world standard for that distance of 17.5 seconds.

Last spring, Pokey Bar, the all-time top money-winning quarter horse, qualified in 18.1 seconds . . . and two weeks later set a new world standard of 21.6 seconds for 440 yards.

The 3-year-old Jet Deck, who won the $207,750 Futurity at Los Alamitos last December—richest race per yard in the world—qualified the past week in 17.9 seconds . . . fastest "work" ever turned in for the 350-yard distance!

NEW ZONE—AND THE OLD

Broken lines indicate the former strike zone, extending from player's (Frank Robinson) armpits to just above his kneecaps. Solid lines indicate new area, from shoulders to just below kneecaps.

New Strike Zone 'Rubbish'--Experts

NEW YORK (UPI)—The new strike zone—baseball's most publicized rule change in years—will have about as much effect as a rule against bikinis on the Riviera, according to the United Press International's 1963 board of baseball experts.

It was solemnly announced during the winter that the pitchers would get their first real break in many seasons this year. The umpires, it was said, have been instructed to enlarge the strike zone from the armpits to the top of the knees to the shoulders to the bottom of the knees.

Rubbish, say the experts.

The UPI polled its 1963 board of baseball experts, 24 writers who have seen the teams in training in the South and West, to give their sober (sic) opinions on the effects the new rule will have.

Here's how the experts responded:

Regis McAuley, Cleveland Press: "None. Umps won't enforce it."

Scott Baillie, UPI: "Around the cactus belt, pitchers say the idea is to keep the ball low and the high pitch is a mistake. So, new rule seems negligible."

Bob Wolfe, Milwaukee Journal: "Little or no effect."

Ross Newhan, Long Beach (Calif.) Press-Telegram: "None, except for such speed pitchers as Dick Farrell, Ryne Duren, etc., who might use the new rule to great advantage."

Oscar Fraley, UPI: "Very slight whiff of smelling salts for home run punchy pitchers."

Bob Addie, Washington Post: "More hitters will swing on high 3-2 pitches so pitchers should get some advantage. But good hitters won't be troubled."

Allen Lewis, Philadelphia Inquirer: "Very little because it won't be enforced as written. It will be raised only an inch or two."

George Lederer, Long Beach Press-Telegram: "Speed games to the extent that hitters must commit themselves sooner."

Les Biederman, Pittsburgh Press: "None."

hits in his last appearance at Dodger Stadium, led off with the first of his three singles. Oliver's hit-and-run single sent Wills to third, whence he scored and Oliver advanced to third on a wild pitch. W. Davis' sacrifice fly made it 2-0.

* * * *

THE DODGERS sent only one more runner to third after John Roseboro blooped a double between Leon Wagner and Fergosi in the second inning and scored on rookie Ken McMullen's single to center.

T. Davis prevented first-inning trouble for Drysdale by going to the wall for Billy Moran's drive and making a shoe-top grab of Bob Rodgers' bloop after Albie Pearson singled and Wagner walked. Thereafter, Drysdale retired seven in a row and Podres allowed only one more hit through the fifth.

Podres helped create the jam in the sixth by walking the pint-sized Pearson. The bases were filled moments later on a force, Lee Thomas' single and Skowron's muff of Wagner's grounder.

* * * *

RODGERS PUT the Angels on the scoreboard with a sacrifice fly, the third out were it not for Skowron's error. Podres was directly responsible for the second run when his pickoff throwing error allowed Thomas to score from second base. Podres' high pickoff pitch to Skowron was clearly his worst of the afternoon.

Sandy Koufax and Bo Belinsky will match lefthanded serves in the exhibition finale at 1 o'clock this afternoon. From all scouting reports, Belinsky is said to have an edge in curves.

Through a ruling that may be appealed by the Dodgers, the Angels retain their city championship trophy even via a split. Contrary to the Dodgers, they aren't about to forget last year.

* * * *

DIS AND DATA—Dodgers reached the opening-day limit of 27 players by announcing purchase of pitcher Ken Rowe from Spokane and trimming catcher Mike Bromley and pitchers Phil Ortega, Joe Moeller and Dick Scott. . . . The latter four will remain in Los Angeles awaiting assignment, probably to Spokane. . . . In another transaction, the Dodgers optioned pitcher Bill Kantz to Santa Barbara (California League) and sold pitcher Steve Andersen outright to the same club. . . . The 20-year-old Rowe was the Dodgers' most impressive relief pitcher in spring training. He appeared in seven games, pitched 15 innings and had an earned run average of 1.20. . . . Rowe had a 9-9 record and 3.44 ERA at Spokane last year. . . . He led two Pacific Coast League records by appearing in 70 games, all in relief. Both records were established by Bob Anderson of the 1956 Angels. . . . Winning pitchers Saturday and today are to receive complete fishing outfits. . . . Dodger Stadium infield is softer and the grass is higher than last year.

Long, Long Run to Series —or Cellar—Starts Monday

By Associated Press

The race to the World Series — or the cellar — starts Monday and Tuesday for 20 major league baseball clubs with the Yankees and Dodgers favored as usual.

Despite spring training aches and pains, the world champion Yankees are odds-on to do it again in the American League just as they have done 12 times in the last 14 years.

In the wide open National League where they have had five different winners in the last five years, the frustrated Dodgers are given an edge over the defending champs from San Francisco and the Cincinnati Reds.

The new strike zone, new gold and green uniforms in Kansas City, new faces and old names in new places add spice to the staggered series of opening days that run from Monday through April 16.

Washington and Cincinnati jump the gun with their customary special openers Monday. Nine more games will be played Tuesday. However, it will be eight days before everybody has played a home game.

With a break from the weather man, who provided some dazzling pre-season sunshine, crowds totalling 350,000 are expected to watch the games Monday and Tuesday.

Three new managers will make their bows in the American League—Johnny Pesky at Boston, Birdie Tebbetts at Cleveland and Eddie Lopat at Kansas City. The National League will have two new bosses, if you count Bob Kennedy, head coach of the Chicago Cubs' brain trust, as a full-fledged manager. The other is Bobby Bragan of Milwaukee.

* * * *

MOOSE SKOWRON with the Dodgers, Luis Aparicio with the Orioles, Don Hoak with the Phillies, Dick Groat with the Cardinals, Dick Stuart with the Red Sox, Duke Snider with the Mets, Minnie Minoso with the Senators — those are some of the strange sights that will greet fans who have not kept up on their baseball during the off-season. An unusual number of deals really scrambled the line-ups.

For the first time since 1960 there will be no new problem children, born of expansion. To be sure, the old problems still remain with the New York Mets, Washington Senators and youthful Houston Colts.

President Kennedy is expected to throw out the first ball at Washington where 47,000 fans are due to watch the Senators take on the revamped Baltimore Orioles, who are regarded as an outside pennant threat to the Yankees.

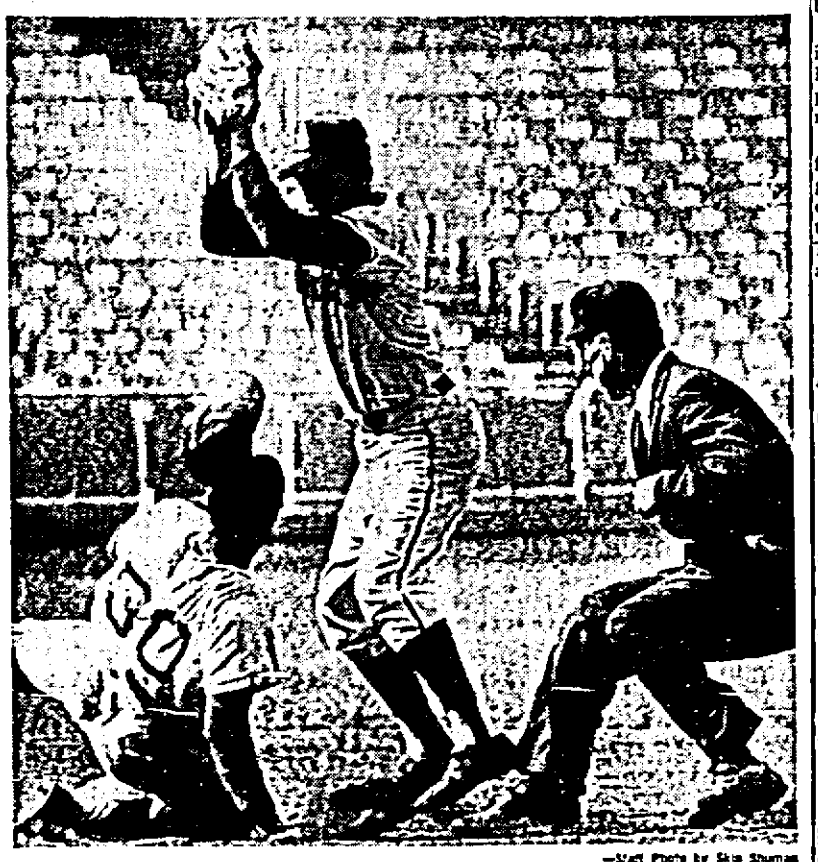

* * * *

THE CUSTOMARY sellout of 30,000-plus in Cincinnati will watch Jim O'Toole (16-13), a spring whiz, pitch for the Reds against Pittsburgh's Earl Francis (9-8).

The Pirates have a rebuilt infield with third baseman Bob Bailey, a $175,000 bonus player, the most publicized newcomer.

One of the most interesting facets of the Tuesday program will be the home debut of the Kansas City A's in their new Kelly green and Tulane yellow uniforms against the Yankees.

club," related Osinski. "He told me to give my best stuff, but not too much to hit. If he walked it didn't matter."

Osinski obeyed orders to a T, feeding Davis nothing but wide breaking stuff which finally struck out the Dodger slugger.

"I threw him a slow, slow and slower curve," laughed Osinski. "I struck him out on a change-up curve. It was the first time I've ever thrown the pitch and I didn't think it was going to reach the plate. In fact, it didn't."

After Bill Skowron had walked, Rigney went to the mound as Fairly strode to the plate. The manager of the year decided to let Osinski face the ex-Jordan High phenom and returned to the dugout. But moments later he was back on the mound. He called in lefty Jack Spring and Walt Alston countered with Lee Walls.

Walls hit Spring's first pitch to Tom Satriano and the Alstons had extended their Dodger Stadium losing streak to two.

Snyder's 5-Hitter Checks Mustangs as LBSC Divides

Phil Snyder checked Cal Poly (SLO) on five hits in the second game as Long Beach State corralled the Mustangs 3-1 after dropping the opener 9-4 in a CCAA doubleheader Saturday at Blair Field.

The victory snapped a four-game losing streak and pushed the 49ers' season record to 4-10-1 and 1-2 in conference play. Cal Poly now boasts a 3-6 league mark.

Snyder pitched his finest game of the year, walking only one and fanning six. He made only one mistake. That came in the seventh inning when he served up a triple to lead-off batter Wayne West. Lyman Ashley was safe on Warren Riley's boot to ruin the shutout. Snyder then choked off the threat by getting the next three batters.

Long Beach did all its scoring in the second. With one out, Gary Brown and Rich Ramirez singled. Doug Meyer walked to load the bags. Jim Herrick cleared the bases when he hit a liner to centerfield which rolled through Mike Williams' legs for a devastating error.

LBSC managed only six hits in the nightcap with Roger Rhoades collecting two.

In the first game, Cal Poly pushed across solo runs in the second, third and fifth innings, then cracked the contest open with a three-run burst in the sixth. L. B. countered with two-run uprisings in the sixth and seventh.

The Mustangs outhit the 49ers 13-12.

Jim Ramos cracked the day's only home run in the first contest. The Mustangs' shortstop also had two doubles.

THEY'RE NOT DOING THE BOSSA NOVA

With a trip to Brazil and the Pan-American Games only a couple of weeks away, Mexico's water polo'ists played their final tuneup against the Nu-Pike and Inland teams Saturday night at the L.B. Plunge. The Mexican team leaves today for Mexico City. Next stop after that is the land of the Bossa Nova.

First Duck Home Loss in 15 Years

EUGENE, Ore. (UPI) — Southern California's determined Trojans handed Oregon its first home dual track meet loss in 15 years Saturday, 92-53, and gained a token of revenge for last year's defeat at Los Angeles.

Oregon coach Bill Bowerman hadn't lost a dual meet in 36 tries since he came here in 1949, but he threw in the towel when the meet was only an hour old by pulling Dave Steen out of the discus.

By that time the Trojans were ahead of the defending NCAA champions 35-24 and there was little doubt of the outcome. Bowerman decided not to take a chance on Steen's sore elbow in further competition.

The meet erupted in a chorus of boos by 7,500 fans late in the afternoon when the 880-yard run turned into a shoving match. Two runners were knocked into the infield grass before Oregon sophomore Ray Van Asten lunged past USC's Kevin Hogan at the tape. Hogan was disqualified and the Ducks scored the only sweep in the meet.

The Trojans generally lived up to their advance billing, and the Ducks didn't have enough talent. Four meet records were set and one equalled, all but one by USC.

* * * *

LEW HOYT of the Trojans cleared 6-11½ in the high jump to wipe out a record of 6-9¼ set by USC's Charlie Dumas in 1959. Mike Flanagan of USC cleared 15 feet in the pole vault to break by ¾'s of an inch a meet record set by teammate Mel Hein last year. Hein went out at 14 feet Saturday.

Larry Stuart of USC captured the javelin at 240-1½, breaking a meet record of 238-4½ set by Oregon's Les Tipton last year. Tipton, a surprise winner at Los Angeles, was second with a throw of 239 feet.

Oregon's Keith Forman added the fourth record when he wheeled to a 4:03.7 mile. Jim Grelle's 4:07.2 for Oregon in 1959 was the old record. USC's Brian Polkinghorne tied a record with a 13.9 clocking in the 120-yard high hurdles. Oregon's Mel Renfro, second in the NCAA meet last year, ran third.

Palmer Six Shots Back in Masters

holes—a collapse that utterly defied belief.

So, when they tee it up today in what promises to be a bright, sunshiny day, it will be Nicklaus at 214 and Furgol at 215, followed by Julius (Big Moose) Boros, former U.S. open champion, 216, Sam Snead and Tony Lema, at 217; Chen Ching-po, Wininger and Souchak, at 218; Player, Stan Leonard of Canada and Mason Rudolph at 219, and Palmer clustered with Australian Bruce Crampton, Don January and Dow Finsterwald at 220.

Any one of them is in a position to win it in the final 18 holes because of the fickleness of the tough 6,850-yard, par 72 Augusta National course but most observers felt that Nicklaus might be too stolid a man to shake.

Nicklaus started slowly but he pulled his big, sagging game together and reeled off 11 straight pars in a tremendous driving and putting exhibition.

* * * *

TWO OF HIS bogeys—on No. 2 and No. 7—came from trap trouble and the other at the short sixth was the result of a bad chip. His lone bird came on a fine pitch 2-foot putt at the 450-yard fifth.

A frigid putter spoiled a more rousing rally by Palmer and broke the hearts of his vast gallery—known as "Arnie's Army."

He missed only one green during his creditable round and rimmed the cup—by his own count—a dozen times with putts for birdies and pars.

Two of his bogeys resulted from three-putt greens—at the fourth and the 15th. He had only two one-putt greens and they were birdies—a 10-footer at the seventh and 4-footer at the eighth.

* * * *

"I WISH I could have come in with a 71," Palmer said afterward. "I think I would have had a good chance."

Furgol, winner of the U.S. Open in 1954, birdied the 15th from 10 feet and the short 16th from 80 to 100 feet, stroking the ball from off the green with his putter. He parred the rest of the way but on the final hole his approach was 20 yards short of the green and he chipped up to within 15 inches.

Boros, playing with Furgol, matched the best score of the day—a 71—getting birdies at the 13th and 16th holes.

Hansen Hits 16-1 at Texas Relays

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Rice's Fred Hansen vaulted 16-1, unheralded John Camien of Emporia, Kan., State upset famed miler Dyrol Burleson and Texas Southern scored a six-relays sweep in the chill, windy Texas Relays Saturday.

Hansen tried for the world's record after soaring higher than any Texan ever did before but missed at 16-4 three times.

His 16-1 was one of only three records set in the big track and field carnival—the first time there have been so few in a quarter of a century.

A 6 to 8 miles per hour wind and heavy track held down the runners, who were forced to go into the teeth of the wind.

Camien's victory over Burleson and Bill Dotson, another 4-minute miler, was a sensation. The little man from Kansas had to run his fastest mile to do it. He ripped off a 4:02.6, catching Burleson 40 yards from the tape. Burleson, the ex-Oregon star who had done 3:57.6, wound up second with 4:02.9. Dotson was third at 4:04.8. The meet record is 4:00.5 set by Wes Santee in 1955.

Texas Southern, which won five relays and set records in all of them here last year, then later won six at the Kansas Relays, was able to equal the latter feat Saturday because a relay had been added.

Texas Southern set only one record and that was an automatic one. It came in the distance medley — the relay that had been added to give six in the college class. The time was 10:13.9.

Texas Southern ran its streak to 21 out of 23 relay triumphs. The Houston Negro school once had a 36-straight skein but had it broken last year at the Drake Relays.

LATINS GAIN POLO SPLIT; BITTICK HERO

Chuck Bittick fired in two goals in the second period to rally the Nu-Pike water poloists to a 2-1 victory over Mexico in the first half of an exhibition game Saturday night at the L.B. Plunge.

Luis Guzman's goal had given Mexico a first-period lead.

Then with Inland's team taking over the final two periods, Mexico registered a 2-1 victory on the strength of Manuel Queijeiro's two goals. Russ Webb scored for the losers.

Poly, Muir Duel Seen in National Record Relays

Twenty-eight high schools will be represented, but it looks like a two-team battle between Poly and Muir in the Bellflower National Record Relays Saturday night.

Three national records and 13 meet marks are in danger of falling, with Poly expected to come close to the nation's standard of 41.5 in the 440 relay.

Crescenta Valley, in the four-man four mile, and Redlands, in the distance medley, are others given an excellent chance of setting national marks.

The triple jump opens the show at 5 o'clock, followed by the first trial races at 5:30 and the rest of the field events at 6:30.

Perhaps the best event will be the pole vault where four participants have cleared 13-8.

Weill Sets NCAA Discus Record

Dave Weill of Stanford broke the national collegiate record in the discus Saturday as the Indians edged Occidental and UCLA in a hot-mark track meet at Westwood.

Weill, 6-7 and 270, hurled the discus 194 feet, 6 inches, breaking his old NCAA mark of 191-7½, established last season.

It was also a big day for C. K. Yang, UCLA's all-around star from Formosa.

Yang won the high hurdles in 14.3, javelin at 217-0, broad jump at 24-1¾, pole vault at 15-6 and ran a leg on the victorious 440-yard relay team.

For the second successive week, Yang narrowly missed setting a world vault record.

Yang was well over the bar at 16-4, but his timing was slightly awry and he landed atop it.

Other stars were Steve Cortright and Harry McCalla of Stanford.

Cortright, who prepped at Poly High, was second in the high hurdles (14.5), won the triple jump at 47-5½ and won the 330-yard hurdles in a blistering 37.0.

McCalla won a tight mile in 4:08.1 and added an easy two-mile in 9:06.6.

Stanford won the triangular meet with 67 points to 58 for Occidental and 56 for UCLA. In dual competition, it was Stanford 72½ to Oxy's 71½ and Stanford 80 to UCLA's 65.

Dual meet scores: Stanford 72½, Occidental 71½; Stanford 80, UCLA 65.

AT MASTERS

Flagstick Stuck, Greens Inundated

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Man, it was wet. The third round of the Masters golf tournament Saturday was hit by a series of April showers that had several greens and fairways under water.

South African Gary Player reported officials sponging water off the 10th green when he played it.

But the prize incident involved Ed Furgol, who said he and Julius Boros had to wait about one-half hour after their 10th hole drives before hitting to the green.

* * * *

FURGOL RELATED, "the flagstick was stuck in the hole and it couldn't be dislodged. I guess all that rain warped it. When officials finally removed it and play resumed, I topped my second shot and finally hit a wedge about 35 feet from the pin.

"The green was so badly under water that I walked around for several minutes trying to find a dry spot for relief. I gained more yardage than Notre Dame did last year."

"I kept losing my grip on the club all day, but maybe it was my driver not just the rain. I hit about five bad drives, more than I did in the entire two first rounds.

"I think that if it had rained a bit longer as hard as it did when we were on the 10th hole tournament officials might have begun to think about calling off play."

Nicklaus, pointing out that he had played in worse weather, agreed that it was bad and "not the kind of conditions you like for a major championship."

He said that three back nine fairways were covered with casual water—the 10th, 11th and 13th. On the 11th hole he said, "my glove was so wet that my driver turned around in my hand and I hit into the trees." But he saved his par with a wedge shot and a 7-foot putt, his longest.

Masters and Richter Defend No. 2 Spot

The Masters and Richter dragster from San Francisco successfully defended their No. 2 spot in the national dragster ratings by defeating Hank Clark of Bakersfield in a two-of-three match race before 5,399 fans Saturday night at Lions Drag Strip in Long Beach.

Masters and Richter then faced Don Prudhomme of Van Nuys for the fuel eliminator title, losing by a matter of inches with both cars bettering the 191 mph.

'NOTHING TO DO WITH FOOTBALL BETTING'

Butts' Calls 'Business'--Gambler

ATLANTA (AP)—A Chicago businessman says his telephone conversations with Wallace Butts, former University of Georgia athletic director, "had nothing whatsoever to do with betting on football or any other type of betting."

Frank Scoby, president of an Illinois beer distributing firm, told the Associated Press in Chicago that he had talked with Butts by long distance telephone on various occasions, but that all the calls were "strictly business."

Scoby was a government witness in a gambling case in 1959.

Butts, accused in a Saturday Evening Post article of conspiring with coach Paul Bryant of Alabama to rig the Georgia-Alabama football game last fall, was questioned by state investigators about the calls to Scoby.

A transcript revealed that Butts told interrogators he borrowed $6,000 from Scoby for business purposes. But he said there never was any discussion of betting or gambling.

Records of calls from Butts to Scoby were included in numerous toll tickets examined by Georgia Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook in his investigation of the Post charges.

Butts and Bryant have denied rigging the game which Alabama won 35-0, and both save said they never gambled. Butts has a $10 million libel suit pending against the Post.

Cook said in a report of his findings that there was no evidence that Butts or Bryant had gambled. He said earlier, however, that Butts had placed calls to persons who had been involved in gambling.

Scoby testified that he had bet substantial sums on football games and horse races, and that he had made wagers up to $50,000 with a Terre Haute gambling syndicate.

Two-Minute Pace Victory to Irvin Paul

By ERNIE MASON

Classy Irvin Paul, owned by the Ohio Valley Stable and Abe Wilsker of Yonkers (N.Y.) flashed to victory in the $20,000 California Pace at Santa Anita Saturday, registering the nation's third two-minute mile of 1963.

A crowd of 18,047 watched Irvin Paul take the lead from Meadow Battles as the field went by the quarter pole, and Charlie King kept his mount in front the rest of the way.

• • • •

IRVIN PAUL finished a length in front of Meadow Battles, who was another length and a half ahead of Star Gem. The rest of the field included Mr. Budlong, April Goose, Shadydale Monitor and Bar Time.

Mr. Budlong, who flashed to a 1:58 3/5 victory in winning the Alpha Delta Pi Pace a week ago, made his move too late and was only able to get up for fourth place.

The victory was worth $10,000 to the winner, who has taken both of his starts this year—his other triumph came in the $10,000 San Diego Pace on March 23.

• • • •

BET DOWN heavily to 1-2 favoritism, Irvin Paul rewarded his backers with payoffs of $3, $2.60, $2.20, while Meadow Battles returned $4.20 and $3. The show price on Star Gem was $3.

Jimmy Cruise and Jacques Grenier each garnered a win during the day, keeping Cruise two ahead of his rival. With only one more day to go—the meeting ends Monday—Grenier will have an uphill battle if he is to overtake Cruise, who tied with Jim Dennis for the driving championship last fall at Hollywood Park.

Cruise scored his 18th winner of the season with Joseph Masiello's Greentree Joey in the seventh race.

LOS ALAMITOS SPRING MEET OPENS TUESDAY

The fastest horses in the world return to action Tuesday when Los Alamitos Race Course launches its 25-day quarter horse spring meeting.

The opening day card has twin features—the $5,000 Shue Fly and the $2,000 Inaugural for 3-year-olds. Both events will bring out the top horses on the grounds including Jet Deck, who probably will face older horses in the Shue Fly.

Los Alamitos will stage racing six days a week, Monday through Saturday, with nine races each day. First post throughout the meeting is 1:15 p.m., with daily double wagering closing at 1:10.

Coming off its best fall season in history, Los Alamitos will present a record spring stakes and purse program, distributing $384,400 among the horsemen.

Cerritos Sweeps Pair From San Diego

Cerritos College made it 10-2 in Metropolitan Conference play with a double win over San Diego at Cerritos Saturday. The Falcons won the first game 4-2 behind the fine pitching of Phil Rankin and a clutch single by Fred Yanaz with the bases loaded to break a 2-2 tie and drive in two runs. The Falcons made it a clean sweep with a 7-5 win in the nightcap.

HARTACK MISSES FLIGHT

Rich Stakes to Debbysman, Valentine Scores Easy Win

Compiled From Wire Services

NEW YORK — Gustave Ring's Debbysman finally lived up to the hopes of his owner Saturday when he won the $57,500 Gotham Stakes at Aqueduct and upset the 1963 debut of Crewman.

Crewman, one of the top 2-year-olds last season, was a 3 to 5 favorite with the crowd of 55,061, but he failed to survive a blistering early pace and finished third behind Debbysman and Bonjour in the mile race.

Ridden by Larry Adams Debbysman scored his initial stakes triumph and paid $15.50, $6.40 and $2.70. Bonjour returned $5.80 and $2.60 and Crewman paid $2.10.

MIAMI—Valentine, leading all the way, romped to a seven-length victory in the $15,000 Fort Lauderdale Handicap at Gulfstream Park before a crowd of 13,728.

In a three-horse photo for second, Tin God edged Toledo 2nd, with heavily-favored El Loco fourth.

Valentine, ridden by Larry Gilligan, ran the mile and a sixteenth in 1:43 1/5 and paid $21.50, $10.40 and $5.30. Tin God paid $15.40 and $7.40, and Toledo 2nd $3.70 to show.

SAN MATEO — Olympiad King and Vetirok splashed to victories in the split California Derby Trials at Bay Meadows before a rain-splattered crowd of 16,298.

Both winners turned the sloppy mile in 1:38 4/5, but Olympiad King won by nearly three lengths while Vetirok won by a neck over favored Beekeeper.

Olympiad King was the public choice and paid $6 to win. Vetirok, making his initial stakes victory, had to hold off the favored Beekeeper to win in a stretch duel. He paid $16.

Jockey Bill Hartack, who had been scheduled to ride both races, missed plane connections from Florida and did not ride.

LAUREL, Md. — Bronze Babu turned back a scorching stretch drive by stablemate Polarity to capture the $28,275 Wilyn Handicap for the second consecutive year at Laurel.

A $2 wager on the winning entry was worth $5.80, $5.20 and $3.40 across the board.

Ruff Weather, who was coupled with Tamerlo, finished third in the field of 10 and Gushing Wind, the early pacesetter, faded to fourth.

LEXINGTON, Ky.—Editorialist led all the way to win the 6-furlong Phoenix Handicap in track record time of 1:08 3/5 as Keeneland ushered in the Kentucky racing season.

Rockets Battle Old Rival Today

The Long Beach Rockets will have a battle on their hands today when they meet their old rivals, the L.A. Angels, at 2 p.m. at Blair Field.

The Angels defeated the Rockets in the opening game of the Winter League, and then, after a rocky few weeks, came storming back to take the championship in the traveling division from the L.A. Eagles.

Al Preston and Mike Linck will pitch for the Rockets.

Nitehawks Take on Navy Nine Friday

The Long Beach Nitehawks will host the Naval Ordinance Depot of China Lake Friday at Park Avenue Field at 8:15 p.m.

The Navy, with Ace Vallenzuela on the mound, is the same team that upset the Hawks in 1960 in the world tournament.

The Nitehawks received a shot in the arm last week which may mean the difference between a championship and an also-ran team. Manager Joe Rodgers announced the return of pitcher Jack Randall to the Hawks. "This will be the Randall of old," said the smiling Rodgers as he watched the Hawks take batting and fielding drills.

Two, Four-Wheelers Share Ascot Spotlight

The nation's fastest drivers on two and four wheels share the racing spotlight this afternoon and evening at Ascot Park, Gardena, in J. C. Agajanian's first double-header of the year.

Parnelli Jones, holder of the Indianapolis one-lap record of 150.727 mph, leads more than 50 drivers in a United States Auto Club national championship 110 Offy midget car speedfest under the lights on the new Ascot quarter-mile oval.

First race is at 8:30 o'clock one-lap qualifying at 7 p.m.

Ralph White of San Diego, winner of last Sunday's 200-mile American Motorcycle Assn. championship road race at Daytona Beach, is expected to join such two-wheeling stars as Jack O'Brien, Skip Van Leewuen, Dick Hammer, Dick Dorresteyn and Clark White in the matinee steeplechase events over the jumps.

First race is at 2:30 o'clock with practice laps over the treacherous twist and turn course starting at noon.

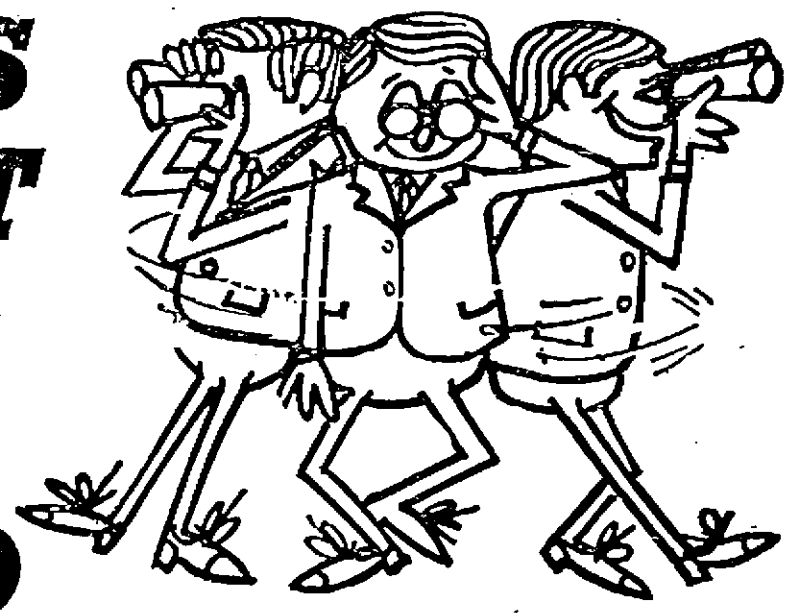

A field of 112 riders is entered and separate heats and main events will be held in the three AMA divisions—expert, amateur and novice.

SILVER GREY BROWNING OLDS

Leaves Las Vegas Green

By BILL EMERY

"The long look of luxury" is Oldsmobile's description of the 1963 Ninety-Eight.

"The number one taxpaying hotel on the strip" is PR manager Al Freeman's description of the Sands in Las Vegas, Nevada.

Put the two together and you have the most fabulous week-end Motorlog you could want.

Our sleek sculptured elegant Ninety-Eight Oldsmobile sports sedan was provided for us by Dick Browning Oldsmobile at 1227 Long Beach Blvd. in Long Beach.

Equipped with power steering, brakes, windows and seats, this prestige car reflects the discriminating taste and master craftsmanship for which Oldsmobile is so highly regarded.

The sculptured fender lines makes this full-size luxury car easier to drive from the first minute because you can judge within inches in narrow traffic lanes the car's clearance.

The extra - thick foam-padded seat raises and lowers, tilts forward and backward to fit each individual driver. This is a feature more appreciated on a long trip. It's like being fitted to a plush living room sofa!

And while you're being fitted, the new tilt-away steering wheel adjusts to seven positions depending on whether you have a leg problem or a stomach problem getting in and out of the car.

But the greatest accessory of all is Oldsmobile's factory air conditioning. No matter what the temperature, these units give you climate control that keeps you dry and purifies the circulating air.

Stays at Sands

Probably the most heavily trafficked resort hotel in the world, the Sands in Las Vegas has seen 21,400,000 people with an average of 5,615 visitors a day. The heaviest count was 32,000 on a Tuesday during the famous "Summit" Copa Room show in January of 1961.

Sands president and dinner show producer Jack Entratter has spent some $18,210,000 on entertainers' salaries alone in the ten years the hotel has been on the strip. A "summit" production is a fleet of stars (regulars every three or four weeks) at one time: Sinatra, Jerry Lewis, Sammy Davis Jr., Dean Martin, Nat King Cole . . . to mention a few.

$Million Addition

The star system is one of the reasons this hotel does more business than any other on the strip. The success of the Sands is further magnified by the opening of the Aqueduct, an 83-unit $1 million addition with suites lavishly furnished in the $25 to $125 per night category.

Lloyd Cope, resident manager, took us on a personal tour through the three-story unit last weekend before they opened. The smallest unit is like a Hollywood set, elaborate even to the paper on the walls. Each room has a built-in bar with compact refrigerator.

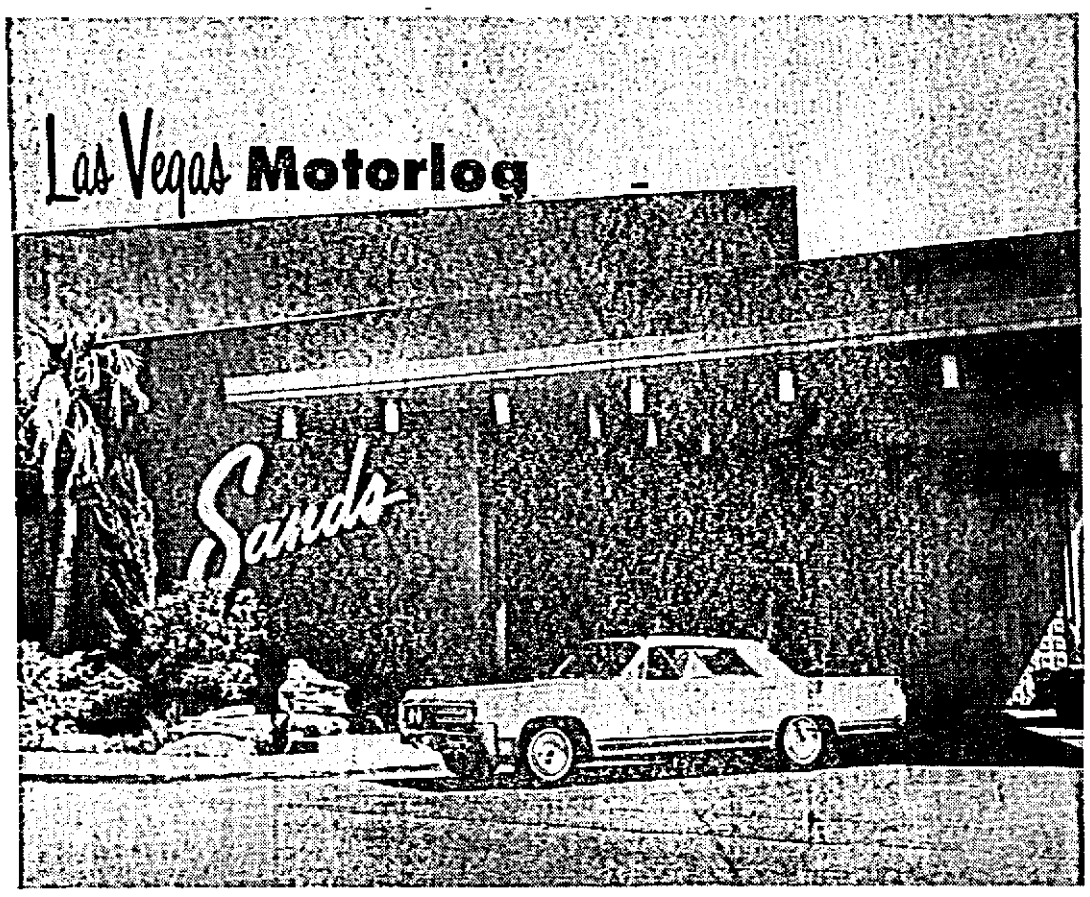

An eight-story rise over the present casino will start construction in September. The $4 million construction will have 328 additional suites, two additional dining rooms with a starlight roof for dancing and dining and four music rooms, each with a separate lounge show attraction. This will give the Sands a total of 902 suites.

The Sands has several units for their hotel accomodations, each named after a famous turf club. Our "Petite Suite" in the Hialeah was very impressive. Looking in through the door, the king-size bed was on the other side of the Persian-modern parlor and raised a few inches above the parlor floor. Draw drapes separate the two rooms.

Cuisine Excellent

It's amazing to us the perfection of every segment in the operation. The cuisine is as fine as the finest restaurant. The service and attention to the guests is anticipated to the detail. No expense is spared in making the guest feel he's entered the Pearly Gates. Kind of makes you feel like you owe it to 'em to lose a little at the games.

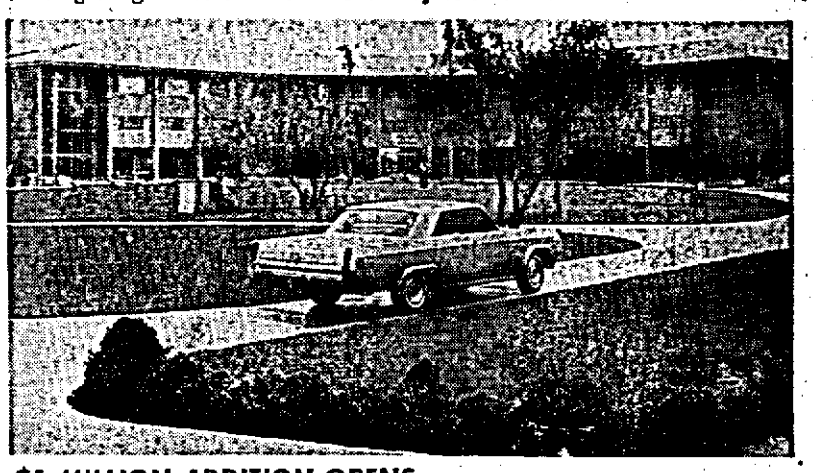

Back in Long Beach with 571 miles on the Olds, a mileage check showed we had used 38 gallons of gasoline with an average of 15 miles per gallon. Bill Blankenship, sales manager at Dick Browning Olds, said we would have done better if we'd crossed the desert with our air conditioning turned off. I wonder about him!

LUXURIOUS OLDS 98 WEEKENDS AT SANDS
A common sight at Las Vegas' famed Sands Hotel and Casino on "The Strip" these days are 1963 Ninety-Eight Oldsmobiles. Our Motorlog car shared the guest parking lot with many similar models.

COPA GIRLS OPEN EACH FEATURE SHOW
The Sands double-star system of entertainment in the Copa Room with a top comedian and vocalist sharing the billing are prefaced by an attention-getting dance routine with a bevy of beauties.

$1 MILLION ADDITION OPENS
The Aqueduct with 83 rooms and suites, just opened, is the most expensive hotel building of its kind in the world. Olds 98 is on sidewalk for numerous units around oval.

INEXPERIENCED YOUNG MEN
Have you got what it takes?
If so, we will train you to make more money than you ever thought possible. But, only aggressive, self reliant men can succeed with us. Are you such a man? It takes a man who is not afraid of people: A man who is not afraid to meet and overcome their objections to make the grade with us. Can you do this? We employ men who don't need the security of a mediocre, weekly salary: Men who can, by their own efforts, write their own paychecks. Are you capable of doing this? If you think you meet the standards required by our company, report to either 15700 Pioneer #7, Norwalk or to 1808 Willard St., Long Beach (at Santa Fe — 2 blocks north of Pacific Coast Highway) between 5 a.m. and 7 p.m. only. Before reporting though, ask yourself, have I got what it takes?

OF HOMES

The ONE To See Is From WALKER & LEE

6 OFFICES TO SERVE YOU— AS SHOWN IN THE SELECTED LISTINGS HERE BELOW

SEAL BEACH

HIGH ON A HILL A BEAUTIFUL CUSTOM MODERN home for the young in heart. Simplicity & elegance with a view of the world below. It features 3 bedrooms for privacy, 3 baths for convenience & a huge living rm, sunken den & a dining room for entertaining. It's a "Gold Medallion" all electric home from the kitchen to the separately controlled heat in each room. Price? It's ridiculously low. Just listed & shown by appt. only. Call GE 4-7426 — Key at 5201 E. Pac. Coast Hwy.

ROSSMOOR

EVERYTHING ROSSMOOR HAS BUT THE PRICE TAG — Just across the road in the "Highlands". Completely improved 3 bedroom, 2 bath home with family rm, breakfast bar, deluxe built-in kitchen, carpeting, drapes, big patio & an immense GI loan anyone can assume. Just listed so be first to call HA 9-5921 — Key at 3010 Woodruff Ave.

THE MOST ALLURING FAMILY ROOM that we've seen in ages. Imagine the warmth of paneled walls & raised hearth fireplace plus the convenience of a wet bar, 3 bedrooms, 2 baths of course & one of those stunning kitchens. Big patio & choice landscaping. For a treat call GE 3-7493 — Key at 2060 Bellflower Blvd.

STATE COLLEGE

TO TELL THE TRUTH — the price is right on this attractive 3 bedroom, 2 bath beauty with handsome birch cabinets & colorful ceramic tile drainboards. Sliding glass doors lead to covered lanai. Carpeting, drapes & curtains thruout — all this at $27,900 makes it a best buy in College Park Estates. Call HA 5-1214 — Key at 4100 Bellflower Blvd.

ANOTHER OF THOSE 2 BATH HOMES FOR JUST $16,750 — Only ½ mile to State College & the last two we had like it lasted less than a week. Carpets? Yes. Drapes? Yes. Better call now? Yes, GE 3-7493 — Key at 2060 Bellflower Blvd.

NOTE May We Remind You

... that, if the home you are seeking is not found in the above list, please feel free to call on any office to show you others from our showcase of over 400 fine, exclusively listed homes.

LAKEWOOD

COUNTRY SIZE LOT & 40 FT. PATIO with fruit trees galore creates real country atmosphere. An unusually clean & neat 2 bedroom home that fits the newlyweds or senior citizen equally well. Price? A ridiculous $13,900. Call HA 1-1211 — Key at 5349 Woodruff Ave.

WE GUARANTEE IT'S THE BIGGEST MESS YOU'LL EVER SEE — A dirty 3 bedroom home with absolutely no appeal. But we also guarantee it as a money maker for those who are short on cash but long on ambition. We won't even emphasize that it is only $13,950. Be first to call GE 4-7426 — Key at 5201 E. Pac. Coast Hwy.

LOS ALTOS

ONE OF THOSE BEAUTIFUL CORNERS WITH THE ADDITIONS COMPLETE — Huge paneled family rm with big stone fireplace, enlarged kitchen with full size eating area, 20 feet of service porch & storage area & oh yes, 3 bedrooms & 2 baths. Just 1 blk from elementary & Jr. High too. Call HA 9-5921 — Key at 3010 Woodruff Ave.

CITY COLLEGE

TROPICAL INFLUENCE! — 3 bedroom & 12x20 den with huge fireplace — 2 baths — forced heat — the liberal use of glass, natural hard woods & stone adds just the right touch to 1700 sq. ft. of family living. Just $21,950 & all terms available. Call HA 5-1214 — Key at 4100 Bellflower Blvd.

PLAZA AREA

EL DORADO PARK & GOLF COURSE are neighbors of this 3 bedroom, 2 bath home that's only a five minute walk to Millikan Hi & large shopping center too. With its location, price tag & appointments it will sell today. Don't miss this one too. Call HA 1-1211 — Key at 5349 Woodruff Ave.

REALTOR OF THE WEEK

DONALD L. SCHWENN was born in Inglewood, California, 1931, moved to Long Beach in 1940. Married to Barbara June. Three children, James 10, Randy 6, and Chris 1 yr. Self-employed for the past 13 years. Has been a Real Estate Broker for the past two years at 1730 E. Anaheim, HE 5-2411.

Mr. Schwenn and his 10 Salesmen are extremely active in income property and construction in the Long Beach area to the extent they find they must build a new and much larger office which will be located at 915 Redondo Ave.

Don is chairman of the PILOT HOUSE COMMITTEE, a realtor week project to remodel the Salvation Army Lodge at 216 Redondo Ave. All of the Realtors and associates have donated their time and money to remodel this lodge for the benefit of needy families. Chairman of the ATTENDANCE AND RECEPTION COMMITTEE, and active member of several other committees. Member of the CHAMBER OF COMMERCE, ELKS 888.

Don says his proudest moment was when he became a REALTOR.

We Have the Finest Used Cars in Southern California
We Say This Without Fear of Contradiction

HERE IS OUR PROCEDURE FOR OUR SAFE-BUY USED CARS

1. Wash motor and chassis
2. Inspection by foreman.
3. Motor compression test for rings and valves.
4. Transmission and rear end tested and checked.
5. New rings, bearings, piston pins, clutches, replaced as needed.
6. Carburetor, distributor checked and tested.
7. The car is road tested.
8. Oil changed and parts lubricated to factory specifications.
9. Wheels pulled — check the brake lining.
10. Front end examined and necessary correction made.
11. Upholstery completely renovated.
12. Tires checked, made to meet our specifications, which should be good for approximately 10,000 miles.

Outside

SOME TIME IN 1964, a flight-size chunk of outer space will come to earth in Huntington Beach. It will resemble the earth's atmosphere at an altitude of 475 miles; its temperature will be minus 320 degrees Farenheit. And it will be contained in a 39-foot steel ball mounted on a 10-foot-thick concrete foundation. The steel ball will be the principal research tool at the $8 million Douglas Missile and Space Systems Division, now under construction on a 245-acre site at Bolsa Chica Road and Bolsa Avenue. Known as the Earth-Orbit Simulator, it will enable engineers to test life-size prototype equipment under actual operating conditions. It will include a centrifuge and vibration bed for torture testing, and heating equipment capable of raising the temperature to 350 degrees F. The entire top of the chamber will lift off to permit installation of equipment as big as 30 feet in diameter. The space chamber has begun to take shape. Above, viewed through a porthole in one of the chamber sections, a workman welds part of the outer hull. At right, workmen supervise pouring of foundation amid a forest of steel reinforcing.

New Battery Plant Has Open House for Fullerton Leaders

By VERN ANTHONY
Southland Progress Editor

FULLERTON — Newcomer on the Fullerton industrial scene, Globe-Union, Inc., now has its new battery plant in full-dress operation at 1550 E. Kimberly Ave.

Globe moved from Vernon earlier this year and occupies the six-acre facilities formerly used by Standard Products.

Company management was host to press and civic representatives at an open house tour and luncheon the past week.

• • • •

"WE ARE PLEASED to have such a fine organization add to our industrial growth," commented Mayor Burton Herbst.

Plant Manager T. M. Croxton observed that the plant is one of the most modern battery manufacturing operations in the nation.

Other company officials present included W. T. Warrender, president of the battery division of Globe-Union, which has headquarters in Milwaukee; R. G. Hottenson, vice president of manufacturing; and W. E. Anderson, sales executive.

• • • •

WARRENDER commented on the desirable location of the Fullerton plant and expressed the company's pleasure with having been able to

'IMPACT'

Newsletter Started by C of C

First issue of "IMPACT," a monthly newsletter summarizing vital legislative issues, was published the past week by the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce Public Affairs Department.

"IMPACT," which stands for "Important Measures Pending Action — Communicate Today," was distributed to the entire membership.

Purpose of the newsletter, according to President Orville W. Cole, is to inform members on such issues as tax reduction, compulsory health care, federal subsidies for education, welfare benefits, federal wage fixing, transportation problems, capital punishment and the 35-hour work week.

"Of the many thousands of bills dropped in legislative hoppers each year, some have placed our business in an adverse position," stated Cole. "Many could have been introduced and promoted that would augment better climates for business and industry.

"Many bad bills get through and many good bills get defeated because we did not take the initiative to inform ourselves and then voice our opinions through our elected representatives. Purpose of this newsletter is to remedy the situation."

Motel, Restaurant Sold for $500,000

Sale of the Royal Lancer Motel and adjacent Century Room, bar and restaurant, at Broadway and Magnolia Ave. is announced by Attorney Patrick Phelan, one of the owners. He reported the sales price was $500,000.

Opened last June, the motel and restaurant drew big patronage. There are 35 units in the motel. C. Robert Langslet, a contractor, was co-owner.

The new owners are Herbert and Dorothy Schauer who have been operators of the Viking Motel near Disneyland, Phelan said.

A LITTLE PAINT SURE MAKES A BIG DIFFERENCE

Former Ocean Blvd. Eyesore Becomes Sparkling Improvement

JUST A PIG WITHOUT ANY WHISTLE
Here's How Building Looked Before Cleanup Started

There's really a new look on Ocean Blvd., thanks to the cleanup program of the Downtown Long Beach Associates.

The old Pig 'n Whistle building just east of the Breakers International has undergone a transformation that seems to sparkle the entire area.

Once the home of the most popular cafeteria in Long Beach, the building of late has been unoccupied and the exterior walls had been a mass of old political posters and signs.

Gene Shidler of Laguna Beach, the owner, Fred Miller, owner of the Breakers and the Downtown Long Beach Associates, cooperated in sharing the cost of sandblasting, removing fake palm trees and repainting the structure.

• • • •

JOE SHUFF, DLBA president, explained that it has been difficult to lease the structure since it was vacated by Heidi's Village because a much-needed roadway to the Arena may result in condemnation of the property. No potential lessee would assume that kind of a risk, he added.

Contract for the work was awarded to Joe Scott on his lowest of bids received. The structure is being painted to blend with the attractive new look of the Breakers.

The sandblasting uncovered varied signs showing the structure had been occupied by Heidi's Village, Pig n' Whistle, Ericson's Cafe and Restaurant.

Huntington Beach Sets New Building Marks

New construction in Huntington Beach is running almost 70 per cent ahead of 1962, a year that set an all-time Orange County record for the oil city.

Building permit valuation for the first three months of 1963 stood at $16,306,422, compared to $9,610,991 for the comparable period last year. The 1962 year-end total was $66.5 million, a higher figure than ever recorded in any city in the county.

• • • •

LAST MONTH accounted for $3,624,175 of this year's total to date. Residential construction still is responsible for more than half of all construction valuation.

During March alone, 221 permits valued at $2,693,306 were issued for single-family dwellings.

Other major items were a car agency, $87,760; a 137-space trailer park, $246,600; stores and shops, $78,700; a heating and refrigeration plant, $75,000; an 8-unit apartment, $72,520; and a warehouse, $70,000.

• • • •

THE LATTER permit was issued during the past week to Freeway Industrial Park. The 24,000-square-foot structure will be built at 16072 Gothard St.

Other major developments during the week:

Permits to Frank Capocci-ama, for 3,520 square feet of stores at 19202-06 Beach Blvd., $19,360; Thomas Pickard, residence at 3291 Faulkland Circle, $28,457; and Glenn Grandstaff, swimming pool at 10181 Halawa St., $2,300.

Irvine Exec to Address Appraisers

Details of the planning for a large branch of the University of California on Irvine Company property in Orange County will be told at the Society of Real Estate Appraisers dinner meeting Wednesday.

Speaker will be William H. Spurgeon III, Irvine vice president in charge of university development.

The dinner and program will be in the Red Velvet Room of the Lafayette Hotel, at 6:30 p.m.

Spurgeon, a resident of Newport Beach, is grandson of the founder of Santa Ana and is active in civic affairs. He is internationally known in Boy Scout work.

HERE'S HOW ARCHITECT'S NEW OFFICE BUILDING WILL LOOK

Architect to Build New L.B. Offices

Plans for construction of a new office building at 3375 Long Beach Blvd. have been announced by Hugh Gibbs, prominent Southland architect.

HUGH GIBBS

The one-story structure will set back 57 feet from the boulevard, making possible a landscaped forecourt with trees and flower beds.

Exterior walls will be entirely of glass, Gibbs said, and will be surrounded by a roof-high stucco wall. The area between will contain lush tropical plantings.

There will be a new-type electronic telephone and communications system, and air conditioning. The layout will include drafting rooms, offices, conference rooms, display quarters and a library.

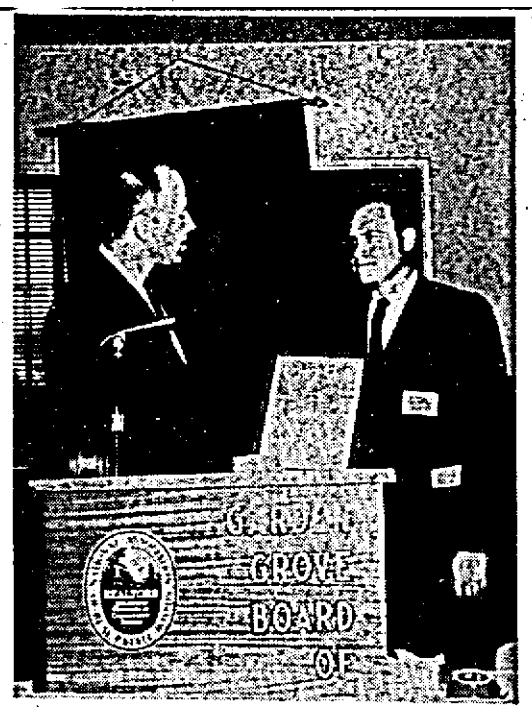

• • • •

GIBBS HAS been a Long Beach architect for 32 years. His son Donald is now with him.

In announcing his expansion plans, Gibbs expressed confidence in the future growth of this area.

His office presently is occupied in planning for the proposed new Long Beach Naval Hospital and the 33-story Taper Tower apartment building; and is working on the 14-story John Brown apartment structure and the seven-story Toledo Tower apartment, both under construction.

Contractors for the new office building are Millie and Severson.

GARDEN GROVE MAN HONORED

Milkes of Garden Grove Board of Realtors for topping 1,200 institute representatives in gaining new members. Milkes also was given a present. Institute is educational arm of National Association of Real Estate Brokers. Milkes is treasurer of the Grove realtor board of directors and operates Landmark Realty.

Incomes Increase

According to Business Week's Measure of Personal Income, the year opened with a handsome 6.1 per cent increase in personal income over January, 1962. Individuals' income from all sources posted advances over the previous January in every state and the District of Columbia.

Arkansas ran off with top honors among the states. Partly, this increase results from the better weather Arkansas had this January. But it's also due to a tremendous increase in public works.

Several of Arkansas' depressed regions qualify under the Public Works Acceleration Act passed last year by Congress. So there's a substantial upsurge in work on schools, hospitals, roads, sewerage, and other government backed programs.

• • • •

MISSISSIPPI and Montana tied for second place, with 14.2 per cent gains scored in each state.

Montana boasted sizable expansion in lumber, in industries that have grown up around the state's Minuteman missile installations, and among special trade construction workers.

In California, personal income in January totaled $4,206.7 million. This was an increase of 7.8 per cent over January, 1962. California was second to New York's $4,301.7 million.

222 Acre Sale Made

Laguna Niguel officials have announced sale of 222 acres of choice view property to Douglass Construction Co., a prominent San Clemente builder. The selling price was reported as approximately $2 million.

The land, located on two plateaus above Niguel Terrace, provides views of the coastline and overlooks the El Niguel Country Club golf course.

It will be accessible from Crown Valley Parkway, now being constructed diagonally across the 7½ mile length of Laguna Niguel to connect Pacific Coast Highway (101A) with the Santa Ana-San Diego Freeway.

Douglass Construction Co., currently is constructing and selling some 200 homes in San Clemente.

Santa Fe Drilling Gains in Revenues

Both gross revenue and net income of Santa Fe Drilling Comp. and subsidiary companies for 1962 were the highest in the company's history, Ed L. Shannon, Jr., president, has reported.

Net income for 1962 amounted to $2,196,000 or $1.46 per share as compared to $1,484,000 equal to $.99 per share for the previous year. Gross revenue for 1962 totaled $24,276,000.

Shannon stated that the increase in gross revenue and net income is attributable to the commencement of gas sales in May 1962 from the Sutter-Buttes field and to increased contract drilling revenues.

Anaheim School Additions Start

ANAHEIM — Construction has begun here at the Cornelia Connelly School on addition including a multi-purpose building, and a library-administration building.

The new structures will cover an area of 15,500 square feet and cost is estimated at $230,000. Balch-Hutchason-Perkins are architects for the project.

The existing school, which was opened in the fall of 1961, features a 10-classroom unit built around an open patio, a science laboratory, a convent for the sisters which contains a student chapel, a large parking lot and athletic fields.

The new school addditions are scheduled for completion in July.

D. S. DARLING
Office Chief

CHARLES KARSTE
Assistant Manager

2 Named to Bank Posts

Donald S. Darling recently was appointed manager and Charles S. Karste assistant manager of First Western Bank's Pacific office in Long Beach, according to Darwin A. Holway, president of this statewide bank with 67 offices throughout California.

Darling succeeds Harold T. Lacey who has been named vice president and manager of the 17th and Main Street office in Santa Ana.

Formerly assistant manager of First Western's Long Beach main office, Darling had 25 years of banking experience in Canada prior to joining First Western.

Karste came to First Western in 1957, and until his appointment as assistant manager of the Pacific office, he was assistant manager of the Lakewood branch.

Wins Promotion

Promotion of Arthur D. Holley to assistant cashier of the Pasadena main office of United California Bank has been announced by Frank L. King, board chairman. Mr. and Mrs. Holley live at 204 Ximeno Ave., Long Beach.

Alpha Beta Exec Retires

LA HABRA—W. C. Cheverton, senior vice president corporate secretary, retired from Alpha Beta Acme Markets, Inc., effective April 1, Claude W. Edwards, president has announced.

Cheverton had more than 20 years of service with the company.

Lyle V. Boyd, vice president, was elected by the Board of Directors as new corporate secretary. Boyd will add this responsibility to his other vice presidential duties.

Edwards also announced appointment of Arthur J. Lucey, director of Public and Community Relations, as assistant to the president in addition to his present duties.

Finishes Course In Management

James H. Hubbard, manager, Long Beach Branch of Jefferson Standard Life Insurance Co., received his diploma the past week from an extensive course in the 218th LIAMA (Life Insurance Agency Management Association) School of Agency Management.

The school was held at Pasadena March 18-29, with an attendance of 80 managers from all life insurance companies of the United States and Canada.

LIAMA is owned and operated by over 350 United States and Canadian life insurance companies.

Hawthorne Firm Adds to Holdings

HAWTHORNE — Teledyne, Inc., Hawthorne, has acquired privately-owned Aerial Control Geotronics of Monterey Park through an exchange of stock, it has been announced jointly by Dr. Henry E. Singleton, president of Teledyne, and Albert V. Cocking, president of Aerial Control Geotronics.

Dr. Singleton said Aerial Control Geotronics, specializing in precision geodetic surveying, has developed a comprehensive mapping system which employs advanced electronic, photogrammetric and digital computer techniques.

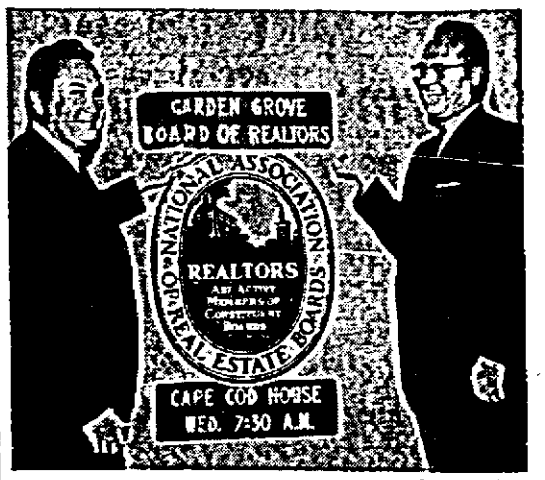

• • • •

MAJOR CUSTOMERS include the oil, electric utility and communications industries as well as various government agencies.

Aerial Control Geotronics, currently doing business at the rate of $1 million a year, will be operated as a division of Teledyne with Cocking as president of the division. Present personnel will be retained.

Teledyne, founded in 1960, develops and manufactures communications and control equipment, computer systems and electronic components, maintaining production facilities in Hawthorne, Los Angeles, Inglewood, Bellflower and Mountain View.

IN FRIENDLY VALLEY
Jerome Snyder (left), president of the Signature Development Co., who has built and sold more than $100 million worth of homes, and Vern Anthony, Southland Progress editor, hold artist's rendering of Friendly Valley senior citizens development being built a few miles northeast of Newhall.

New Senior Citizens Project Under Way

Construction is under way just off Highway 6 northeast of Newhall on a $40 million senior citizens community dedicated as Friendly Valley.

The project is on part of 500 acres acquired from comedian Bob Hope by the Signature Development Co., subsidiary of Pacific Coast Properties, Inc., which is headed by Harry L. Pierson.

At a recent dedication gathering, Supervisor Warren Dorn saluted Jerome Snyder, Signature president, and in response Snyder praised his "management team"—Russell O. Kubovec, David Zaid and Albert Markoff — "for painstaking research, weighing, measuring, planning and creating a master plan for retirement living before we launched Friendly Valley, which we are confident will become a new standard of excellence."

• • • •

FRIENDLY VALLEY is being built in an oak-dotted hilly area just 15 minutes north of San Fernando. There will be a senior citizen community of one and two-bedroom garden apartments, with more than 3,000 units.

Snyder said that "along with the 105-foot swimming pool, therapeutic pool, golf course, all facilities at Friendly Valley have been tailor-made for the senior citizen. The nine-hole golf course, designed by a famous course architect, will be ready for play this fall."

There will be an auditorium accommodating 600 persons, various buildings for arts and crafts, bowling greens, shuffleboard courts, library, lounge, community kitchen and game rooms as well as a complete eight-acre shopping center with free hourly transportation to and from dwellings.

Snyder said Signature plans to sell apartments on a condominium basis and each buyer will have a deed to his particular apartment as well as a share of community facilities.

• • • •

HAROLD D. WINN, 65, former production manager of the Hollywood Citizen-News, will serve as administrator.

"We are not encumbering our Friendly Village Association at this time with a medical plan. This is not a home for the aged," Snyder said.

Snyder has been building homes in Southern California for 14 years, and has built and sold more than $100 million worth of homes to date.

For the first six years Signature Development Co. concentrated its home building activity in Orange County. Then it moved to the San Fernando Valley, from there into Santa Barbara County and finally into Los Angeles County.

Bankers Named to Committee Tasks

Committee appointments for 1963 of the Independent Bankers Association of Southern California have been announced by the association's president, Robert C. Yeary, president of the Pacific State Bank of Hawthorne.

Donald P. Walker, assistant vice president of the Farmers and Merchants Bank, has been chairman of the Industrial Committee; Dwight Robbins, president of the Coast Bank, has been named a member of the Reception Committee; and Dick Dickinson, vice president of Farmers and Merchants Bank, and Ken McLaren, assistant vice president of Farmers and Merchants Bank, both were named members of the Workshop Committee.

Trees for Tomorrow

To help conserve the nation's reserves of white oak timber, Schenley Industries, Inc., recently planted 10,000 white oak seedlings on its plantation in northern Louisiana. The planting is believed to be the largest in history.

New Lakewood Office Planned by Savings Firm

Announcement of a new Lakewood office for Great Western Savings and Loan Association was made at the recent anniversary luncheon marking the savings institution's fifth year in the community.

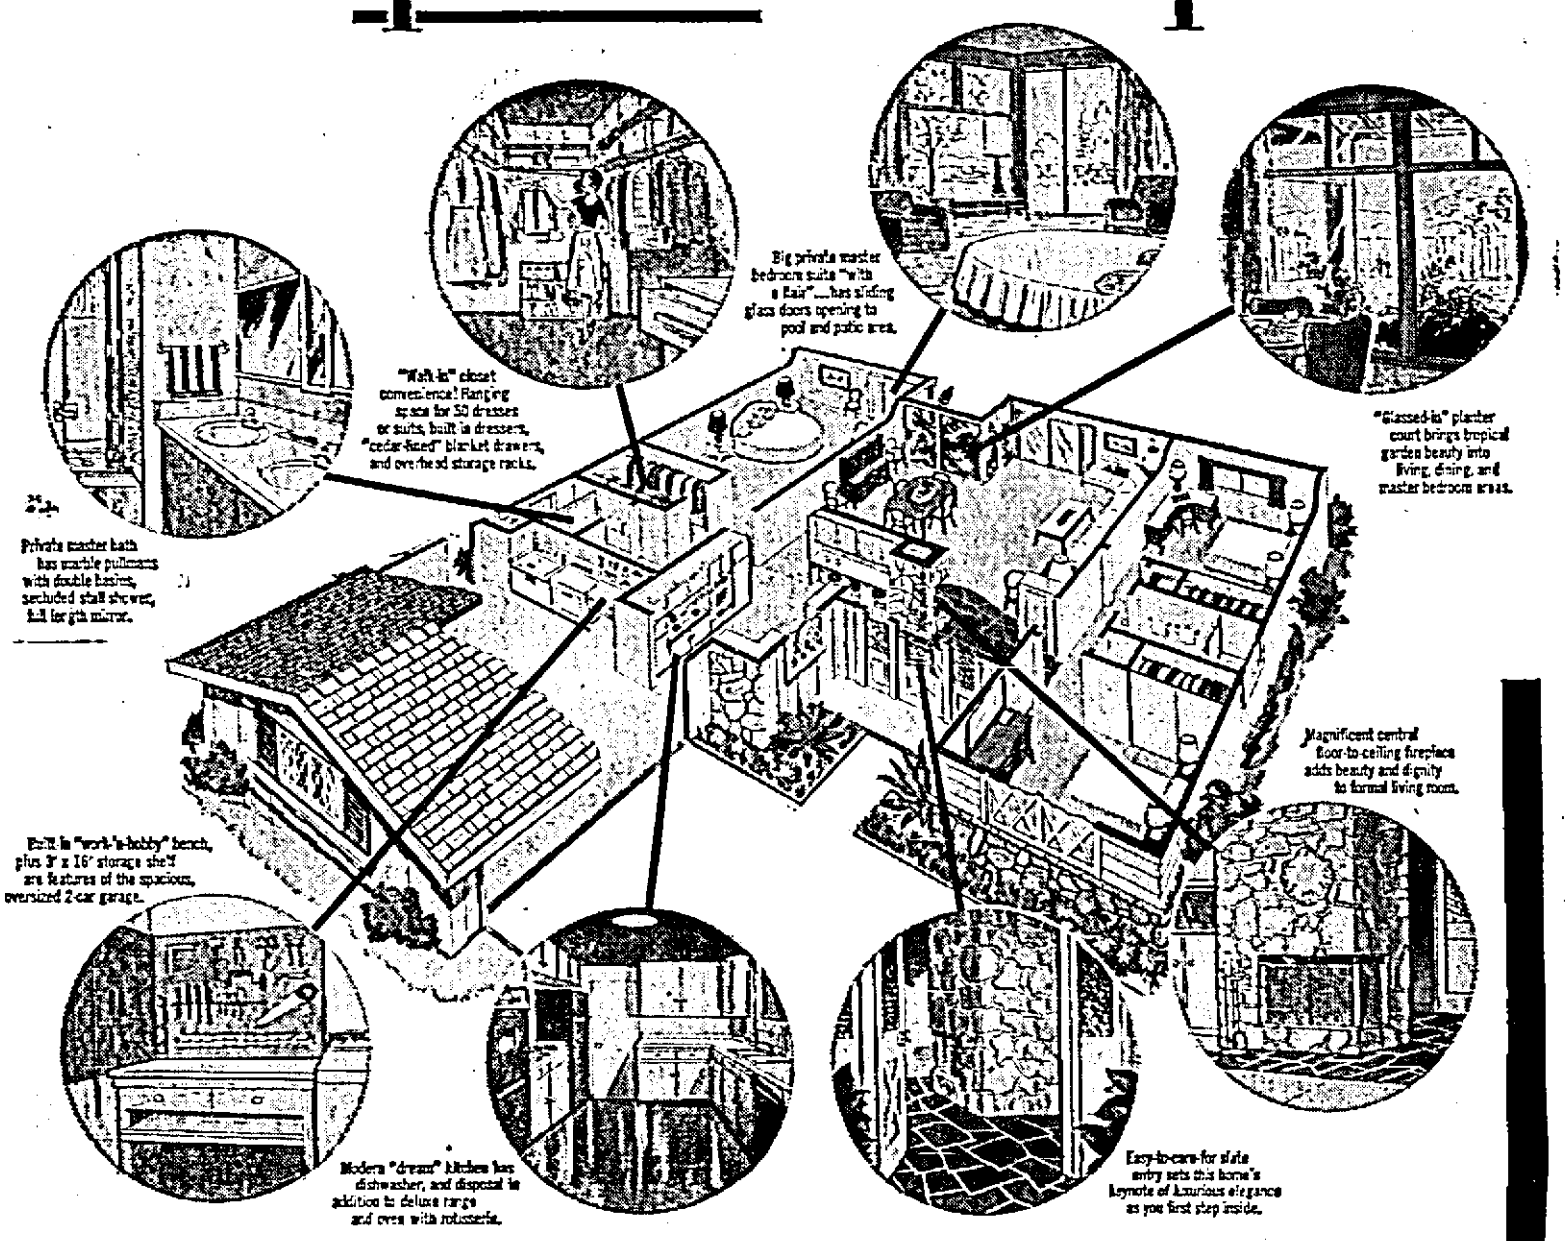

Ground was broken for the project the past week.

Arthur Gilbert & Associates Beverly Hills developer, will build the new 7,000 square foot office building for Great Western Savings at the corner of Lakewood Boulevard and Candlewood Street.

John H. Martin, executive vice president of the association, told the luncheon guests that the new building would be a "see-through" office structure with 5,866 square feet of glass wall.

There will be no verticle supports inside the building, which is to be surrounded by a terrazo concourse. The Lakewood office will have a special drivein teller window.

We're proud of this plan!

TALKING BUSINESS

secure such facilities and its new installation.

Total investment in the Fullerton plant was estimated at $1,500,000 with an average year-round employment of 100 people.

Although the Globe-Union concern acquired the property in December, 1961, the installation of new equipment and the transfer of productive operations were not completed until January of this year.

• • • •

THE FULLERTON PLANT is one of 13 Globe-Union battery manufacturiing facilities. Two other divisions, Globe Centralab Electronics division and Wico Special Products, comprise the parent corporation.

Centralab manufactures a wide range of electronic components while the Wico division produces ignition equipment, automotive and marine accessories and the nationally-known line of Globe roller skates.

Employes and their families were guests last Sunday afternoon for a tour of the Fullerton plant and for refreshments. Special customer groups also were invited to visit the plant later in the week.

MACHINE DESIGNED BY GLOBE ENGINEERS
This battery manufacturing equipment, being operated by Mike Garcia in new Globe-Union plant at Fullerton, is known as the "cast-on-strap" machine. It was designed and built by Globe engineers and automatically forms the posts and connecting lead straps directly onto battery plates, a much faster operation than previously possible.

Sales Gain by 39%

Ellis-Schrader Real Estate Inc., continued its record-setting last month when March sales brought the first quarter 1963 total up 39% higher than the first three months of 1962.

Eighty-six pieces of property were sold last month making it the greatest March sales total in the company's 12-year history.

J. Tyson Ellis, president of the company, attributed the increase largely to the company's sales policy which is keyed to a seven weeks school for all new employes.

"There are a few real estate firms on the West Coast which conduct licensing schools but we feel that it is more important to teach our personnel the real real estate work which comes after the licensing," Ellis said.

Jerry Reeds teaches the new E-S people three mornings a week. She has been with the company eight years and concentrates the instruction on financing, escrow, title and appraisal work.

March Busy Month for Penney Company

March proved one of the busiest months in more than a year for J. C. Penney Company, which moved into high gear in its store modernization and expansion program, the firm has disclosed.

The department store chain of nearly 1,700 stores opened two large, full-line department stores, expanded five others and moved two established stores to new buildings.

March 21 marked the opening of two of the company's largest operations — the 97,500 square foot Anchorage, Alaska, store, the largest retail establishment in the 49th state, and the new 114,000 square foot department store in Price's Corner Shopping Center in suburban Wilmington, Del.

• • • •

PENNEY'S MOVED its Boulder, Colo., store from the downtown business district to the Crossroads Shopping Center. The new Boulder store, three-and-a-half times the area of the former downtown store, totals 56,000 square feet.

The company's Williamsport, Pa., store also was moved to a new location. It increased its total area by some 6,000 square feet or 27 per cent.

During the company's past fiscal year (ended Jan. 31) Penney's opened 15 stores, moved 15 established stores to new buildings and expanded 25 other stores.

Plans also call for opening Penney's first tires, batteries and automobile accessories operations in 1963, many of them "free-standing" units adjacent to or near existing stores.

The number of Penney stores in operation at the end of March was 1,685.

L.B. Man to Head Plumber Meeting

The 62nd annual convention of the Associated Plumbing Contractors of California will be held at the Flamingo Hotel in Las Vegas, April 23-25.

Officers of the association are: Richard A. Willits, Long Beach, president; Lloyd Hudson, National City, vice president; Henry Berger, San Jose, secretary-treasurer; and J. D. Mack, San Francisco, executive secretary.

Sugden Takes Post With Alco-Pacific

Alco-Pacific Construction Co., Inc., a pioneer Westminster firm that has built and subdivided over $30,000,000 worth of homes in Southern California, has named Ed Sugden to the post of loan coordinator.

SUGDEN

Sugden, 51, was a loan representative for Belmont Saving & Loan in Long Beach and a vice-president of Security Title Co. in Orange County prior to his new appointment.

He is a native son, and resides in Laguna Beach with his wife and daughter.

Alco-Pacific, which builds homes bearing its Sol Vista name, is presently engaged in developing a 160-acre site at the corner of Westminster Blvd. and Bolsa Chica in Westminster. This International Home Fair master planned community will contain 565 homes, a school, a park site and be adjacent to a proposed giant shopping center.

U.P. Orders Dozen New Locomotives

The General Electric Company has announced that the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railroad Company has ordered 12 of General Electric's 2,500 hp U25B diesel-electric locomotives.

The 14-state system plans to use these new, powerful locomotives for high speed, main line freight service.

Delivery of the locomotives will begin in May.

Emrich Opens New Office in Wrigley Area

Realtor Bob Emrich, 4166 Norse Way in Lakewood Village, has announced opening of a second office at 495 W. Willow St. in the Wrigley district.

Emrich said his new office would be fully staffed and that he would divide his time between the two locations.

Explaining his expansion, he said gross sales for the firm had doubled for the first three months of 1963 as compared to the similar period in '62.

Emrich is a member of the Long Beach District Board of Realtors and has been operating in this area about 5½ years. He specializes in home and income property resales.

Long Beach Firm Winner of Award

Industrial Safety Eyed by Builders' Exchange

Industrial accident "Loss Control" as related to the construction industry will be the subject of the general membership meeting of the Builders' Exchange of Long Beach Monday at 6:30 p.m. in the Lafayette Hotel, with officials of the State Compensation Insurance Fund as speakers.

Palmer W. Power, A.I.A., architect and president of the Builders' Exchange, has extended an invitation to all contractors in the harbor area to attend the dinner meeting and the program.

"E. L. Reyes, district manager, and Paul Becker, Jr., safety engineer, of the Long Beach District office of the State Fund will discuss such subjects as "management's responsibility, accident prevention at work, the State Fund safety service, and economic costs to the contractor," Power stated.

The local program is an implementation of the mandatory rules laid down for all affiliated local Exchanges whose members are participants in the State Compensation Group Insurance policy, which is under the supervision of the California State Builders Exchange.

Japanese Girls to Give Program for L.B. Realtors

Two Japanese girls, in this country getting an education and attending Long Beach State College, will present the breakfast program Tuesday at the Long Beach District Board of Realtors regular meeting, according to Verne Morrill, April program chairman.

Honored guests at the breakfast, in the Crown cafeteria at 7:15 a.m., will be Dr. and Mrs. E. M. Duvall, who are sponsoring the girls in America.

Eiko Kitajima was graduated from the Kumamoto Women's University in Kumamoto City and was teaching in a church orphanage. She has been in the United States since June, 1961, and has completed three semesters work toward a master's degree in education. She will speak on the way she wishes to use her education received in America to help her country.

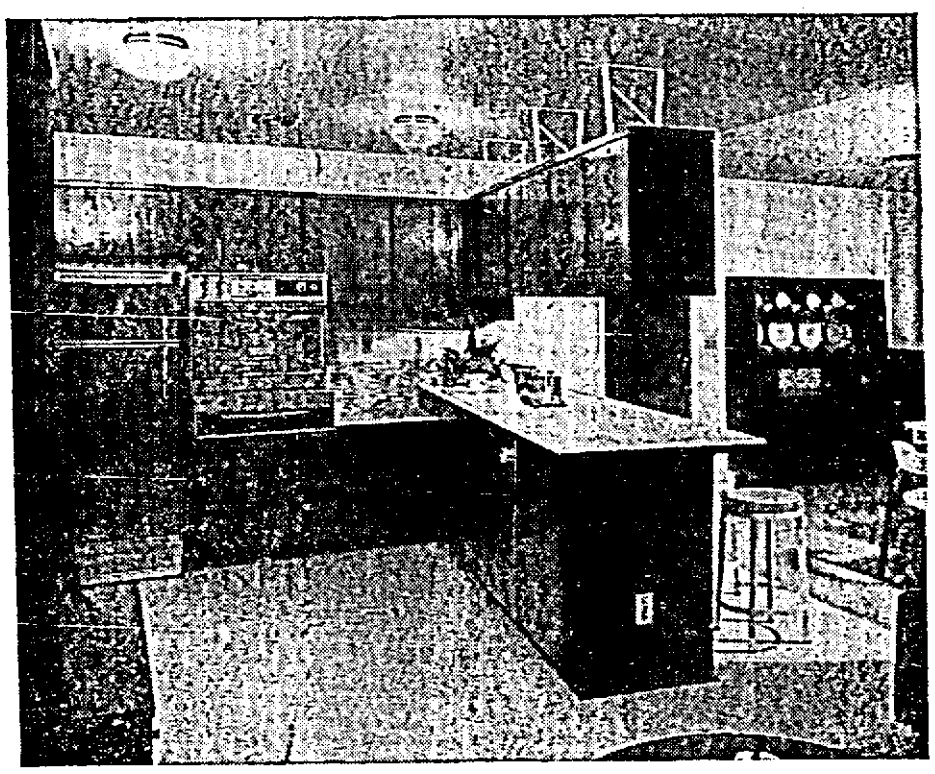

FEATURED ON PROGRAM

These Japanese girls, Eiko Kitajima and Keiko Ito, will be featured on Long Beach realty breakfast program Tuesday.

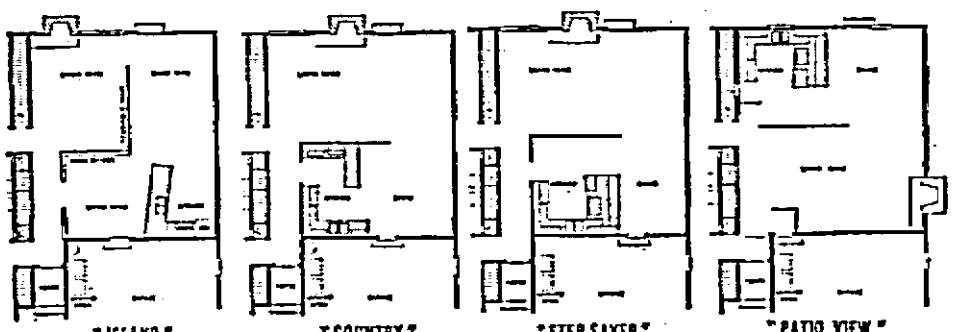

Keiko Ito was graduated from Gakushuin University, Tokyo, and also is taking graduate work at Long Beach State since arriving in the United States last September. She will present a few Japanese dances.

New Addition Open at Newporter Inn

A colorful ribbon-cutting ceremony marked the opening of the new 103-room addition to the multi-million dollar Newporter Inn resort hotel. Local dignitaries and civic officials were in attendance with Mayor Charles Hart of Newport Beach officiating along with Costa Mesa Mayor A. L. Pinkley, Newporter Inn president George D. Buccola, Mrs. Buccola, and the hotel's vice president, William Munce.

• • • •

WITH THE HOTEL operating all winter at full capacity, the new wing was pushed to completion more than two months ahead of schedule for Easter week occupancy. In addition to the 103 rooms, there are 9 suites plus two conference rooms with a capacity of 50 persons each. The rooms are decorated in alternating color schemes of red, olive green, and gold, and include air conditioning, radio, television, and "message light" telephones.

With a total now of 225 rooms, the Newporter Inn facilities are more than adequate for conventions and other large functions. Private villas are available on the hotel grounds, plus several restaurants and cocktail lounges, and nine-hole lighted golf course. The Newporter Inn is at Jamboree Road and Hwy. 101, overlooking Newport Bay, in Newport Beach.

Values of Marketing Research Pointed Up by Ex-L.B. Man

By VERN ANTHONY
Southland Progress Editor

A former Long Beach resident, Don Wells, a graduate of Wilson High School in 1947, is playing a major role in modern business techniques.

In many businesses, flow of information usually is from the front office to the consumer. But marketing research, which is Wells' field, provides information for industry and is becoming a more important tool of American business.

Wells heads a task force to gather such knowledge at Sparkletts Drinking Water Corp.

• • • •

FROM information learned and interpreted by Wells and his staff—and by similar marketing research departments in many progressive companies — management is able to make decisions which save cost, mistakes and wasted effort and ultimately provide products and services more efficiently and at lower cost.

Wells, who now lives in Covina, has been manager of Marketing Research at Sparklets, world's largest bottled water company, since April, 1961.

He and his wife, Mary Elizabeth, have two sons, Jerry Allen, 15, and Robert Michael, 7.

Mrs. Well's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Tietsort, 5418 Rosebay Street, Long Beach; and Wells has a sister, Mrs. John Newbrough, living at 609 Malabar Drive, Corona Del Mar.

• • • •

IN HIS WORK, Wells says, research often must go far afield; but the knowledge gained directly affects the service received by the customer.

By the learning the times its drivers were most apt to get hurt on the job, for example, Sparkletts was able to plan exactly how to cool off the accident "hot spots."

Aside from the humanitarian considerations, prevention of accidents results in uninterrupted service to consumers and saves money for both the employe and the company, Wells pointed out. This is reflected in lower prices and better service to the public.

• • • •

VIRTUALLY ALL decisions of Sparklets management — like those in many modern firms—are based upon information gathered and interpreted by Wells' Research Department.

Much of the fact-finding is done with an eye to the future.

A prime example is plant or warehouse location, usually determined eight to ten years in advance, Wells said.

This research involves learning where the population is now and where it will be in the future so the company can be waiting with proper facilities to say "welcome" when the people arrive.

• • • •

BUT, he added, that isn't enough. The company also must know the type of people that will arrive. A warehouse filled with distilled water, preferred primarily by persons over 50 years of age, would not be feasible to service an area in which most of the residents are young married couples with small children. They prefer a water containing fluoride because of its benefits in reducing tooth decay among children.

From time studies, too, comes knowledge of work loads, vital in the planning of service routes.

• • • •

RESEARCH specialists must figure the time to walk upstairs when a delivery man must do so . . . or to ride up an elevator.

A residential neighborhood where one or two bottles of water are delivered to each home means more stops can be scheduled during a workday than in a business section, where a dozen bottles may be left at one stop.

Wells said many areas of research are common to many businesses; others are specific.

His company has different problems to solve than firms like General Motors or AT&T, but all use basically the same research methods to learn the needs and desires of their customers and potential customers.

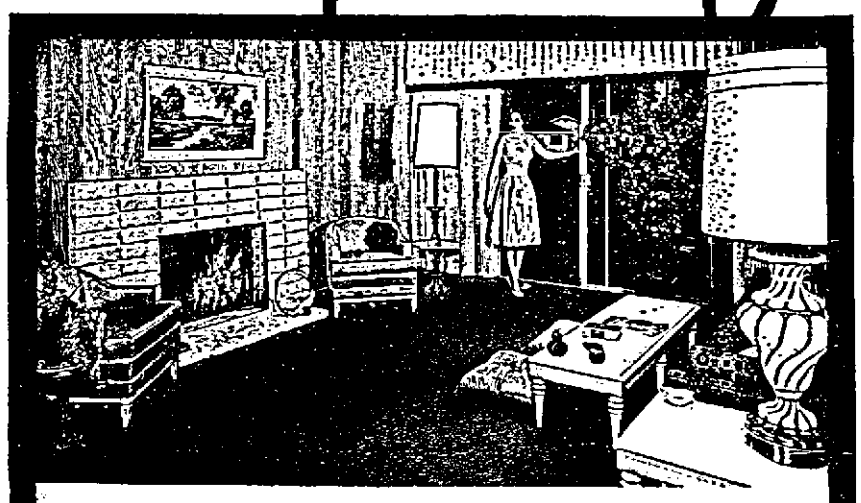

HE GATHERS INFORMATION
Long Beach native Don Wells uses slide rule to analyze statistics gathered by Research Department he heads at Sparkletts Drinking Water Corporation to guide management in decisions.

BELLFLOWER REALTY EVENT

C of C Heads to Help Judge Essay Contest

Cliff Arkell, chairman of the Bellflower District Board of Realtors essay contest has announced selection of the judges for the essay contest now being conducted by the board in the high schools within its jurisdictional boundaries.

The subject of the essay, as in the past two years, is, "The Home Is the Heart and Hope of the Nation" and students in the 9th, 10th, 11th and 12th grades at Artesia High, Valley Christian High, Mayfair High, Bellflower and Mayfair High, St. John Bosco High and Paramount Junior and Paramount High schools are eligible to enter.

The essays are limited to a maximum of 300 words, Arkell said, with a deadline of April 19th for delivery to the board office, but students are requested to enter through their school where the essays will be collected for delivery to the board.

Students entering have an opportunity to win from $25 to $100 in U. S. Savings Bonds.

• • • •

THE PRESIDENTS of the Chambers of Commerce of Artesia, Bellflower and Paramount have a greed to act as judges, the panel of judges being President Paul Smith, Artesia Chamber; John Corcoran, president, Bellflower Chamber; Richard Zamboni, president, Paramount Chamber; Oscar Littleton, chairman, Humanities Division, Cerritos College and Al Sykes, past president of the Bellflower District Board, who will act as chairman of the judges.

Littleton has served as a judge in this contest for several years.

Awards will be made at the breakfast meeting of the Bellflower board May 2 at Cerritos College.

Rosan Company Has New Exec

NEWPORT BEACH — Appointment of William B. Sketch, 53, as director of quality control at Rosan, Inc., 2901 W. Coast Highway, has been announced by Jose Rosan, president and founder of the company.

WM. SKETCH

Rosan manufactures precision fasteners for missiles, aircraft and spacecraft and for commercial applications.

Sketch succeeded Frank Kargl, one of Rosan's long time employes who retired Dec. 31.

Sketch was chief engineer and technical assistant to the general manager at Rosan's from 1956 to 1960. He was self-employed from 1960 to 1962, when he returned to the Rosan firm. The family home is at 243 Robinhood, Costa Mesa.

Orange County Builders to Meet

This month's Orange County Home Builders Association will feature an overall discussion of the "Tectonics Program," described as a positive method to produce good citizenship, free enterprise and an ethical man for the construction business.

The team presenting this program will be William "Bill" Spurgeon, vice president of the Irvine Co., Warren Sturdevant, vice president, Sturdevant Corp., and Edward Conway, drafting department of the Newport Beach High School, together with Robert Kellogg, Tectronic adviser of the Sturdevant Corp.

The meeting will be held at the Revere House, Santa Ana, at 6:30 p.m. Monday, with dinner being at 7:30.

It Is Easy to Own Garden Park Home

Garden Park Estates "1963 unit" of one and two-story luxury homes, in spite of its new values, new appointments and fresh new colors, still retains the very convenient and flexible financing that makes the homes "easy to own", officials emphasized.

Veterans have choice of VA loans with terms of nothing down except impounds and closing costs or Cal-Vet loans. Terms "for everyone", the spokesman said, offer good conventional loans as well as choice of 30 or 35-year FHA. Full prices for the luxuriously appointed, quality-built dwelling in this walled "city-within-a-city" are from $18,250 to $25,600.

SITUATED in one of Orange County's finest and fastest growing areas, Knott Ave. and Garden Grove Freeway, Garden Park Estates is a completely planned community.

POSSIBLY one of the most impressive facets of this community, is the range of floor plans that have been designed to meet the spatial requirements of families of virtually every size. In the one-story elevations there are plans with two bedrooms and a convertible den, and three and four bedrooms with family rooms and dining rooms, all with two baths.

In the Award-winning two-story models (actually encompassing two full floors), there are five spacious bedrooms and, a major attraction for buyers of these homes, two fireplaces.

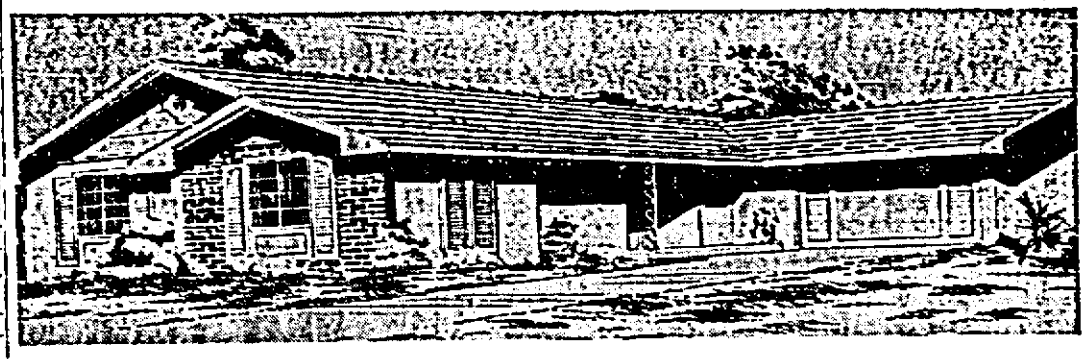

Wood burning fireplaces are also hospitable focal points in the spacious living rooms in the one-story dwellings.

Garden Park Estates and the model homes with their handsome furnishings are reached from Long Beach by driving east on Seventh St. past Long Beach State College straight to Knott Ave.

A GARDEN PARK ESTATE
In spite of the newness everywhere in Garden Park Estates "1963 unit" of luxurious one and two-story residences, the spacious, architect-designed homes are still available on a wide range of convenient financing plans. Living room pictured is in the award-winning, two-story model.

4-Bedroom Parliament Homes Offered

BIG WESTMINSTER HOME
Shown is one of several four-bedroom homes now on display in Unit 4 of Parliament Homes, a Westminster residential development by William Krueger and William Rousey, builders.

William Krueger and William Rousey, builders of Parliament Homes, announced there still are a select number of four-bedroom homes available in the new fourth unit located on Edinger and Cannery Roads in Westminster.

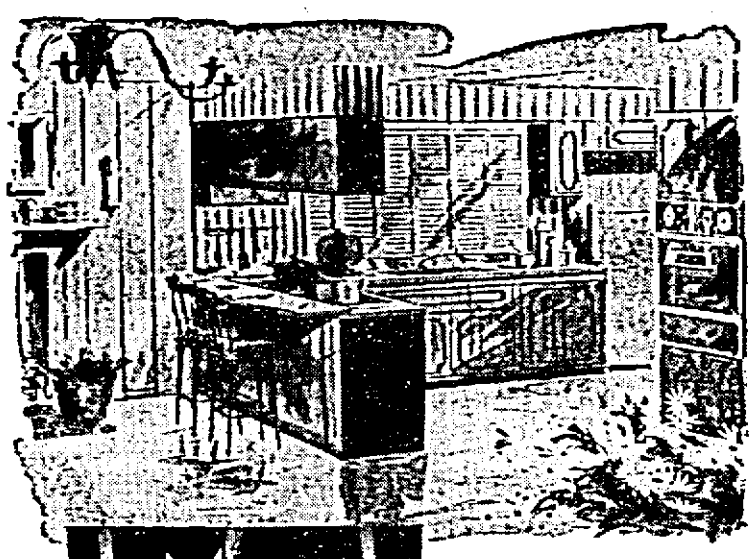

Priced from $16,650, vets may purchase one of these quality homes with only $90 down including costs. Lowest FHA down payment and conventional financing is also available. The rear yard is completely fenced and the front yard landscaped.

• • • •

POPULAR FEATURES in Parliament Homes include large entry hall, used brick or slumpstone fireplace, glass sliding patio door, oversize linen closet, generous closet space and ceramic tile in kitchen and baths. The Hotpoint all-electric kitchen has built-in push button range, wide oven, automatic dishwasher, and garbage disposer.

These four-bedroom homes have family room, dining room, two full baths, and oversize two-car garage. The homes are rapidly accessible to industrial areas and close to schools and shopping centers. Furnished model homes are open daily.

Appealing Kitchens Provided Santa Ana Park Estates

Unusually complete and attractive kitchens are cited by Park Estates home buyers as the feature which most appealed to them when selecting their homes.

The Santa Ana homes have exceptionally spacious kitchens with Frigidaire Flair built-in electric range and oven, garbage disposal and snack bars topped by latest pattern mosaic tile, plus separate breakfast area. The roomy lustrous ash cabinets feature rolling drawers and magnetic catches. Floors are of premium Gold Series vinyl tile.

The privacy of this walled-in community has also proved popular with families at Park Estates. The homes are available in one or two-story models with three, four or five bedrooms, all with two baths and family rooms.

Proximity to schools at every grade level, both parochial and public, has also proved to be a chief reason for brisk sales recently at the development, according to Lifetime Sales Corp., agents for the property.

PARK ESTATES is another series by the Henry C. Cox Co., the firm's 69th Orange County homes development for a total of more than 7000 homes in the area. Excellent financing is offered on these homes, priced from $19,950, including no down, GI; Cal Vet loans; FHA 5¼%—35 year, and 5¾% conventional loans.

Among the many luxury extras included in the homes are hardwood floors with aromatic cedar closet flooring; stone floor-to-ceiling fireplaces and special convertible wall panels, patented by Cox, to make possible individual room designs. Also offered are built-in color TV antenna, thermostatically controlled forced air heating with aluminum air conditioning ducts, oversized 2½ car garages and heavy cedar shingle roofs.

Five decorator furnished models are open daily for inspection at Park Estates, centrally located in one of Santa Ana's finest residential areas at Warner Ave. and Raitt St.

Sales in 8th Unit Soar

"Buy now for summer occupancy."

That is the theme at the new eighth unit of George M. Holstein and Sons' Westmont development in the Huntington Beach area where over one-fourth of the new group sold in less than two weeks, the builders said.

The big three and four-bedroom homes feature the oversize 440 square foot "Bonus Room" and are priced as low as $20,250 on both FHA and VA terms. The price includes the big Bonus Room that can be used by buyers for play room, rumpus area, den, giant master bedroom, or as many as three extra bedrooms, the pioneer building firm stressed.

• • • •

ALONG WITH the "Bonus Room" feature, the Westmont homes include fireplaces, built-in range and oven in color, title eating bars, silent light switches, paneling, ornamental light fixtures, and are offered in a wide range of exterior designs. Wood shake roofs, 7,200 square foot lots and cement driveways have also been hailed by record eighth unit buyers.

The Westmont community will include shopping, luxury garden apartments, schools, and parks in a unique and complete plan in the new city of Fountain Valley. The site is also within five minutes from Huntington Beach State Park.

To reach Westmont from Long Beach, take Seventh St. east to Hwy. 39, turn right just three miles to Warner. Go across the highway (left) on Warner about one mile to the tree-lined Westmont entry way.

Bank's Earnings Show 37.6% Gain

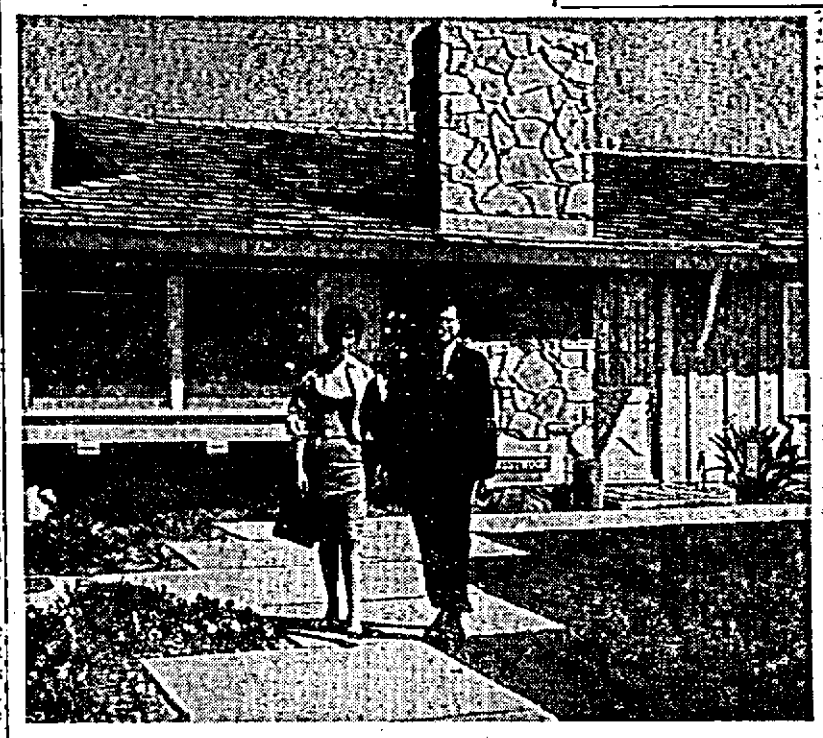

Earnings of United California Bank rose sharply during the first three months of 1963, reaching a new high for the initial quarter of $3,692,052, equal to 72c a share, Frank L. King, board chairman, has announced.

The first quarter net represents an increase of 36.7% over the 1962 figures when earnings amounted to $2,700,508 equal to 53c a share.

Seahaven Location Ideal

CHARM IN HOME
Warmth and charm is keynoted in this gracious living room at Seahaven Homes in Huntington Beach. The used brick fireplace is accented by a natural panelled wall background and the sliding glass doors invite indoor-outdoor living and give an added depth to the living room area.

More and more families are turning to a more relaxed way of living year around, according to Bob Hardesty who is marketing director for Deane Brothers, builders and developers of Seahaven Homes in Huntington Beach.

Driving a little further to work doesn't seem to matter at all, he added, for at Seahaven, they are located at the 'hub' of Orange County's existing and proposed freeway system, which makes commuting easy to areas such as Long Beach, Anaheim and Civic Center.

Seahaven Homes are also in the 'hub' of many recreational facilities including the beaches — three minutes away, two championship golf courses—five minutes away, the two outstanding yacht-ing harbors, Long Beach and Newport Beach, only 15 minutes away. Nearby are freeways to resort areas such as the mountains and desert. Complete shopping centers and an excellent school system with bus service also add to the ideal location of Seahaven.

• • • •

THE COMMUNITY, according to Hardesty, is among the last of the low-priced beach properties' available, and the terms include FHA or VA financing with monthly payments commencing as low as $79 including principal and interest. Each home includes an all-electric Westinghouse built-in kitchen with luxury appointments such as genuine ceramic tile and furniture-finish natural wood cabinets. A spacious four-bedroom home can be purchased for only $95 per month.

To visit Seahaven's furnished model homes . . . from the Santa Ana Freeway, take Beach Blvd. (Hwy. 39) South to Adams in Huntington Beach, then left and follow the Seahaven signs. From Pacific Coast Hwy. (101) in Huntington Beach, turn North on Beach Blvd. (Hwy. 39) to Adams, then right to Seahaven.

NLB Club to Hear of 'Opportunities'

"Real Estate Opportunities" will be described by Robert Westmyer, president of the Rex L. Hodges Co., as guest speaker at the North Long Beach Realty Club breakfast Thursday.

Club spokesmen say visitors are welcome at the meetings, which are held at 8 a.m. at Mayo's restaurant, 5925 Cherry Ave.

L.B. Firm Selling Desert Area Homes

The firm of Steele & Moss Enterprise has been selected as exclusive agent to handle the College Estate homes tract in Palm Desert-Palm Springs area.

Barbara Moss and Harold Steele have been working in the desert area for the past five years and have watched its phenomenal growth, beginning with the area of La Quinta; later into Salton City and Desert Shores, where this area has developed into a tremendous recreational and resort playland.

• • • •

CUSTOM-DESIGNED, 65 homes are being built just six blocks from the famous $5 million College of the Desert and next door to the soon-to-be-developed $20-million shopping and bowling lanes center owned by Bill Cody of Palm Springs architect.

A new way of life is exemplified in the College Estate Homes. These three and four-bedroom homes are designed interior-wise and exterior-wise to please the eye and best serve convenience and comfort, equipped with unique fireplaces, wide-view sliding glass walls in living room and family room.

• • • •

THE CUSTOM-LOOK in the desert in a tract area is novel. Luxury features include: Forced air heat, refrigerated air conditioning, Hardwick built-in range and ovens, oversized two-car garages, custom cabinets in ash, dining bars, king-sized master bedrooms with dressing room and ¾ baths. Service and storage room off of enclosed garages.

Terms of $995 down and monthly payments of $143 are offered on these homes in the $19,750 price. Terms for rent, or lease-option to buy are available. Only six homes remaining in the first unit. Just 10 minutes and 10 miles from Palm Springs down Highway 111, turning at Caseys Cafe on Parkview to 72-445 Parkview to view the furnished model homes and where your realtor friends will greet you on week-ends. Call Long Beach office for brochure and further information HE 7-0541.

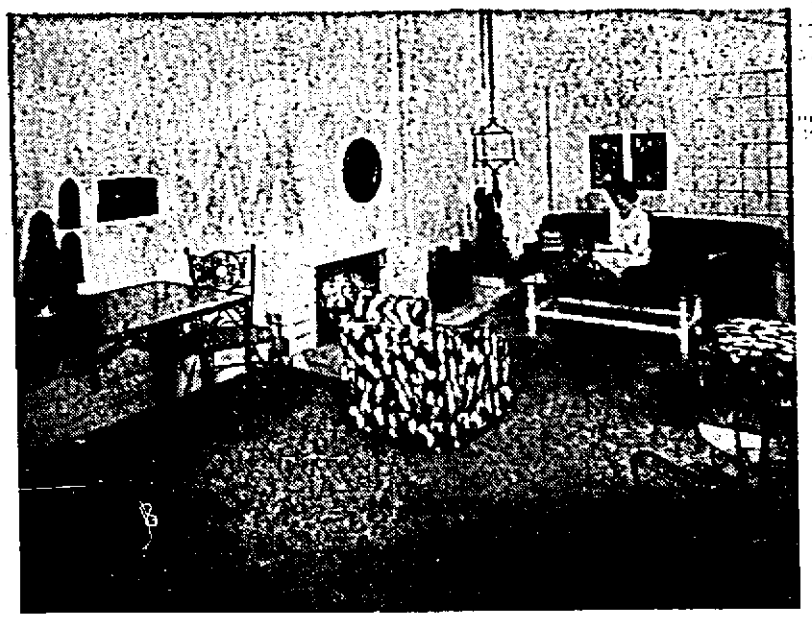

Arabian Styling in Los Alamitos Units

Two young men, Paul Lumley and Larry McCombs, new to the building field but long time partners in the construction business have just completed the first of two apartment houses they now have under construction in Los Alamitos.

The new apartment complex at 4352 Green St. is called the Mecca, named for the very unusual style of architecture. It is completely designed in the Arabian style with graceful arches surrounding intricate patterns of metal grill-work. Each of the arches, the spiral staircase and central courtyard (with appropriately shaped swimming pool) are decorated and lighted by elaborately ornate hanging lanterns.

Their second project, The Greenbrier Apartments, at 4312 Green St. is 30 days from completion. Modern conveniences, and luxurious accommodations are to be featured in these one, two, three-bedroom apartments, complete with swimming pool and recreation facilities.

New Living Concept in Park Lido Homes

OFFERED IN NEWPORT BEACH
Now available in Newport Beach are the Park Lido "Town House" homes where exteriors of homes, driveways, pools, gardens and lawns are fully maintained. This is an interior view of one model.

Tremendous crowds visited Park Lido homes in Newport Beach during the preview opening of the new "Town House" homes last weekend, according to the builder, Carl M. Buck Jr.

"Introducing a new way to live without 'homework,'" Buck said, "Park Lido is an example of the new-way of life: full-size luxurious family home with swimming pools and landscaped gardens."

Buck said the "town house" concept allows home owners worry-free living as the exteriors of homes, driveways, pools, gardens and lawns are fully maintained. Utilities, including television antennae, are underground.

The two and three bedroom, two bath, one-story, split-level and two-story homes are presented by Buck in conjunction with the John B. Kilroy Co.

• • • •

A PRIVATE PATIO with electrically-operated gate, hardwood floors, forced-air heating, aluminum sash and screens are among the highlights.

Baths have luminous ceilings, heaters, exhaust fans, tile floors and mosaic-lined tub and showers.

Buck said the bedrooms are extra-large with full-length mirrors and wardrobes. The master bedrooms have dressing room, attached bathroom and built-in dressers, in addition to the mirrored wardrobe.

All-electric kitchens with built-in double oven, range, roll-out dishwasher and disposer will please the discriminating homemaker.

Modern fireplaces dominate the living with sliding glass doors to the patio area.

"Prices range from $25,500 with 10% down and low monthly payments," Buck continued, "with buyers receiving fee simple deeds to their property."

The decorated model homes are open daily. From the Long Beach area take Hwy. 101 to Superior St. in Newport Beach, turn left to the corner of Superior and Placentia to Park Lido.

Money that stands up to be counted

A lot of Communist eyes are watching the financial strength of our government and of our people like hawks. That's because their leaders have said they would "bury us" economically—and they're waiting for it to happen.

It must be a continuing disappointment to them that, year after year, U.S. savers put so much of their savings in the hands of our government, in U.S. Savings Bonds. This stake that Savings Bond owners now have in the strength of our country is more than $45 billion—an all-time high.

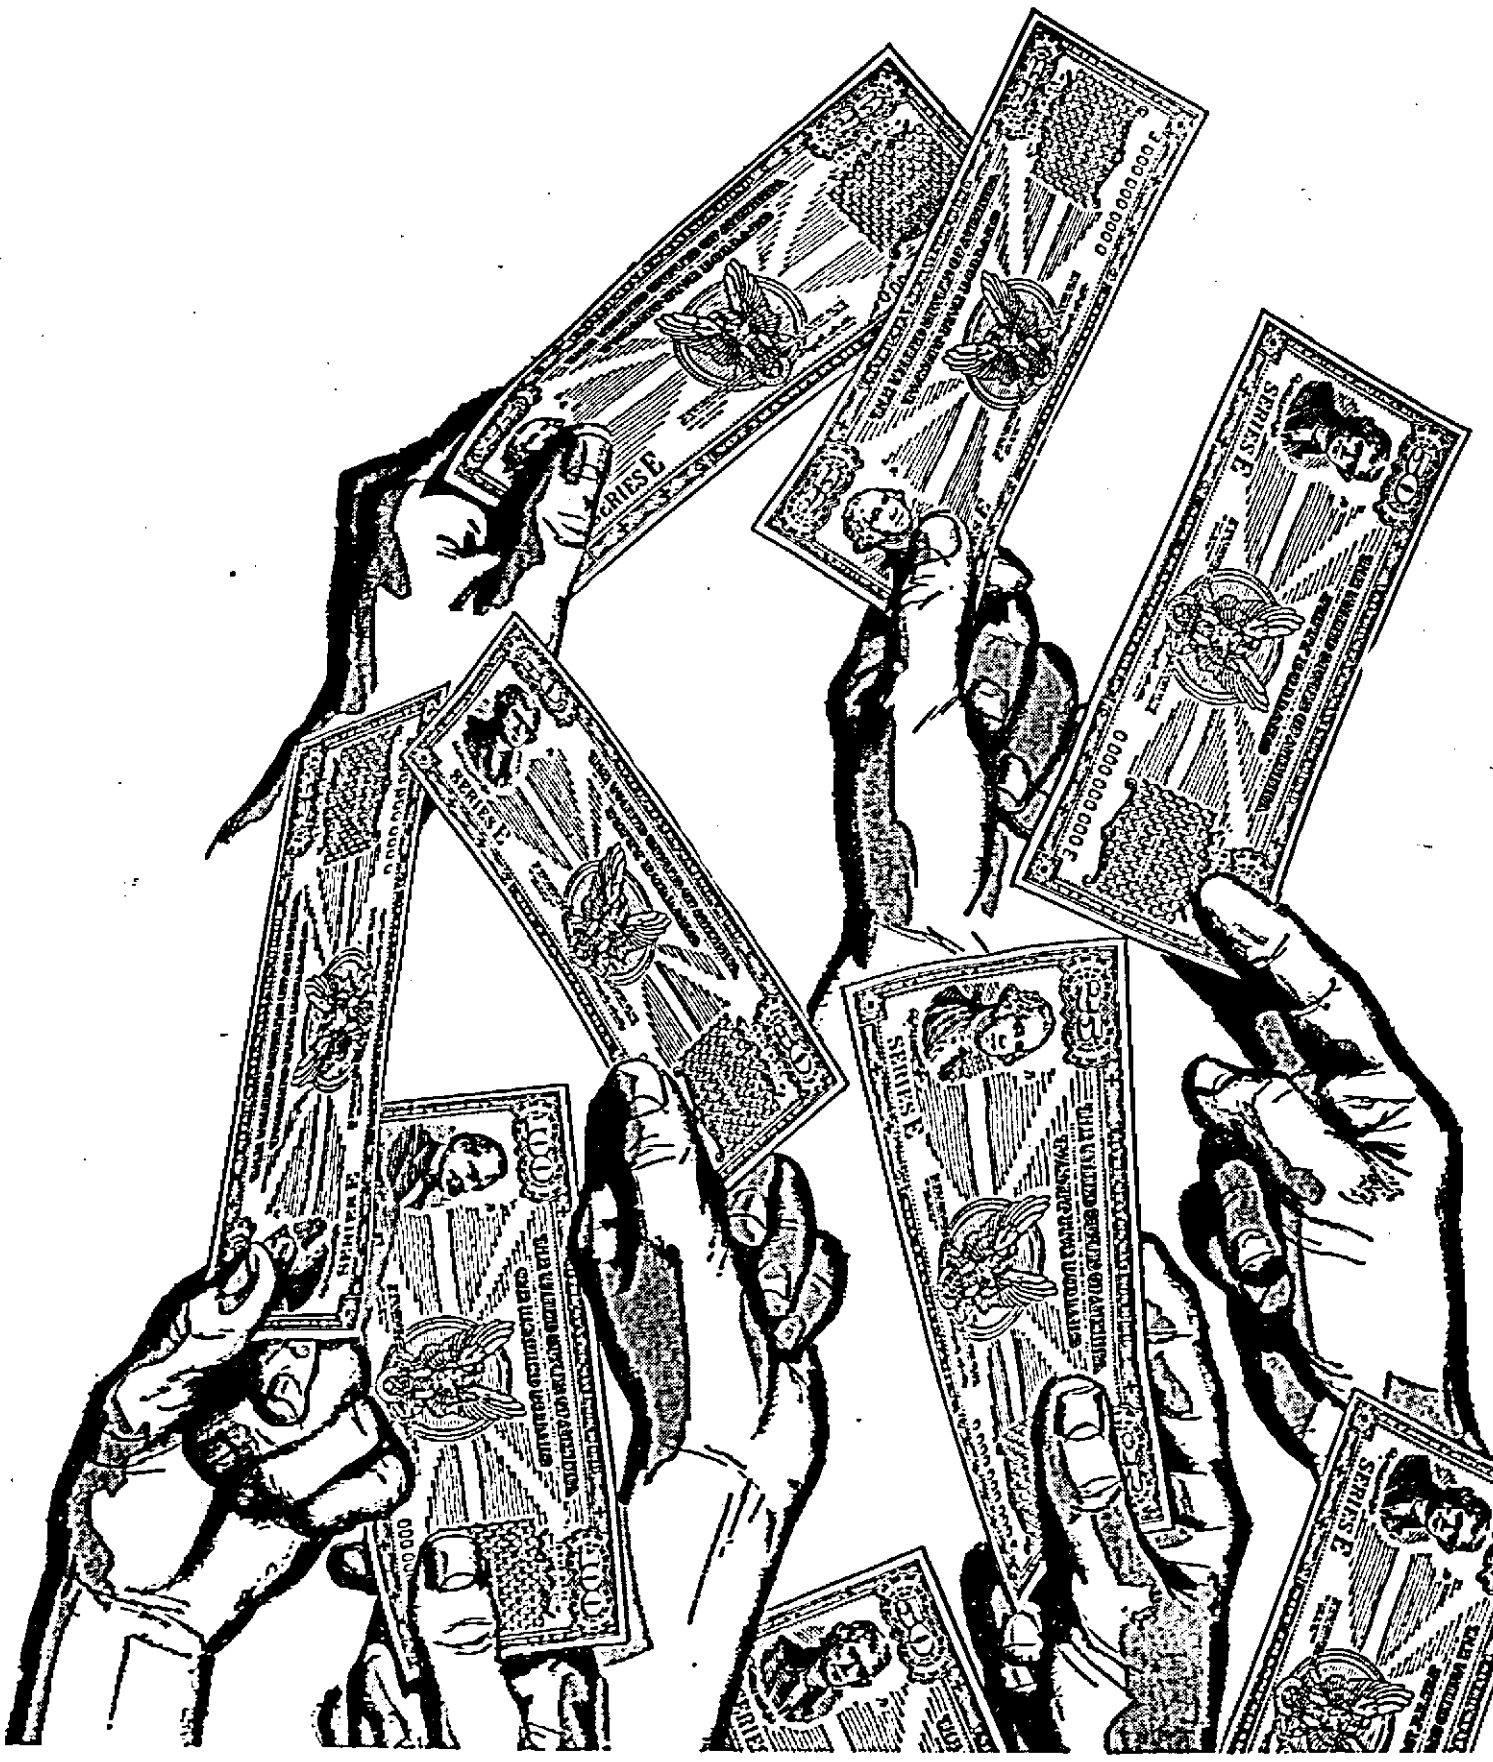

And because savers can get their money back, with accumulated interest, when they need it, that's financial strength for millions of U.S. savers and their families.

Your dollars in U.S. Savings Bonds do stand up to be counted — by freedom's friends and foes alike — as a measure of the strength of our country and our people. Help keep yourself and your country strong by regular buying of U.S. Savings Bonds, through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work, or from your bank.

Quick facts about U.S. SAVINGS BONDS

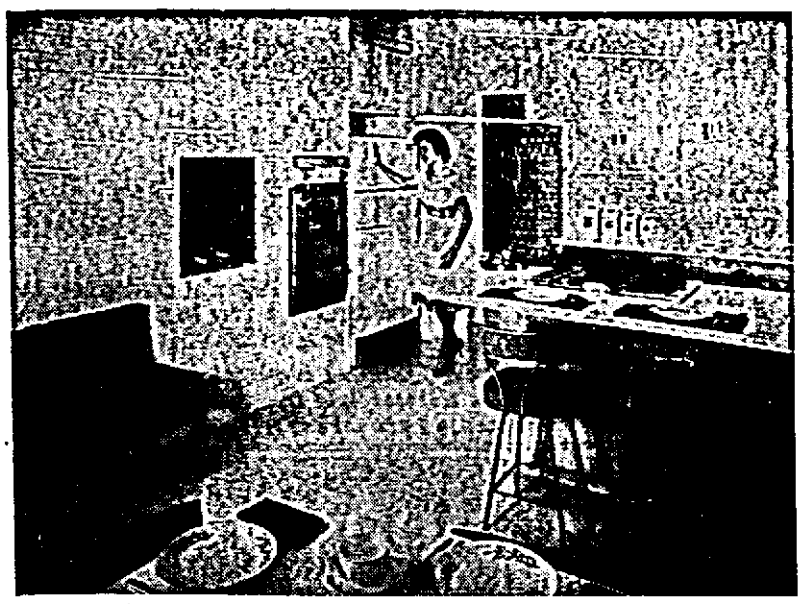

• You get $4 back for every $3 when your Bond matures • Your Bonds are replaced free if lost, or destroyed • You can get your money anytime • You can save automatically on Payroll Savings.

Keep freedom in your future with U.S. SAVINGS BONDS

FEATURE CONVENIENT KITCHEN
Huntington Village's new Unit 11 continues to sell rapidly. The bright, convenient kitchens, with indoor barbecue, are one of the many attractions. The three and four-bedroom homes are priced from $17,925 with down payments starting from $495.

New Huntington Village Unit Homes Priced for Any Budget

"One of the 'fastest-selling' home developments in the fastest-growing city in California is the 1,000 home community of Huntington Village in Huntington Beach," according to Dan Mytinger, sales manager for the Doyle & Shields Development Co., Inc.

"Huntington Village's three and four-bedroom, two-bath, family-room homes are priced within the reach of almost every family in Southern California," Mytinger pointed out, "from $495 down, plus costs, for non-vets, including deed and title insurance. Full prices start at $17,925. There are no due dates or balloon payments. We also can customize our down payment to fit anyone's pocketbook.

• • • •

"THIS IS Huntington Village's 11th unit," the executive went on, "and this unit has proved to be our most popular with many new features such as modern slate entrys, interior planters, RCA Whirlpool dishwashers, new exteriors. All of these in addition to color-coordinated wall-to-wall carpeting in living room, hallways, and master bedroom, RCA Whirlpool built-in range and oven, central forced-air heating and woodburning fireplace with gas log lighter."

Huntington Village is ideally located: five minutes from the Southland's finest small boat harbors and beaches, across the street from the Meadowlark Country Club, a mile from the site of Douglas' $78 million Space and Missile plant, one mile from the soon-to-be-started Broadway-Hale shopping center, and less than a mile from the San Diego Freeway, now under construction.

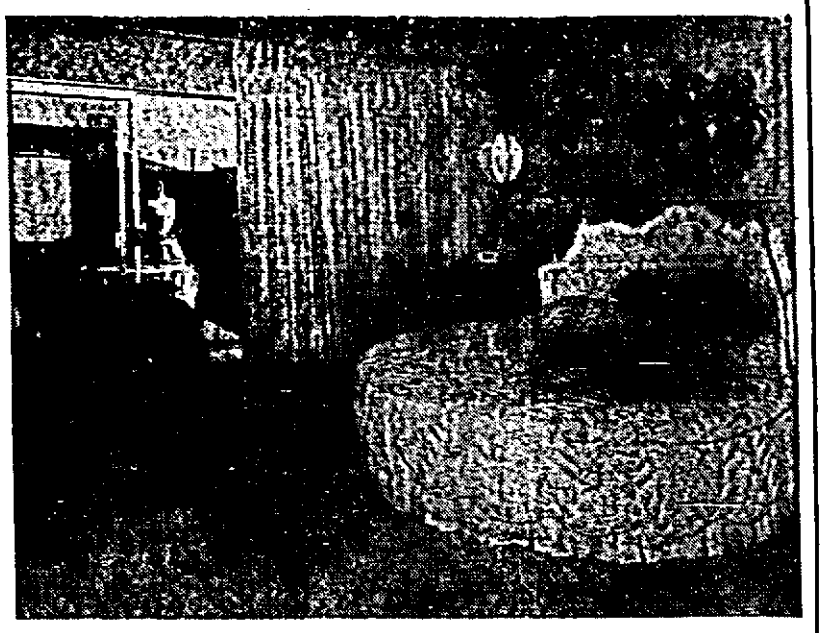

Grade and high schools are near as are several neighborhood shopping centers.

• • • •

MYTINGER POINTED out that several custom-homes, priced from $23,950, are available directly adjacent to the Meadowlark Country Club, affording "country-club" living at a price not much more than a typical Huntington Village home.

Huntington Village's beautifully furnished models are open daily from 9 a.m. to dark. From the Long Beach area: drive east on Seventh Street to Golden West St. Turn south to Edinger, then right to Springdale, then left a short distance to Huntington Village.

Master Bedroom Suite of Home Is Appealing

TROY HILLS OFFERS THIS
The master bedroom suite of one model of Troy Hills Homes occupies one entire wing to assure adult privacy. The large bedroom, shown here, has huge glass doors leading to the rear patio.

Proving to be a sales favorite at Troy Hills, the new Fullerton community, is the "700 Plan," which offers complete adult privacy and quiet by devoting one entire wing of the home to the master bedroom suite.

"With private bath, dressing room, huge walk-in closet, and sliding glass doors leading to the rear patio, we believe this is the nicest and biggest master bedroom suite for the price in this area," says Jim McCarthy, vice-president of the McCarthy Co. co-builders with Sant Construction.

To make the master suite fully private, children's bedrooms and bath have been placed on the other side of the home, separated by dining and living rooms.

• • • •

SEVERAL RECENT additions have been made at Troy Hills, reports McCarthy. These additions provide buyers more complete use of space, with built-in cabinets and work areas. Among them are: Work benches and 3-foot deep storage shelves in all garages, cabinets above washer-dryer areas, special kitchen shelves, built-in clothesline over bathtubs, and built-in planning desks in some kitchens.

Other features are fireplaces; gas forced-air heating; built-in Tappan range and oven; ash kitchen cabinets; breakfast bars, and garbage disposals. Buyers may elect to include refrigerated air-conditioning.

TROY HILLS three- and four-bedroom, two-bath homes, with full dining rooms, are set on a choice of level or rolling hillside lots up to ½ acre in size.

Priced from $20,950, the homes may be purchased on veterans no-down payment terms, FHA financing from $1200 down, conventional, or Cal-Vet financing. Buyers may trade their present home, or may reserve their favorite plan with a $100 deposit.

Red Hill Ridge Is Opening

The premiere and official opening of exclusive Red Hill Ridge in North Tustin Heights was celebrated Friday by more than 150 persons, including civic and professional leaders and their wives, and members of the press, as guests of the Samuel Kritt Co., developers of the community. The event was a festive dinner dance at the Red Hill Tennis Club, adjacent to the ridge property.

Completion of roadways, underground utilities installation, and terracing of the 117 viewsites at Red Hill Ridge is the culmination of many months of carefully engineered construction work and the expenditure of more than half a million dollars on land improvements alone, according to Samuel Kritt, one of the co-developers. Ground breaking has already taken place for the first homes to be constructed on the ridge by purchasers of the half-acre sites. Four custom model homes priced from $70,000 to $150,000 will also be built.

Located on the old Simon Ranch, a famous Orange County landmark, Red Hill Ridge overlooks the citrus orchards of Irvine Ranch with a view to the ocean. A few minutes' drive from Santa Ana, the Red Hill Ridge sales pavillion is at Browning and Beverly Glen in North Tustin.

Stanton Permits Drop to $9,400

Only six building permits for construction totaling $9,400 were issued by the Stanton Building Department during the past week.

McDonald Drive-In, 8461 Katella Ave., took out two permits for five signs totaling $3,950.

M. A. Camporeale, 8054 Teakwood Circle, Buena Park, was granted permit for construction of a Pizza take-out at 9041 Cerritos Ave., costing $2,000.

Other permits were issued to M. R. C. Developers of Anaheim for water lines addition at 10361-10467 Fern St., $2,500; Georgia Madden, 11902 Santa Paula St., office remodeling at 11901 Beach Blvd., $450; and Ken G. Doi, 8191 Bever Place, remodel garage after relocating building, $500.

THE THREE developments for a three pointed triangle around the new $78 million Douglas Space and Missile plant; with each being 10 minutes or less from the plant, which is now well under construction.

To reach any of the three Fashion Homes communities from the Long Beach area: drive east on Seventh St. to ½ mile east of Bolsa Chica and you're at Fashion Homes — Westminster; continue on Garden Grove Blvd. to Beach Blvd. (Hwy 39) turn right on Beach to Bolsa Ave., turn left to 4 blocks past Brookhurst to Fashion Homes — Garden Grove; or if you're interested in living in Huntington Beach, Fashion Homes there are located on Sugar Ave., ½ mile south of Bolsa, just west of Hwy. 39.

Walker & Lee Sales Shattering Records

Shattering of sales records include enlarged administrative facilities, new branch locations, and all expense paid vacations for top producers.

& Lee Real Estate, Inc. as first quarter sales of homes, continues unabated at Walker acreage, industrial-commercial, and income properties were placed at $33,500,000 gross volume. Company spokesman Frank R. Hart stated, "This figure indicates we are moving at a pace 20 percent better than last year at this same time, and last year was the best ever for the firm. Not one week has fallen below a two million dollar gross.

"Walker & Lee's 15 branch and 28 subdivision offices have accounted for a whopping 1260 homes sold in the first quarter with an average selling price of $20,500. Altogether, every department has posted a healthy increase. With the best selling months ahead, a reasonable marketing projection should place sales above $130,000,000 for the year."

In summarizing first quarter results, Hart credited an intensified professional training program and an expanded advertising budget in excess of a quarter of a million dollars.

Future plans for the firm include enlarged administrative facilities, new branch locations, and all expense paid vacations for top producers.

Seminar Set for Home Builders

Advanced concepts in research, marketing, land planning and financing large home developments will be presented at a one-day seminar for home builders and subdividers April 19 at the Beverly Hilton Hotel, Beverly Hills.

The concentrated program will open at 9 a.m. and close at 3:30 p.m., with a break at noon for lunch.

Home Builders in Southern California and nearby areas in Nevada have been invited to the seminar. They have been asked to submit queries which will be featured in the question-and-answer sessions following each talk.

The program is under sponsorship of the Formica Corporation, Walter A. Smith president.

There's a Lot of Action at St. Mary's Guild...

'DAY AT THE RACES'

They'll be off and running at Los Alamitos Race Course April 17 at a post time of 1:15 p.m. for St. Mary's Hospital Guild ninth annual Day at the Races.

Proceeds from tickets sales for the day, which includes a buffet and dancing at a party following the races, will go to a fund pledged by the guild to furnish the maternity and nursery floor of the new wing of St. Mary's Hospital.

EARLY BIRDS will see the "Milk Run"—the baby colts are turned loose to run to their mothers at the end of the stretch—preceding the start of the day's regular races.

The eighth race will be the annual St. Mary's Hospital Guild Handicap, with the winning owner receiving a trophy presented by the guild.

Day at the Races is the principal fund raising event of St. Mary's Hospital Guild, a non-sectarian organization. The amount of $56,000 has been presented to the hospital of the total pledge of $100,000 by the guild for the furnishing fund.

PROCEEDS FROM a hospitality cart and a gift shop at the hospital staffed by members also go to the fund.

Chairman for the day is Mrs. William Voorhees. Among those assisting are Mmes. Lester DeNoyelles, ticket chairman; A. V. Morgan, entertainment; Ray Stricklin, buffet; Harold Guiver, gate; William Jellick, hostesses; Howard Jones, promotion; Jack P. Merrick, kick-off luncheon; Edwin P. Parr and E. R. Cullen, secretaries.

Roger Bacon's orchestra will play for dancing at the party following the races.

...We'll Re-do YOU--So Write Us!

By MARY ELLIS
I, P-T Fashion Editor

Is your coif last year's bird's nest, your wardrobe outdated? Does your makeup need a tone-up, your chassis a tune-up?

Are you losing a boyfriend, a husband, a job? Or are you still looking—unsuccessfully?

Maybe you're just in the fashion doldrums; don't know what goes well with what; can't figure out what type of clothes makes your torso more-so.

IF SO, WRITE to our glamour clinic. Tell us your fashion and beauty problems, send us a snap shot.

Most important, tell us your age (almost, anyway) and your figure type—also why you'd like to be selected for the I, P-T's "New Model You" fashion series.

From letters and photos received, eight or more of our readers will be selected for head-to-toe remodeling in our unique beauty-fashion workshop.

With the help of local beauty authorities—who'll donate time, advice and products— we'll restyle hair, pamper with beauty treatments, correct makeup faults.

Fashion coordinators of local smart shops will give counsel on wardrobe and accessory problems and show each how to select the right kind of clothes for her figure type.

And if the figure isn't right, we'll give some help on that weighty problem, too.

REMEMBER, you're never too old to look young, never too tall to look chic, never too short to be high style.

So write today—and don't forget to send a snap shot. Address your letters to "New Model You," Women's Department, Long Beach Independent, Press-Telegram, Long Beach, Calif.

All women are eligible—whether 16 or 60, whether 4-feet-6 or 6-feet-4; whether coed or career gal, housewife or mother.

Each woman selected will be featured in our "New Model You" picture and story series, slated to start in June.

This is your chance to be a "New Model You."

HANK HOLLINGWORTH

Turf Expert Reveals Secrets of Racy Set

For those attending St. Mary's Guild Day at the Races who are not habitues of the track, our girl reporter sought out Executive Sports Editor Hank Hollingworth for the answers to some nagging questions.

By CURTYNE DRISCOLL

Girl Reporter: What is a quarter horse?

Hank: It is not, as Bob Wells and some of his beach cronies maintain, one-fourth of a normal horse. It is a horse bred for speed over a short distance—about a quarter-mile. Originally, quarter horses were used as cow ponies. Most of the horses on which I wager at Los Alamitos still react as though they were chasing cows.

Girl Reporter: How long does a quarter horse race last?

Hank: Let me put it this way: Don't sneeze, bend over to pick up a discarded mutuel ticket or sneak a quick glance at a blonde. If you do any of these things, you've missed the race.

Girl Reporter: What does "H.W." and "T.W." in the program mean?

Hank: They mean head wind and tail wind. In other words, it's not "heads you win, tails you lose." In my case, it's heads you lose, tails you lose.

Girl Reporter: What does "declared" mean?

Hank: It means a particular horse was scratched from the race. Now I suppose you want to know what "scratched" means? Scratched means the horse was withdrawn from the race. In effect, the horse wasn't ready for the race because his trainer was suffering from a gosh-awful hangover. In polite society, therefore, the man "declared" his horse for the day.

Girl Reporter: What does "stretch call" mean?

Hank: Ordinarily, it is the announcer's last report of the horses' positions in a race before they hit the finish line. Because a quarter horse race is so short (and swift), a stretch call is as useless as a man working in the society department.

Girl Reporter: Does St. Mary's Guild get the money bet on the St. Mary's Guild Handicap?

Hank: Unfortunately, no. State Racing Commission rules prohibit any such action. You see, the state gets a percentage of all monies wagered on each race, the rest goes to the track. The best way for the St. Mary's Guild to remain solvent for many years to come is to wager in this manner on St. Mary's Guild Handicap: Find out which horse I favor, determine upon which horse Frank Vessels will wager, note all the "tips" whispered before the race, then bet the whole treasury on the beast that hasn't yet been mentioned. It's a guaranteed, sure-fire winner.

Girl Reporter: How do owners choose names? Oink Brown, for instance.

Hank: I have spent years in research of this answer. As a result, I have concluded that quarter horse owners deliberately think of the most horrible things in the world, then subsequently name their poor animals. In the case of Oink, his owner realized his horse actually was a pig. (A look at Oink's record and you'll see that the owner was correct.)

Girl Reporter: Why are so many of the horses named something "Bar"?

Hank: Because that's where most of the quarter horse owners hang out.

Girl Reporter: Considering your record for predicting Santa Anita winners, would you care to name a few prospective quarter horse winners?

Hank: I smell a not-too-subtle inference, here, but I'll go along with the gag. My favorite is a cute little thing called Speedy Googer (and I dare any of you girls to top THAT beautiful name). Watch out also for No Butt and Wet Back Pedro, two other horses with romantic overtones. For the St. Mary's Guild girls, I'd suggest Cocktail Suzy and Lady Jag. Also I'd like to recommend Tonto Bars Hank and Hank H. Bars. Guess why?

Girl reporter: One St. Mary's Guild member last year bet on No. 3 in every race and won a bundle. (Much to her surprise!) What do you think of this as a system?

Hank: Any "system" that makes money is great. Unfortunately, few hold up. However, if the woman who won a bundle betting on No. 3 last year, wins another bundle (and I don't mean of wet-wash) this year, please give me her name, address and telephone number. I need her assistance immediately. And not St. Mary's Guild, either. It's the bankrupt Hollingworth Guild I'm worried about.

Prepare the Fatted Calf, They're Home!

By Iola Masterson
I, P-T Women's Editor

IF ALL systems were "go" with airline schedules, Ed DeMack flew into town yesterday from Manila, P.I., to join wife, "Midge," who came earlier by plane, plus Matsonia, with sons Gary, 11, and Phil, 9. They're currently staying with her sister and brother-in-law, Mildred and Glen Hall, in their Naples home.

Dirty trick—the picture accompanying this, (or is it a good one?). This was their farewell pix taken when they first left for the Philippines in 1957. Ever since, Ed has been head man there for the Yellow Pages Directory. They'll be here until April 21 (on one of their every three years visits), then hie to Chicago, Washington, New York, Europe and finally back to Manila by July, for another three year stint.

As they were—1957.

• • • •

THE MERRY month of May will be the merriest May ever, and no mayBE about it, for Marjorie and Dr. Bill Scott and his dad, William J. Scott of Seal Beach. While members of the family tend to all at home, they'll fly off for an entire month of touring Europe.

• • • •

EASTER vacation will not be exactly that for Dot (Mrs. "Bunnie") O'Hare. When she heads over there to Canoga Park it will be to baby sit for son and daughter-in-law, Chuck and Carol O'Hare, while they go to San Francisco on telephone co. business. "Bunnie," spared from sitting duties, will hold down the fort in peaceful grandfatherly grandeur.

THE JUNE who is expecting in June was the unsuspecting June Cox, decorations chairman for the Salvation Army Auxiliary, when she went to a board meeting at Willa Gilmore's. She went simply to help provide ideas, with other board members, for the auxiliary's Bonnet Party May 29th, discovered she was center stage honoree at a baby shower.

Wild Waves Say...

On hand for the fun of the party; the planning for the big May benefit, were Gladee Jewitt, Jean Hodge, Bea Scott, Marian Freese, Evelyn Grundy, Hilma Greenberg, Betty Dykstra, Jonny Salter, Esther Gilmore and Bette Stillwell.

NEWS ALONG the stork line—Ellen (Schumacher) and Dan Baker are expecting their first, in September. Bosses have pleaded with her to continue her work at Memorial Hospital until August 15. You couldn't ask for a handier place to be, under the circumstances, right up to the 11th hour.

. . . returns from all over

It's a fine how-de-do, language wise, when an American lives so long abroad that she has to relearn Americanese idiom on return. That's about the size of things for Lorraine (Lundberg) Murray, here from her home in Rome.

Lorraine, once a member of the Press-Telegram society staff, is the wife of Scott A. Murray, formerly of Pasadena, director of an international oil well drilling concern. Because she travels with Scott so much (last year, as far north as Norway; far south as Nigeria for varying periods) she has had to learn expressions as used over there.

When she arrived at Breakers' International, where she is staying until joining Scott on his arrival, she said what comes naturally in Rome or Paris, "Please put my clothes in the cupboard." The nonplussed bellhop gulped; Lorraine began the struggle to return to her native tongue. In Europe a closet means just one thing—a water closet, so anything going into a closet there is promptly stashed into the bathroom.

With that in mind, imagine the carpenter's confusion when they were remodeling their Rome apartment and Scott told the carpenter—"Put closets all along that one wall." The poor worker thought him plumb daft. Even the "crazy Americanos" don't need that many.

Here on her first real visit to Long Beach (for ten days) after a ten year absence living abroad, Lorraine sees terrific changes for the first time in her old hometown—the high rise buildings, the marina, the Long Beach Yacht Club . . .

The wonder of returning every time, she says, is the sudden sense of do-it-yourself freedom here—the friendliness of people. That's nice to know.

GREATER LOVE hath no wife (in this case Maxine Lyman) than the one who cheerfully lets her huz (in this case, Howard) fly off to Hawaii without her. But it's OK with her because she was there last year without him and this is a business trip for him.

Then she had to turn around and wave goodbye to son, Steven, and his friend, Bob Darrow, who flew over to the islands on a trip (not together, but concurrent with Howard's) for surfing—a graduation gift to the boys.

ONE YEAR and eight new babies later, 41 Rick Rackers (they boast a total of 96 children between them) had annual meeting at League House Tuesday.

The swellest, prettiest hats and beamiest, prettiest faces were par for the course. As an example, note a sampling pictured below in the smiles of Susie (Mrs. Vernon) Lewis, member, with provisionals Karen (Mrs. David) Ward and Carole (Mrs. Richard) Sukman.

Big to-do over Louise Neuner, who received award for highest number of volunteer hours in auxiliary's community work for 125 spent in labors of love. Busiest provisional award went to Karen Dumm for 145 hours.

Sad, but true, 11 members reached the age of no return (to Rick Rackers) and, as time flies, they're still children. Saying goodbye to R. R. were Gloria Wallace, Margaret Whittemore, Beverly Johnstone, Rosemary Leedom, Jerry Phelan, Barbara Evan, Jackie Welty, Betty Ann Rauch, Elizabeth Barmeyer, Bev McCormick and Harriet Williams, the latter producing, writing and directing an hilarious swan song to tune of Easter Parade and warbled by out-goes. It ended with a smug reminder—"and pretty soon you'll ALL be 35!"

Pretty hats, beamiest smiles

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

She Should Be Worried

DEAR ABBY: You are the only person I can turn to with this problem and when you read it you'll know why. My husband likes a bottle of beer after dinner. I don't object to that because he never has more than one. But he likes to drink it out of the baby's bottle and nipple! I thought he was clowning when he fixed it that way once, but now that's the only way he'll drink it. He never does it when anyone else is around, but it makes me sick. The baby is only 7 months old, but he looks so puzzled when he sees his father with a bottle, too. Is this serious or not? My husband is 26 and I am 23.—WORRIED WIFE

ABBY

DEAR WORRIED WIFE: Your husband is either competing with the baby, or expressing a desire to go back to his baby days. I am not a psychiatrist, and your husband needs one. Ask your family doctor to recommend one. And soon! It's serious.

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: I am a high school sophomore and my mother still wants me in the house at 12 o'clock every time I go out on a date. How can I let her know I am not a baby anymore?—NOT A BABY

DEAR NOT: She knows. That's why she wants you in the house at 12 o'clock sharp.

DEAR ABBY: I am 22, single, respectable and lonesome. I am a small town guy who recently moved to a big city to take a daytime job and study law at night. Every evening I pass a certain bakery and see a girl working there. I can't get her out of my mind. She is tall and slim and looks about 20. She has beautiful dark eyes and hair. My problem is how to meet her. I don't know if she's married or going with someone or available. I'm afraid if I walk into the bakery and start a conversation with her she'll think I'm fresh and that will be the end of it. Have you any suggestions?—HONORABLE INTENTIONS

DEAR HONORABLE: Go into the bakery and buy a half dozen cookies. See if she has an engagement or wedding ring. If she's ringless, be just a very pleasant customer on first contact. A few days later, go back again and buy six more cookies. (This is to let her know you live alone: no family man buys six cookies.) Repeat this routine for about two weeks, and if she has any interest in you, she'll engage YOU in conversation. Otherwise, I hope you like cookies.

India Shares Its Treasures

By MARY NETH

Nothing will raise the eyebrows and ire of a woman from India quicker than the mention of curry powder.

"It's — how would you say? — just vulgar," explains local restauranteur, Sita.

"Personally food cooked with it makes me quite ill. It's not Indian at all."

According to this dark-eyed authority from Bangalore, true Indian cooking is an art that calls for complete training in "marriage of spices."

"The mixture the West calls curry bares no resemblance to the subtle seasonings used by Indian epicures. Each of our dishes calls for a different combination of spices," she says.

The daughter of an Indian diplomat, Sita is eager East and West should meet; is doing her best to replace misinformation about her homeland with true facts; has dedicated her restaurant to being an authentic picture of India from food to festivals.

Counter Action

Besides homecooked Eastern cuisine, the intimate dining rooms ffer interesting, changing collection of Indian imports.

The following are now on display.

Under $3

Radash beads, in natural burnt sienna color, make interesting addition to Hawaiian muumuu costume. In India these prized seed pod necklaces are worn by the Sadhu or holy men.

Under $10

Always attractive Madras cloth comes in stunning color combinations. Intermixed stripes of green on blue, brown on beige, hot pink and red. Wonderful for covering day bed in den or can be used as striking fabric for summer dress. Different sizes priced from $6.95 to $11.95.

For summer — gay colored Indian leather sandals are treat for feet. Each pair is completely different. Handmade, they come in unusual, flattering shapes.

• • • •

Far from brassy — Indian hand worked brass ashtrays make dignified and stunning addition to any room where smokers congregate. Priced from $2 to $10.

• • • •

Serve in silver. Tumblers, champagne, wine and liqueur glasses, all in silver, make any occassion an elegant one. Tumblers are $9.95 each. Other glasses, to match, vary in price.

Under $20

Pure silk sari stoles with decorative gold threads are elegant addition for any wardrobe. Especially lovely for evening wear — as are cashmere stoles. The latter are edged in attractive hand embroidery.

Complete sari costumes also may be ordered. In silk they're priced at about $80; in a printed fabric at $35.

In India, according to Sita, the sari is never thrown away—"It's passed from mother to daughter; sometimes lasts for more than 80 years.

"When a sari finally does wear out, the gold threads are removed and garment is burned."

Practical, saris need no ironing, are worn with half slip and blouses for every occassion.

"I even wore one for the hi-jumping and relay races at school," says Sita. "Different weights of material vary the costume's use."

Most unusual, Lotus lamps of hand carved Shisham wood, feature wooden petals that can be opened or closed over inner bulb. No two are alike but each is perfect reproduction of India's national flower. Shisham wood (exceptionally hard) comes from trees especially cultivated for this purpose.

Oswald Jacoby

Spade Slam Is Safer

One of the many advantages of the Jacoby Transfer Bid is that it keeps the play in the no-trump hand. This is particularly important after a two no-trump opening.

Playing at six spades, South simply won the diamond lead, drew trumps, discarded one of his clubs on a heart and made his slam. If North had been declarer East would have opened the queen of clubs and South would have lost the first two tricks.

When this hand was actually played in a Texas duplicate game a few pairs arrived at six no-trump instead of six spades and one South managed to bring the contract home.

West opened the jack of diamonds and South decided that the ace of clubs was going to be in the West hand together with at least four diamonds.

• • • •

THEREFORE, South won the diamond lead in his own hand, ran off three heart tricks in order to discard one of dummy's clubs and then cashed all five spades. He let his last heart go on the fifth spade and West who had discarded two clubs on the first four spades had run out of discards.

He did the best he could and let a club go whereupon South simply led dummy's last club and played low from his own hand. West had to play the ace and South had his twelfth trick.

Grays Note 65th Year

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey A. Gray will mark their 65th marriage milestone Thursday with a quiet dinner at their home, 1250 E. Fourth St.

Resident of Long Beach since 1925 (they owned the Evelyn Court on Orange Avenue for many years), their early married life was a nomadic one.

• • • •

THE COUPLE married April 11, 1898 in Walla, Walla, Wash., and resided for several years in Palouse, Wash., where he was in the flour mill business. Following was a milling and undertaking career in Oaksdale, Wash., until 1910, seven years of homesteading in Carter, Montana; and thence to Arizona where they were in cotton and alfalfa growing prior to their move to Long Beach.

Recite Vows in So. Pasadena

In the presence of 500 wedding guests, Dr. Richard V. Johnson claimed Carol Lynn Ermshar as his bride in Oneonta Congregational Church, South Pasadena.

The marriage was solemnized by Dr. Wilber Alexander of White Memorial Seventh-day Adventist Church, Los Angeles.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Harold S. Johnson of Long Beach and the late Dr. Johnson. His bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Lloyd Ermshar, Pasadena.

For her marriage she wore a full-length gown of while silk organza and Alencon lace. Lace applique adorned the bouffant skirt which swept to the floor in a chapel train. Her veil of illusion was held by a tiny princess crown.

• • • •

SHE WAS ATTENDED by Sondra Deacon, maid of honor; her sister, Cindy Ermshar; and Marsha Grant, Donna Stehner, Susan Schulze and Diane Foulkenberg, bridesmaids.

Harold S. Johnson, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Another brother, Burton Johnson, ushered with Jerry Schull and Drs. Homer Goulard, Thomas Thompson and Richard Jensen.

• • • •

BEFORE LEAVING on a honeymoon trip to Northern California, the bridal pair greeted guests at a reception in the Ermshar home.

Dr. Johnson is a graduate of Lynwood Academy, Walla Walla College and Loma Linda University school of medicine. His bride completed her education at La Sierra College.

The couple will reside in Glendale.

Smallfry Go High Fashion for Easter

STRICT, STRAIGHT and un-bouncy, new pleated skimmy has sophisticated naivete. Neck-to-hem buttoned back reinstates Puritan look; button-on belt ties side front. No fuss, no overtrim: instead, sculptured, almost carved impression. By Bill Blass for Joseph Love collection.

ENTER EASTER, white sleeveless bodice; jaunty navy pleated skirt, belted in back, buttoned twice. To wear or not to wear: bolero jacket of daffodil yellow. By Bill Blass.

...Paris, Caroline Influence New Look

By MARY ELLIS
I, P-T Fashion Editor

Understated . . . spare silhouette . . . lack of frills.

Sound familiar? It's not only the Jackie Look—it's the Caroline Look, too.

And children's wear designers are hitting it strong in their spring-summer collections because, after all, Caroline is the most famous little girl going.

Yes, it's definitely a like-mother, like-daughter year. Smallfry are going haute couture for the Easter parade this spring.

One manufacturer, Joseph Love, is offering French copies and originals by award-winning New York designer Bill Blass.

THE LOVE STYLES echo the relaxed lines now so much in favor with on-the-go mothers, while still recognizing Paris as fashion's most influential center.

Emerging from this fundamental simplicity are such touches as tailored bows, peripatetic pockets, cutaway collars, important sleeves. In his designs for Love, Blass remains true to his high-fashion credo for women: simple, natural, restrained in spirit.

Some of the dividends: the built-in petticoat, the jaunty pleats (inverted or back-to-back), the belt (this year wider and rising ever so slightly, buttoned in back), sleeves cut short enough to show narrow trim, fly-front closings, the "linen look" in an uninterrupted silhouette.

PEERING BETWEEN the iron railings of the fence around the White House lawn, designers have decided Caroline's style is a "gay, throw-away elegance."

Result: the collarless coatdress . . . deep inverted pleats falling from a high seam (a flattering look for a little girl's figure) . . . side-tied popovers in gay floral prints to top dresses . . . shirt-shifts, grown down to just above the knee . . . the "A" line in tiny tent dresses, often high-waisted.

It's a whole new world of fashion for young elegants.

After a Fashion

THE "A" LINE flares out in triple tiers in three shades of rose. Newest shape for fashionable little ladies, designer Mary Jane pops pretty bow on this one, lets streamers fall where they may. High round neckline, tiny sleeves complete simplicity of line. Of nylon and cotton, designed to whiz through wash with little-or-no ironing.

Gals in White Earn His Undying Praise

Dear Molly Mayfield

I got out of the hospital yesterday and though I have not much strength yet, I think I've enough to sound off some complaints for some saints. Tell me, how do those angels in white keep their balance?

I was in orbit getting powdered and rubbed and waited on, but some of the fellows had those nurses exhausted answering their calls.

I think I had my light on twice the whole time. Once we won't mention, and the other time I had waited an hour for my dinner. Seems they had forgotten me.

I know I won't dread a return engagement if one is in the cards, because being nursed is divine and I'm not. Bless their nightingale hearts!—MR. D. Z.

DEAR MR. D. Z.:

Bless you for your fine commentary on one of my favorite groups of gals.

From time to time I have letters crabbing about these angelic (certainly for the most part) critters, and I'm always pretty sure the writer is close kin to a species of crab himself!—M. M.

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

I believe I'll be the first teen-ager to have a nervous breakdown before I'm 16. If you have any answers besides the obvious running away or doing away with myself, please throw them fast. I have seven sisters and brothers.

I get privileges, sure, but I have to baby-sit. I finally talked myself into the fact that it would only be a few more years and the baby I now sit for would be a sitter. Then the shocking realization hit me. My mother's pregnant again!

My parents love each other. But they ought to know when to stop! This is the last straw!—BLUE ME.

DEAR BLUE ME:

I hope the baby doesn't arrive until you get that bottle out of your mouth. For shame! How many children parents have is up to them. You don't have to bear them!

But really, I like you, and think you'll beat the breakdown. You talked yourself into good sense once, you'll do a repeat. That's what makes teens neat. So settle down and give the baby back its bottle.—M. M.

• • • •

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

I met a fellow at a bar. At the time he seemed nice enough and after a few evenings we began dating. Then he left town but told me if ever I got to his home town to call him or his brother.

About a month later I got the chance, mainly to see him again. When I called his number a woman answered. To my surprise she was his wife and he had four children.

She proceeded to tell me she didn't think I was a very nice girl for calling a family man to arrange a rendezvous. And, to add insult to injury, told me in a smart way that I had no business calling his brother, either, because he was married, too.

Please tell me how I can apologize. — MIXED - UP MARILYN.

DEAR MIXED-UP:

This is one time an apology would be wasted. The man didn't treat you fairly but the fairest thing you can do is to resolve to check your bar facts better.—M. M.

Bills, Not Blondes, Cause Runaway Hubbies

As a cause for wandering husbands, blondes are highly overrated.

So, for that matter, are brunettes and redheads.

Dan Eisenberg, who has been tracking and bagging wayward spouses for years, is pretty sure on this point.

This ace New York sleuth, who founded and directs Tracers Company of America, says it doesn't pay to look for the other woman because, in most cases, she just doesn't exist.

Husbands, he has discovered, leave home to avoid responsibility — not because they have been trapped by another, more alluring female.

Where do the errant breadwinners head?

According to Eisenberg, they most often gallop off in search of an idyllic Huck Finn land of adventure and play.

He has found them aboard ships; on desert isles; deep in the jungle; along the banks of quiet trout streams.

WHILE UNCOVERING the trails of these wandering males, Eisenberg has uncovered some choice bits about human nature, too.

For instance, he has come to the conclusion that men are heels—and women don't care.

"Women are steadier. They bring home the bacon, cook it, take care of the kids, and welcome home the wandering daddies with love and kisses."

The men? "There is no doubt about it," says Eisenberg, "husbands are a pretty sorry lot. They are the ones who'll skip out on mortgage and TV payments. Women have a lot more stick-to-it-iveness and a larger sense of obligation."

IN TRACKING down more than 2,000 straying husbands each year, Eisenberg has come up with a composite picture of the vagabonds.

Take a close look at your hubby gals, here's the detective's eye view of the wanderer:

He is between 40 and 50, about 5 feet 7 inches, weighs about 162 pounds, is rather dark complexioned and good looking, was married at 26, lives in a city of 50,000 or more, has no children and likes to go to the movies.

He was popular with the girls before marriage, hasn't played around since, and oddly enough, he made better than average marks in school.

IF IT ISN'T the lure of an alluring female that takes the men away from their little nests, what is it?

According to Eisenberg, it's one, or a combination, of the following: financial problems, unhappy home life, in-law trouble, pure escapism.

"If there is a blonde, she's only incidental," continues the sharp sleuth.

"The troubles always come first, the consoling female is an afterthought."

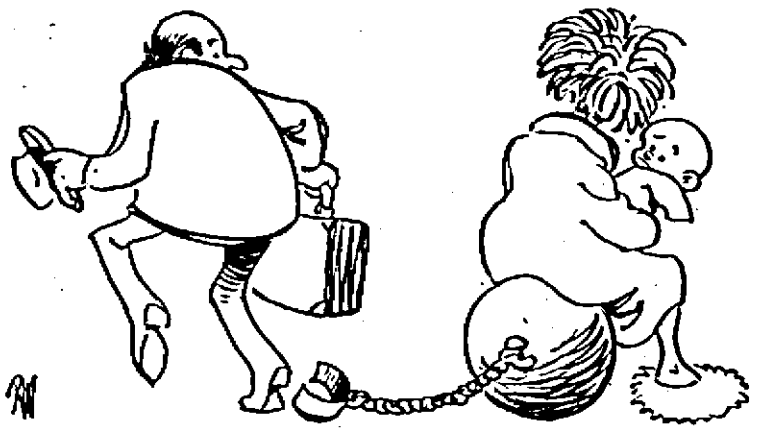

But, Eisenberg does grant that there are exceptions. Seems the other woman IS an important factor where younger men are concerned.

"Married in their 20s, they begin to get itchy feet in their 30s," Eisenberg explains. "They feel they've missed something in life, they want their freedom or at least a brief fling."

However, since this group makes up only 15 percent of all missing males, the other woman problem is still pretty negligible, as he sees it.

IN GENERAL Eisenberg thinks the lucky woman is one whose husband earns an average income. "Arguments seem to begin because of too much or too little money," he says, "and most divorces occur among people in the higher income bracket."

The lunch pail carrying, average John Doe, can't afford the extravagence of a fling.

"But," adds detective Dan hastily, "don't get too smug if your husband falls into this category. This is just the type of easy-going fellow who may get tired of the grind and take off. . . especially if he is behind in bills."

Anyway you look at it, girls, seems you just can't win.

There is a bit of consoling news, though. Eisenberg has found, believe it or not, that most roaming Romeos are happy to be found.

The little lost lambies are tickled pink to get back to the fold. Why? Well, often enough the far away isle turns out to be a grind, too.

TAKE THE case of the well-known surgeon who after performing his quota of operations for the day — didn't return home that evening.

In fact, he didn't return home at all.

His frantic wife finally hired Eisenberg to head the hunt. Seems the police could find no clues. An esteemed pillar of the community with no questionable habits, the surgeon left a slim trail.

But, Eisenberg did find him.

During the detective's initial interviews with the family, he happened to notice some replicas of old boats in the doctor's study and asked about them.

"He loved the sea," said his wife. "That's why we live near the ocean. But, we've never owned a boat. He doesn't sail."

THAT WAS enough for detective Dan. On a hunch he sent a Tracer's operative to the waterfront. After hanging around the docks and asking questions for a few weeks, the tracer overheard some interesting conversation.

A couple of sailors were talking about a marvelous operation that had taken place at sea.

Seems one sailor had removed another's appendix with a butcher knife and saved his life.

YOU GUESSED it. When the ship docked two months later, the sea-going surgeon came waltzing down the gang plank.

And, was she ever happy to see his wife!

"Dear," said he, "I always wanted to go to sea — now I've done it and my, its wonderful to be back on dry land again.

"Let's go home — I can hardly wait for one of your homecooked dinners."

So, gals don't despair, keep cooking the bacon. The man who used to bring it home will probably be home himself someday.

Sea chanties and jungle safaris can't compare to a good home cooked meal. And, if there is a blonde, it's a good bet she can't boil water.

(This is the first of a three-part series based on case histories from the files of Tracers Company of America, New York, N.Y.)

Musicians Criticize Critics

Major and Minor Notes

By RACHEL MORTON
I. P-T Music Critic

The editors of a magazine called "Bravo" conceived the unique idea recently of asking some notable musicians to criticize music critics.

A questionnaire was submitted to them and although such a golden opportunity for retaliation was offered, only a few accepted the challenge, and only upon the stipulation that their names would not be revealed.

Some of the questions and answers I found very interesting and illuminating:

QUESTION: "In your opinion, is the quality of music criticism in the United States excellent — good—mediocre or poor?"

Answers: "Generally speaking, the largest cities have completely informed music critics; in most smaller cities the paper sends a reporter without specific musical knowledge to review concerts."

"Many conservatory graduates are moving to smaller cities; their knowledge is an improvement over the past."

* * * *

QUESTION: "If you had a most gifted child or student whose career could be determined by a performance before one or two American critics, whom would you choose?"

Answers: "The very fact that the situation described exists is a sad commentary on what determines careers in the U. S."

"I would choose none of the critics; I prefer the judgment of the public."

* * * *

QUESTION: "Is there any critic whose writings so intrigue you that you would like to know him socially?"

Answers: "I would like to meet Claudia Cassidy; I don't think much of her judgments and she makes errors with great regularity, but her writing makes me think she must be fascinating."

* * * *

QUESTION: "Do you believe that old adage that most critics are really frustrated performers?"

There were eight answers in the affirmative; and 17 answered No.

A music critic of the Columbus Dispatch, Samuel Wilson, was once attacked for writing negatively about a certain violinist.

"How dare you say such things, when you can't even play a violin?" he was challenged.

Wilson replied:

"I can't lay an egg either, but I can tell a good one from a bad one."

* * * *

QUESTION: "Do you think a critic should follow a performance with a score?

Answers: "It's absurd—he would miss the whole point of the performance — the thing that the artist gives to the music. If it is pedantic perfection he wants, I suggest he stay home with his record player."

"I don't know why a critic should follow a performance with a score—since almost all of them cannot read scores."

"He should do his homework BEFORE class."

* * * *

THE ARTICLE closes with these pertinent remarks by the critic who asked the questions:

"A critic must take a firm stand on controversial matters if he is a man of integrity. This is not the easy course; on the contrary, one can live more peaceably by avoiding the touchy issues. After all, criticism is not a popularity contest."

Orchestra Lists New Schedule

The music director of the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra, Zubin Mehta, will be back for a longer period with the orchestra during the 1963-64 season, and five guest conductors will be on hand when Mehta fills other commitments.

Guest conductors for the 45th season opening Nov. 14 will be: Bernard Haitink, co-conductor of the Concertgebouw Orchestra of Amsterdam; Rafael Kubelik, Czech musician, former music director of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra; Charles Munch, former music head of the Boston Symphony Orchestra; Fritz Reiner, former music director of the Chicago Symphony; and Andre Vandernoot, young Belgian. All have conducted the Philharmonic previously except Kubelik and Vandernoot.

* * * *

SOLOISTS next season will be: pianists: Paul Badura-Skoda, Malcolm Frager, Eugene Istomin, Rudolf Serkin, and Ralph Votapek (who won the recent Cliburn competition in Fort Worth, Tex.); violinists: David Frisina, Ivry Gitlis, Yehudi Menuhin and Henryk Szeryng.

Rossmoor Festival May 7-12

By ELISE EMERY
Arts Page Editor

Club women and businessmen are designing a festival, complete with juried art show and scheduled performances of drama, dance puppetry and folk-singing.

The first annual Rossmoor Center Festival of the Arts will take place May 7 through 12, announce Mrs. Richard Cornish, president of Rossmoor Woman's Club, and Jack W. Pullen, president of Rossmoor Center Businessmen's Association, co-sponsors of the event.

"The festival is planned to bring the best of the arts to the area and adjacent community," said Pullen.

The art exhibit, open to all residents of Southern California, will be juried by Kenneth Ross, director of Los Angeles Municipal Art Department; Gerald Nordland, dean of faculty at Chouinard Art Institute; and June Wayne, director of Tamarind Lithography Workshop.

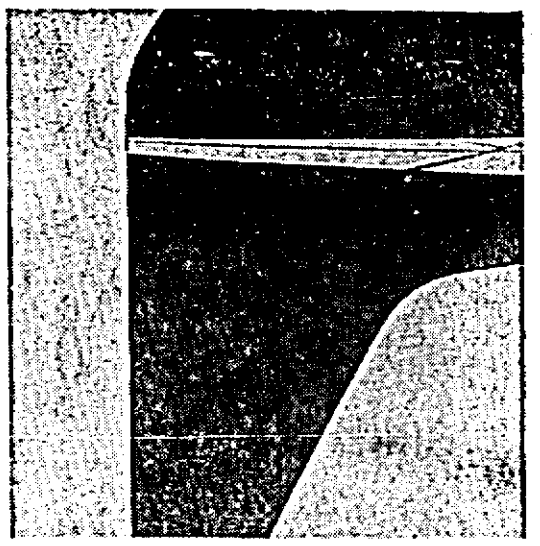

Purchase awards totaling $1,050 will be given and other cash prizes will be announced.

Further information may be had by writing Rossmoor Center Festival of the Arts, P.O. Box 246, Los Alamitos.

THREE NEW EXHIBITS open today at Long Beach Museum of Art, 2300 E. Ocean Blvd. and will continue through April 28.

In the downstairs galleries are paintings by Helen Lundeberg and "Varieties of Wedgwood" from the Buten Museum in Merion, Pa.

"SHADOW OF THE BRIDGE" is one of 20 paintings by Helen Lundeberg on view at Long Beach Museum of Art. Done in 1962, the work was exhibited in the "50 California Artists" show at Whitney Museum, New York, and is on loan from Ankrum Gallery.

"Six Spanish Painters" is the show in the upstairs gallery. It is made up of 30 works by contemporary artists Jose Made Sucre, Santi Suros, Ricardo Fradera, Zarraluqui, Pablo Olle and Marta Estrada.

Traveling under auspices of the Western Association of Art Museums, the exhibit is sponsored by the American-European Cultural Exchange Program.

An opening reception will be held today from 2 to 4 p.m.

* * * *

DOROTHY PRIESMEIER will conduct a critique session for Norwalk Art Association Tuesday at 8 p.m. in Elmcroft School cafetorium, 14716 Elmcroft Ave., Norwalk. The public is invited.

Miss Priesmeier has had many one-woman and group shows. She has taught art in the Los Angeles County school system for the past 10 years.

* * * *

JO REBERT, instructor of painting at Downey Museum of Art, won first award for modern watercolor in the recent National Orange Show All-California art exhibit in San Bernardino. This is the ians," at Westside Jewish has won in the past 13 years. She is represented in the invitational show, "Californians Collect Californians," at Westside Jewish Center, Los Angeles, through April.

* * * *

PAINTINGS of California wild flowers and weekend displays of fresh native blossoms comprise the fourth annual "California Wild Flowers in Art and in Bloom" show at Los Angeles County Museum, Exposition Park.

The exhibition will run through April 28.

Visitors will see 60 paintings by Sidney Armer, Jane Pinheiro and Ethelynde Smith. Botany experts will speak on Sunday afternoons at 2 p.m., with the exception of Easter Sunday. The display was arranged in cooperation with Rancho Santa Ana Botanic Garden of Pomona College.

* * * *

JEAN DAYTON WEST is showing 12 portraits at Laguna Art Gallery through May. Most of the paintings are of children in the peninsula area.

* * * *

RICHARD HOWARD Ellis 15318 Wilkie Ave., Gardena, has won the Rome Prize Fellowship in Sculpture for 1963.

The fellowship carries $3,000 stipend and free residence, studio, library and other facilities at the American Academy in Rome, Italy.

Ellis, graduate of Gardena High School, received his A.A. degree at El Camino College and will take his master of fine arts degree in June from Otis Art Institute of Los Angeles County.

CATHERINE M. Richter's watercolor and lithographs of a colonial Mexican town, San Miguel de Allende, are being shown in Padua Hills Theater, Claremont, through April. The exhibition was shown earlier in Pacific Coast Club here.

Mrs. Richter, a member of Long Beach Branch of the National League of American Pen Women, resides in Laguna Beach.

AT OFF-BROADWAY

The Princess (Galen McClure), waking in a strange hotel, says "I don't know who you are," to Chance (Will Zuck) in Tennessee Williams' "Sweet Bird of Youth" at Off-Broadway Theater, 211 Lime Ave. Play begins Friday, Saturday at 8:30 p. m.; Sunday at 8 o'clock.

Many Films Are Yours to Borrow

April is the big month for planning family trips, vacations, and all-out warfare against garden pests, and according to Miss Nina Boyle, head of Film Service at the Main Library, many of the offerings on the current film circuit list are suited to those needs.

One of three films which may be borrowed during April without a service charge is "Family Outings," about a camping trip to Baniff National Park. Another, "The Cape Islander," is the story of boats in Nova Scotian waters.

"Balance in Nature," a study in natural conservation, explains the life cycles of the villain aphid and his natural enemies which are found in the insect world.

The other circuit films require a service charge. They are: "Black and White in South Africa;" "Daughter of Changing Japan;" "An Impression of London;" "Mars and Beyond;" "Mohammedan World;" "Quetico;" "Return to the River;" "Safety in the Water;" "Shoebox Full of Dreams;" and "Time of Wonder."

Recent film additions to the library's permanent collection are: "Atoms for Peace;" "Atomic Power and the U.S.A.;" "Introducing the Atom;" "Scientific Advancement;" "Working Together;" and "Bear Country."

'Positive Approach' in Schmerler Paintings

By VIRGINIA LADDEY

The one-woman show of oil paintings by Edna Schmerler opens today with a reception from 2 to 4 p.m. at the Pacific Coast Club, 850 E. Ocean Blvd., and will continue through April 30.

Mrs. Schmerler, a young, dynamic grandmother, wife of a professional man, and proficient in a wide variety of crafts (including that of a licensed contractor), brings to her work a positive approach. She has complete control of her pigment and composition. One could almost wish she could let go with more freedom as in "Safad," the buildings and trees of an Israeli village.

* * * *

THERE ARE TWO current series in the show with a sprinkling of earlier works. The first is a baker's dozen in which an almost monochromatic color scheme is employed. In each, the background is laid on with a palette knife in a pleasing texture while to lower center floats a complex of black-lined, cubistic planes in complete balance. The most successful, to me, are "The Carnival," with its powerful solid movement, and "Old Greenwich Village."

* * * *

THE SECOND SERIES, of which five are shown, is a more recent pre-occupation. The entire canvas is covered with amphorphous forms developed into charming and pleasing relationships. The effect could be small sprightly waterbabies, dancing leaves, busy amoebae, or whatever relates to the viewer's "inner eye." As she progresses with this interesting phase, Mrs. Schmerler might be interested in more subtle color.

The show reflects serious dedication and a real feeling for the medium. It will be a pleasure to look forward to Mrs. Schmerler's progress.

Bowl Season Opens July 9

Elisabeth Schwarzkopf, celebrated opera soprano, will be featured on the opening of Hollywood Bowl's 42nd season of Symphonies Under the Stars, July 9, in a gay Viennese program.

Opening night in the Bowl will be the 1,280th season event since the first starlit symphonies in 1922. The 1963 season will consist of nine weeks of symphonies by the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra conducted by noted conductors with famous soloists, and the Saturday night "Pops" series.

Special events for other nights are being planned for the summer Bowl schedule.

Shapiros to Play for Arts Club

Constantine Shapiro, cellist, and Lydia Shapiro, pianist, will play a concert for Musical Arts Club members and guests Thursday at 8 p.m. in Westminster Presbyterian Church, Third Street and Molino Avenue.

Both artists were born in Russia. Shapiro studied with teachers in Moscow and Leipsig and appeared in concerts in Germany, Palestine, Japan and the United States. Mrs. Shapiro studied at Berlin Academy of Music and concertized in China, Japan, Palestine and this country.

The program will include works by Faure, Popper, Rachminoff, Chopin and Liszt.

'Aparajito' at Center Saturday

"Aparajito," second film of the Satyajit Ray Indian Trilogy, will be shown Saturday evening at Jewish Community Center, 2601 Grand Ave.

The story concerns young Apu, poor but proud Brahmin boy who gradually realizes that a better life awaits the educated man. With teen-age indifference, he allows his mother to sacrifice herself to his ambition. Although mood, setting and characters are Indian, the film serves to prove that relationships between parent and child are universal.

* * * *

ALSO ON the program are the Polish short, "Ragamuffin," about a small boy's desires, dreams and disappointments, and "The Sea Horse," fantasy in which a young girl's dream of a horse rising from the sea comes true.

Admission is free to subscribers to the center's Foreign Film Festival, nominal to others, half price to students. Doors open at 8:15; film begins at 8:30 p.m.

'Tomorrow,' 'Moonbird' on Series

Long Beach Film Society will show the French film, "Tomorrow Is My Turn," today at 5 and 7:30 p.m. in Long Beach State College Little Theater.

* * * *

THERE IS ALMOST no shooting in the story of two French soldiers, a lowly baker and an ambitious journalist.

Captured early, the two soldiers take different roads to freedom. It is in the interplay of emotions of those concerned — friends, acquaintances and enemies — that the story comes to life.

"Moonbird," a color cartoon which won first prize at the 1958 Venice Film Festival, completes the bill.

On Stage---

They Say Finance Is Fun

By CURTYNE DRISCOLL

"I love it. I wouldn't do anything else," says Mrs. Mary Snider.

"Every department is interesting," enthuses Mrs. Bettie Kiernan.

"Never a dull minute," claims Mrs. Veda Randolph.

What is it that these women find so exciting? The banking business!

Today seven out of 10 people in banking are women, according to a recent California Bankers Association survey. Some 48,000 women hold bank jobs in the state.

The positions they hold cover the full gamut of bank operations, from teller to president to board chairman—or is it chairwoman?

Women find bankers' hours (usually 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.) convenient if they have a family, they enjoy meeting the public and the pay is commensurate with men in the same jobs.

MRS SNIDER is an officer of the Bank of America, Fourth Street and Pine Avenue, and supervisor of the note department. She will celebrate her 20th year with the bank in October.

She deals primarily with foreign exchange and travelers' checks and enjoys every minute of it.

Mrs. Snyder says that many new careers are now opening to women in banking and that machine operation training is very helpful.

MRS. KIERNAN is an escrow officer at the bank. She started her banking career when she was just out of high school in Blair, Neb., where she was the only female employe in a small bank.

"Of all the departments that I have worked in, escrow is the most interesting . . . and the most difficult," Mrs. Kiernan said.

She finds the problems of customers in escrow fascinating. The men involved usually stick pretty much to the big issues. It is the women who nail down whether the draperies and the dishwasher are included.

Mrs. Kiernan feels that there are excellent opportunities for young women in banking. She suggests typing and shorthand as basic skills in preparation for a banking career. She has found shorthand an invaluable asset.

SAFE DEPOSIT BOXES are the very special province of Mrs. Randolph. Some of her older customers drop in every day for a peek in their box and a little chit-chat. She has some very merry tales to tell.

After seven years of non-payment of rent, the boxes are opened and the contents sent to a state agency. Some of the contents of these boxes are pretty astounding.

One of the boxes opened recently contained a piece of bark, two feathers and a blown egg!

The state agency must have been exceptionally impressed with the arrival of those treasures.

SPECIAL TRAINING is offered to all women bank employes. Some banks now have special women's divisions. Others have women representatives that call on women customers.

Banking has changed.

It's the women now who handle the change.

THEY ARE IN the banking business and love it! Veda Randolph, Mary Snider and Bettie Kiernan (from left) reflect the new look in California banking, where 48,000 women are now employed in responsible positions.

Soroptimist Club Plans Annual Easter Breakfast

Long Beach Soroptimists' annual Easter breakfast will be held Friday at 7:30 a.m. in the Red Velvet Room of the Lafayette Hotel. This will be the 30th anniversary of the event, originated by former president Lillian Newman Komaroff in 1933.

Helen Fuller, chairman for the day, will introduce Capt. Betty Stillwell, Rev. David C. Le Shana and Joseph R. Bjorndahl.

Reservations may be made with Edith Holton.

For their final informational program of March, Long Beach Soroptimists were given a tour of the U.S. Federal Correctional Institution, Department of Justice, on Terminal Island. Associate Warden Eleanor Holleran was hostess for the luncheon which followed the tour.

WHY GROW OLD?

Heat, Exercise May Help Aching Neck, Shoulders

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Many folks "get it in the neck" when they are tired or tense. In other words, fatigue may concentrate on the neck so that it actually aches. With me, this is a real barometer of my condition.

Many housewives and career women fail to realize that neck muscles become tense when women sit for long periods doing concentrated work. The work may be typing, sewing, writing letters, needlepoint, knitting, preparing vegetables, taking dictation or any other activity where the head is kept in much the same position for a long period of time. You may also feel this weariness through the shoulders.

• • • •

THERE ARE exercises which are extremely helpful and relaxing after a long session such as this. Here are two of them:

1. Stand tall. Let your arms hang limply at your sides. As you lift your shoulders, lower your head backwards. Lower your shoulders and return the head to its normal position. Continue, slowly.

2. Lie on the floor, on your back. Raise your arms upward so that your arms are at right angles to your body. Keeping the arm in this position, reach toward the ceiling with your right arm. Relax. Continue. Do this very slowly.

Heat is a great help for those who "get it in the neck." If you have this problem, first, lie down for a short rest period with a hot water bottle under your neck. Then do the two exercises I have suggested.

• • • •

IF ANY of you would like to have my leaflet, "Your Stiff Neck," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 18. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Morganne Lee Arnold

Localite Sets Date for Vows

Engagement of Morganne Lee Arnold to David Ball has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Arnold, Long Beach.

The wedding will take place in St. Luke's Episcopal Church here Aug. 31.

Miss Arnold will be the third generation of her family to marry in Long Beach. Her grandparents, the Charles E. Akers, came to Long Beach in 1909 where he was affiliated with Security First National Bank.

In 1912 their daughter, Deborah, married S. Morse Travers in a ceremony performed in the home of her parents. In 1938 their daughter, Zella Margaret, married Robert E. Arnold in the same family home at Ninth Street and Magnolia Avenue.

• • • •

MISS ARNOLD'S fiance is the son of the Rev. and Mrs. Harold G. Ball, Middleport, N.Y. He was graduated from Yale University and is in his last year of law school at Columbia University. He was a member of Skull and Bones at Yale.

She was graduated from Poly High and earned her BA from Mills College and MA from Columbia University. She also attended the University of Bristol, Bristol, England.

Petrol to Salad Oil

By MILDRED K. FLANARY
LP-T Food Editor

Chef of the Week

It may sound ambiguous, but today's Chef of the Week, James Stockman, is a petroleum engineer, engaged in the hotel business, with headquarters in Santa Rosa.

With that background, what brings him to Long Beach?

Well, he's president of Transwestern Hotels, Inc., and the major domo behind this city's Edgewater In Marina Hotel, down Marina way. City Center Motel at Third and Atlantic is another of his properties.

His headquarters in Santa Rosa resulted from that city's need for a new hotel which he just got busy and built, then stayed.

Stockman was born in Wichita, Kan. He was graduated from Kansas State College, Manhattan, and did a year's graduate work at Oklahoma University at Norman. He majored in mechanical and petroleum engineering.

• • • •

FOLLOWING graduation, he joined the Shell Oil Company in New York City. While there, along with his engineering, another of his propensities came to the fore. He edited the Shell Company magazine. He earlier cut his editor's teeth on his college paper.

Stockman boosted the Air Force roster by one in World War II, a pilot at the controls of a B-29. Part of his service was spent in Tinian, in the Mid-Pacific, as a test pilot.

At the war's close he returned to New York—rejoined Shell Oil. This time, however, it was under the guidance of Jimmy Doolittle, as sales manager for Domestic Airlines. He also served as assistant to the President of Shell, before being transferred to San Francisco as Shell's California sales manager.

• • • •

ONE DAY the urge to be in his own business overcame him, and he resigned from Shell and entered the real estate business. Eight years later — and with eight hotels to his credit, he now calls Long Beach his second home.

Come summer, he will be joined here by his wife, Betty Bill, and sons, James Bradley, 17, and Gregory, 15. Mrs. Stockman, a graduate of the University of Northwestern's McDill School of Journalism, is very active in the company, serving as its vice president.

Each year he and the boys journey to Wyoming in search of antelope, buffalo and deer. That accomplished, they fish.

A colonel in the Air Force Reserve, Stockman flies his own DC-3, and has more than 8,000 flying hours to his credit.

• • • •

THOUGH he travels extensively, he is active in the Rotary Club of Santa Rosa, serves on the Bay Area board of governors and on the executive council of Boy Scouts in the Bay Area. He is a member of the board of the Kelley Heart Foundation.

Last fall, our "chef" spent 22 days as a member of a business men's group, sent by the State Department, to Leningrad. There he discovered a Russian Dressing which he says is delicious on a Caesar Salad.

RUSSIAN DRESSING

Combine ¾ cup mayonnaise, ¼ cup chili sauce, 2 tablespoons minced green pepper, 1 tablespoon cider vinegar, ½ teaspoon paprika, ½ cup sour cream and 1 hard-cooked egg finely chopped. Shake in a pint jar until thoroughly mixed. Chill. Yield 2 cups.

CAESAR SALAD

In a wooden bowl put whole romaine leaves (8 servings). Sprinkle with salt and fresh ground black pepper to taste. Sprinkle with Parmesan cheese (2½ tablespoons per serving) over the romaine. Add croutons that have been seasoned with garlic and anchovy paste (4 per person) over greens and toss lightly. Break coddled egg (coddled one minute, using 1 egg for 2 persons) onto greens and toss again lightly. Add Russian Dressing and toss again. Always toss salad in same direction.

Keith Andes to Present Top Awards

Court Marian 1669, Catholic Daughters of America, will present local awards and trophies to finalists and semi-finalists in the state poetry-essay contest Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in Woodmen of the World Hall, 11 W. Plymouth St.

KEITH ANDES

Children have entered the contest from St. Barnabas, St. Pancratius and St. Athanasius schools. Nine of their entries will be sent on for state and national competition. Winners will be announced May 26.

LOCAL AWARDS will be made by Keith Andes, who soon will be seen as guest star in a Perry Mason television show. He currently is appearing in the "This Man Dawson" series and will co-star with Glynis Johns in a Desilu series. In May, he and Martha Raye will have leading roles in "Wild Cat" in San Diego. Earlier, Andes starred in the Broadway production with Lucille Ball.

Refreshments will be served after the presentations. Carolyn Mooney, chairman of education, is in charge of the evening's program.

Cover girl Lee Remick, nominated for an Academy Award for her performance in Warner Bros.' "Days of Wine and Roses," is the youngest of five candidates battling for an Oscar tomorrow night in the "Best Actress" category. This is Miss Remick's first time at bat in the Awards derby. She is competing against such skilled troupers as Bette Davis, who won her 10th nomination for "Whatever Happened to Baby Jane?" and has collected two Oscars; Katharine Hepburn, with nine nominations and one Oscar; Geraldine Page, with three nominations; and Anne Bancroft, a first-time nominee but a seasoned Broadway star repeating her stage role in the film, "The Miracle Worker." This Week

Long Beach's 2,000 parking meters—those minute machines which regulate life with more authority than an alarm clock—are tended by four comely girls called meter maids. They play no favorites: so far, only Santa Claus has escaped getting a ticket for overparking. And their job's not always fun. If you think so, read "The Maids Who Tend the Parking Meters" in next week's Southland.

Operation Eggs...for Easter

By Vivian Brown

SMALL FRY are perennially charmed by the Easter bunny, and his arrival means another season of enjoyment for the children. They adore helping Mom—and the rabbit—color the eggs and prepare a festive Easter table.

The children may try their hand at creating charming table centerpieces, party favors or eggs for the Easter basket with hard-cooked eggs, aluminum foil and the tube from a foil box. Faces and costumes may be created from scraps of felt or crepe papers, bright ribbons, sequins, little tidbits from the sewing box, crayons.

To start the operation rolling, Mom may assist the youngsters by cutting the foil box in sections from 3 to 6 inches long. Make three inch-long slits in one end of each tube section and overlap the cut edges with tape. One end of the tube will then be tapered. Cover it with foil. Glue the egg, narrow end down, into the tapered end of the tube.

Young hands find employment in making this bunny and angel from tinfoil, tubing, crayon, hard-cooked eggs.

IF AN EASTER rabbit is being created, cut the ears of double-thick strips of foil about 4½ inches long. Pinch the end of the ears and glue or tape to the head. A triangle of crepe paper or felt forms the nose, glued on with the rabbit's whiskers that may be made from three or four very narrow strips of foil. Eyes are made from crepe paper, felt or fabric. Finish the rabbit with a pert bow tie or long ribbon necktie.

Foil curls are the beauty mark of a doll or angel egg head or a little girl going to the Easter parade. Prepare body and egg head the same way as for the rabbit. Cut ¼ inch strips of double-thick foil, curling each strip around a pencil before attaching it to the head. A heart shaped mouth may be drawn with crayon or cut from red crepe paper, or it may be a heart-shaped or round red sequin. Fluttery eye-lashes are cut from black crepe paper or felt. Add a lace collar, tiny necklace or bright bow to make a shimmering doll for the Easter party table.

Making these egg heads should be lots of fun for the children.

Tall and Short of It

Oddity among usually straight-growing Redwood Empire trees is twisted giant, Corkscrew Tree.

IN THE 400-MILE coastal stretch between San Francisco and Oregon are the tallest of all trees . . . and the shortest.

Sequoia sempervirens, the Coast Redwood which grows nowhere else in nature, towers to 359 feet in South Humboldt County's awesome Rockefeller Grove. Near Fort Bragg, on the Mendocino coast, visitors stoop to see a pygmy forest whose mature pines and cypresses are only 18 inches tall.

Between these opposite growth-poles, other trees in the Empire are passing strange. Two beside the highway in Humboldt County live despite holes you can drive a car through. Several house stores. Fallen giants have reincarnated themselves, and sprout branches larger than most other trees. There are redwoods in corkscrew shape, some triangulated like a flatiron, and many with giant warts, or "burls" at their base.

Some have turned to stone. Near Calistoga, land of steam geysers, a prehistoric volcano leveled and petrified an entire forest.

INSPIRED BY these woodsy oddities, man has done his best to keep pace in the Redwood Empire. At Santa Rosa is a church built in 1875 entirely from the wood of one giant sequoia. At Asti beside the Redwood Highway is another shaped like a wine cask. At Eureka, the 1850-vintage Carson Mansion rears its gingerbread grandeur in toplofty disdain of normal-sized neighbors.

Not to be outdone, the Empire's animal kingdom offers tree-eating bears. In Humboldt County's hinterlands, they develop a liking for sweet sapwood, and destroy hundreds of young trees annually. Here Bruin's sweet tooth is his undoing, for the state has declared year-round open season on the tree-eaters.

A Touch of Spring

By Marguerite Ransford

ORIGINALITY in methods of presentation and the wide range of materials used add unusual interest to the annual exhibit of the Flower Arrangers' Guild of Southern California at the San Marino Woman's Club, 1800 Huntington Drive, San Marino, from 1 to 9 p.m. Thursday and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday. Theme of the show is "It's Spring Again."

The guild has 25 members who represent outstanding achievement in the flower arrangement field in Southern California, including the Long Beach area. Shows are not competitive and each member strives only to present the most beautiful and distinctive compositions within limits of her ability. Presentations are guided only by art principles and lack static rules. Freedom of expression, freshness and ingenuity are encouraged.

Dorothy Hill of Rossmoor uses purple Italian glass fruits on white sliced rock, snake grass and small white flowers for a guild arrangement. Container is lacquered, light blue, on white and blue glass stand.

Mankind dredges up strange denizens from the sea. like this pinto lobster taken in a trap at San Diego. It is only the second one ever seen north of Mexican border.

So rare that it doesn't have a name, this fish is called Luvarus Imperialis by scientists who know their fins.

Another rare one: Vomer declivifrons. No common name. Maybe you'd like to name him . . . like Homer the Vomer.

Few persons on the Pacific Coast have ever seen a scabbard fish (above), but a fisherman once dredged up 1½ tons of them in his nets at 140 fathoms off Newport Beach.

Weirdies of the Deeps

By Donnell Culpepper

JUST AS IT IS with birds of the air and creatures of the land, fish are diverse in their habits—some liking to roam and some desiring to stay pretty much put. And the roamers have provided the California Department of Fish and Game with some rare and strange individuals—at least, in these parts.

Take, for instance, a strange catch just off Newport Beach last year. A trawl fisherman, trying for anything he could get, netted one and one-half tons of scabbard fish in 140 fathoms of water.

Prior to that, the Fish and Game folks say, probably no more than 30 persons on this coast had ever seen a scabbard fish. Why such a large school should be netted off Southern California is a question that only the fish can answer.

SCABBARD FISH are common on the Atlantic Coast and are classed as excellent fare for the table.

This is the time of year that the DFG takes stock of the rare specimens turned in by anglers whose curiosity led them to the DFG's marine resources laboratory on Terminal Island. Fifty persons left 76 rare "critters" of the deep for classification in 1962.

One fisherman, Louis Zermatten, San Pedro, caught 11 species of rare fish and took all to the laboratory. Harry Barrington, Santa Babara, contributed four rare species. Ten other anglers contributed two species and 35 presented one each to the marine biologists.

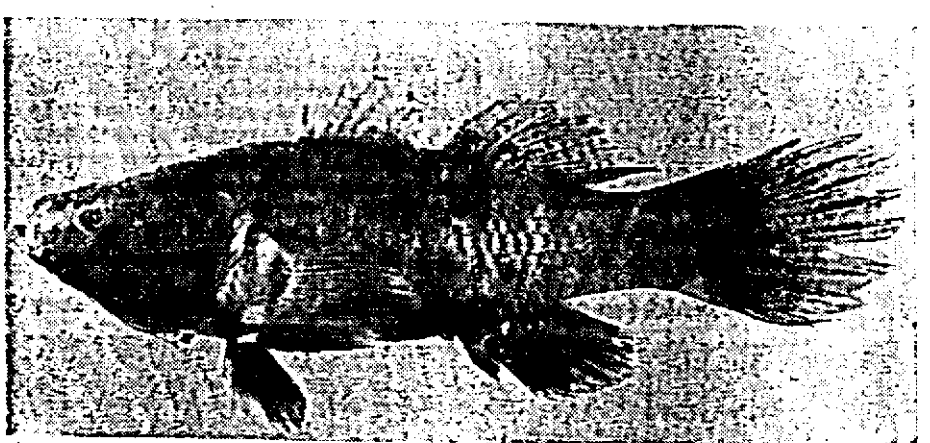

Almost every kind of marine organism was involved—lamp shells, corals, lobsters, crabs, octopuses, clams, squids, heteropods, snails, starfishes, sea urchins, a sea anemone and many food items taken from the stomachs of migratory albacore.

ONE SQUID was the first of its kind in California; it's possible that it will be new to science everywhere. Two starfishes taken in extremely deep water off Catalina Island also are new to science.

A pinto lobster was the second of its kind ever taken off California. It was trapped at San Diego.

Forty years ago a lamp shell (brachiepod) was taken off Santa Monica. The second was taken in 1962 in approximately the same location.

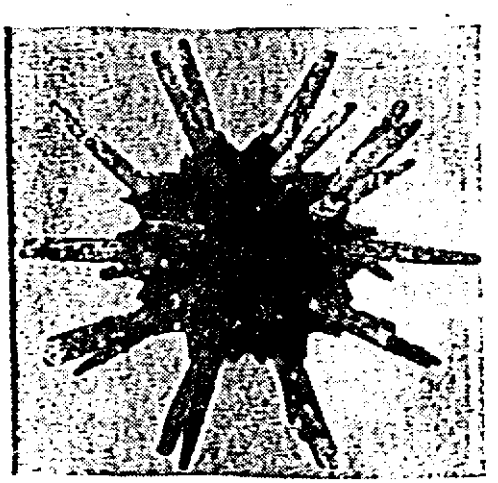

Several fish represented new size records and one shark had never been seen before.

Whether he's fat because he sleeps or vice versa, his name nevertheless is Pacific Fat Sleeper. He was hooked in rather deep water off the coastline of Palos Verdes.

Small squid are common in Southern California waters but seldom does one get this large. Giant squid above, also called J. B. Phillips squid, was netted off Long Beach and measured more than 6 feet across tentacles.

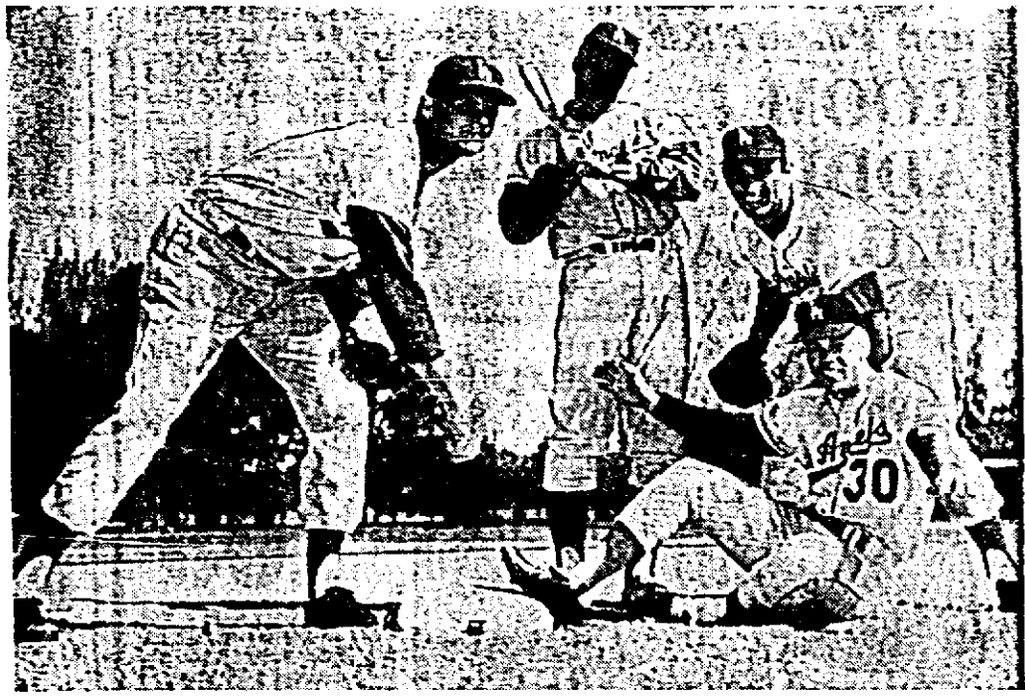

Satellite in the sky? Not at all, just a club-spine urchin taken off Catalina.

Crown Princes and Cinderellas

Will Dodgers and Angels Go All the Way?

By Hank Hollingworth

Famous foursome of the Los Angeles Dodgers lineup. Don Drysdale, Tommy Davis, Sandy Koufax, Maury Wills, a powerhouse of pitching, hitting and base stealing. Will they and their mates make it to the 1963 World Series?

GRAPEFRUIT and Cactus League schedules—the experimental grounds of all major league baseball clubs—go out the window Tuesday when the Dodgers and Angels open their official 1963 major league campaigns.

This is D-Year for both clubs—the Year of Decision.

The Dodgers have to decide whether 1962 was a fluke and they really are the No. 1 team in the National League.

The Angels have to decide if they're for real. The most astonishing team in the lengthy history of baseball, the Angels stunned the nation in 1962 when they finished the 10-team American League race in third place . . . in only their second year of existence!

Which club has the most difficult task? From a neutral viewpoint, this observer would have to designate the Dodgers.

EVEN THOUGH Walter O'Malley's club finished second in its league—after a thrilling three-game playoff with the San Francisco Giants—most of the hot dog and peanut-eating citizenry called the Dodgers 'bums," a name by which they were cherished in their Brooklyn birthplace, but which had only a derogatory meaning in Southern California.

Don't blame the fans, blame the Dodgers. The club boasted a four-game lead over the Giants with just seven contests to play. Not even Lloyds of London nor the bookies in Las Vegas would have quoted a price on the Dodgers blowing the pennant with that margin.

Yet they did!

A pennant they should have wrapped up in their knapsack days before the season concluded, went up in puffs of smoke when O'Malley's heroes managed to sandbag only one of their final seven games.

AS A RESULT, the Giants slid through the back door and into a regular season-ending tie.

The rest you know . . . the clubs split the first two games of the nerve-wracking playoff, then the Dodgers went into the ninth inning of the deciding final event with a 4-2 margin . . . and wound up losing the championship, 6-4!

Already, the Dodgers—despite their blue ribbon el foldo—are solid choices to win the 1963 championship. A second-place finish means nothing. The Dodgers must wind up at the top of the NL heap this season, or again be classified as 'bums." And not of the lovable Brooklyn variety.

The Angel situation is different. Few fans honestly expect the 1962 Cinderellas to finish as high as third place again. The Gene Autry-Bob Reynolds aggregation can land in fifth or sixth spot and nobody will be hurling ripe tomatoes at the warriors who wear halos on their caps.

THE DODGERS are the rich people, the Angels the poor folks—not in solvency, but in heritage and background.

Most fans figure the Angels were loaded with horseshoes and four-leaf clovers in 1962, since a sophomore team had no right to finish ahead of seven other clubs.

The Angels think differently. They point to their youthful discoveries of 1962—and insist these youngsters are no flashes in the pan. From Manager Bill Rigney down to the batboy, they are firm in the belief that they not only will IMPROVE this season, but (egad) actually challenge the Yankees for the pennant.

Ia Dean Chance, Ken McBride, Bob Rodgers, Jim Fregosi, Tom Satriano, Lee Thomas, Ken Hunt, George Thomas, Albie Pearson and Leon Wagner—not to mentoin the irrepressible Bo (Night Life) Belinsky—the Angels have the background to repeat their third-place finish or, with the horseshoes still clinging, to move up. Their best hope is that the rest of the league doesn't improve too much.

THE DODGERS have only one problem—in this seer's eyes: To pray their pitching holds up. They have everything else—in spades.

What happens Tuesday—for the Angels in Chavez Ravine against the Boston Red Sox and for the Dodgers in Chicago with the Cubs—won't really determine the leagues' final standings in September.

But it's a beginning . . . and haven't we all awaited it since last October?

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Hank Hollingworth is executive sports editor of the Long Beach Independent, Press-Telegram.)

Leon Wagner and Lee Thomas offer good batting power in the Angels' flag race.

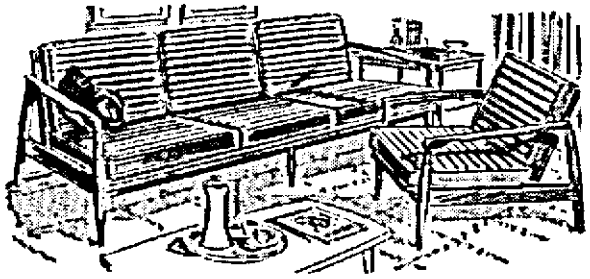

Could be an all-Los Angeles series, but few give the Cinderella Angels a real chance for the pennant. Above are Ed, George and Lee, all Thomases; manager Bill Rigney, and Ed and Bob Sadowski, posing a puzzler in names.

Gift the kids with this easily assembled bunny for an Easter treat that will rate you high for cleverness.

Confectionate Bunny

IF YOU'RE going visiting at Easter time and there are children in the house, gift them with a simple-for-you-to-make candy bunny.

Here's how simple and inexpensive it is to make the Sweet Bunny: Use one small and one medium styrofoam ball; attach smaller ball atop medium ball with toothpicks. Cover entire surface with marshmallows, attaching individually with toothpicks. Use licorice string around "neck" for tie and toothpick jellied gumdrop rings down front of body for buttons. Eyes are nonpareils with miniature marshmallows in center; the nose is a chocolate kiss and gumdrops form the mouth. Attach all with toothpicks. For ears, peel medium-size bananas cut in half lengthwise and brush with lemon juice. Fasten to head with wooden skewers or long toothpicks. Mrs. Bunny's children are made by toothpicking two marshmallows together for head and body. Arms and legs are miniature marshmallows, and ears are one large marshmallow cut in half and toothpicked to head. Features are made of chocolate morsels or cloves.

La Reina Rule

WHAT YOUR NAME MEANS

Send your name to La Reina Rule in care of Southland Magazine, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach, Calif., for origin, meaning and brief genealogy, for reply only in this column.

DEAR MISS RULE: Would you give genealogy for SKINNER.—E. S., Anaheim.

E. S.: SKINNER is from the root word "Skynnere," used in 12th century Britain for a "dealer in hides and furs," as well as a man who prepared skins for market. A fur seller's shop was then called a "skinnery." One Skinner ancestor was the honored Lord Mayor of London in 1596. The Skinner shield from Herefordshire is black, emblazoned with three silver griffin heads. John Skinner of Windsor, Conn., was married there in 1633.

DEAR MISS RULE: Can you analyze DENNING?—W. D., Los Angeles.

W. D.: DENNING, an ancient English surname, is traced to the Anglo-Saxon phrase "Den-Ing, deciphered as "place of the Danish family." This refers to ancestors who came from a Danish settlement on the east coast of England. Denning also has an Irish origin, from the Gaelic clan O'Duinnin, meaning "sons of the little brown one." The Irish O'Duinnins or Dennings were from southwest Cork and were hereditary historians to the MacCarthys. The family coat-of-arms held by the O'Dinneens, a part of the same clan, has two crossed silver swords placed between four gold roses on a blue shield.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please give genealogy of HUBBARD. —O. L., Long Beach.

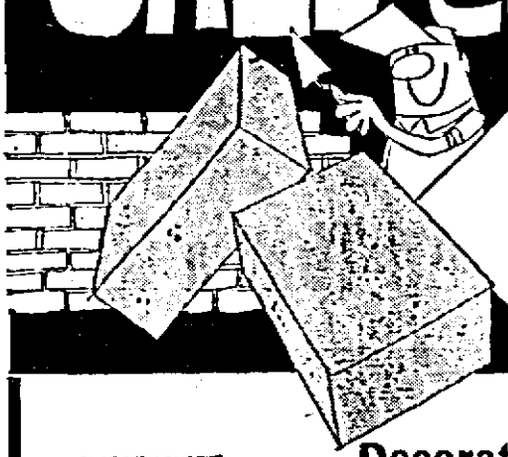

O. L.: HUBBARD, an altered form of the English hero-name Hubert, means "brilliant intellect." It was first popularized in honor of St. Hubert who was designated patron saint of hunters in the 8th century. He was converted to Christianity while hunting, after the appearance of a miraculous deer with a luminous cross on its head. Hubbard was first recorded as a surname in the 1200s. London registers later disclose the wedding of Jane Hubbarde in 1559. The family shield is green, emblazoned with a silver chevron between three silver eagle heads. Hartford, Connecticut records list George Hubbard and his wife Elizabeth, residents in the year 1643.

DEAR MISS RULE: What is the background of CASTELLANO.—M. C., Garden Grove.

M. C.: CASTELLANO is an unusual Italian surname meaning "man from Castile." This family's first recorded ancestor migrated from Spain to Italy in the early Middle Ages. After he was established in Italy, he was nicknamed Castellano referring to his native Spanish province of Castile (Castilla).

In this view of the Carpenters' living room is shown how furniture groupings and wall treatment were employed to lend an air of luxury and roominess to the area.

By Stella George

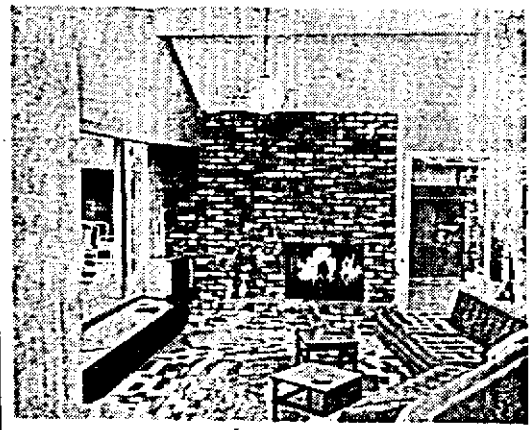

TRUE elegance marks the decorating theme of the home belonging to Mr. and Mrs. John Carpenter, 2912 Nipomo St. The house is relatively small—1,200 square feet—but the interior designer, Floyd McMahon, incorporated ideas both in choice and placement of furniture that lend both spaciousness and attractivenes to the surroundings.

Certain problems were obvious. The front door opens directly into the dining area of the comparatively small rectangular living room. To the left, a door leads to one of the bedrooms which is in an alcove, part of a long hall which extends to other bedrooms and baths. Thus, the question arose: how to make an attractive entry into the living quarters when no entry space is available and the structural arrangement presents physical drawbacks.

McMahon met the challenge of this particular problem ingeniously. He placed an Italian marble-top console on the wall (facing the living room) near the front door. The console is draped with gold cord and tassels. A small antique white table, which enlarges to seat 10 persons comfortably, is surrounded by gold upholstered matching chairs. A mirror above the console adds depth to the surroundings and completes the console decor. Twin lamps, slim and graceful, are on either end of the console. A hanging chandelier is directly above the table.

Need for creating an appearance of space led to careful selection of furnishings, such as this Italian set.

CARPETING is of gold color, an excellent background for the Italian decor. It does not predominate but rather enhances the fine furniture pieces in the same manner that a gold frame shows off a fine painting.

Occasional chairs are coral, and one chair is turquoise. A low, off-white couch, facing a glass-topped coffee table opposite glass doors that lead to the patio. A floor-to-ceiling rock fireplace is at the far end of the room. Off-white drapes provide a subdued wall background, adding depth because of the light tone, and luxury because of the fine quality of material used.

Every room in the home has been given importance insofar as decorating is concerned. In some rooms, Mrs. Carpenter used her own artistic ideas, the master bedroom being an example. Here, lavender is the dominant color. The room is relatively small, in the manner of the majority of tract homes. But well-chosen furniture makes it appear larger. The bed has a lavender filigree headboard, matched with an occasional chair of the same color and design. The spread and twin bolster pillows are lavender.

A second bathroom has an exciting decorative theme. Carpeting is red. Walls are covered with patterned red-background paper. A handsome framed mirror, formally a dressing table mirror, is placed above a white-flecked-with-gold wash basin that has gold fixtures. Above the mirror are three droplight fixtures. Adorning the area above the tub is a gold planter cherub.

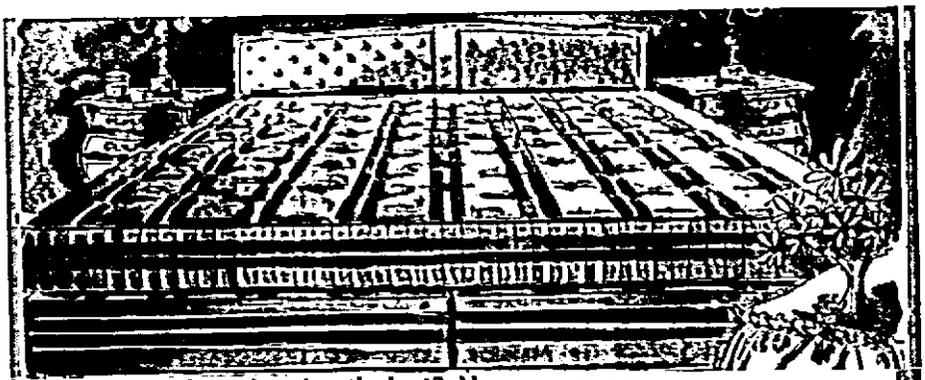

A boy's room is probably the envy of many of the occupant's friends. A huge green and blue sailfish is placed dramatically against drapes of matching hues. To add to the interest, the young occupant of the room caught the fish himself. Tailored furnishings are in good taste, and, once again, a small room appears spacious.

The back yard and patio arrangement of this home is interesting. Directly outside the living room is a patio on the same level as the living room, partially surrounded by a white, open block wall. Steps at the far end lead to another patio area surrounding a large pool.

Garden Hedge

An inexpensive hedge for the new garden may be made by planting seeds of Kochia where you want the hedge. If you prefer green leaves and a thick hedge, plant the type called Summer Cypress. You can grow 50 feet of hedge from one 25 cent packet of seeds.

Should red leaves appeal to you, the Kochia commonly called Mexican Firebush is what you want. Green during most of the growing season, and not so dense or neat in growth as Summer Cypress, its leaves turn bright red with the first frost.

Outside House Painting Now Eliminated

Another boon of the space age has been accomplished for the homeowner . . . an exterior wall coating so tough and durable that it is guaranteed to totally eliminate exterior house painting for over 10 years. This remarkable textured coating is Fiberglas FLEXON.

BEST IN NATION

Homeowners are requested not to spend a single penny on painting their residence until they hear the FLEXON STORY. This remarkable material insulates, waterproofs and beautifies, and every Fiberglas FLEXON job is factory guaranteed for 10 full years against chipping, flaking, or peeling.

FLEXON the miracle exterior wall coating is so indestructible and durable that it is absolutely guaranteed to eliminate the necessity for painting the outside walls of your home, apartment building or commercial property for 10 full years. This outstanding product when applied is approximately 20 times the thickness of ordinary paint and makes a wall surface that resists all climatic extremes.

Fiberglas, a product of Owens-Corning, brings to FLEXON its great strength its wonderful insulating properties, its resistance to time, weather, and chemical attack.

PROVEN OVER MANY YEARS

FLEXON is one of the oldest, tried and true coatings now being marketed and has been applied on thousands of homes and commercial buildings. These buildings have remained in perfect condition after more than 10 years exposure in all types of weather.

The United States Government and many large corporations such as U.S. Steel Corporation, Aluminum Corporation of America, Pacific Telephone, and Shell Oil Company, are included on the honor roll of FLEXON users.

Outwardly a conventional ranch-style house, this 1½-story design has an unconventional second floor with a "sky room" for family use, informal entertaining.

HOUSE OF THE WEEK

A House With Room at the Top

By David L. Bowen

IN A middle-sized home too small to contain a recreation room on the ground floor, the setting for teen-age record rumbles and informal adult entertainment is usually in a basement playroom.

This works out fine, IF the site permits a perfectly dry basement, IF the foundation permits adequate light and ventilation, and IF your esthetic sensibilities are not offended by entertaining in the cellar.

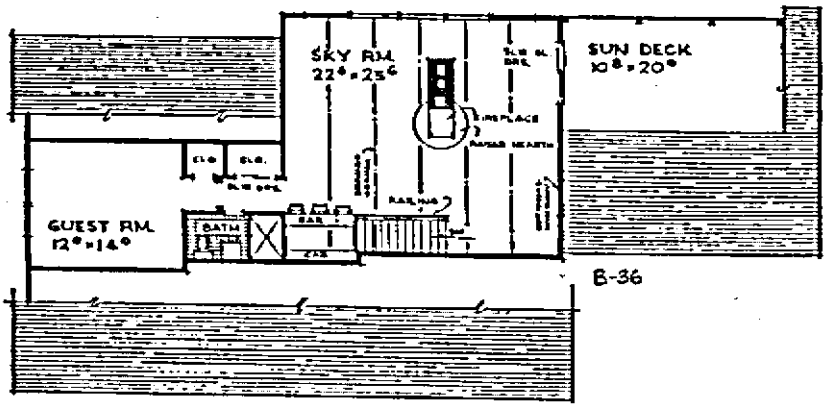

A basement playroom is not the only solution to the problem of where to find the extra space, however. There's another way — cheaper than building a wider house although not as inexpensive as sprucing up the basement. Architect Herman H. York suggests this different solution is moving the informal entertaining area to the second floor.

HE ADVANCES the concept in B-36 in the House of the Week series of distinguished architect-designed homes. A wide shed dormer in the back makes room in the house for a large 22½ by 25½ foot "sky room," complete with raised hearth fireplace, beamed ceiling, and sliding glass doors leading to an open-air sun deck.

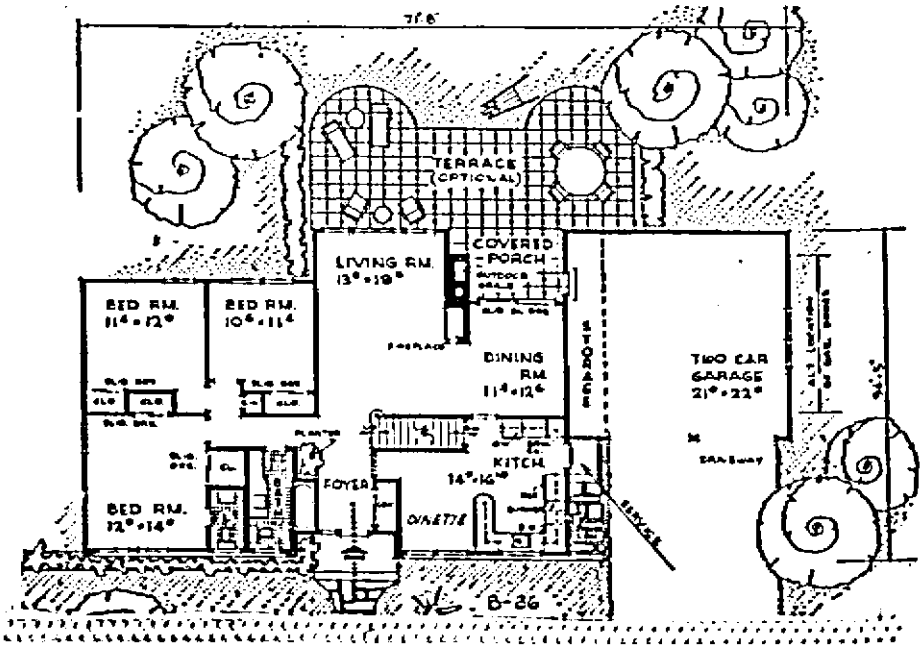

Off the sky room there's a bath and a guest room. The plan is conceived so that this area need not be developed immediately. Until it is, the family can make out nicely downstairs with three bedrooms and a bath and one-half, inviting living room and dining room, and roomy kitchen-dinette.

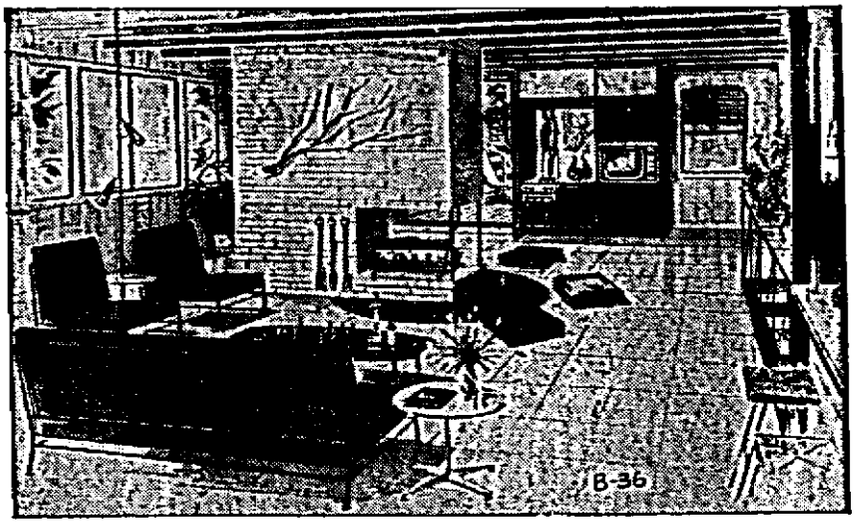

THE HABITABLE area on the ground floor is 1,452 square feet. The optional space upstairs is 871 square feet. Over-all width of the plan with two-car attached garage is 71 feet 8 inches and depth is 34 feet 5 inches.

From the front the home has a ranch look, because the upstairs dormer shows only from the rear. Entrance is set in to provide weather protection for the front door, which opens on a foyer. The arriving guest immediately gets an impressive view across the long living room and through its window wall onto the terrace.

Floor plan of the "sky room" is shown above. Below, the main floor plan, showing good circulation pattern and relationship of the living and dining rooms.

TO THE RIGHT of the foyer is dinette and kitchen, with efficient U shape. Access from kitchen to garage is ideal, and basement stairs are also handy.

In the rear of the house, dining room and living room form an "L" around a peninsula fireplace which highlights the living room without hogging wall space. Sliding glass doors lead from the dining room to a small covered porch, equipped with outdoor grill, and then the open terrace.

Bedrooms are down a center hall from the foyer. Main bath is side-by-side (for plumbing economy) with the half-bath serving the master bedroom.

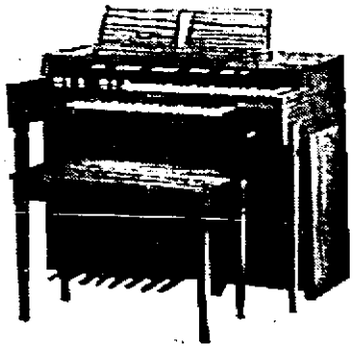

Stairway to the sky room adds an attractive design note to the foyer area and is centrally located for easy access from any part of the house.

Baked Salmon in Special Sauce

Salmon steaks are at a tender best baked in sauce of lemon juice and safflower oil.

By Mildred K. Flanary
Southland Magazine Home Economics Editor

SALMON has an esteemed place in modern home menu preparation, cooked whole, in steaks or used in dishes employing canned salmon.

Salmon spawn in the upper origins of fresh water streams. The young head out to sea and return to spawn and complete their life cycle. Much of mystery surrounds their lives at sea, but there is nothing mysterious about the adaptability of salmon as seafood. And here are recipes to substantiate that claim:

Salmon Steaks With Lemon Sauce

(Makes 4 Servings)

½ cup sugar
½ cup lemon juice
½ cup water
2 tblsp. safflower oil
2 tsp. onion salt
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. chervil
½ tsp. grated lemon rind
Dash pepper
4 salmon steaks, 1 inch thick
Lemon slices
Watercress

Combine sugar, lemon juice, water, oil, onion salt, salt, chervil, lemon rind and pepper in saucepan. Bring to a boil and pour over salmon in shallow baking dish. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 25 to 30 minutes, or until salmon flakes easily with a fork. Garnish with lemon slices and watercress. Makes 4 servings.

Salmon Broil

Open ½ or 1 pound can of salmon. Remove in a cylindrical shape. Place the cylinder of salmon on broiler pan and pour the juice from the can over it. Spread salmon with Mustard Butter, made by creaming 1 tablespoon prepared mustard with ¼ cup softened margarine. Broil until salmon is hot and lightly browned. Place on serving plate and pour juice from broiler pan over the salmon. Sprinkle with chopped parsley and garnish with lettuce.

Baked Salmon in Sour Cream

2 ½-pound cans salmon
1 cup sour cream
¼ cup chopped dill pickle
1 tsp. dry mustard
½ tsp. salt
1 tsp. sugar

Place salmon in 8-inch casserole dish. Mix together remaining ingredients and pour over salmon. Place in 325-degree oven and bake for 30 minutes. For smooth sauce, do not baste salmon with sauce. Garnish with lemon wedges and parsley. Makes 4 servings.

Recipe of the Week

EGGPLANT and meat are combined in a pie that wins this week's $5 prize as best recipe for Ruth Sullivan, 5914 Olive Ave., Long Beach 5. The recipe:

Eggplant Meat Pie

1 small unpeeled eggplant
2 tblsps. butter
¼ cup minced celery
⅓ cup minced onion
½ pound ground beef
⅓ tsp. salt
¾ teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 8-oz. can tomato sauce
½ cup cottage cheese
9-inch pastry for top

Wash and cut off stem end of eggplant. Dice into 1 inch pieces. Melt butter, add eggplant, celery, and onion and cook over low heat until eggplant and onion begin to soften. Add ground beef, breaking it into small pieces; cook, stirring constantly until meat is brown. Add seasonings and tomato sauce. Cook 10 minutes longer. Stir in cottage cheese and pour into deep 9 inch pie dish. Cover top with pastry. Cut star in top to allow steam to escape. Bake in 400 degree oven for 30 minutes. Serves 4.

TV: A Teaching Tool

By Harry Karns

Education Research Associates

QUESTION: Is instruction by TV just a way of saving money by getting rid of teachers, or does it have some real value?

ANSWER: TV is not a teacher and, where employed, is not meant to take the place of a teacher. It is a teaching aid, a tool—and a most valuable one.

Elinor Richardson and Robert C. Gerletti of the Division of Audio-Visual Education, office of the Los Angeles County superintendent of schools, writes in the "California Journal of Elementary Education":

"One of the most important contributions of a television lesson is that pupils are given an opportunity to learn from specialists in various fields. It would be impossible to take a noted scientist, artist, or author to very many schools or classrooms. Through use of a television lesson the scientist, for example, is brought into numerous classrooms at the same time. . . .

"Through television inaccessible places can be visited, and dangerous or expensive equipment can be shown. . . .

". . . television gives pupils front seats on the windows of the world."

The development of television as a classroom tool has been hindered by a few of the less imaginative educators, but more and more the teaching fraternity is recognizing the value of this tool and putting it to work.

QUESTION: "The little girl next door is younger than my son but is ahead of him in reading. My son is above-average intelligence. Why is he lagging?"

ANSWER: It's unfair to make these comparisons. Keep these three points in mind:

1. As a general rule, boys are slower to pick up reading than girls are.
2. Children differ in the ages at which they learn to read—or to do anything else, for that matter.
3. The slow beginner often overtakes his faster companions and may even pass them up.

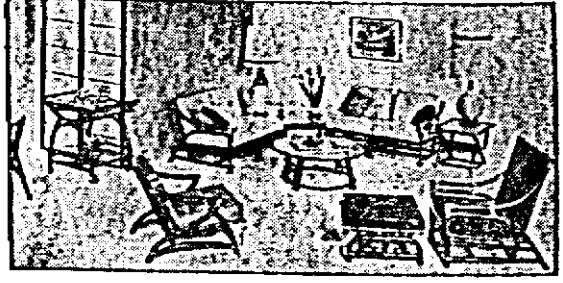

Give the child time to develop. Even then, don't measure him by another child but against his own potential. Expect only the best that he can give.

Vibrant red "501" carpeting of Du Pont nylon by Gulistan is used by Renny Saltzman, AIID, for the entry hall of a split-level house that opens directly into the living room. Carpeting covers foyer, staircase and upper living level completely for a sense of unity and space. Kroehler sofa in long-wearing, electric blue nylon, white nylon armchairs, print "Dacron" casements add contrast, pattern.

Red for Small Spaces

"DONT BE AFRAID to use brilliant color in a small space," advises Renny Saltzman, member of the American Institute of Interior Designers. "In fact, a small room may need the excitement and interest of color even more than a large room would."

Saltzman, who believes that clear, bright colors often work decorating wonders, uses China red "501" carpeting of Du Pont nylon for a dramatic answer to a widespread problem--the entrance hall of the split-level house that leads directly into the living area.

To counteract a cut-up look, the "501" carpet called "Golden Days" by Gulistan, covers foyer, staircase and upper living level completely, giving a feeling of unity and spaciousness. Despite the heavy family traffic which rooms like this often get, the "501" carpeting will wear extremely well, thanks to tough, durable nylon. It is also easy to spot clean, an asset in a much-lived-in room.

Saltzman points out that this colorful floor of "501" carpeting is more than a tonic; it is also a factor for comfort and safety. Soft and luxurious underfoot, it provides a warm, resilient surface, helps to deaden sound, and makes the staircase safer as well as more attractive.

The red carpet really is out for visitors in the welcoming entrance hall, with its large green plants and the simple, handsome storage piece by Kroehler.

The living room carries out the mood set by the gay and red carpeting with colorful sofa and armchairs from the new Kroehler Modern Artisan collection. A long sofa across the back of the room is covered in electric blue nylon. Flanking it are two white armchairs, also covered in easy-care, long-wearing Du Pont nylon.

In this small living room, the striking window treatment gives the room balance by providing a simple, yet distinctive, background for the sofa. The print, Waverly's "Victoria," on 100 per cent "Dacron" polyester fiber, is black-on-white, its clean, etched look very effective against the splashes of color of carpeting and sofa. To show off the print and provide a frame for the wall of casements and the sofa, the fabric is stretched in simple wooden frames, painted black, which take the place of draperies. Because they are of crisp, easy-care "Dacron," the casements are washable, and drip dry with little or no ironing.

In the living area, a grouping of pictures over the handsome chest softens the white wall, picking up colors from the rug and sofa. For dramatic effect, reading lamps and potted green plants are deliberately large in scale. Accessories are colorul, but kept to a minimum to preserve the feeling of spaciousnss and the lack of clutter.

ARCHITECT'S Sketchbook

Padded back rests heighten the look of luxury in this headboard design, and there's plenty of storage space.

By Bill Meyerriecks

ADDING an air of luxury to a bedroom, the design shown in the sketch above makes such luxury a comfortable, cozy fact of life—in reach of the home shop handyman.

Under the cabinet tops at each side there's a shallow drawer which offers as much or more storage as the average night table. Over this is a shallow shelf for clock or radio. Below the drawer is a large compartment for magazines or nighttime snack supplies: tray with thermos, cups and cookies.

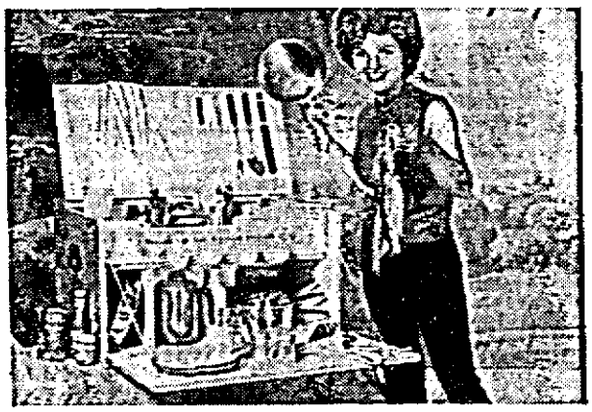

Immediately under the case top there is a pull-out board for the Saturday morning coffee you never have room to set down, and it's right where you can easily reach it from your comfortable lounging position against the built-in backrests.

SLOPED attractively and lightly upholstered over foam rubber, the two backs are hinged at the bottoms to provide access to the valuable hidden storage space within.

Designed to be built simply of hardwood lumber, the Sketchbook plan tells how you can substitute pine or plywood if you prefer. There is plenty of flexibility in the plan so that it can be made to fit almost any situation—double bed, twin beds, or even a single bed.

TO OBTAIN Plan S-100, send name and address and 50 cents to Building Editor, Southland Magazine, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach 12, Calif.

Kit for Camping Out

WHETHER IT'S a one-day picnic jaunt into the back country or a camping vacation of a week or more, one adjunct to happy enjoyment of getting back to nature is adequate cooking facilities. Communing with nature has many results, and one of them is sharpening of the appetite. Hence the camp kitchen pictured above with NBC's television actress Mary Ann Gaba. It has more conveniences than you can shake a frying pan at, provides tabletop working space, is compact, and is easy to transport by means of handles on both sides. Using a full-sized pattern, any home handyman can build this unit in three or four evenings. To obtain the pattern, with directions for assembly, send name and address and $1 in currency, money order or check for Camper's Kitchen Pattern No. 213 to Steve Ellingson, Southland Magazine Pattern Dept., PO Box 2333, Van Nuys, Calif.

When Automation Isn't Enough

Two readings were taken to make this backlighted picture, one for the backlight and one for the face detail.

By Irving Desfor

ELECTRIC EYE or automatic cameras, both movie and still types, normally have a blind spot when faced with a particular exposure problem. It occurs when the camera is in bright sunlight and the subject being photographed is in shadow or, in reverse, when the camera is in a shaded area and the subject is in sunshine.

When the camera is strictly automatic and has no manual control, the photographer should change his position so as to shoot under the same light condition as the subject in order to get proper exposure.

If he can't change his position, he might compensate by shifting the film speed setting.

If the camera "thinks" it has a faster or slower film, it would close down or open the lens a bit more.

THUS, with the camera in sunlight and subject in shadow, the ASA film speed setting should be reduced if possible, at least half. And with the camera in shadow and subject in sunlight, the ASA film speed setting should be increased to double, if possible.

Fortunately, the newest cameras feature manual control along with electric eye automation. To prove the point, I tested a new still and a new movie camera under difficult backlight illumination. It showed, as always, that human judgment is needed along with the electric eye.

For stills I used the Rollei Magic II, a new model of the first electric eye automatic 2¼ by 2¼ twin-lens reflex camera. It features an easier-to-see exposure value pointer and an easier-to-handle manual control.

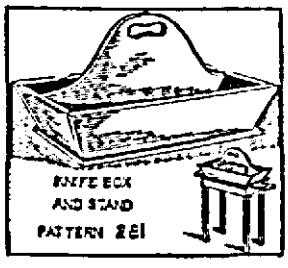

FOR THE accompanying illustration, shooting position was in the sun where the electric eye reading showed an exposure value of 15 (1/60th at f22 with Tri-X-film). Another close-up reading of the shadow side was made for facial details: exposure value 11. The Rollei was then set on manual and shot at 1/60th at f5.6.

For movies, I used the new Revere Reflex Power Zoom 8mm camera. It features through-the-lens viewing and focusing, automatic and manual f-stop visibility in viewfinder and power zoom. It also has a unique backlight stop which is a built-in effort to compensate for shooting in the direction of the sun by opening the lens more than the normal electric eye setting. It is certainly a step in the right direction but doesn't go far enough.

I FOUND it necessary in both cases to step into the shadow area and take a close-up electric eye reading of a face. Then I switched to a manual control on both cameras with the exposure set for the shadows. The results were what I wanted: detail in the faces.

With normal lighting situations, I turned back to automatic control and effortless shooting.

You Make It

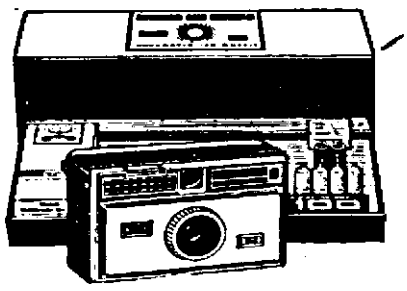

There are new uses for the old-time box that was so handy for carrying knives and forks to the table. Now we carry books, mending and odds and ends in the box fastened to a stand with pull-out shelves. Pattern 281, which gives full-size guides and shows how to make both, costs only 35 cents. It also is in the Pine and Maple Reproduction Packet No. 53 which costs $1. Address: Pattern Dept., Southland Magazine, Independent, Press-Telegram, Bedford Hills, N. Y.

BOOK REVIEWS

Adventure of a Decent Rogue

By Vera Williams
Southland Magazine Book Editor

A VAST SAGA of Americana—the story of the maturing of oversized, mighty Thurs Wraldson—appeared in three novels from 1949 to 1952 under the pen name of Feike Feikema and attracted wide interest because of its literary mastery, scope and intensity.

Later, Feikema, using his true name of Frederick Manfred, rewrote the three volumes, "The Primitive," "The Brother" and "The Giant," into a trilogy now published as "WANDERLUST" (Swallow, $9.50).

Here is the rugged, earthy life's adventure of an inherently decent rogue, who leaves his orphanage in Iowa's rural Siouxland for a Christian college in Michigan and then meets every type of character in, and out of, society.

In Thurs' world are professors, pert coeds, perverts, artists, factory owners and coarse factory hands, psychiatrists, millionaires, scientists and women, good and bad. The dialogue, sometimes racy, sometimes cultured, is always vigorous, with an amazingly wide range of dialects.

Thurs' women refer to him as "all man." This he is, indeed, and no dullard.

SOVIET penetration of the western hemisphere and the Cuban crisis are given a careful going over by the teams of journalists in a pair of new books.

These are "STRIKE IN THE WEST (The Complete Story of the Cuban Crisis") by Readers Digest editors James Daniel and John G. Hubbell (Holt, Rinehart & Winston, $3.50) and "THE GREAT DECEPTION (The Inside Story of How the Kremlin Took Over Cuba)" by two other Readers Digest editors, James Monohan and Kenneth O. Gilmore (Farrar, Straus & Co., $3.95).

"Strike in the West" is a highly journalistic description of the two weeks in October 1962 when the U.S. and Russia faced each other over the brink of thermonuclear war.

"The Great Deception" is the first person story of hundreds involved in the Fidelista revolution and how they viewed the Soviet takeover. It traces the major events from when Castro emerged triumphant over Batista through his brother Raul's mission to Moscow in 1962.

BOOMING southwest Florida — the famed Everglades country—is the setting of "I TAKE THIS LAND," a new novel by Richard Powell (Scribner's Sons, $5.95).

Powell, author of the eminently successful "The Philadelphian" and "Pioneer, Go Home," uses an extraordinary cast of characters to describe the development of this lush tropical country from its frontier days in 1896 to the present.

Highly romanticized, but exciting and readable, the players in this colorful bit of modern Americana include Ward Champion, the land promoter who won a railroad in a poker game; Rush Lightburn, the crafty Everglades hunter who carried a rattlesnake's fang for a toothpick; Julie, his wild, untamed, temptress sister and many others.

THE SELF-PITY and self-love on which the "lost" generation of the '60s feeds have become the hallmark of a goodly portion of new American novels. David Chagall's well-written and promising "THE CENTURY GOD SLEPT" (Thomas Yoseloff, $3.95) is as good a Cook's tour as you can find through the world of the not-quite-beatniks but always despairing denizens of Philadelphia's Bohemian sector near fashionable Rittenhouse Square. It is virtually a documentary film.

MATT CARTER is a composite of many great surgeons. The semi-fictional account of one day in his life is a cross-section of true stories of dedicated men pitting their skill and ingenuity against death-dealing disease.

To probe the heart and will of "THE SURGEON" (Doubleday, $3.95), W. C. Heinz sought out a dozen masters of the profession. He learned of their aspirations, purposes in medicine, religious growth, attitudes toward death and failure and achievement and success, saw their operating techniques and watched them solve the delicate decisions of which dying patients and which relatives to tell or not to tell.

Admittedly, this is the idealistic side of surgery, but it is the door through which you meet patients, some strong and confident, some frightened and hallucinated; their (it-takes-all-kinds-of) families; and all the other players and factors in this fascinating drama.

Yoga Helps Allergic Shiners

By Ben Zinser

Southland Magazine Medical Science Writer

ALLERGIC SHINERS—blue-black shadows in the grooves beneath the lower eyelids—are commonly found in the allergic child with chronic nasal disease.

Dr. Meyer B. Marks, Miami Beach, Fla., says the treatment of these eye shadows is basically that of managing the nasal allergy.

However, children who attend Yoga classes and perform head stands once or twice daily for several minutes have experienced remarkable improvement of their black-eye condition, he reports in Annals of Allergy.

A NEW chemical compound that reduces inflammation and fever in laboratory animals has been reported.

Called indomethacin, it exerts anti-inflammatory potency 10 to 85 times that of phenylbutazone, a well-known drug.

Fever induced in rabbits was blocked by indomethacin with a potency 20 times that of phenylbutazone and 10 times that of aminopyrine, an anti-fever compound.

The report is in the Journal of the American Chemical Society. Laboratory work is continuing.

A SKIN specialist has named some of the better creams and bath oils for the treatment of dry skin.

Dr. E. William Rosenberg, assistant professor of dermatology at the University of Tennessee, gives the following recommendations in the medical periodical Consultant:

Skin creams: Acid Mantle Creme, Nivea Creme, Lubriderm, Lowila Emollient.

Bath oils: Mellobath, Domol, Lubath, Alpha-Keri.

Dr. Rosenberg says grandma's favorite treatment to counteract dryness works well for many patients. The preparation: rosewater and glycerin.

The doctor reminds elderly persons to be cautious when using bath oils. These oils make the bathtub quite slippery, he says. (Bath oils are added to a tub full of tap water, and the patient sits in the oil-and-water emulsion for about 15 minutes.)

When patients complain of dry skin, he says, they actually mean roughness, scaling, redness, chapping or sensations of burning, stinging or itching.

BY ACCIDENT, medical researchers have discovered a medical treatment for enlarged prostate gland in aging men.

A drug combination known as Prostall has been able to relieve or reduce symptoms in 45 men with uncomplicated prostatic enlargement. The condition afflicts more than half of all men over 50.

Researchers discovered the compound's effect when a man being treated for allergy reported relief of his prostatic symptoms.

Prostall is a combination of ingredients known as glycine, alanine and glutamic acid.

In a study reported by Dr. Frederic Damrau of New York City in the Journal of the American Geriatrics Society, patients took two capsules three times daily for two weeks, then one capsule three times a day for three months.

The treatment reduced or relieved a variety of urinary troubles caused by enlarged prostate gland, Dr. Damrau reports.

OCCUPATIONAL hazard of quarter-miler track athletes: fatigue fracture.

These breaks usually defy X-ray detection and masquerade as sprains, researchers report in California Medicine.

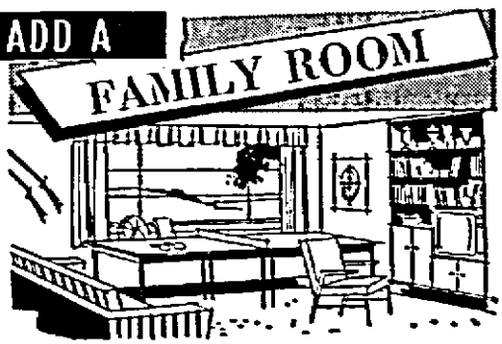

UCLA doctors say fatigue fracture usually develops from intensive training on a hard track. So most track coaches alternate hard-track and grass-course training.

Usual treatment: A rest from training for two months or more.

The fracture heals itself. The healing process often provides the only X-ray evidence that a break has occurred.

Basset Pups Practice

By Eleanor Avery Price

WHY NOT start Easter vacation with a short jaunt today to La Palma Park in Anaheim for a puppy match of the Basset Hound Club of Southern California. "Hub" Robinson from Long Beach will judge. Hours will be 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. but you should arrive by noon.

Glendale also has an attraction today for cat fanciers—the Jewel City Cat Club Show in the Glendale National Guard Armory.

Or perhaps you have a desert trip lined up. If so, and children are along, remember that kids feel a sense of companionship, even kinship with the creeping, coldblooded creatures (not rattlesnakes) that inhabit the desert. If you feel squeamish about these animals, it is still your duty to encourage children in their love of an interest in God's creatures. Perhaps you can learn from one mother who said, "It wasn't easy at first, especially when I found the first 'thing' reposing in my sink, but I became used to it and now enjoy it. And all of nature can be a constructive and oftentimes humorous hobby."

—Louis and Virginia Key Photos

"Look, daughter, no cavities!" Champion basset and pup are owned by Mr. and Mrs. Hub Robinson of Long Beach.

OR COULD BE you are going to start Easter vacation with a new pet. This is a religious season, a time of joy, love, giving. The rebirth of spring kindles in our hearts the desire to give something alive. Many cities ban or try to ban the giving of delicate pets such as pink-eared bunnies and fluffy chicks (invariably chicks become crowing roosters) because their novelty wears off too easily. However, there are other pets available that do not outgrow their appeal.

A parakeet, for instance, as it learns to talk and do "tricks" becomes increasingly endearing. I'd like to add right here that, when training a parakeet to talk, you should repeat words over and over very slowly. The parakeet normally talks faster than a human, and if he learns words spoken too rapidly, his mimicking will rumble forth like so much gibberish.

CANARIES and other birds are also popular. If you obtain a male canary that doesn't sing, try to place a fine songster nearby so the young bird will pick up his song. Canaries, by the way, are extremely popular in Alaska. They help to cheer up their owners through the long dark nights!

(Turtles are good and easy to care for, as are hamsters, cavies (guinea pigs) and white mice or rats.

Nothing is easier on "mother's" nerves than plain goldfish, if they are housed correctly. (If this sounds ridiculous, you should see my buffet! I first used a bowl with straight sides, and the fish splattered water all over. A bowl sloped toward the center is much better, and even it should be placed on an attractive plate.)

A small descented skunk or a kitten makes a good pet. Puppies are wonderful if you have time and patience.

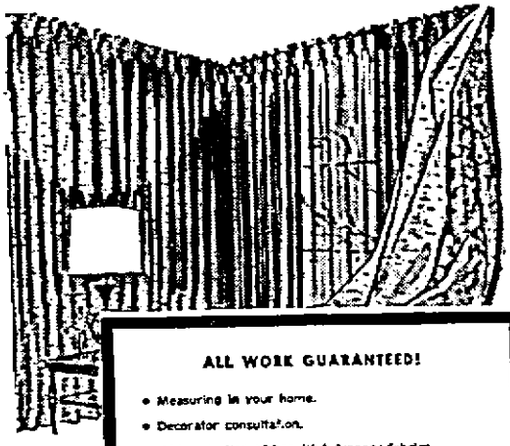

Just be certain a pet is wanted before you buy it as a gift or for yourself.

HUB POODLE CLUB has a spring puppy match today at South Park, Compton, with noon as entry deadline. The park is reached by Alondra Avenue to Chester Street, between Long Beach Boulevard and Santa Fe Avenue.

Two Favorites

Many vegetable gardeners think only in terms of the annual crops which he plants and harvests during the same year. The California Association of Nurserymen reminds us that two favorite vegetables—artichoke and asparagus—are perennial in nature and can be planted now for harvest over several years. You don't get crops this first year, naturally, but you will get them for at least the next decade from divisions set out now.

Science Goes to Sea on a Sled

Scientists prepare to drop seagoing sled (top) over the side from research ship to "coast" along bottom (lower photo) to gain data on ocean characteristics.

By Lou Jobst

THERE will be no bells jingling, but scientists are preparing to take a sleigh ride on the ocean floor off Southern California.

Researchers in Lockheed-California Co.'s anti-submarine warfare and ocean systems have developed an 80-pound stainless steel sled with which they hope to map the ups-and-downs of the ocean bottom.

Attached to a cable, the sled is to be dragged along the sea floor by a surface vessel traveling at two to three knots.

A DEPTH SENSOR and angle-reading inclinometer, attached to the seagoing sleigh, are to beam data on contour, slope and roughness to the surface.

The sled can tip or spill without an interruption in the work because it is designed to operate upside down.

Lockheed scientists believe the sled will give more precise information than an electronic echo sounder, whose signals are likely to hit the sides but not the lowest point of an ocean floor depression.

THE SLED, four feet long and two feet wide, is designed to withstand the pressures of any ocean depth.

With instrument modifications, scientists say, the sled may be able to determine sea floor composition by sound differences as its runners scrape along the bottom.

Preliminary tests with the device have already been conducted offshore.

Faster Reservations

By Fred Taylor Kraft
Travel Editor

A NEW electric automated reservations control center—the first intrastate system of its kind in the United States—has been put in operation by Pacific Southwest Airlines at its San Diego headquarters.

The center, costing $500,000, receives all telephone reservation calls from each city on the PSA system (San Diego-Los Angeles-San Francisco) through Bell Telephone's TelPak system. A National Cash Register computer, soon to be installed, will further modernize the system by transmitting instantaneous information on flight conditions.

J. F. Andrews, president of the airline, said the new center "will result in faster, more efficient service, and, more important, will do away with inaccuracies and minor errors which have existed heretofore."

THE SYSTEM is manned by more than 90 personnel which already are receiving calls at the rate of 160,000 a month. The payroll for the new installation will top $400,000 annually.

Here is how the center operates: a Long Beach person, seeking a reservation on the airline from Los Angeles International Airport to San Diego or San Francisco, calls the regular PSA number; the San Diego center automatically takes the call and arranges the reservation.

A special desk receives calls from travel agents only.

Also being installed is a unique service, called Instant Ticket, designed for use by holders of PSA credit cards. Its aim is to reduce as much as possible the time required at airport ticket counters for ticket purchase and check-in.

THE AIRLINE'S credit card holders merely calls PSA reservations, give their credit card number and date and flight they wish to take. The information is punched out by the reservations agent on a special teletype machine, and a ticket is reproduced on another machine located at the airport ticket counter. Thus, the Instant Ticket is ready and waiting for the passenger when he arrives at the airport counter.

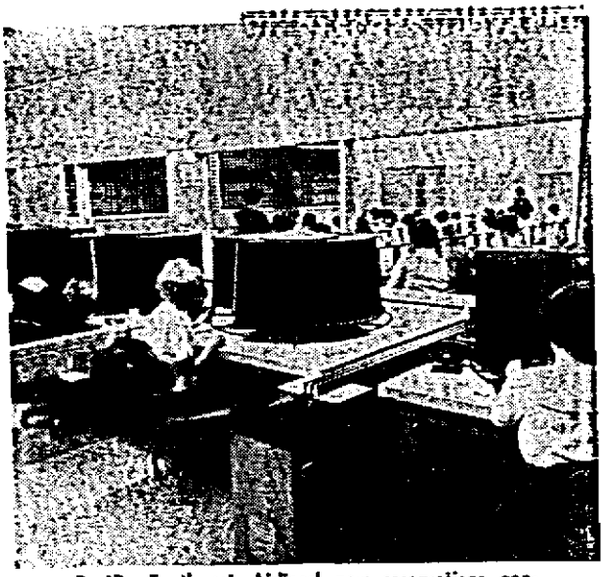

Other new San Diego facilities for PSA include a $500,000 engine overhaul facility which will be ready for use by late summer.

WILD FLOWERS may appear a little later in some desert areas but, on the whole, this year's display will be sparse.

That's the word received by the All-Year Club of Southern California last week from some areas which have boasted lavish displays in years past.

From Palm Springs comes word that "the high desert probably will have a pretty fair display, but the Palm Springs area won't have anything to brag about."

From Bakersfield: "We are soft-pedaling the wildflower situation this spring. Lack of moisture has pretty well dimmed the outlook for floral displays in the valley. There may be some color later at higher elevations, but it's too early to predict. Our educated guess is that this will be a poor year for wildflowers hereabouts."

Pacific Southwest Airlines' new reservations control center, the first intrastate system of its kind.

AROUND THE WORLD WITH DELAPLANE

"Our son and daughter will be traveling as students in Japan—as cheaply as possible. Are youth hostels the best way?"

YES. About $1 a night. And a good way to get the feeling of the country. Write American Youth Hostel, 14 W. 8th St., New York City. (Youth hostels are open to any age and you don't have to be a student.)

". . . and our daughter thinks they should bring along instant coffee, cocoa and dried soups. Or can you buy these things in Japan?"

I'D CARRY the coffee and cocoa while traveling. Japanese drink tea mostly — though there are plenty of coffee houses. But it isn't available in all small restaurants.

But buy the packages in any big city in Japan. Why take up luggage space across the Pacific?

"The most inexpensive way around the world would be what?"

The best I know is on the P-and-O-Orient liners—$1085 for 77 days. This takes care of living and eating on the ship and you stop in about 40 Orient, South Pacific, European and Carribbean ports. Write Warren Titus, P-and-O-Orient Lines, 155 Post St., San Francisco, California.

"Since I want to do some writing while in Europe, what typewriter do you use?"

I USE the Olivette Lettera 22. Weighs 8 pounds. About $100 in the U. S. But if you're going through a free port like Shannon or Amsterdam, you pick them up for about $65.

"Do you have the recipe for 'sangre' that is served with tequila in Mexico?"

HERE'S ONE. From a pool hall and restaurant in Tepic but they had good sangre. Four cups of orange juice. One cup of lemon juice. One quarter cup of grenadine syrup—the kind they use at bars for cocktail mix. A half of a medium sized onion minced or blended in. Two teaspoons of salt. One teaspoon of tabasco sauce—or more if you want it hotter.

Shake it up. Keep it chilled. Let it stand overnight. It needs time to blend. Serve as a chaser for straight tequila. Not mixed with it.

"I understand we can bring back one gallon of liquor duty-free. Does that include each person in the party? I mean children, too?"

ONE GALLON for each person. But subject to laws of the state where you intend to take it. And in your state they don't let children buy liquor. (Or in any other I know of.) So little Johnny can't bring in a gallon for Pop. Too bad.

". . . true that you can ship a gift duty-free every day if it is worth less than $10?"

Alas, no more. Only if they cost $1 or less. (U. S. Customs cut it because too many overseas merchants were marking things "gift $10" which were actually purchases on a mail order basis.)

"We read about a big horse

Important P.S. to your trip to Europe

SAS flies almost everywhere in Europe. For instance, you can fly New York to Scotland.

From Scotland (g-r-r-rand)...

drive to London (jolly fine)...

hop over to Paris (formidable!)

...then add the other cities you want to see.

Now for the P.S. It's Pleasant Scandinavia—a totally different, totally delightful Europe. Come to Fairytale Denmark...

and wonderful, wonderful Copenhagen, with its lively night life, famous Tivoli, extraordinary restaurants and shopping.

Then go on to Sweden. You'll love the colorful villages and folk customs.

In contrast, Stockholm is a modern, sophisticated city, with stylish shops and hotels.

And by this time, you'll be all agog to see your third Scandinavian country. It's Norway—land of fjords and snow-capped mountains—breathtaking!

P.S. —Pleasant Scandinavia—adds a new world of pleasure to your European holiday. And with SAS, it's a bonus! Chances are it will cost you no extra fare to see Scandinavia on your way home via the SAS transpolar route to California. Ask your SAS travel agent to arrange it for you. Or mail coupon.

Melanesian maidens dress in crepe paper, silk, flowers and feathers for performance in Fijian sit-down dance.

TRAVEL REPORT

Going Places

By SHIRLEY and BOB SLOANE

TAMAVUA, Fiji, sits on a commanding rise just outside the capital city of Suva. Deep into the valley below and for many acres in every direction, the land is the communal property of the 300 villagers, ruled over absolutely by a handsome young chief with an Oxford accent.

The village is laid out in the traditional South Pacific style. Neat rows of bures with towering thatched roofs line both sides of the open compound. At the back is the chief's house, larger than the others, and in front is the ceremonial hall, into which we were ushered.

Most of the village had assembled for the occasion, a demontration of the curious Mealanesian folk art called Vakamalolo—dances performed with the arms while sitting cross-legged on the floor to the accompaniment of story-songs.

ONLY THE women dance, and we found them sitting patiently on the mating in colorful rows. They were decked out in crepe paper streamers and silk skirts of pink and blue. Weighty multi-flowered leis were draped around their shoulders like stoles, and plumed feathers protruded from their fuzzy heads.

The chief gave the signal for the festivities to begin, and a rhythmic drug-tapping and chanting emitted from the male "orchestra" and chorus behind the dancers.

This is the start of the kava ceremony; without it there is no hospitality in a Fijian village. Kava, or yaggona, is a beverage made from a root pulverized in a communal bowl and served in turn to each guest in a coconut shell cup. Gulped chug-a-lug amid exhortations and hand-clapping, it tastes something like watered milk of magnesia.

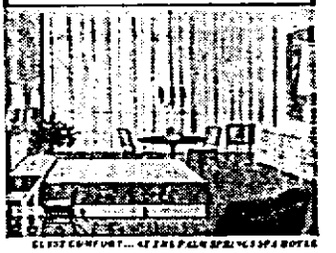

The vakamalolo commenced, the girls extending their arms and posturing their hips and hands like hula dancers, chanting in tones more than a little reminiscent of the Anglican hymns woven into their background by the early missionary explorers.

AS THEY WARMED to their tasks, interjections of approval were shouted by the audience. Men gave them

Here, at the foot of Mount San Jacinto—in a climate without equal—is the new Palm Springs Spa Hotel, destined to take its place as one of the famous spas of the world. Here, for centuries, nature has provided a health shrine, and now, at the Palm Springs Spa Hotel, considerate hands take over where nature leaves off. One hundred and thirty one luxurious guest rooms, food to satisfy hearty appetites, and leisure hour pastimes set the stage for health. From natural mineral springs directly below the hotel flows 104° water brimming with revitalizing minerals. A friendly smile greets you as you enter the Spa's portals, and expert hands guide you through a truly exhilarating experience ... rock steam, vapor inhalation, Roman swirlpool bath, massage, needle-spray shower and cooling room, coupled with mineral pool immersion and gymnasium workout, if you like. Also optional are diet programs and figure control classes. Men leave the Palm Springs Spa Hotel relaxed and invigorated, ladies leave (regretfully) looking beautiful, feeling wonderful. Captain, first officer and flight engineer are at the controls of a "jet" that logs "air time," never flies.

'Jet' Never Flies

TRANS WORLD Airlines has a six-plane fleet that "flies" 13,000 hours a year without ever going aloft.

The fleet consists of five flight simulators. These sophisticated devices, which create flight conditions with startling realism, maintain a constant altitude a few floors above the downtown streets of Kansas City in the company's transportation training center.

All of the firm's 1,500 pilots and 630 flight engineers undergo periodic checkouts in the simulators. Other airlines, and also the Federal Aviation Agency, send crews there for simulator training when the equipment is available. Military Air Transport pilots, including those who fly President Kennedy's jet, have come to brush up on the simulators under the supervision of TWA's flight training personnel.

All this keeps the simulators operating 13,000 hours each year. Despite this heavy load, the airline saves thousands of dollars annually by using them instead of airplanes for a portion of the crew training course.

WORLD WAR II Air Corps veterans will recall the cramped little plywood Link trainer in which they learned instrument flying. The simulators are highly advanced adaptations of the famous Link, many times larger with seating for a full crew.

The simulators are exact duplicates of airliner cockpits. They contain all the flight instruments and controls standard on TWA's Constellations and Super Jets. The jet simulators pitch and bank according to how they are flown, just as an aircraft would.

A high degree of realism results from recorded flight sounds and a closed circuit television system. During takeoffs and landings, the TV projects an aerial view of an airport runway and surrounding terrain on a screen just beyond the pilot's windshield. Electronically synchronized, the picture changes in relation to the simulator's "position" with the runway.

SIMULATORS can duplicate almost any situation a pilot may encounter. Personnel at a control panel may create "emergencies" merely by flicking a switch. So realistic is the sensation of flight that newcomers to simulator training sometimes admit that they forget they're not thousands of feet in the air.

gifts of cigarettes and money and an elderly woman went about touching the lips of chosen performers with her fingers in sign of commendation.

Carried away by it all, a big fat mama got to her feet and started shaking a gross Tahitian hula, and it all ended as the girls dropped their leis around the necks of men in the audience and invited them to join in a very un-Melanesian twist.

There was more yaggona, flowery speeches, and finally the high point of the evening, the presentation by the chief of the coveted whale's tooth to the head musician in honor of his outstanding service.

"How do you go about reading menus in Europe? We will be traveling in six countries."

I USED to carry dictionaries. But now a lot of the airlines have pocket menu translators. TWA has one that is thin and free. Any TWA office. Or write TWA Public Relations, 350 Madison Ave., New York City.

"What is the thing we are most likely to forget going from country to country in Europe?"

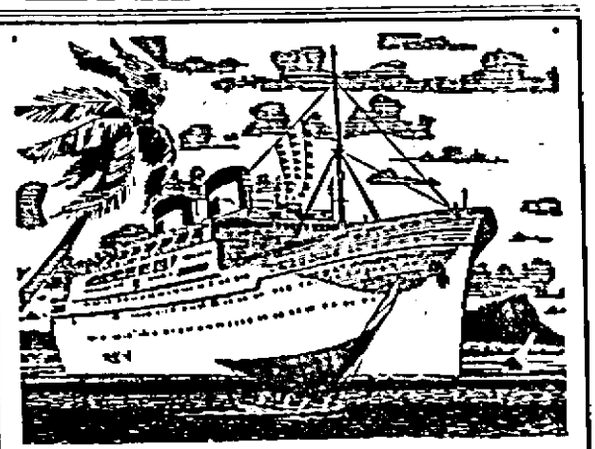

EASIEST to forget is that you should hold enough of the money of the country to pay airport tax and to buy cigarettes duty-free in the waiting room after you've been cleared by customs and immigration.

For such last minute items, carry a few $1 bills. Saves you cashing a traveler's check and then having to re-change the money.

Camellias Are Carefree Plants

By Walter Finch

WHEN THE camellia was first introduced to America from the Orient in the mid-nineteenth century, no one dreamed it would become an important and beautiful addition to the flower gardens throughout the land, but that's exactly what happened. And no wonder, because few other plants are as hardy and yet bear such opulent flowers and lush green foliage.

The camellia is one of a select species of flowers which command an immediate following of garden clubs and societies whose members have an unwavering devotion to its propagation.

Under the proper conditions, camellias can soar to a height of 35 feet and still retain their fresh, verdant beauty. And there is no finer species of plant that can be espaliered with such beauty and control. Cut properly and tied to a trellis with plastic covered wire available at any nursery, the camellia can be espaliered to take round, square, vertical, horizontal, symmetrically crossed and a number of other artistic and geometric shapes.

A FIRST condition is based on the fact that camellias thrive in acid soil which is rich in humus and friable. They like humid atmosphere and 30 degree freezing weather doesn't particularly affect them. Their tolerance to sunshine varies, but in general, shade produces heavier foliage while sunshine

Camellias require a minimum of care and are easily trained in espalier form to stay neat in a garden.

Try These 'Greens'

If your family is fond of "greens" plant Swiss chard in your garden this year. It will produce more edible greens per foot of row than any other similar vegetable. Furthermore, it's a dual-use vegetable.

You can cook the green leaves as you would spinach but you can also strip the leaf blades away (using them as greens) and cook the midriffs alone like celery. Serve them creamed—they're delicious!

Slow Starter

Parsley is best started indoors in a plant starter because seeds take three full weeks to sprout. It's an indispensible flavoring for soups, salads, and a garnish for meats.

TERR-O-VITE
The All-Purpose Fertilizer that Makes Water Wetter

"Doc" Cha-Kem-Co says:

You don't need to

Pick and Sweat 'n swear to break up Adobe or compacted soils

or

Break your Back boring holes to aerate and get water penetration into root choked lawns

or

Dynamite your Soil to get plant Nutrients deep into the Root Zone

or

Be a Plant Pathologist to cure and prevent Yellow Foliage due to Iron Deficiency

When All You Need Do Is Spray on

TERR-O-VITE

TERR-O-VITE is the ONLY COMPLETE fertilizer that does ALL the above...

And that is one whale of a job to do with ONLY one product by JUST SPRAYING on the ground.

TERR-O-VITE'S exclusive "wetter-water" principle gives fast water penetration through root-matted lawns and hard-pan soil—providing drainage, aeration and reducing runoff.

TERR-O-VITE cures and prevents CHLOROSIS by supplying the Iron, Zinc and Manganese plants need to maintain their green healthy color.

TERR-O-VITE corrects alkalinity in soil and water with fast acting acidifiers.

Remember that TERR-O-VITE is a COMPLETE FERTILIZER for ALL plants, a Soil Conditioner for ALL Western soils and a Plant Tonic for sick lawns, trees and shrubs.

ACCEPT NO IMITATIONS • Insist on TERR-O-VITE

Plant an Exotic

IN GARDENING, as with anything else, it is easy to fall in a rut of conservatism. We stick with the familiar and let the new or different be darned.

In many parts of the country you aren't missing much by following this routine, but here in Southern California, you are. There are so many exotic and unusual shrubs from more tropical parts of the world that one should make a special effort to try them in his garden.

One such shrub, which local members of the California Association of Nurserymen offer, is the Shrimp Plant—a name which has no connection with the plant's size. Through many months of the year, this handsome shrub is loaded with bronzy flower bracts which resemble nothing so much as a large shrimp or prawn. The bronze coloring is accentuated in a sunny location and this is where the gardener should plant it. Don't overwater and certainly don't overfeed this undemanding shrub.

Another for local gardens which we see too little of is the Princess Flower. A rather sparse shrub and top heavy so that it needs support against strong winds, the Princess Flower justifies itself a hundredfold when it bursts into its gorgeous bloom in late summer and fall. The 2-inch flowers, which literally cover the shrub are a vivid deep blue-purple and velvety in texture. They combine with the dark, leathery foliage to make an outstanding contribution to the garden.

A third unusual shrub which will catch your eye when you see it in bloom is the Pink Powder Puff. Had you planted one a year ago, you could have had its puffy balls of pink through winter, and if you hurry to a local nursery you may still find some in bloom to tempt you. Pink Powder Puff makes a handsome, broad shrub at any season and one of the best for espaliers. In fact, C. A. N. nurserymen often offer espaliered specimens already started.

Fourth on our list—a shrub for the summer garden—is the Brazilian Skyflower. It is a substantial shrub which needs annual pruning to keep it compact and while it is not sensational, the Blue summer bloom is mighty nice to have around.

Camellias

increases the number of blossoms.

Contrary to common belief, camellias are low maintenance plants, especially if proper soil conditions are created when first planted. This includes spading in liberal amounts of peat moss, oak, pine or redwood leaf mold and especially providing good drainage. Three fertilizings a year, an occasional spray should scale or aphids attack and pruning only to shape the plant is about all required.

Camellias should never be cultivated near the trunk because cultivation disturbs the fine feeder roots which lie in the top few inches of soil. Because a camellia can suffer if the feeder roots are damaged, care must be taken during the first two years of growth to insure against the plant toppling over from the weight of its extremely heavy blossoms. If a camellia falls over, the tiny root hairs are torn from the root branches.

THIS CAN be prevented by pushing a bamboo or redwood stake into the ground near the trunk and twisting a plastic covered wire plant tie around the camellia and the stake at several levels. The ties can easily be readjusted as the camellia matures. The stake may be removed after the "caliper" or girth of the trunk is heavy enough to support the plant from wind and from its own weight.

Camellia species range from single to double blossom flowers and run a wide spectrum of delicate colors.

"Now our dichondra lawn is beautiful and weedfree—thanks to BONUS".T.M.

Similar success can be yours—just read these letters

Hangs up glove. "After fighting crabgrass for 12 years, spending a small fortune on killers, sprays, 'sure-fire' cures, endless hours of weed pulling — BONUS® FOR DICHONDRA has given me almost 100% control and made my lawn a velvety weedfree carpet of green." H.S. Palo Alto, Calif.

Well-dubbed. "My lawn was infested with a weed which, for want of a better name, I dubbed 'whisker weed'. Despaired of ever licking it. Applied BONUS in March, again in May as per directions. Happy to say weeds already 90% gone." MRS H.J.T.
(The more common name is annual bluegrass.)

Gripe. Disappointed. Put BONUS on three weeks ago. Oxalis every bit as evident—maybe even more so." H.J.S. San Diego
(Patience. As directions explain, complete control of mature weeds takes 5-6 weeks at least. If not satisfied then, money back.)

Revenge at last. "My dichondra lawn now looks so great I get misty-eyed just gazing at it! Revenge on crabgrass after all those years of bloody battle." P.O. Los Angeles

Receiving. "Just applied second application of BONUS FOR DICHONDRA. Now really getting compliments on our lawn." D.D. Long Beach

Darned disappointed. "Bought your BONUS to kill oxalis 'or money back.' Darned if we haven't got just as much." J.E.H. Sacramento
(Weed proved to be spotted spurge. No practical selective chemical method yet discovered—even by Scotts—for removing spurge from well-established Bermuda grass.)

California's own magazine reports "We've seen product's effectiveness in home garden test plots in Arcadia, Pasadena, Sacramento. The manufacturer of new BONUS sought out dichondra lawns that appeared hopelessly gone to weeds and applied treatment. One or two years later, treated portions were almost 100% dichondra, where untreated portions look as bad as ever."

BONUS is easy to use

You've got so much in your favor now. BONUS not only can go right to work eliminating established weeds—oxalis, chickweed, annual bluegrass, clover — it can stop crabgrass before it starts.

While new BONUS is "weeding" your lawn, the fertilizer in it simultaneously feeds your dichondra. It greens, begins to thicken.

BONUS is odorless. Never attracts flies, fleas, gnats or vermin. Quickly, easily applied. Simply fill a Scotts Spreader with the clean granules and walk your lawn. The two-in-one job of weeding and feeding takes maybe half an hour for the typical dichondra lawn.

Actually you don't risk even a thin dime. For, as any Scotts dealer will tell you, YOU must be content with what BONUS FOR DICHONDRA does for you — or your money back.

Scotts. THE LAWN PEOPLE

This week-end would be a fine time to spread BONUS

Clay pot with glass covering is as good as any cold frame for starting cuttings. For method, see article.

"Slips" Are a Garden Challenge

By Joe Littlefield

IN THIS DAY of handy nurseries with already started plants, the old-fashioned method of propagating garden material is too tedious and time-consuming for busy homeowners. However, "slips," as many gardeners know cuttings, are a challenge to the green thumber, a fun test of skill and, sometimes, the only method easily at hand to develop additional plants of a rare species.

The old-fashioned method was simply to stick a slip of the desired shrub into the ground and, if it grew, fine; if not, try again. Some plants are hardy enough to respond to this kind of gardening; most are not.

The best way to root cuttings, if you plan to do it at times, is to have a cold frame of wooden sides with glass covering. One side of the frame is lower than the other so that the glass slants downward to shed water. The glass cover should be whitewashed to reflect sunshine which in turn prevents the covered cutting from parboiling if the cold frame is in the sun.

THERE IS a simple easy way for busy but garden-minded folk to start cuttings. That is to use a clay pot placed in the shade. Cover the hole of pot on the inside to prevent the rooting medium such as sand or one of the treated silica materials, or sand and peat moss mixed together, from washing out.

Put three inches of rooting medium in the pot. Plant the cuttings, water well, place any handy broken window glass over the top and you have as good a cold frame as one would want! Eight-or ten-inch pots won't accommodate as many cuttings as the average cold frame does.

Hardy outdoor violets are susceptible to spider mite infestitation. Leaves with small yellow spots showing through indicate mite damage. Spray with insecticide spray that lists mites on the spray bottle label.

SUCKER growth on roses is different from succulent cane growth. The suckers grow out below the bud union area, may grow up through soil from base of plant trunk. Dig soil away, uncover sucker, then cut all of the growth area to remove it once and for all.

- Fertilize hydrangeas for better flowers. Feed them acid food.

Pot up some pansies and violas for lots of color in the patio area.

Finish pruning flowering peaches or other deciduous flowering trees when through blooming.

Chewing worms damage passion vine, and geraniums, particularly. Spray those plants with stomach type poison spray. English primroses, too, is susceptible to worm damage. Soil must be moist before spraying.

Tips on Gardening

Garden tips for the week... Plant hydrangeas for lavish summer display.

Plant fuchsias now. Try some of the hanging types in overhead containers.

Feed lawns now and go after any lawn weeds with a chemical control. Your nurseryman will recommend one.

Plant daylilies this month for late spring and early summer bloom.

Plant tigridia bulbs for midsummer bloom. The triangular, spotted blooms are real attractions in July and August.

Window Box Gardening Is Easy

A window garden can be part of the home exterior decor.

By Henry Pree

EVERYONE enjoys a well-planted box, especially those folks who have neither time nor space for a back-yard garden.

The success of window box gardening is largely dependent upon the size of the box and the soil. The box should be about 8 inches deep, 10 inches or more wide and about 3 feet long.

Longer boxes are difficult to handle. Three or more drainage holes must be bored in the bottom, otherwise the soil is likely to become soggy and retard plant growth. Cover the holes with pieces of broken flower pot and place an inch of rough material in the bottom of the box to further insure drainage.

THE SOIL mixture, made up of two parts good garden loam and one part well-decomposed compost, will provide sufficient foundation for root and top development. Rotted or dehydrated manure may be substituted if compost is not available. Monthly feeding with a complete fertilizer will provide nourishment.

Planting is best accomplished if the box is half-filled with soil, firmed down, and the plants then set in place. It is easy then to continue filling in with soil about the plants. For best effect, plant closer than you would in the garden. After planting, water them to compact the soil around the roots. Never allow the soil to become dry, but do not over water.

THE CHOICE of plants depends upon the location of the box. Some plants require a sunny location to produce blooms. Heliotrope, geraniums, verbena, dwarf zinnias, petunias and others are happy in the sunny window, while fuchsia, tuberous begonias and most of the foliage plants prefer shade or partial shade.

Coleus is an excellent plant where color is desired. Plants for the front of the box should have a tendency to droop. The balcony type of petunia, variegated vinca, ivy and asparagus fern are recommended. The common sweet alyssum likewise does well.

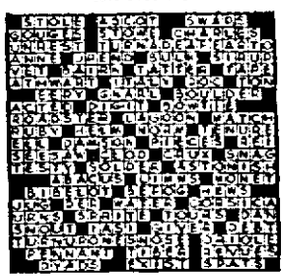

For the center of the box such plants as ageratum, browallia, balsam, verbena and petunias are most satisfactory. In the back of the box consider geraniums, heliotrope, lantana and begonias.

Dorothy Digs

Gophers feed on the roots of trees growing in your garden and also on bulbs and vegetation. They create underground burrows as they go about searching for food and do untold damage every year. They range in length from 6 to 13 inches, and in weight from 4 to 19 ounces. The gopher is a dynamo of strength and energy, very courageous, persistent and hard to destroy, especially the older ones. However, they can be destroyed.

There are several different ways of exterminating these pests . . . traps, poisons, etc., but the method I have found to be the simplest and safest is the use of a gopher gasser. The gassers I have in mind are non-toxic except when burning and all you have to do is to probe with a screwdriver until you find the open run; enlarge the opening with a trowel; light and immediately insert the gasser; then cover the hole with earth to make it as airtight as possible. The fumes will destroy the gophers and will do no harm to plants or trees growing in the area.

Why that extra weight may not be fat!

Pre menstrual "water logging" can add from 2 to 7 pounds to your weight.

If every month your weight goes up, you feel puffy and bloated and your dresses don't fit correctly, you are most likely suffering from pre menstrual water logging. You see, during the five to ten days before your period, your body retains extra water. This gives you an extra burden to carry around. It puts pressure on delicate female tissues causing headaches, nervousness, irritability and skin flare-ups. This is when the amazing new medical discovery, Pamprin, helps you the most.

New Pamprin is a combination of medically proved ingredients that help your body adjust to your menstrual period. Pamprin gently relieves your body of extra water and extra weight. It also relieves headaches and cramps during the pre-menstrual period.

Pamprin contains no hormones, narcotics or harmful sedatives. It has given thousands of girls and women wonderfully effective relief. Get Pamprin at your druggist . . . before your next period.

N. L. (LEN) HILL
A Magnificent View

BY DAY or by night, the view is startlingly magnificent. From the Skyroom atop the Breakers International Hotel can be seen ships at sea or in Long Beach Harbor, the sloping humps of Palos Verdes, oil derricks bristling on Signal Hill and highways stretching far into Orange County.

By day the view from the Skyroom is graced with blue sky and ocean colors changing from blue to green and gray. And the luncheons, priced from $1.40, are as interesting as the panorama. Available from day to day are such entrees as broiled tender Swiss steak, southern fried chicken drumsticks, fried Eastern oysters and ham hocks with lima beans. All are accompanied by choice of soup du jour or salad, potato, vegetable, rolls and beverage. Also served are scrumptious shrimp and crab Louie salads ($2.15).

By night the view from the Skyroom is a blaze of colorful lights, marching north, west and east, stretching to the almost limitless boundaries of the great Los Angeles basin. While they gaze from their tables beside huge picture windows, the guests enjoy fine dinners, served nightly except Monday from 6 to 10. The menu, arranged by N. L. (Len) Hill, assistant manager in charge of the hotel's food service, includes delectable table d' hote dinners with soup or salad, potato, vegetable, French bread, beverage and dessert. An after-dinner drink, such as creme de menthe frappe, may be substituted for the dessert. Entrees (priced from $2.95) include baked sugar cured ham, capon, filet of halibut, lobster thermidor, beef Stroganoff, chicken cooked in wine and a variety of excellent steaks. The latter, priced from $3.95, are served with large salad, vegetables and beverage.

BERT'S EYE VIEW

Borgnine 'At Sea,' Navy Brass Cool

By BERT RESNIK
TV and Radio Editor

As far as the Navy is concerned, Lt. Comdr. Quinton McHale might as well be in the Army.

This is a feeling which saddens Ernest Borgnine who, in TV life, is Lt. Comdr. McHale.

In the Thursday night ABC-TV McHale role, Ernie heads up a crew of Navy men who have thrown away the GI rules book in favor of belly laughs.

Belly laughs, as any seaman second-class worth his salt can tell you, are not considered compatible with the dignity of Navy tradition.

But there is little question that McHale's Navy, despite its slapstick, has done much to humanize America's sea service.

There was, for example, the sequence in which Ernie's crew hosted a Christmas party for native orphans.

And while the seaway road to victory is always paved with laughs, the Navy has yet to lose an encounter with the enemy during McHale's TV tenure.

• • • • •

SINCE ERNIE in real life is a Navy veteran, the lack of official recognition has left him mournful.

"I'd be more than happy to do some recruiting things for the Navy," he said. "So far they haven't asked me."

Ernie said Army enlistments went up after the comedy Sgt. Bilko series in which Phil Silvers was starred. What Sgt. Bilko did for the Army, Ernie feels Lt. Comdr. McHale can do for the Navy.

"Look," he said, "we all know that 'war is hell.' But you get a bunch of servicemen or veterans together and what do they talk about?

"They don't talk much about the hell part of it—they laugh about their fun experiences.

• • • •

"I COULD SHOW you hundreds of letters from guys writing us that the same thing we had on TV was almost the way it really happened to them."

On one occasion, Ernie did receive official Navy recognition.

It was before his show hit the air and he went to New Orleans to make a publicity appearance on a local television station.

He was greeted with a sign that read:

"The Navy Welcomes Ernest Borgnine."

An official Navy car conveyed him to the TV station and Ernie was informed of plans to honor him at the New Orleans naval base.

Between the time Ernie appeared on the TV station and the time he was slated to be taken to the naval base, the Pentagon got into the act.

Official word went out that the Navy

Strip Script on Television

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Stripteasing comes to television 10 p.m. Thursday in the person of Miss Beverly Hills, a shapely real-life peeler, playing herself in a dramatic episode of "Alcoa Premiere" on channel 7.

Beverly, whose real last name is Powers, is no stranger to taking off her clothes for movie and television cameras, but it makes her self-conscious.

"I don't mind stripping for a live audience—I do it three times a night, six nights a week," said Beverly, a native of Glendale. "There's no embarrassment there at all, unless my mother or father happen to be in the audience.

• • • •

"BUT I GET terribly self-conscious, really nervous when I have to strip for the cameras. It's so personal."

Beverly's 38-22-35 curves are displayed at the Largo Club on the Sunset Strip, which she says is the high temple of stripteasing.

She has found that stripping for television is considerably more modest than for movies, explaining that for foreign versions of such films as "Breakfast at Tiffany's" she peels down to a costume that could be packed in a walnut shell.

Occasionally Beverly plays roles other than strippers — prostitutes, party-girls and the like.

This elicits a beef from the lovely ecdysiast.

• • • •

"EVERYONE has the idea that stripteasers are immoral women. It's automatic. Just because you're a stripper it doesn't mean you're a bad person.

"It's a perfectly legitimate and decent way to make a living."

To the question, "How did a nice girl like you ever . . .? Beverly answers:

MISS BEVERLY HILLS AND LOUIS NYE
On "Alcoa Premiere" Thursday

"No girl really had to take lessons in stripteasing. Every woman instinctively knows how to peel.

"Of course it helps if you're a dancer. That's how I started. I was in the chorus up in a Las Vegas club for a couple of years and wanted to be on stage by myself. But I wasn't a ballerina or anything so I just naturally gravitated to stripteasing.

"Barry Ashton choreographed every step, but he couldn't teach me anything about stripping. A girl just KNOWS about that."

• • • •

BETWEEN shows at the Largo, Beverly knits sweaters and studies textbooks on acting. She is determined to glide from stripping to dramatic acting within the next few years.

"I'm not knocking stripteasing," she explained. "It's responsible for bringing me this far along in show business.

"And I try to be as good a performer as possible. When I'm up there on stage and all those people are looking at me I try to concentrate on what I'm doing and to give a good impression.

"But someday I'd like to keep all my clothes on in a television show or in a movie and play a decent woman. It may never happen because my measurements are against me. But I'm working at it."

Wells on TV

Bob Wells, columnist for the Independent, Press-Telegram, will appear on "Press Conference" at 4 p.m. today (Sunday), channel 7.

U.S. Sen. Clair Engle (D) will be interviewed by a panel of newsmen concerning the impact of national issues on Southern California.

Hobbies Galore

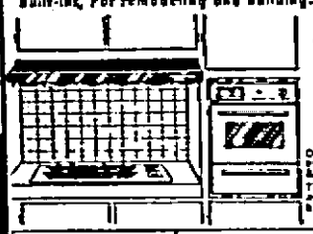

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Actor Fred MacMurray, an enduring movie star, keeps a fresh outlook for forgetting his profession when he finishes a day's work.

MacMurray lists the following hobbies: golf, fishing, painting, music, cooking and horseback riding. He got his start in show business as a musician and still plays the saxophone in lighter moments.

Harry Belafonte Makes Rare TV Appearance

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

SINGER GENERALLY FINDS COMMERCIAL TELEVISION 'TERRIBLY LIMITING'

By DOC QUIGG

NEW YORK (UPI) — The tall, athletic man broke off work in his recording-projection-rehearsal rooms, swooped down a long hall into a huge bare-floor rumpus room where his daughter Gina, 18 months, toddled toward him, and dropped into a red divan to await her.

He swept her up, held her high, and kissed her. "You all right, honey?" he asked. Then he held her on his lap and told about preparations for his only television show this season.

Harry Belafonte was in simultaneous production of three upcoming efforts: an 18-minute segment he'll do on NBC's Bell Telephone Hour this Thursday (10 p.m., channel 4 in color), a U.S.-Canadian concert tour which he begins June 6, and his 17th record album, due out in August.

Belafonte was on the premier performance of the Telephone Hour on television, and this is his third appearance on this show.

• • • •

HOW COME it's his only TV airing this season?

"There are others I could have done," he said. "But I don't believe in doing too much appearance on TV. I get along fine with the Telephone Hour people, and I like to go on their program once in a while. But I find doing things for commercial television to be, in general, terribly limiting.

"They try — the musical ones — to be all things to all people. I've just got to the point where I'd like to do something for 100,000 people who are interested passionately in certain concepts or points of view rather than for millions who want the same familiar formats with their superficial requirements.

HARRY BELAFONTE

"One reason I do so little TV is that I haven't really found a program with the kind of style that I'd like to lend my energies to regularly. I do look forward to doing an occasional show like the Telephone Hour with big audience exposure. But I guess the real answer for me is educational television. I'm very interested in it."

• • • •

FOR HIS Thursday performance — guitarist Andres Segovia and Metropolitan Opera star Birgit Nilsson are among other artists on the program—Belafonte will sing folk songs and spirituals, an Israeli number and a song from the American musical theater.

"I have certain concepts for an hour show on TV, and one of these ideas has been carried out to some extent on the new RCA record album which I've just about finished," he said. "It's called 'Streets I Have Walked.'"

The album deals with songs from all over the world (Belafonte has given concerts in many countries of Europe and Asia) and he renders them in their native tongues.

"The TV-show idea is — I've had some very intense experiences in the countries I've visited and I'd like to present some of these experiences," he said. "For instance, I was in the Philippines during a hurricane, in Japan during the Premier Kishi uprising.

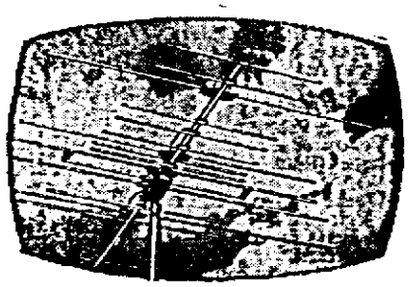

"Another idea is to do a sort of troubador-in-America on all the things I've seen in little villages of the U.S.A. Another, on all the songs that have come out of the Mississippi.

"Most of these have been rejected because they didn't have the superficial requirements the ratings-watchers are bogged down with."

BERT'S EYE VIEW

Borgnine in Navy 10 Years

should look the other way when Ernie was around.

The captain of the New Orleans naval base, however, was indeed a gentleman as well as an officer. He went ahead with plans to have Ernie picked up after the TV appearance and brought back to the base.

• • • •

EXPLAINING WHY he was going to have to soft-pedal honoring activities, the captain told Ernie he understood the series was going to be "adverse" to the Navy.

Replied Ernie:

"Sir, I spent 10 years in the Navy. The Navy made a man out of me. I wouldn't do anything I thought was adverse to the Navy."

Ernie grinned at the recollection.

"After I said that," he recalled, "they rolled the base out for me."

While Ernie is not sure when the Navy first decided it would "look the other way," it's possible that the official attitude was precipitated by the reaction of a Navy lieutenant assigned as technical adviser for the show.

During the taping of the first scene of the first show, the lieutenant told producer Edward J. Montagne:

"You can't do that."

Replied Montagne:

"McHale's Navy can do anything."

The Navy lieutenant left and has not yet returned.

And Ernie feels sad that he hasn't come back.

Because he'd like a chance to explain that the "anything" includes helping in Navy recruitment.

SPECIAL

MISS TEEN USA — Finalists dance with Naval cadets at 7 p.m., ch. 11. Recording artists Dick Dale and the Deltones are featured.

IN THE MOUTH OF THE WOLF—Iowa-born Margherita Roberti serves as a guide for a look at grand opera in Parma, Italy, where opera is followed with all the fervor of football in Green Bay, Wis., as the town gave the world Verdi, Toscanini, Paganini and Tebaldi. Hour special follows the entire preparations and gala opening of Verdi's "Luisa Miller," with Miss Roberti in the title role on the stage of Parma's Teatro Regio, at 7:30 p.m., ch. 2.

ENCYCLOPEDIA OF COMMUNISM — Chet Huntley is anchorman for the last in a series of four specials examining the ideology and practice of Communism, at 7:30 p.m., ch. 4. Eleven NBC correspondents from around the world survey Communism's gains and losses in the world, and study opportunities that exist for the free world to slow or reverse the Red goal of world domination. The 90-min. special features filmed interviews with Dean Rusk and Adlai Stevenson, British and French foreign ministers, and Communist leaders from Cuba, Italy and India.

FASHIONS USA—Former Miss America Mary Ann Mobley and singer Tony Martin narrate a 90-min. showing of fashions by Cassini, Rentner, Carnegie, Berin and other top U. S. designers, at 10:30 p.m., ch. 9, taped at New York's Plaza Hotel.

WHY GO BALD?

California's Leading Scalp Specialist Answers Your Questions About Hair

S. I. Turoff, California's leading hair and scalp expert, who has just announced a Save-Your-Hair-Week. As long as you have some hair, you have an excellent chance to grow thicker hair with remarkable new methods. Specialist Turoff says. Turoff recently opened the 9th permanent Turoff Clinic in Long Beach.

"There are many causes of baldness," says S. I. Turoff, California's foremost hair expert, "but the most important cause is ignorance!"

This startling announcement was made by Mr. Turoff in a recent interview in his Long Beach office. And there's no doubt that Mr. Turoff speaks with authority, for he has spent over 26 years studying and correcting the hair ills of thousands and directs scalp treatments in his many offices.

He has treated show people, businessmen, athletes, workers — men and women from every professional background. With this long and varied experience, he is generally regarded as one of the nation's top trichologists.

"The hardest part of helping men and women with hair troubles is to show them that they can be helped," says Mr. Turoff. "After all these years, it still continues to amaze me how little people have learned about the advances that have been made in hair science field."

Leading Questions

According to Mr. Turoff, most men — and women, too — have the same general misconceptions about their hair.

"I have heard the same questions for so many years that I have made a list. Four men out of five who come in to see me for their free scalp examinations ask me one of three questions first. Usually," he added with a smile, "I can tell when a man walks through my office door which one he'll ask first."

Mr. Turoff agreed to publish his "little list" for the help of those who haven't got around to getting help for their hair problems. Here they are:

Q. "I have been worried about heavy hair-fall for the last year. How can I get rid of this disorder?"

A. Heavy hair-fall is a symptom of scalp trouble, not a disorder in itself. The problem is to find what's causing the loss and to treat the cause, not the symptom.

By far the most common cause of hair loss, as revealed by the thousands of case histories at Turoff Hair Experts, is infectious dandruff.

This dandruff may not be the kind you see. In its most dangerous form, it becomes imbedded in the hair tubes and blocks the emergence of new hairs.

You cannot get rid of such dandruff with ordinary methods of shampooing and scalp hygiene. You must have expert help if you are to avoid baldness!

Q. "I've lost so much hair lately that's it's quite thin on top. Is it possible to regrow this hair?"

A. Some re-growth is almost always accomplished by Turoff treatment and aftercare. In many cases, we re grow most all of the lost hair.

The amount of recovery depends on the amount of damage done before you start treatment. Where hair loss has been going on for years, some hair follicles will be completely closed and the hair bulbs withered away. Nothing can be done to reactivate growth there.

But where follicles still produce even "fuzz," they can usually be stimulated to produce hair of full length and strength.

You see, your scalp naturally has a tremendous urge to keep on growing hair. Once a follicle is cleared of dandruff and infectious bacteria by Turoff treatment... and the "manufacturing" mechanism stimulated, Nature takes over. From then on, following a proper schedule of hair care will keep your scalp healthy and hair growing.

Q. "I have a pronounced 'bald spot,' and my hair is very thin elsewhere on top. Would I benefit from Turoff scalp treatment?"

A. Almost any man with any hair left will benefit from our modern treatment... and quickly, too.

From your very first treatment your scalp looks and feels better. Soon dandruff disappears and excess hair loss slows down to normal. Too oily or too dry scalp is cleared up.

Wherever you have new hair growing — even thin "fuzz" — you can have thicker, healthier, handsome hair. But it's all a matter of timing.

You must remember that the one sure thing about a "bald spot" is that it will spread unless attended to. The spreading does not stop naturally — until you're slick bald. You must stop it with expert care. And that's the least benefit you can expect from Turoff treatment. It will enable your hair "to hold its own."

"Do-It-Yourself" Treatment

Mr. Turoff says that there is a fourth question that is quite popular although it does not apply to residents of California who can get to the Turoff office easily.

Q. "I live sixty-five miles from your office and cannot get in to the offices frequently enough for regular treatments. Is there any hope for my hair?"

A. Most assuredly. For those who live out of town or who travel frequently, Mr. Turoff has developed a combination home-and-office treatment that is highly successful. After your initial office examination, you are given a self-help plan of hair care that is remarkably effective.

Hundreds of men from cities and towns around Long Beach have a healthy head of hair today because of the Turoff "Do-It-Yourself" system.

Free Examination

No matter how far advanced your hair-loss is, the most important consideration is that you do something about it NOW.

If hair loss is severe, you had better tend to it immediately before you lose everything... and hope, too.

If thinning is just beginning, you're lucky — if you get expert help NOW. For with the assistance of the Turoff Hair Experts, you can regain your hair, get it in a healthier condition probably than ever before, and be assured of a full head of hair the rest of your life.

Trial Treatment

During "Save-Your-Hair Week" only, the Turoff Hair and Scalp Specialists offer a complete scalp treatment for $2 to any eligible man or woman.

Here's the way to get it:

Visit the Turoff Hair and Scalp Specialists office this week at any time between 11 a.m. and 8 p.m. daily (10 to 3 Saturday; Thursday, 4 to 8 p.m.). Have the Turoff specialist examine your scalp and give you his findings.

If your condition is "hopeless," he'll tell you so frankly. About 5 per cent of those he examines are hopeless.

If you are acceptable, your first trial visit (with coupon) will cost just $2.

Phone: 436-7284

Trained Technicians Administer All Phases of the Turoff Treatment under Careful Supervision of a Specialist.

SAVE YOUR HAIR WEEK IN OUR LONG BEACH OFFICE WILL BE PERSONALLY CONDUCTED BY Southern California's Director

110 PINE AVE., L.B. SUITE 309

NO APPOINTMENT NECESSARY

Some Special Offer Good In Other Turoff Branches: Oakland, Berkeley, San Mateo, San Jose, Sacramento, Fresno, Westlake, San Francisco.

Since your scalp, like your fingerprint, is not the same as anybody else's, the examination must come first.

These are the questions most people want information about:

1. How often should you wash hair?
2. Which kind of shampoo is best?
3. Is brushing necessary? Desirable?
4. What can be done about oily scalp?
5. What about dry scalp?
6. Are "tonics" and dressings helpful?
7. Does it help to cut hair short?
8. When is dandruff dangerous?
9. Can your hair be thickened?
10. What is a scalp treatment like?

Take this list along with you tomorrow to see Turoff Hair and Scalp Specialists.

THE NEWS & Independent - Press-Telegram

APRIL 7, 1963

PRESIDENT KENNEDY AND THE JOINT CHIEFS OF STAFF

WALTER SCOTT'S

PERSONALITY PARADE

Want the facts? Want to spike rumors? Want to learn the truth about prominent personalities? Write Walter Scott, PARADE, 733 Third Ave., New York 17, N.Y. Your full name will be used unless otherwise requested. Sorry, the volume of mail received makes personal replies impossible.

Q. Is it true that the late George Bernard Shaw was the world's worst driver?—Ellen Adams, Austin, Tex.
A. Pretty nearly. He ran down several people in the course of his driving by pressing on the accelerator when he wanted to brake.

Q. I would like to know if they have horse race tracks in Russia. If so, is betting legal there?—S. Taylor, St. Louis, Mo.
A. There are more than 90 race tracks in the U.S.S.R. where betting is legal.

Q. I've heard it said that Lena Horne is retiring from show business. True or false?—Mrs. Lawrence Holt, Tucson, Ariz.
A. Says Lena, who is thinking of quitting the night club circuit: "It's stifling to keep singing all these silly boy-girl songs all your life." Miss Horne, now in her late 40s, has been singing for 20 years.

Q. Back in December 1962, a group of approximately 50 Republicans held a secret meeting in Chicago to draft Barry Goldwater for President. What happened?—Barbara Pitt, Oak Park, Ill.
A. The group planned to raise a campaign fund of $1,200,000, and a professional political staff, but Goldwater asked backers to give him 1963 to decide.

Q. How old is Gene Kelly?—M. H., New York, N.Y.
A. Kelly is 50.

Q. Please tell me Gloria Swanson's age, the names of her husbands and how many children she has.—E. B., St. Louis, Mo.
A. Miss Swanson is 64. Husbands were Wallace Beery, Herbert K. Somborn, Marquis de la Falaise de la Coudray, Michael Farmer, William N. Davey. She has two daughters and one adopted son.

Q. Is it true that Stalin used to wear lifts in his shoes?—L. S., Reading, Pa.
A. He wore shoes with built-up heels to make him appear taller than his 5-feet-5.

Q. What's happened to Bernard Goldfine, the textile magnate who got Sherman Adams into such a mess?—Larry Harris, New York, N.Y.
A. He is starting a new life. All of his holdings have been turned over to the government to satisfy a $10,000,000 tax claim. The government is allowing Goldfine $200 a week on which to live.

Q. Who are the Adlai Stevenson men in the Kennedy administration, and isn't Kennedy quietly dropping them?—D. McGovern, Oakland, Calif.
A. Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz, Postmaster Edward Day, Deputy Secretary of State George Ball, Assistant Secretary of State Harlan Cleveland, Assistant Secretary of State Fred Dutton, F.C.C. Chairman Newton Minow, Presidential Assistant Arthur Schlesinger, Jr., NATO Ambassador Thomas K. Finletter, Ambassador to Guinea William Attwood, Ambassador to the Dominican Republic John Bartlow Martin, Ambassador to Luxembourg William Rivkin, Federal District Judge Hubert Will, Circuit Court of Appeals Judge Carl McGowan. Kennedy is dropping none of these men as of this writing.

Q. I would like to know how long Ethel Merman and Bob Six were married, and if they had children.—Mrs. John Lee, St. Louis, Mo.
A. They were married almost seven years, had no children.

Q. Allen Ludden comes to the front of the stage at the beginning of each Password show and says, "Hi, doll." Who's the girl?—Edith MacGovern, Hazardville, Conn.
A. According to a spokesman for the show, Ludden is speaking to "the relative of a close friend."

Q. Have Alan Lerner and Richard Rodgers (r.) finished their first collaboration yet?—Anna Feldman, Chicago, Ill.
A. Yes. The musical is titled I Picked a Daisy and goes into rehearsal in September with Robert Horton, formerly of Wagon Train, in one of the leads.

Q. Who is Sam Stavisky of Washington, D. C.?—E. Lord, Bridgeport, Conn.
A. A press agent who runs the World Coffee Information Center and represents South American coffee-producing countries.

Q. Claude Terrail—Ava Gardner's new friend—what does he do?—E. Fitzpatrick, Boston, Mass.
A. Terrail is the owner of a well-known Paris restaurant, Tour d'Argent.

Q. How old is David Niven, and does he wear a hairpiece?—Bernice Dank, Brooklyn, N. Y.
A. Niven, 53, wears a hairpiece.

Q. I have read Pearl S. Buck's book, The Child Who Never Grew, about her retarded child. Who was the child's father?—Mrs. Harold L. Neilson, Conception, Mo.
A. Miss Buck's first husband, Dr. John Lossing Buck, a missionary whom she married in China in 1917 and divorced in 1935. Her second husband, Richard J. Walsh, was president of the John Day Co., New York, publishers of Miss Buck's books. They adopted six children. Miss Buck is now a widow.

Q. Was James A. Michener ever elected to the House of Representatives in Washington, D.C., from the state of Pennsylvania?—Hillel Bashein, Chicago, Ill.
A. No. Michener ran last fall but lost.

Here's the quiet way to be colorful. The rich, muted print of this University Fashion Sport Shirt is reason enough to wear it. And thousands do. But there are many other reasons. The styling, for instance, is authentic Ivy with button-down collar and a body contour that's tapered to your shape. Traditional back pleat and collar button, too. The fabric is of fine pure 100% cotton. Smooth, luxury feel, "Sanforized" labeled. Short sleeves. Available in a wide variety of attractive colors. $4.00. Matching Lady Arrow shirt, the same price.

Some intimate and revealing glimpses of

THE PRESIDENT AS

COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF

by FRED BLUMENTHAL

EDITOR'S NOTE: PARADE's correspondent Fred Blumenthal spent several months developing this important article. It is not a report card on the President in his role of Commander-in-Chief, but a revealing close-up on some of the facets of this awesome responsibility he shoulders.

WASHINGTON, D.C.

FOR MORE THAN HALF of his waking hours, President John F. Kennedy battles with the enormous problems of defense of the U. S. and the free world.

The public sees the President in his role as Commander-in-Chief when crisis news flares in the headlines: Cuba, Berlin, South Vietnam, Laos, the Congo, or when he visits the Armed Forces at sea or in the field.

But only a handful of his closest associates know of the anxious, grinding study he must devote to military affairs.

And only the President himself knows the strain of being the one man with his finger on the world's most powerful trigger.

When the former PT-boat commander entered the White House, he was well aware of the awesome responsibility that would be his. Yet he now admits privately that the full impact did not strike until several days after his inauguration.

The day, January 25, 1961; the time, 10:15 A.M.; the place, the Cabinet Room of the White House; the occasion, the new President's first official meeting with the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Says an aide: "The President had envisaged the gathering as a get-acquainted session with his top military advisers. He entered the room in bouncy mood, and after friendly greetings all around, took his place at the huge table, removed a ball point pen from his pocket, laid it on the yellow scratch pad before him and asked, 'Gentlemen, do you want to start or do you want me to?' "

AS MIGHT BE EXPECTED, the Joints Chiefs were eager to hear first from their new Commander-in-Chief. For the next 10 minutes, President Kennedy, crisply and yet in considerable detail, outlined his basic thinking on the perils facing the free world and how he believed they could best be met.

But the real shock was yet to come for the young President. Over the years he had received military briefings: as congressman, senator, presidential candidate, and President-elect. But now, for the first time, all the top secret military cards were on the table.

The friendly get-together suddenly became deadly serious business. For more than an hour the Joint Chiefs in turn presented a balance sheet of life and death, not only for the U. S. but for the whole free world. Calm, matter-of-fact voices reported on U. S. plans for nuclear retaliation, alternate war plans, casualty estimates, latest intelligence on Soviet capabilities, U. S. ability to react to a Soviet first strike and, most important to the President, command and control elements in his hands alone.

It is one thing to discuss in broad terms the holocaust of nuclear war—the "taking out" of cities; the possibility of American casualties running as high as 50 million lives; the risk of war by accident or miscalculation.

It is a wholly different thing to realize, in your innermost heart, that for the next four years the peace of the world depends, in large measure, on your judgment, that it is your hand and your voice which control more than 25,000 nuclear weapons.

How does a man react to such terrifying responsibility?

When the meeting with the Joint Chiefs was over, President Kennedy left the Cabinet Room, walked past the desk of secretary Mrs. Evelyn Lincoln and entered his own oval office. He gave orders that he was not to be disturbed. Then he swung round his swivel chair and gazed out in deep meditation over the snow-covered South Lawn. These were somber moments for John Fitzgerald Kennedy.

As he stared out of the window, the President drew up his own balance sheet. He was grateful for the military strength that had been passed on to him. But there were new factors in the equation he had to solve.

The keystone of our defense, and the free world's deterrent, was our strong nuclear capability. This capability had been maintained by President Eisenhower.

But now another element had been added: a new factor introduced by Premier Khrushchev.

On January 6, 1961, 14 days before the President's inauguration, Premier Khrushchev made a dramatic, historic speech in which he outlined his new strategy—in effect: "We will beat the U. S. with small wars of liberation. We will nibble them to exhaustion all over the globe, in South America, Africa, Southeast Asia."

Kennedy had understood the message. He called for the classic textbooks on guerrilla warfare by Red China's Mao Tse-tung and Castro's right-hand man, the Argentine Communist Major Ernesto (Ché) Guevara.

In the weeks that followed, Kennedy began investigating America's readiness and capacity to cope with the guerrilla threat. He gave it a name—"the twilight war."

The President tossed the following questions at the Joint Chiefs of Staff:

▲ How many of the officers being recommended for flag rank and general officer rank have experience in guerrilla warfare? Only a handful, and the new Commander-in-Chief sent these generals to be on a long series of trips to Laos and to South Vietnam for "orientation."

▲ How many officers going to far-off Military Advisory missions and attaché posts speak the language of the country? Hardly any, it was discovered, and the Armed Forces were told to set up short language courses.

▲ How many of our soldiers, sailors and airmen receive school instruction in guerrilla warfare, counterinsurgency and counterrevolutionary tactics? Very few. So curricula at West Point, Annapolis, all service schools and the National War College were enlarged.

These were long-range projects. The President looked the Joint Chiefs in the eye and spoke more directly.

Of a top Air Force general he asked: "I am sure that a SAC bomber with a megaton bomb at 50,000 feet is important to our defense, but can it help 20 guerrillas in the jungles of South Vietnam? What are you doing to support those 20 guerrillas?"

SINCE THEN, THE AIR FORCE in South Vietnam has been concentrating on "Operation Farmgate," designed to train native pilots in air support for jungle warfare.

The President asked an admiral: "What is the Navy doing?" He answered: "Well, sir, there are the Marines, of course, and we are making a number of studies."

Said the President: "I know the Marines are always ready for any kind of combat, but they can't carry the whole burden."

Today the Navy is engaged in a variety of enterprising activities. In Southeast Asia it has created a huge fleet of Oriental junks which operate in the rivers and estuaries of South Vietnam. Manned by local anti-Communist "fishermen," they harass Communist supply lines, even board the enemy at gun point. Navy experts are working on "raider projects," demolition training and radio communication control.

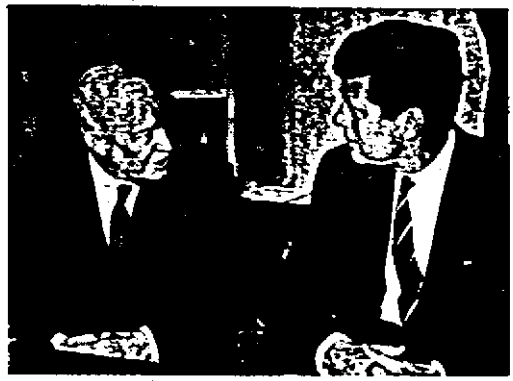

Kennedy wanted to see for himself the kind of weapons the Army had for guerrilla warfare. A few days later, lethal weapons, all designed for silent, hit-and-run warfare, were carried into the President's office.

The President picked up weapon after weapon. He asked: "Are these our latest? I have read about or seen most of these before." The answer: "Sir, the latest item here was developed for the OSS in 1944."

The President made other disturbing discoveries:

▲ The U. S. had been sending thousands of M-1 Garand rifles to the small, slender troops of Laos and South Vietnam. On paper, at the Pentagon, it looked good. They wanted guns, and we had sent them guns. But they were guns they could hardly carry and few could fire. Loaded, the M-1 weighs 9¾ pounds and has a hefty kick. It also has a stock designed for bigger men. While aiming the M-1, a Vietnamese could hardly reach the trigger. He had little enthusiasm for

THE JOINT CHIEFS: A TYPICAL SESSION WITH THE PRESIDENT

THE JOINT CHIEFS OF STAFF are by law the military advisers to the President and to the Secretary of Defense. President Kennedy, as Commander-in-Chief, has frequent meetings with these men to get their straight-from-the-shoulder advice on national defense and our international problems from a military viewpoint. This team are all appointees of President Kennedy except for General Shoup, who has been representing the Marine Corps as its Commandant since January 1960.

A typical meeting was held in the Cabinet Room a few weeks ago. Here are some of the subjects they discussed:

- The reaction time of the U. S. forces assembled last October, when the Cuban crisis broke: It took more than 2,700 flatcars to move an armored division to the East Coast. The Commander-in-Chief wanted to discuss the application of lessons learned in this crisis to future readiness.
- The military viewpoint on the Civic Action Program in Latin America: How did the Chiefs feel about combining military training for Latin American armies along with permanent good works like bridge-building?
- The measure of progress being made by our NATO allies in "beefing up" their conventional forces.
- The JCS views on the newly proposed nuclear force for European nations.
- A short progress report on the war in South Vietnam.
- Are American officers and GI's getting sufficient foreign language training?
- Discussion of how the defense hearings were going before Congress.

As advisers to Secretary of Defense McNamara, the Joint Chiefs of Staff are in daily touch with him and constantly go over with him the countless problems that beset top Pentagon planners.

The President takes personal interest in the development of every new weapon. Here, with his Military Aide, Maj. Gen. C. V. (Ted) Clifton, he examines the Army's new AR-15 —a rapid-firing rifle with a special .22 caliber bullet. It's designed for close combat, weighs only 6.4 pounds. It's now in use in South Vietnam. Gen. Clifton is holding a modern version of the ancient crossbow, which silently shoots a steel-tipped arrow—lethal at 150 yards. Steel triangle on the end of the bow is for soldier to place his foot while pulling up the powerful bowstring into the trigger mechanism.

KENNEDY continued

Nuclear age requires sharp intelligence, fast communications—even with the Soviets—briefings several times a day

firing the rifle because he knew the kick would almost certainly knock him off his feet.

▲ Boots and hats were another problem. The regular GI combat boot was too heavy, absorbed too much water and made too much noise in the silent war of the jungles. It was replaced by tennis shoes, but these were not proof against the bamboo spikes which the Communists sow in swamps and along trails. Literally thousands of casualties have been caused by these spikes.

▲ In the jungle the traditional GI helmet is too heavy, too hot and too noisy.

▲ GI rations, while excellent for American stomachs, don't sit well with Asian digestions used to rice.

▲ Field radios were too heavy and too complicated.

▲ Only a handful of American instructors could speak the language of the men they were teaching.

Today the South Vietnamese are being supplied with AR-15 rifles, a new .22 caliber automatic that weighs 6.4 pounds, about half the weight of the M-1. It has a more limited range, but in the jungle you first see the enemy at 40 feet.

Helmets will be replaced by Australian type cloth hats, which are quiet in the jungle.

Tennis shoes are now reinforced by a fine, flexible steel inner sole which can crunch down the toughest bamboo spike. Rations have also been changed to give our fighting friends what they like.

In each of these innovations—and there are now more than 100 new items under development—the President has had a personal hand.

On his night table is a thick, black-covered loose-leaf book labeled "Top Secret," containing all the latest ideas and progress reports on guerrilla warfare. It spans the world.

There are reports on tribes—their customs, religion, even superstitions. There is information gathered by experts on food and weapons best suited to an area. No detail is too small: the average length of a man's arm, the size of his foot, the span of his hand, rainfall, desert heat, winter temperatures and spring crops. These are all vitally important. All bear on victory in a "little war."

But the President has not lost his perspective on the larger tasks and larger wars that might develop.

He sees two essential answers to the challenge facing him: gathering of intelligence and speed of communications. He insists: "Not only must I know the real facts of any situation, but I must also be able to talk immediately to the men involved."

To get the facts, the President has paid detailed attention to the intelligence effort. The Central Intelligence Agency has been inspired as well as prodded. The Army, Navy and Air Force have pooled their resources into a Defense Intelligence Agency. The President himself is briefed several times a day on events around the world that might tip off the need for action. If American action is to be effective, information has to move in and orders go out—rapidly. Fast communications, especially with the Soviets, are essential in the nuclear age.

'Still in the 19th Century'

Secretary of State Dean Rusk complained after the Cuban crisis, "We're still in the 19th century"—it had proved faster for Khrushchev to get in touch with Kennedy through Tass, the Soviet official news agency, using commercial facilities, than through diplomatic channels.

A man who lives on the telephone, Kennedy runs his own spot checks on his personal communications. He is always conscious that it is his hand, his voice and his mind that must give the crucial orders.

For example, after he had occupied "The Chair" in the White House for a few days, he was told: "Mr. President, pick up that phone and you can speak to any major U. S. military base, anywhere in the world, within 30 seconds."

With a skeptical but hopeful smile, Kennedy accepted the invitation. He asked for the Command Room at the Pentagon, which was not across the world but just across the Potomac, 2 miles away. It took him 1 minute and 55 seconds to get through—not 30 seconds.

There were red faces. Explanation: Down in the basements of the White House and the Pentagon, sergeants who had sat for months watching for the President's light on their switchboards that had never come on were suddenly "all thumbs."

At first the President was annoyed. Then he chuckled, accepting the apology: "Mr. President, we were nervous."

He said: "I understand completely. Let's talk to each other a lot more. Then none of us will be nervous."

But the President was delighted when, at Homestead Air Force Base, south of Miami, following the Cuban crisis, he saw a red phone labeled "Joint War Room." He asked General Walter Sweeney, Commander of the U. S. Tactical Air Command, "Does this phone really go anywhere?" General Sweeney, knowing the President's standing suspicion of phony phones, grinned and said, "You will be right through to the Pentagon."

The President gave Sweeney a quizzical look and picked the phone up. At once a voice answered: "This is Colonel —— in the Joint War Room."

"This is President Kennedy," said the President. "I am here in Homestead with General Sweeney and I'm just checking our communications. Thank you, Colonel."

The President put the phone down with a smile and said, "It does work, doesn't it, Sweeney!"

Hard to Believe

Meanwhile, back at the Pentagon, Colonel —— was having a hard time getting anyone to believe a single word of his story.

Then there was the occasion when the President suddenly decided to make another test—this time to a base in Alaska. To the President's delight, he was put through in seconds.

A major answered: "Cinc-Al Duty Officer."

"This is President Kennedy in Washington speaking. How are things going up your way, Major? I'm just checking communications."

The startled major outlined the maneuvers then taking place, and was thanked. The major knew it had to be the President on that line, because such calls cannot be made without a reverse-call clearance.

Up to a few months ago, in a closet in the President's office there was a gray phone—the smallest telephone system in the world. It connects with 12 men—the JCS and the secretaries of state, defense, etc. They alone are the men who must always stand ready to take the President's orders in grave emergency. Recently that all-important phone was moved from the closet to his desk, and now an extension has even been placed at his bedside.

The military posture of the United States, which today is President Kennedy's main concern, is constantly changing—as it must, to keep abreast of new challenges.

But there are constants which the President fully recognizes. One is leadership. Another is morale. Not long ago he asked his staff to find the verse which he had seen tacked on the wall of a British sentry box in Gibraltar. It wasn't high poetry, but it was full of meaning to the President, his JCS team and to the men and women serving our country in uniform.

God and the soldier all men adore
in time of danger, and not before.
When the danger is past and all things righted,
God is forgotten and the old soldier slighted.

The Commander-in-Chief added: "This country does not forget God or the soldier. Upon both we now depend." ■

KEELY

TEN YEARS AGO Keely Smith (real name—Dorothy Jacqueline Keely), a shapely, petite, black haired singer from Norfolk, Va., married Louis Prima, a gravel-voiced, trumpet-playing orchestra leader more than twice her age.

She was 19, and he was approaching 50. Theirs was a Pygmalion relationship in which Prima called all the shots—professional, financial and domestic. He told his young wife how to sing, how to dress, how to behave—and because she is obedient and pliant by nature (also ¼ Cherokee Indian by heritage) she executed these orders faithfully.

The result was that on stage she developed a dead-pan, fully bored expression, while her husband carried on in a wild, zany fashion. The combine of contrasts proved unbeatable. Keely and Louis played the leading night spots, from the Copacabana in New York to the Sahara in Las Vegas. They appeared on all the variety TV shows. Ed Sullivan described them as "the greatest act in show business." Randy Wood, president of Dot Records, said, "These two constitute the most valuable property in the recording field today."

Born into a life of poverty, Keely, who used to sing for $5 a night with Earl Dennett's band in Norfolk, suddenly found that she and her husband were in the 6-figure income bracket. They built a large Japanese-type home in Las Vegas, formed their own company, the Keelou Corporation, seemingly overnight became a million-dollar business.

'The Great Stone Face'

Keely gave birth to two girls, Toni, now 8, and Luanne, now 6, and with the Primas all appeared good, golden and glorious. Except that Keely seemed to develop no identity of her own. Prima so completely dominated the relationship, both private and professional, Keely's fans began to call her "the great stone face."

In truth, she was submerged, overwhelmed and domesticated, but in her own words, "I didn't mind because I was brought up to be a mother and a wife, and I really didn't care about a career. It was just one of those things that happen."

Keely and Louis were divorced two years ago. When Prima was questioned about it, he said: "The reason most show business couples split up is money. To me, it's the root of all evil. It changes people. In the case of the wife who becomes as important as the husband and whose earning power is as strong as the man's, she gets independent of the husband. When the man is earning more, he takes care of his wife, but when she is making it, that feeling is gone. He ceases to be a husband. Money is involved. They fight."

Friends who know Keely well bring out that her own parents split up when she was 9, that, wittingly or not, she found Prima more of a father-substitute than a husband, that when she began to seek an identity of her own Prima rebelled, and the marriage came apart.

Whatever her marital background, the fact is that as she approaches 30, Keely Smith finds herself on her own for the

Keely today is no longer a submerged personality, has given up dead-pan style as singer, and would like to remarry.

SMITH – woman on her own

first time. "And frankly, it isn't easy. I find that I have to make all the decisions, do all the planning, and then my two girls —they really need a father. Every time I go out on a date they say, 'Mommy, why don't you marry this fellow if he promises to live in Las Vegas?' And only recently—my brother Piggy lives with us—my 8-year-old said, 'Mommy, why don't you marry Uncle Piggy?'

"I find that I have to pay the income taxes and choose my own numbers, and I have set up my own company, Keely Smith Enterprises, and I have signed a contract with Frank Sinatra's record company, Reprise. And well, until a year or so ago, all of that was done for me—maybe it wasn't done too wisely, but I was never let in on what was happening, so I never learned. It's a question of delayed growing up, and believe me, it isn't easy.

"I am on my own, not because I want to be but because I have got to be. [Keely has at least $100,000 in debts she assumed at the time of the divorce.] And while it's great being independent—I have been a solo for six months—I can tell you, I would trade in on a good husband in a minute. The trouble with being married at an early age is that a girl gets used to it. A successful career is just great, but have you ever tried running your hand through its hair?

"Anyhow, I am not complaining. I've got my two daughters with me, my mother, Mrs. Fannie Smith, my brother Piggy, who is also my road manager. And not too long ago my youngest brother Buster and his wife moved to Las Vegas to take charge of my office, which handles my business operations and fan clubs. So you can see the difference in being on your own is that suddenly a lot of people become dependent on you. And for a single girl—well, it isn't a snap. But that's life. And I take it as it comes." ■

Louis Prima was 50 when he married Keely, 19. Act and marriage broke up in 1961.

HIGH SCHOOL DRIVERS

A radio control tower directs these students in a unique and dramatic training program

by JIM HEAD

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y.

SEVEN GLEAMING CARS of the driver training fleet wheel along in perfect formation, then break off into seven separate maneuvers.

High above the one-mile track is a radio control tower similar to those directing traffic at busy airports. It is manned by a broadcasting teacher in what is believed to be the only such classroom in the U. S.

White Plains, N.Y., High School—a 3-year institution with an enrollment of 2,000—has had two-way radio for its driver training program since 1959. The system has three main advantages, explains Dr. C. Darl Long, the school principal. It allows one teacher to do the work of seven, assures greater safety because of the over-all tower control and permits maximum use of the track, since all the cars can be put through their paces simultaneously.

Driver training is a serious business at White Plains High. It's compulsory for all students and far removed from the "snap course" category. Nearly 500 students complete the program each year at no cost to them. The city built the track, the school picks up the tab for insurance and gas, and local dealers supply the cars.

Best of all, however, is the safety record. School officials say there has been no known auto accident involving any of the driver training graduates since the program started, four years ago.

IN THE FIRST YEAR of the 2-year program, White Plains sophomores receive 18 hours of general safety education, including good pedestrian and bicycling habits and the basic principles of driving.

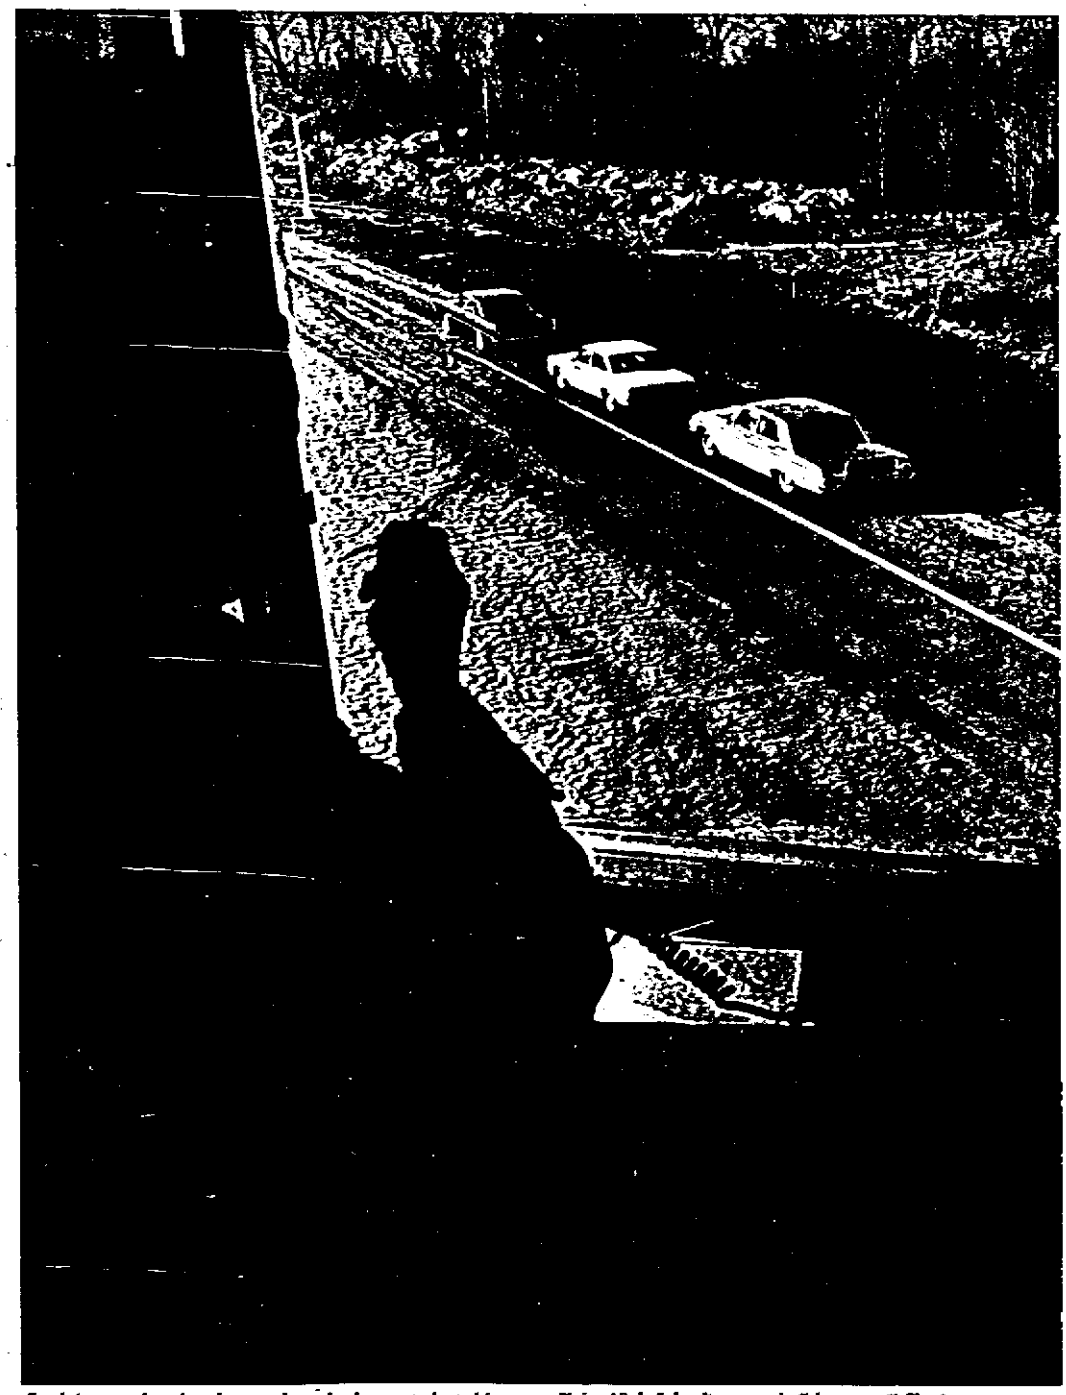

In their junior year they have 18 hours of classroom lecture, 18 hours of simulated driving in trainers that move on rollers within a confined area and finally 21 hours behind the wheel of a real car on the track.

By the time they go to the track, the trainees are ready to solo, since they have become thoroughly familiar with auto controls in the classroom trainers. Two students are assigned to each car, one to drive and the other to operate the Cadre Industries transistor radio. The radioman is aboard to man the mike, because New York law requires that a driver keep both hands on the wheel.

The most obvious benefit of the White Plains program is greater traffic safety. The graduates' record speaks for itself. There is a financial gain, too. Insurance companies now offer a 10 per cent cut in premiums to the family of the graduate.

White Plains is so pleased with its radio-controlled track it may put it to a second use—the education of errant grown-up drivers. Traffic court judges are considering a plan to sentence minor offenders to track-school in lieu of fines.

In any case, White Plains is on the right road.

PARADE'S SPECIAL INTELLIGENCE REPORT

PAUL DUDLEY WHITE. The dean of American cardiologists is 76 years old, weighs 130 pounds, claims that atherosclerosis -- hardening of the arteries -- begins in boys at age 12. "Children should get on their legs again," White maintains. "In many cases they should bicycle or walk to school rather than take the bus. And doctors have to start paying more attention to teenagers. Doctors and parents both should serve as examples. They should eat less, walk more. American medicine is great in diagnosing and treating disease. But more accent has to be placed on preventing disease. Right now there is an epidemic of atherosclerosis in this country, and we've got to stop it. How? By diet and exercise and, of course, further research."

Dr. Paul Dudley White and his wife bicycle before breakfast. The doctor believes strongly in exercise.

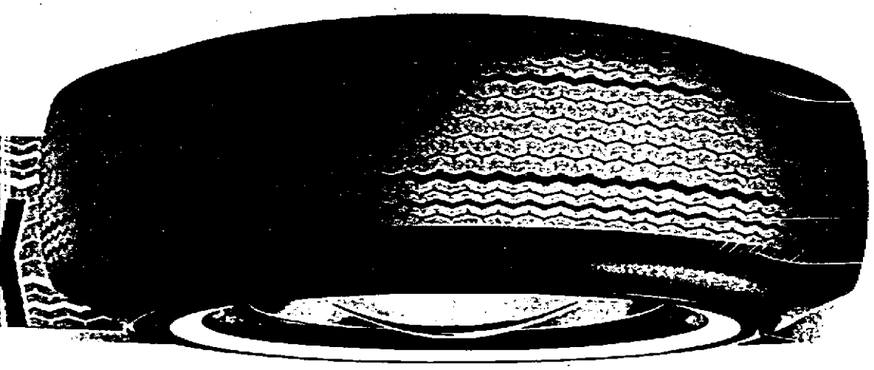

HOT SUB. The West Germans have developed a new pocket submarine which is selling like hotcakes. Orders have already come from Turkey, Norway, Denmark and, of course, West Germany, which has ordered 10 of the new pocket subs. Designed solely for operation in coastal waters, the sophisticated U-boat has a speed of 25 knots on the surface and better than 20 knots submerged. Its armament is secret, but reportedly the craft carries 8 torpedo tubes, can fire torpedoes equipped with nuclear warheads. One reason the pocket U-boat is so successful is that it fills a definite need. No other operational craft of a similar nature has enough range to penetrate into Communist coastal waters along the Baltic.

DILEMMA. One of the most essential alloy ingredients necessary for the manufacture of missiles and jet engines is metallurgical chrome ore. Until recently we obtained our ore from Turkey and Southern Rhodesia, the only two countries outside the Soviet bloc with adequate ore deposits. Now, however, the Soviet Union has come on the market, offering large quantities of chrome ore so far below the Turkish and Rhodesian prices that already the Reds have captured 70% of the European market. Ore mines in Turkey and Rhodesia are closing down, and there is a great likelihood that the entire industry will come to a halt before the year is out. This means the Soviets will then have a monopoly on chrome ore. We and our allies will be compelled to rely entirely on supplies from Russia. Right now American alloy manufacturers are buying Soviet chrome ore, claiming they are forced to do so to compete with European and Japanese alloy producers. These manufacturers buy the cheap Soviet ore, then ship the alloy to America where they undersell American producers. The only way for American producers to stay in business is also to buy the cheap Soviet ore. One solution to the dilemma is to have the U.S. take over or subsidize the Turkish and Rhodesian ore mines rather than let them shut down. Otherwise we will be buying chrome ore from the Soviets in order to manufacture missiles which one day we may have to fire on them.

ONASSIS TRUTH. For weeks the rumor has been circulating on the Riviera that Aristotle Onassis, the Greek millionaire, is selling his controlling interest in the casino at Monte Carlo -- especially now that Monaco is no longer a tax haven. The truth, according to Onassis, "is that I offered my 540,000 shares, which represent 53% of the casino stock, to Prince Rainier for $10,000,000. I thought this might help him in his negotiations with the French government on the tax discussions. But the option to purchase the stock has expired, and I still retain my holdings. I plan to keep them indefinitely. I love Monte Carlo and never want to lose my interest in the casino."

STUDENT JOBS. Teenagers in the market for 1963 summer jobs with the federal government should write the Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D.C., asking for information on the federal agency they desire to work for. Last summer 11,000 students, 16 or over, were employed by the government as Student Trainees and Student Assistants. Salaries range from $296 a month for high school graduates to $342 for students with almost 3 years of college.

NEW FRANCO IMAGE. General Franco of Spain has not only hired American public relations experts to give him a new image in the U.S. -- he is also determined to obtain a new European image. He wants to be regarded as a kind, benevolent executive who is leading Spain out of a political wilderness -- not as a dictator who imprisons political enemies. Franco recently appeared on an American TV show, has now agreed to lend a $5,000,000 collection of Spanish art to the British Royal Academy. It is expected that the collection, which contains 24 Goyas, many Murillos and Velasquezes, will presently be offered to the National Gallery in Washington.

EGGNOG FOR EASTER

by BETH MERRIMAN Parade food editor

In the 16th century, when England and Spain were in conflict, the English brought casks of Spanish sherry back to their own country. Sir Walter Raleigh soon sent sherry to the New World in ships bound for Virginia. There the custom of serving Sherry Eggnog on Easter Sunday originated and spread north as far as Philadelphia, where it still exists. We suggest Sherry Eggnog, served with butter-crisps, as a pleasant custom anywhere.

SHERRY EGGNOG

4 eggs, separated
1 cup sugar, divided
2 quarts milk
1 bottle cream sherry (oloroso type)
Grated nutmeg

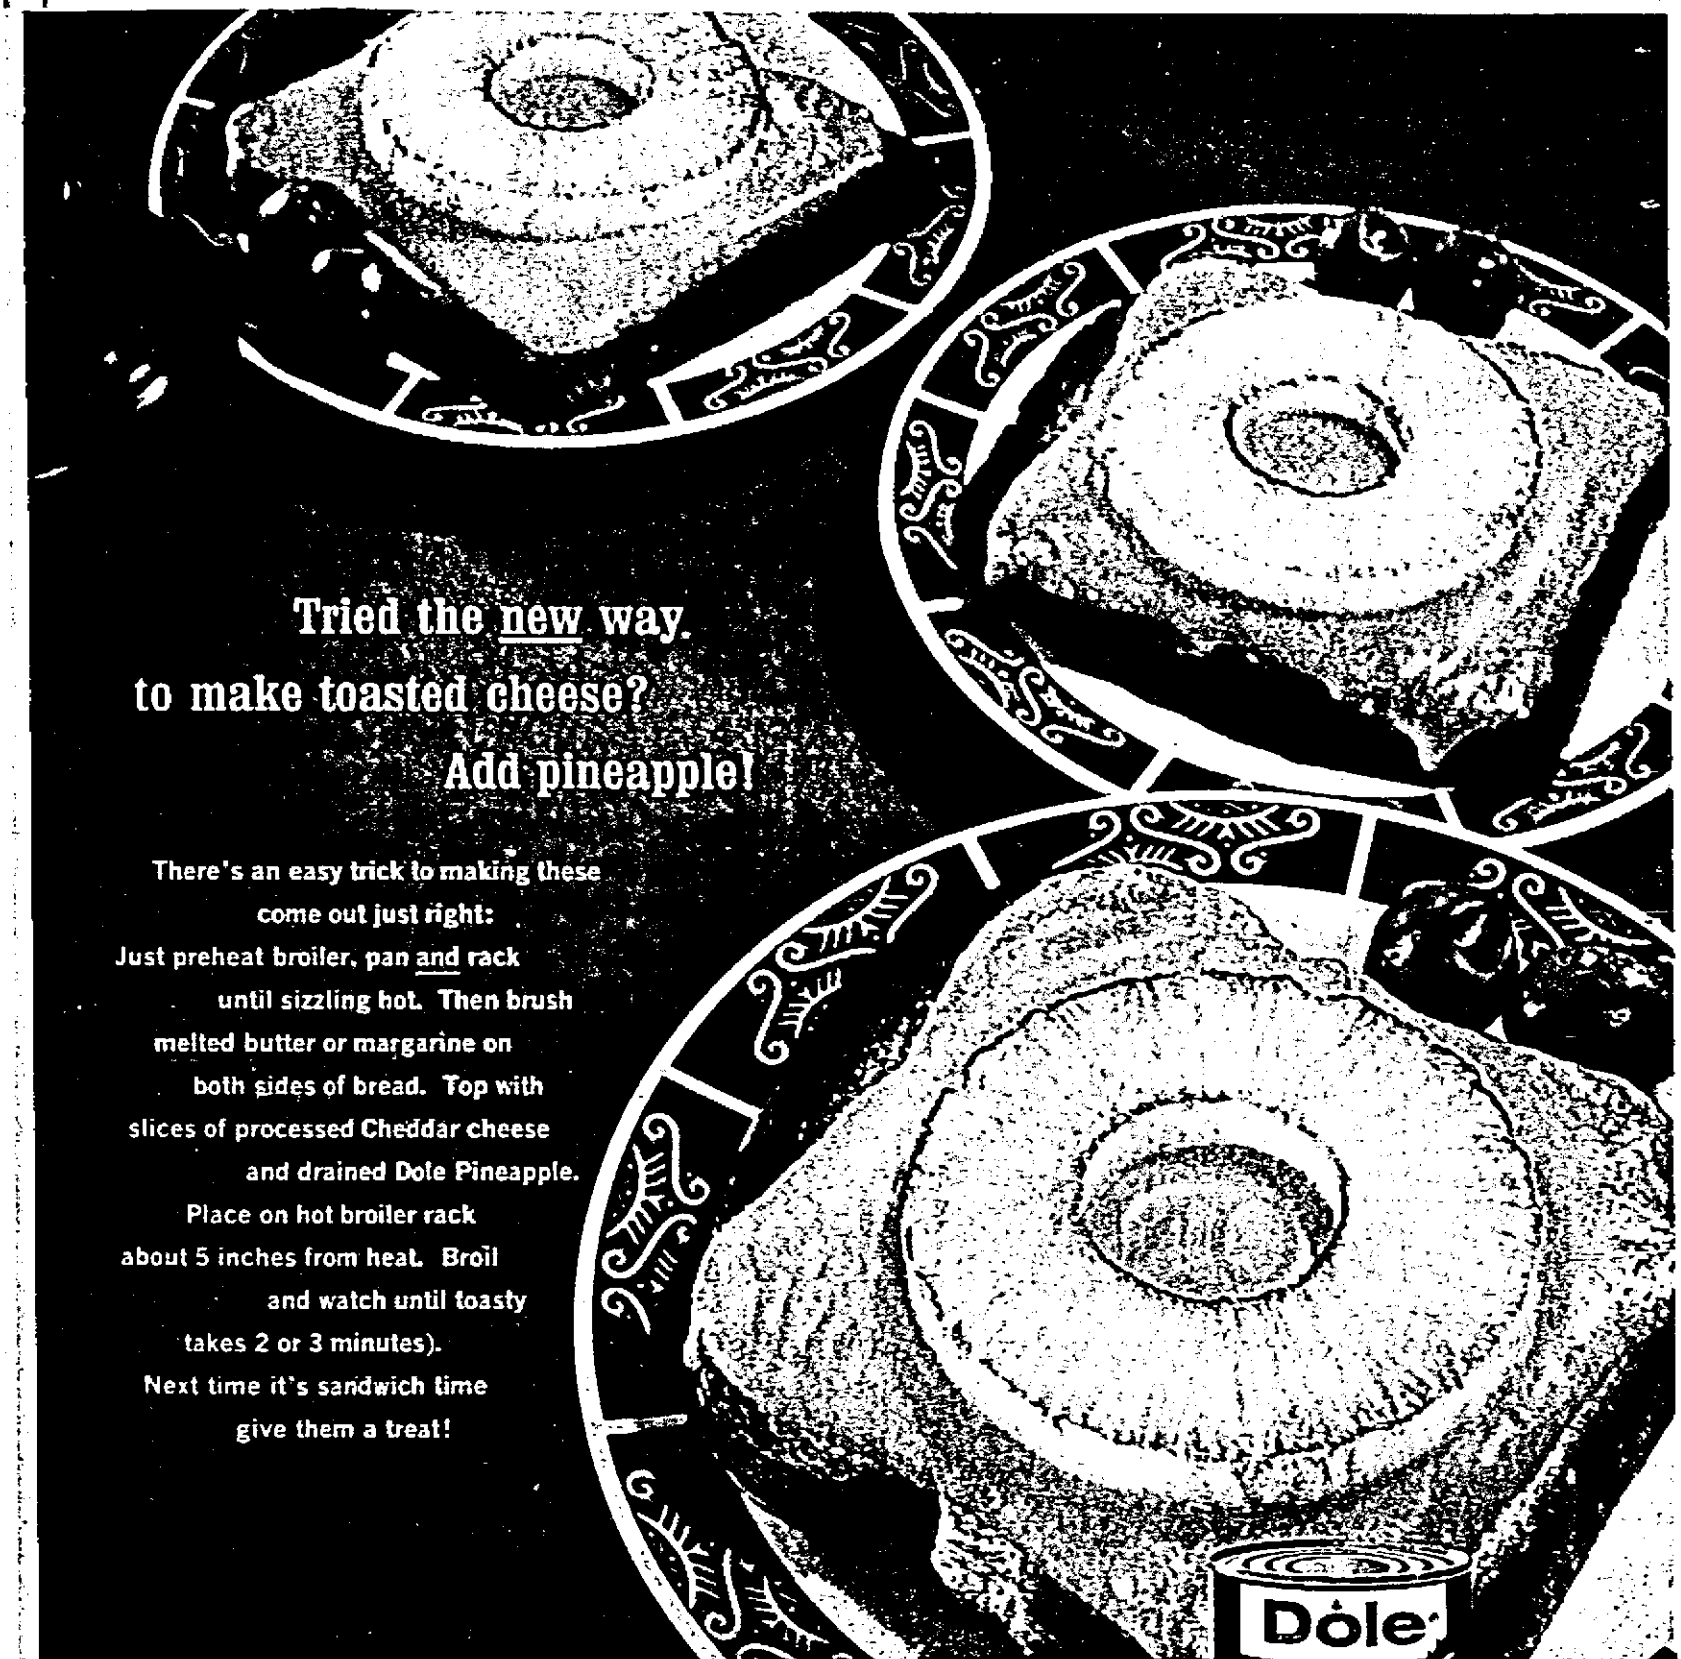

Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon-colored. Beat in ¾ cup sugar slowly. Continue beating until sugar is dissolved. Add milk and sherry; chill. Beat egg whites until stiff; beat in remaining sugar. Spoon into punch bowl. Pour sherry mixture into punch bowl; sprinkle with nutmeg. Makes about 24 punch cup servings.

FROM PARADE'S TEST KITCHEN

BUTTER-CRISPS

1 lb. soft butter or margarine
2 cups flour
1 cup confectioners' (powdered) sugar
1 cup cornstarch

Cream butter. Add flour, sugar and cornstarch slowly while continuing to cream. Divide into 4 portions. Wrap each portion in foil. Chill thoroughly. Shape into 1-inch balls, working quickly with 1 portion of dough at a time, keeping other portions in the refrigerator. Place balls 2 inches apart on ungreased cookie sheet. Flatten with floured tines of fork. Bake at 325° for about 18 to 20 minutes until lightly browned. Makes about 7 dozen.

The lady has lost much of her mystery and taken on a certain sophistication.

The riddle of her charm—unsolved, but captured here in treatment of the smile.

A sense of composition, play of light and shade, and greater attention to detail.

She knows more than she's telling—this young artist has caught her eccentricity.

The original Mona Lisa was painted by Leonardo in 1503-1506. It belongs to the Louvre, was recently on loan to The Metropolitan Museum.

This sketch presents a more robust Mona Lisa, yet conveys some of her complexity.

MONA LISA

Sixth-graders try to solve her famous riddle

PLAINVIEW, N.Y.

THE ENIGMATIC SMILE of the Mona Lisa inspired 6th-graders of this Long Island community to the efforts reproduced on this page. Students of the Parkway School in Plainview, N.Y., were among the thousands to visit the famous 16th-century masterpiece by Leonardo da Vinci, which recently ended its U.S. tour at The Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York and is now back in France.

The day after their visit they were asked by the art teacher to record their impressions of the baffling young Florentine woman who has perplexed art critics and laymen alike for generations. The pencil sketches reproduced by these 10- and 11-year-olds are unmistakably recognizable as copies of the Mona Lisa, and some, crude as they are, show a remarkable susceptibility to her fascination.

Something for babies of all ages

Suggestions from Mrs. Dan Gerber

Stork winging your way? One of your big decisions will be whether to breast or bottle-feed your baby. If you and your doctor decide on bottle feeding you may want to ask him about Modilac... the Gerber Baby Formula. This special milk formula, which really looks like milk and tastes like milk, is adapted to babies' early digestive needs and provides nourishment comparable to mother's milk. Modilac is a complete formula. All you do is add the amount of water your doctor specifies.

Good solid start. A baby's first solid food is usually cereal. And even tiny babies soon learn to like a change of taste. Easiest way in the world to introduce your darling to different cereal flavors: Gerber Cereal Sixes. This handy, 6-in-1 package contains small-size boxes of Rice Cereal, Barley, Mixed Cereal, High Protein Cereal and 2 Oatmeal. Flavors are delicate and pleasing... the texture wonderfully smooth. All 6 are enriched with iron, calcium and B-vitamins.

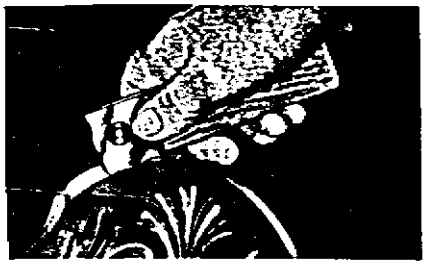

Gerber Cereal Sixes make ideal traveling companions when you and baby go visiting or on a trip.

Self feeder in the house? Your toddler will love to play "pick-up-sticks" with Gerber Meat Sticks... the perfect finger food, designed to help your toddler's hand-to-mouth co-ordination. Made from selected Armour Pork and Beef, plus nonfat dry milk, they're high in protein... low in fat... mildly seasoned and a delight to bite. P.S. Older children adore Gerber Meat Stick sandwiches. PARADE OF PROGRESS

Here are new ideas for your home, car and boat by PETER DRYDEN

For difficult furniture refinishing: Here's a hand scraper (left) to simplify the job of refinishing antique and period furniture or intricate wood frames. It has two steel blades, each with four changeable scraping edges that provide a variety of concave and convex shapes as well as straight edges to remove old finishes more easily from hard-to-reach places. You can use it in whittling, pushing, pulling or paring fashion. $2.50. Maute Co., Dept. PP, Box 27, Williamsville 21, N.Y.

Spotlight for car and boat: This one (left) has two interchangeable connectors so you can operate it from automobile cigarette lighter socket or boat battery. With its sealed beam auto-type bulb, it can pick up objects at ¼ mile, be seen approximately 7 miles in clear weather. And its soft rubber case makes it virtually indestructible (even if dropped on concrete), keeps it afloat if dropped overboard, allows you to use it under water. 6- or 12-volt model, with 10' cord, 1½' connectors: $7.40. Modern Design, Dept. PP, Box 35, Signal Mountain, Tenn.

Safety mower: New idea in power lawn mowers is one that throws nothing—not even grass. A fan above blade and baffle pulls air in from top, forces it down—and, in the process, forces cut grass directly to the ground instead of to side or front. With no chute or opening in housing, any objects struck by blade—rocks, sticks, wire—are contained and fall harmlessly to ground. The 22" machine is said to accumulate no grass, never need cleaning. Details: Saf-T-Mo, Dept. PP, Box 278, Monroe City, Mo.

Poultry stuffer: Tired of sewing up stuffed poultry or using nails for the purpose? A new spring-activated aluminum plate does the job in seconds. Just squeeze spring, insert, release spring—and cavity is sealed. Good for turkey, chicken, duck, any fowl over 6 lb. $1.25. Aids, Dept. PP, 6473 S.W. 8 St., Miami 44, Fla.

My baby looks like the Gerber baby—

Bringing Up Baby®
Hints Collected by Mrs. Dan Gerber, Mother of 5

Of all the warm and wonderful words, written by warm and wonderful mothers, none please me more than these: "My baby looks like the Gerber Baby." Because I like to think the Gerber Baby has a special something that belongs to all babies who are loved. It lights up their eyes. It sings out in their shining faces. It speaks softly of inner security ... proof positive of a happy heart.

Yes, love is the strong song, managing miracles nothing else can. When you love a baby you wrap him in a smile that will warm him a whole life through.

Mothers often write to ask if the Gerber Baby is a boy baby or a girl baby. Well, our little charmer was conceived not as a he or she, but a representative baby ... the beautiful kind all mothers have.

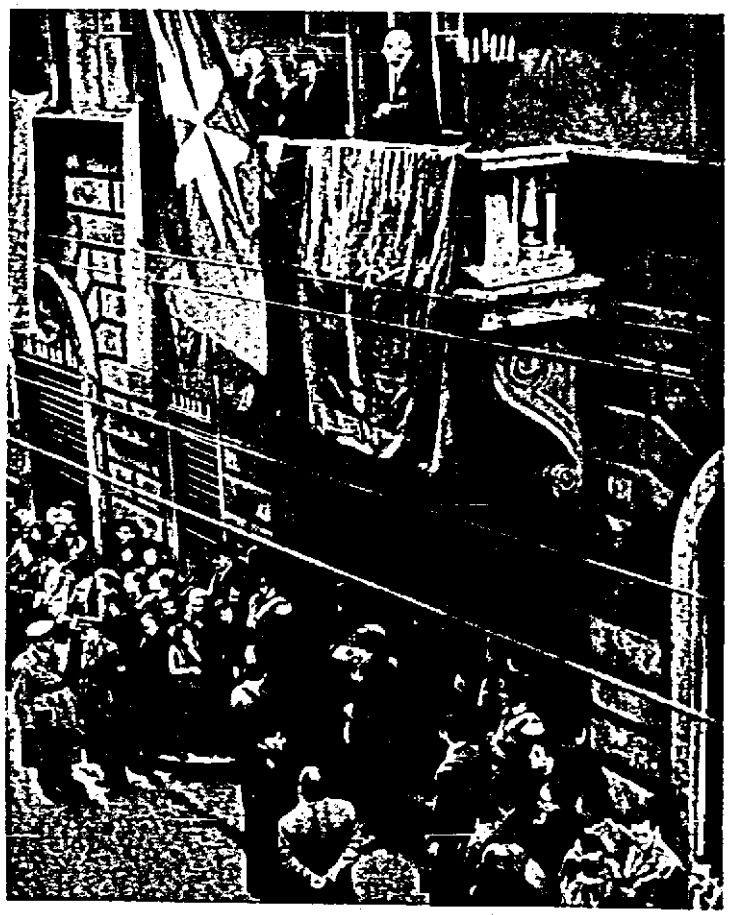

When the Gerber Baby first appeared in Gerber advertisements over 30 years ago, mothers by the score began writing for reprints of the little sketch. (Matter of fact, the very popularity of the picture prompted the decision to use the baby as the Gerber trademark.) If you would like a print suitable for framing, just send 10¢, to cover costs, to: Gerber Baby Foods, Dept. 634-3, Fremont, Michigan.

Today, the Gerber Baby is more than just a famous trademark. It has become the symbol of the specialists who devote all their energies to the most important people ... your baby and all babies. Their efforts are never-ending in behalf of better infant nutrition. From research, all through processing and final packing, the people who prepare your baby's food look upon the Gerber Baby as their special representative for Gerber quality.

Important: Gerber prepares over 100 baby foods—cereals, strained and junior—to meet your baby's nutritional needs. We're proud to say: "BABIES ARE OUR BUSINESS ... OUR ONLY BUSINESS!"®

Cross this portal and enter another country. The entrance of Palace Malta is surmounted by the Grand Master's standard. SMOM officials on the balcony await a pontifical procession.

THE SMALLEST NATION IN THE WORLD

by ART ELWOOD

WHAT IS the world's smallest nation?

Surprisingly enough, it's none of the better-known and more glamorous countries in Europe such as Monaco, San Marino, Lichtenstein or Andorra, but the headquarters of the Sovereign Military Order of Malta (SMOM). SMOM is the governing body of the Roman Catholic organization, the Knights of Malta.

Situated on a half-acre plot in the heart of Rome's fashionable shopping district, the walls of its building are its frontiers. The sovereign government, whose sole function is to co-ordinate the operations of the Order's medical institutions, has been recognized by Italy since 1870. SMOM now maintains diplomatic relations and has exchanged envoys with 23 other nations. Despite its location within a major European capital, SMOM is undisturbed by the power politics, rocket rattlings and ideological warfare that beset other governments.

The 4-story, 16th-century-Roman building, known as Palace Malta, is located at Via Condotti 68, near the foot of the Spanish Steps, one of Rome's best-known tourist attractions. The entrance, a huge portal, opens into a pretty little courtyard. Thousands of visitors to the Eternal City pass by the entrance daily without realizing that by turning in they would be entering another country. There are no border guards, customs or immigration officials. The Grand Master's standard — a white Maltese cross on a red field — hanging over the entrance and the Order's coat of arms in the courtyard are the only outward signs of sovereignty.

Seal of the Grand Master of Knights of Malta.

The government consists of a Grand Master, who is elected for life, and a Sovereign Council of 10. The present Grand Master is Brother Angelo de Mojana. All members of the government are entitled to reside in the palace. They and any knight on official business are eligible to use Order of Malta passports, which are recognized everywhere in the world. Officials also have SMOM auto license plates—red numerals on black.

Since SMOM is tax-free, its major income is derived from Italian properties donated by or inherited from knights. Its annual budget, however, depends on fund-raising activities.

Dating from the 16th century, Palace Malta was presented to the Order by two of its knights and originally served as the residence of the Grand Masters' ambassadors to the Holy See. The 60-room palace is not entirely occupied by the government. Six high-fashion shops rent ground-floor space fronting on the Via Condotti. The building also has an infirmary where treatment is given free to members of the Order and at very low rates to the general public.

Three Classes of Knights

Although it is a religious organization, SMOM's ties to the Vatican are largely diplomatic. The knights are divided into three classes: (1) those who take monastic vows of obedience, chastity and poverty—the equivalent of brothers in other religious orders; (2) those who maintain monastic virtues in accordance with their lay lives; and (3) lay knights and dames without special obligations. Only knights of the first class are eligible to hold high office. In keeping with its ancient aristocratic traditions, only men who can prove nobility for 200 years on both sides of their families, or 400 years on one side, can become knights of the first class.

Formerly a hospitaler and military brotherhood, Malta's main occupation now is the care of infants, the aged and the sick. The Order maintains hospitals, dispensaries, research laboratories, orphanages and homes around the world, including several leper colonies in central Africa. It has served on both sides in the two world wars by operating military hospitals and ambulance corps. After World War II, it took over Italy's remaining air force — 12 aircraft — for hospital planes. The littlest nation also assists refugees; it aided victims of the Hungarian revolt in 1956 and the Armenian refugees in Greece in 1923.

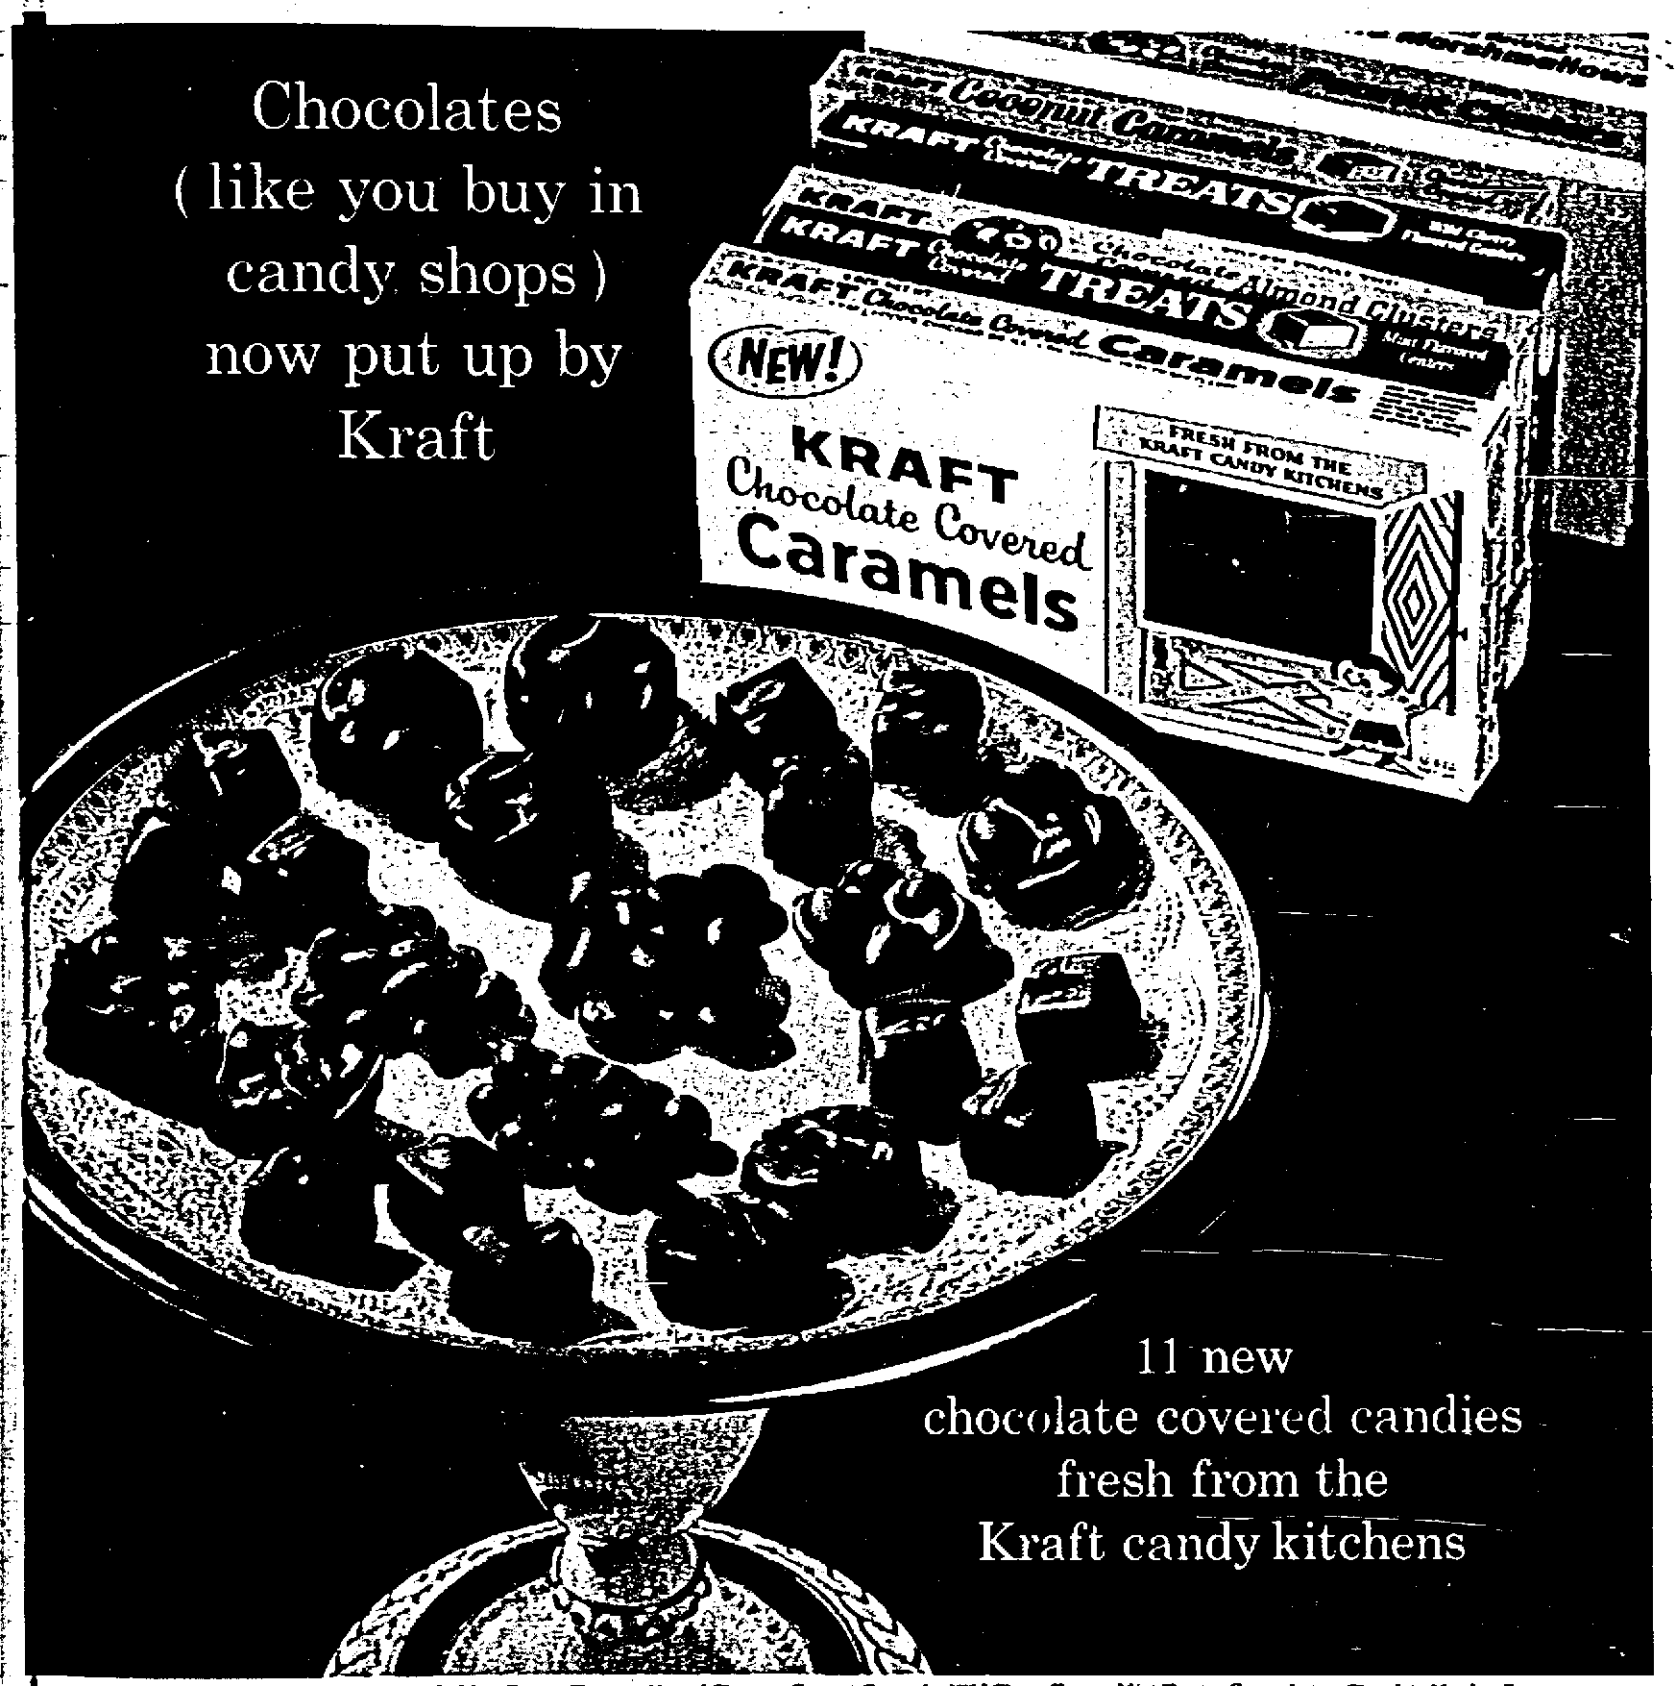

The 6,000-knight Order is grouped into 5 Grand Priories and 26 National Associations. It has two associations in the U.S., with an enrollment of 600.

Founded by monks in 1048 to care for ailing pilgrims in the Holy Land, the Order acquired a military role when patients assumed the responsibility of defending the hospital against the Saracens. It took a regular part in the Crusades but was gradually forced out of the Middle East by Saracen conquests. The Order moved to Cyprus in 1291 and then to Rhodes in 1310, where it remained for 212 years. Driven out by Suleiman the Magnificent, the knights kept moving westward—to Crete and finally to Malta. Known first as the Knights of the Order of the Hospital of St. John of Jerusalem, it was next called the Knights of Rhodes. The order is now referred to as the Knights of Malta.

The knights fought their last battle in 1721, when they repulsed Tunisian pirates. When Napoleon took over Malta in 1798, the Order retired to Italy. It moved into Rome in 1834 and has been there ever since.

For nine centuries the Order has exercised sovereign right over its castles, hospitals and landed properties, and its sovereignty is still recognized throughout the world. ■

Who killed the blonde—

MORE AND MORE IN AMERICA, insanity is becoming the classic courtroom defense for murder.

How many murders have you read of in which the defendant declares: "I just can't remember"; or "I blacked out"; or "I didn't know what I was doing"; or "At that moment, I lost my mind"?

There are hundreds of such examples in which the defendants, guilty of overt murder, plead not guilty by reason of insanity. They use as their defense the historic Daniel M'Naghten rule, based on a case decided in England 120 years ago. [The M'Naghten rule is that "to establish a defense on the ground of insanity ... party accused was laboring under such a defect of reasoning, from disease of the mind, as not to know the nature and quality of the act he was doing, or if he did know it that he did not know he was doing what was wrong."]

One recent widely publicized murder involved Dr. Geza de Kaplany, a California physician who poured a pint of nitric acid over the body of his beautiful blonde wife of five weeks.

Eligible for Parole

Charged with murder in the first degree, Dr. Kaplany was sentenced last month to life imprisonment, which means in California that he will be eligible for parole consideration after serving seven years.

In the case of this confessed murder, both the defense and prosecuting attorneys presented a mass of psychiatric evidence so highly technical, so detailed, so controversial and opinionated that the average person could not follow it. And yet the typical jury consists of laymen. What layman understands such nomenclature as "a schizophrenic paranoid with suppressed homosexual tendencies," or "the pathogenesis of neuropsychiatric disorders," or "the effects of phrenotropic agents on psychic processes," or the "obsessive-compulsive reaction," or "a patient suffering from both echolalia and echopraxia," or "the schizoaffective with catatonic symptoms and possibly involutional psychotic reactions"?

This sort of psychiatric mumbo jumbo frequently serves more to confuse the evidence than to clarify it, particularly when one battery of psychiatrists is diametrically pitted against the other, and both candidly admit that medicine is an inexact science and psychiatry one of its most inexact branches, and that what they are rendering is nothing more than opinions.

Take this bizarre case of Dr. Geza Kaplany. One August night last summer in San Jose, Calif., this man, an educated Hungarian refugee of 37 with a doctor's degree in medicine and a record of postgraduate work at Harvard and Massachusetts General Hospital, bound his wife, 25, nude, with surgical tape. He gagged her, painted her attractive body and face with burning acid—she had been a model in San Francisco prior to their marriage—then slashed her breast with a knife.

Hanja Piller, blonde beauty who married Kaplany, was slain five weeks later.

Sitting in his shorts, calm and composed, Kaplany then called the police. When they arrived he promptly confessed to them: "I did not intend to kill her. I wanted only to take away her beauty." His reason: he believed her guilty of adultery. Thirty-three days later, her body, horribly mutilated and burned black, Hanja Piller Kaplany died in San Francisco's St. Francis Hospital.

To Louis Bergna, district attorney of Santa Clara county and his assistant, John Schatz, Jr., her death was an obvious case of murder in the first degree. But Dr. Kaplany pleaded innocent and innocent by reason of insanity. He claimed his crime was committed by Pierre La Roche, a French journalist, another person inside of him who from time to time took over his brain and controlled his body. Later he changed his plea to guilty, and a trial ensued to determine his sanity.

Stevenson's Prototype

Many years ago Robert Louis Stevenson wrote a story, Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde, about a respectable London physician who drank a strong potion which turned him into a murderer. Subsequently, there have been many other literary works, both fiction and nonfiction, of multiple personalities. Actress Joanne Woodward won an Academy Award for portraying one such woman in The Three Faces of Eve. And James Thurber's story of a multiple personality, The Secret Life of Walter Mitty, is, of course, a classic.

Dr. Kaplany insisted that it was Pierre La Roche who mutilated his wife, not Geza Kaplany, the kind, considerate physician. His attorney, E. P. DeVilbiss, put two San Francisco foot doctors on the stand. They identified Dr. Kaplany as Pierre La Roche, a French newspaperman both had treated.

Later, Dr. A. Russell Lee of the Palo Alto Research Institute was called to testify. He played for the jury two four-hour interviews he had taped with the defendant.

In these interviews, Kaplany told Dr. Lee he first became aware of the name Pierre La Roche in 1957 when he was standing in the Louvre in Paris, fixed by the beauty of Da Vinci's Mona Lisa.

"So I just turned around," he confided, "and I bumped into somebody there, and before I could open my mouth, she said to me, 'Pierre, I haven't seen you for quite some time.' And there was standing a beautiful woman.... I probably have seen many pretty women, and among the many, I might have seen maybe five or six beautiful women, and she was one of them. And I was so astonished that I just couldn't answer. But at the same time I decided almost automatically that I would act like Pierre...."

According to Kaplany, his alter ego Pierre La Roche was a Don Juan of the first order. Whenever Kaplany underwent a sexual experience, it wasn't he who enjoyed it—it was the gallant Frenchman, Pierre. In 1954 when the doctor was working at a hospital in Budapest, he fell tempestuously in love with a patient, Eva. It was Pierre who had the affair with Eva, because a doctor like Kaplany would not violate his Hippocratic oath and seduce a patient.

Pierre Dates Ruth

Again in 1959 when Dr. Kaplany was at Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston, he met a German girl, Ruth Krueger. He dated her twice. On the second date he took her to a night club, then to his room at the hospital, where Pierre and Ruth were intimate. Subsequently, Ruth became pregnant, but according to the doctor it was Pierre who impregnated her.

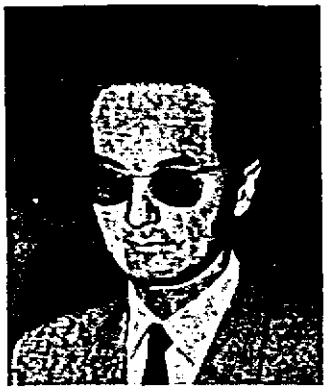

His version of the affair is that one day he was asked to report to the reception desk at the hospital. "So I went there ... and there was a lady and she said to me, 'Well, Pierre, it isn't nice of you to hide.' And I took her to my hospital room apparently as Pierre and then maintained some relationship with her, but she did not know my real name. And one day she came and traced me because she was going to have a baby."

It was Pierre who fathered her illegitimate son, the doctor explained to the psychiatrist, not Geza Kaplany. And it was also Pierre who, outraged by his wife's rumored infidelity, plotted and carried out the acid attack on her. He felt that was the way to treat an adulteress, "because an adulteress feels no pain."

The prosecution, parading its own team of psychiatrists, contended that "Pierre La Roche" was merely a fictional convenience concocted by Dr. Kaplany's clever brain to escape the consequences of his

Dr. Jekyll or Mr. Hyde?

by LLOYD SHEARER

Dr. Geza de Kaplany, who denied murder of his wife, as he looked during trial.

merciless mutilation, that no man could alter his personality 30 times in a single day as Pierre and Kaplany had supposedly done.

The district attorney also had Ruth Krueger, 28, flown in from Coburg, Germany. She testified that she was the mother of Kaplany's illegitimate son, Andreas. But she insisted under the most withering cross-examination that she had never known Dr. Kaplany as Pierre La Roche—just as Dr. Geza Kaplany. He had refused to marry her on the false grounds that he was already married.

Kaplany's attorney declined to put the doctor on the witness stand. Even so, the jury took 9 hours and 15 minutes to decide that Dr. Kaplany was legally sane. The sanity portion of the trial lasted 28 days. The penalty trial lasted only five days. In weighing the penalty choices of life imprisonment or death in the San Quentin gas chamber, the jury of 10 men and 2 women decided that Kaplany was "a sick man" and gave him life imprisonment.

A day later his attorney called a press conference in the jail cafeteria. Here Dr. Kaplany formally apologized for the torture murder of his wife, then complained: "Had I been tried in another country, I would have been found insane. But I understand that because of the public opinion this was impossible. You can hardly overcome the community feeling that is kept at a pitch."

When one of the jurors read Kaplany's statement, he said: "It's lucky for him he gave a press conference after the trial. If he had given out this sort of statement during the trial, I assure you he'd be headed for the gas chamber right now."

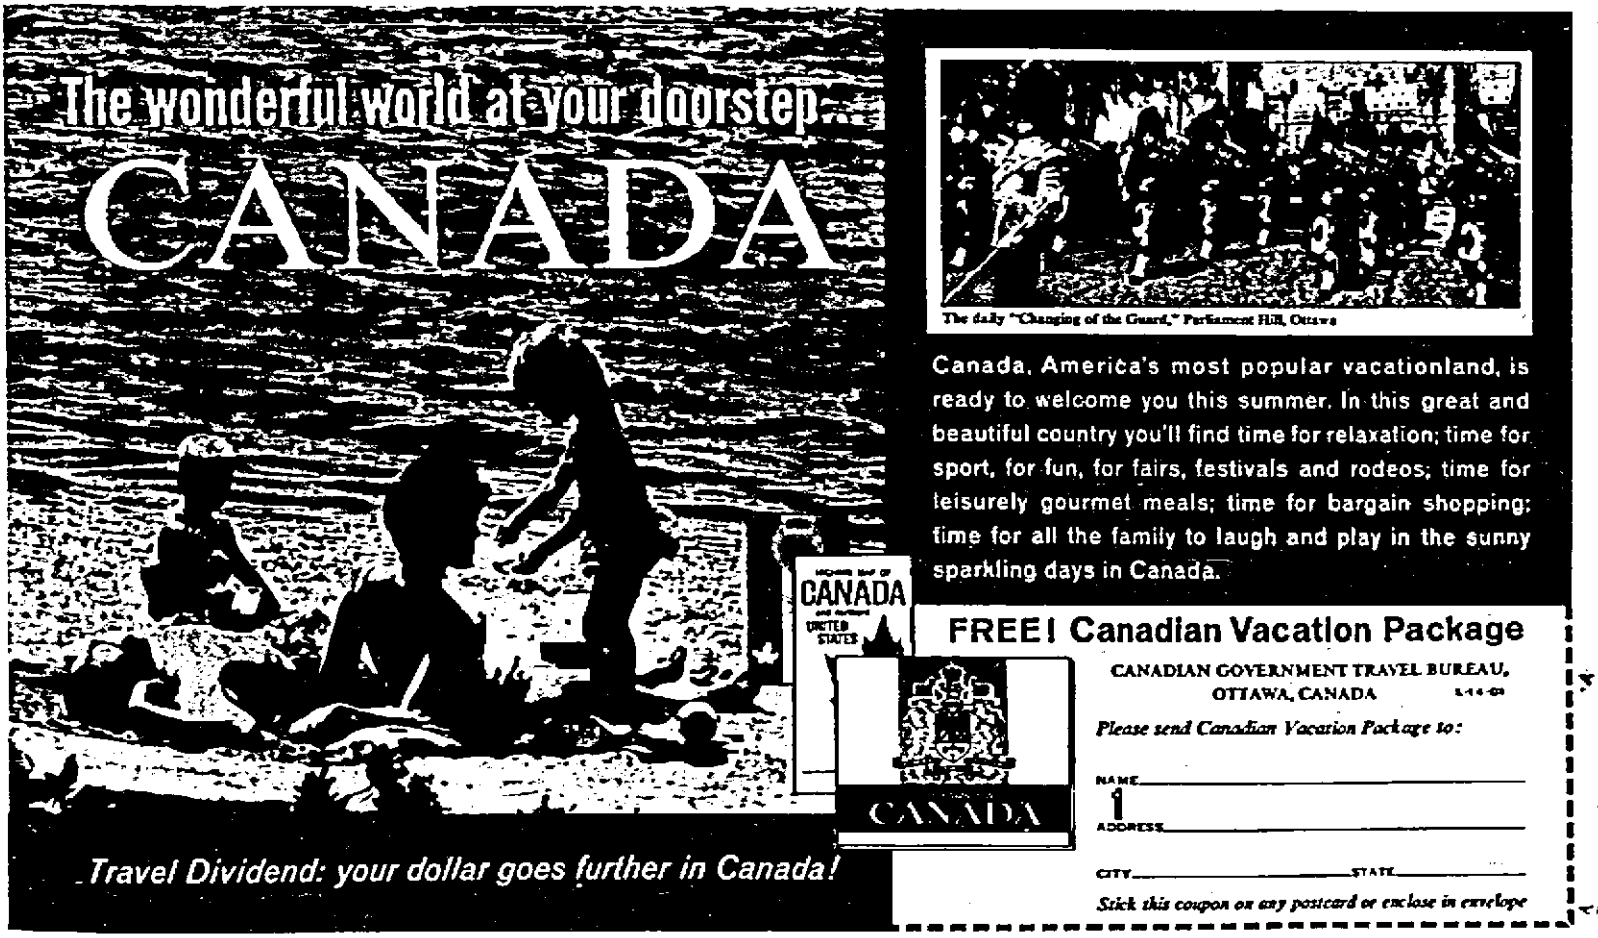

Blamed for murder was doctor's other personality, dashing Pierre La Roche.

Even so, the jurors who spared the doctor's life were besieged by phone calls protesting their leniency and asking, "How would you like some nitric acid thrown on you or your wife?"

The Kaplany case raises anew the entire question of whether multiple personality constitutes insanity or even mental illness. After all, which one of us has not sought to escape from the hard world of reality by imagining ourselves to be Babe Ruth or Greta Garbo or Albert Schweitzer or even Lady Godiva? In our sublimations and excursions into dream worlds, are we not responsible for our behavior? Are we not responsible in the eyes of the law for acts of violence?

In Boston, socialite Suzanne Clift, niece of actor Montgomery Clift, recently murdered her Italian lover and pleaded guilty to manslaughter. She was freed contingent upon her continued psychiatric treatment on the grounds that she is mentally ill. In San Jose, Dr. Geza Kaplany planned brutally to murder his wife and did so merely on the basis of an unverified rumor of infidelity gossiped to him by a friend. He was sentenced to life imprisonment with the possibility of parole after seven years. Why? Because the jury apparently believed some of his Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde story.

Obviously, the entire question of insanity as a defense for murder now needs the most thorough investigation by the leading societies of law and medicine in this country. In many cases, murderers have used it to get away with murder. ■

Anecdote of the week

NOTHING POINTS UP the difference between nations more than the manner in which they name their rockets. We Americans, for example, use such powerful mythological names as Titan, Atlas, and Thor. The British, not quite as blustery and perhaps more poetic than we, call their rockets Red Shoes, Black Knight, and Blue Water. As for the French, they are singularly true to tradition. They delve neither into mythology nor poetry—just sex. Dependably enough, their missiles are named Veronica and Monica. ■
